Dear Students,

Dreaming and pursuing dreams with missionary zeal is one of the strongest traits of a successful person. They chase the dreams with passion and when it becomes passion, it generates so much energy in you, that no dream, remains too big to be realised. The passion comes from faith in oneself, and when there is faith then all traits required in realising dreams come as a natural process.

Social scientists propounded the concept of Self-efficacy - the belief an individual has in his ability to accomplish a task. Great leaders of the world were not super humans they were blessed with the same resources as their peers, the difference lay in their ability to identify their potential and their passion to realise their dreams.

The faith in oneself is what acts as a catalyst setting in ripple effect to change the face of the future. A small success, succeeded by another success leads to successive successes. Such persons always work upon their abilities breaking their own records, overcoming inhibitions and setting new milestones of achievements for themselves. So my dear students my sincere advise to you is that no dream is too big to achieve, what is required is emotional attachment, passion and missionary zeal to realise the dreams. A dream realised, a goal achieved and a task accomplished gives you a sense of ownership and achievement. It generates in you tremendous sense of confidence and self efficacy - a catalyst for successive successes. Achieving successes in this way would not only boost your motivation, self esteem but would also help you to build up on your abilities and strengths, to become a successful professional.

Given below are some important information which would be useful to you as a student of the CS Foundation Course.

EXAMINERS' OBSERVATIONS

EXAMINERS' OBSERVATIONS AND COMMENTS ON THE PERFORMANCE OF EXAMINEES IN DECEMBER 2010 EXAMINATION

The December 2010 session of the Company Secretary Foundation Programme Examination was held from 26th December 2010 to 29th December, 2010. The marks obtained position of candidates for all papers of Foundation Programme has been compiled and given in Table ‘A’ hereunder for the information of the candidates. Though the marks obtained position showed good performance by the candidates in most of the papers, some candidates were not able to clear the examination due to various drawbacks in their answers. Therefore, it would be beneficial for these candidates to know the general weakness/drawbacks in their answers. Although, it is not possible to give comments on each and every candidate's answer scripts, some common drawbacks based on the comments and observations noted by the examiners have been culled and given paper-wise hereunder for information of the candidates so as to enable them to overcome their deficiencies and improve their performance in the forthcoming examination.

1. ENGLISH AND BUSINESS COMMUNICATION

The overall performance of the candidates in this paper was fairly satisfactory. This paper is divided into two parts i.e. A & B. Part A covers essay, précis writing and general grammar whereas part B focuses more on letter writing. The performance of the candidates was good in essay writing. However they failed to construct the sentences correctly. Further candidates exhibited poor presentation skills in précis writing and reproduced the entire content from the précis passage. The word limit in case of précis writing was also not observed by most of the candidates. Most of the candidates have performed really well in letter writing. The performance of the candidates was good in Question No.1(a) pertaining to essay writing but poor in 1(b) on précis writing. Question No.1(a)(iii) on Common Wealth Games and image of India was attempted by most of the candidates. However, a lot of grammatical errors were committed by the candidates in essay writing. In précis writing, as already mentioned candidates didn't care much about the 1/3rd word limit of the passage and reproduced the entire content from the passage only. The performance in Question No.2 was poor. The candidates committed mistakes in grammar, vocabulary and in framing correct sentences. Question No.3 was satisfactorily attempted. Part (b) of Question No.3 on giving full forms was below average. Many candidates failed to write the full form of CII and NBFC. In Question No.4, the performance of the candidates was good. Though part (a) on true or false statements was attempted correctly by most of the candidates but they failed to give correct reasoning in support of their answers. The overall performance in Question No.5 was good. However, it was observed that most of the candidates could not differentiate between a public notice and a letter. Part (iii) on showing notice and part (iv) on drafting a goodwill letter were also poorly attempted. Question No.6 was well performed except part (i) on representation and part (iii) on finding mistakes in the letter of appointment, where majority of the candidates failed to find all the five mistakes correctly.

For improving the score in this paper, the candidates are advised to work on building their vocabulary, practice précis writing, make their grammar strong and also learn the formats of various letters and other official documentation. Candidates are further advised to read the study material thoroughly and refer to the Guideline and Suggested Answers published by the Institute and go through the financial dailies and journals.

2. ECONOMICS AND STATISTICS

The overall performance of the candidates in this paper was just satisfactory because approximately around 54% of the candidates secured 50% or more marks. It was observed that this time many candidates appeared in the examination and put adequate preparation and thorough understanding of the subject. Candidates were lacking the basic fundamentals and In-depth knowledge of the subject. Some candidates failed to assign adequate reasoning in support of their answers for correct and incorrect statements. Many candidates were not comfortable to draw required diagrams and work out statistical problems correctly because of their poor practice and lack of clarity to recall and apply the appropriate formula in a given situation. It was also observed that some candidate did not read the paper carefully and attempted all the eight questions instead of six and in most cases, these candidates could not secure even the qualifying marks. The performance of Hindi medium students was very disappointing in Question No.1(a) in Part-A on true and false statements. majority of the candidates attempt was satisfactory. Some candidates got confused and failed to assign adequate and analytical reasoning in support of their answers to question no (a)(i)and (v). Question No.1(b) on multiple choice answers was also well attempted but many candidates were not conceptually clear in answer to Question No.1(c) on credit creation by the commercial bank. The answers to Question No.2 were well attempted in most of the cases except Question No.2(a)(ii) where many candidates got confused and could not make clear distinction between revenue budget and capital budget. Candidate's performance to Question No.3 was of average level. Many candidates failed to explain the concept of price mechanism in Question No.3(a) , relationship between average revenue and marginal revenue when a firm is faced with linear downward sloping demand curve in Question No.3(b) and structure of the Indian economy as a mixed economy in Question No.3(c). Question No.4 was well attempted by the majority except part (iv) of the question on liquidity and part (v) on the measures taken by the government to bring in structural reforms in Indian economy. In Part-B of the paper, Question No.5(a) on correct and incorrect statements was well attempted whereas in some cases with no supporting answer was given. It was proper reasoning. The part (b) of Question No.5 on multiple choice answers being a popular question was well attempted by majority of the candidates. Candidates answered Question No.6 in average manner. Some candidates failed to distinguish between 'linear correlation and non-linear correlation clearly. The performance of the candidates in Question No.7 was satisfactory. Very few candidates attempted Question No.7(iv) on Lorenz Curve correctly. Question No.8 was divided into four parts i.e. part (i) on calculation of coefficient variation, part (ii) on correlation part (iii) on computation of coefficient of correlation and part (iv) on computation of Moving average. The attempt of the candidates was satisfactory to part (i), (ii) and (iv) in majority cases but in part (iii) there were mistakes in calculations of correlation coefficient. Some candidates could not recall the correct formula and failed to calculate correctly the coefficient of correlation. This reflects the casual approach of the candidates to appear in the main examination without thorough understanding of statistical concepts and poor practice of numerical problems. There is sufficient scope for improving the performance in this paper. For achieving promising result, candidates are advised to stress on logical presentation, knowledge of fundamentals, correct expression, use of diagrams wherever required and read prescribed text books and other reference materials for better understanding of the subject. They are also required to practice sufficient number of practical problems on different topics in statistics so as to become proficient and solve problems confidently in similar problems in examinations. The candidates should write the answers in readable handwriting in the light of requirements of the questions and support it by logical reasoning, facts and figures and diagrams, calculation, and formula wherever required.

3. FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING

Being a practical paper, performance of the candidates was satisfactory though the candidates could have scored much better if they had attended the common papers to build their concepts and knowledge. The performance of candidates in all the papers of Foundation Programme has been compiled and given in Table 'A' hereunder for the information of the candidates. Though the marks obtained position showed good performance by the candidates in most of the papers, some candidates were not able to clear the examination due to various drawbacks in their answers. Therefore, it would be beneficial for these candidates to know the general weakness/drawbacks in their answers. Although, it is not possible to give comments on each and every candidate's answer scripts, some common drawbacks based on the comments and observations noted by the examiners have been culled and given paper-wise hereunder for information of the candidates so as to enable them to overcome their deficiencies and improve their performance in the forthcoming examination. The performance of the candidates was good in Essay writing. However they failed to construct the sentences correctly. Further candidates exhibited poor presentation skills in précis writing and reproduced the entire content from the précis passage. The word limit in case of précis writing was also not observed by most of the candidates. Most of the candidates have performed really well in letter writing. The performance of the candidates was good in Question No.1(a) pertaining to essay writing but poor in 1(b) on précis writing. Question No.1(a)(iii) on Common Wealth Games and image of India was attempted by most of the candidates. However, a lot of grammatical errors were committed by the candidates in essay writing. In précis writing, as already mentioned candidates didn't care much about the 1/3rd word limit of the passage and reproduced the entire content from the passage only. The performance in Question No.2 was poor. The candidates committed mistakes in grammar, vocabulary and in framing correct sentences. Question No.3 was satisfactorily attempted. Part (b) of Question No.3 on giving full forms was below average. Many candidates failed to write the full form of CII and NBFC. In Question No.4, the performance of the candidates was good. Though part (a) on true or false statements was attempted correctly by most of the candidates but they failed to give correct reasoning in support of their answers. The overall performance in Question No.5 was good. However, it was observed that most of the candidates could not differentiate between a public notice and a letter. Part (iii) on showing notice and part (iv) on drafting a goodwill letter were also poorly attempted. Question No.6 was well performed except part (i) on representation and part (iii) on finding mistakes in the letter of appointment, where majority of the candidates failed to find all the five mistakes correctly.
it is important to write correct or incorrect and then give reasoning for the same. In Question No.2 Part (b), candidates are supposed to write difference point wise and focus on the presentation. Candidates should differentiate the concept instead of writing definitions only. The part (a) of Question No.3 being multiple choice questions, performance was good. In part (b) explanations were average. It is expected to explain statements providing proper logical reasoning. Question No.4 was practical problem related to consignment account. Performance in this question was very poor. It was not attempted correctly by majority of the candidates. Candidates could not calculate abnormal loss, goods taken over and amount of commission correctly. However performance of candidates in both the parts of Question No.5 was above average. The overall performance was poor in Question No.6. The candidates were expected to pass journal entries and then make evaluation and capital accounts whereas many prepared balance sheet. Moreover calculation of goodwill was wrong in most of the cases which led to wrong preparation of capital accounts. In part (b) of Question No.7 candidates did not have clear understanding of simple concepts like journalizing bills of exchange transactions. Performance was below average in this part. Most of the candidates in part (a) of Question No. 8 could calculate depreciation correctly only for the first year. In part (b) performance was good but the presentation was not up to the mark. Very few candidates presented items in opening and closing balance sheets.

The importance of clearly presenting answers, using proper formats while solving practical problems, writing figures and amounts clearly in good handwriting is tremendous in fetching good marks. Candidates should solve all parts of the question in continuation and write question numbers visibly. Candidates are advised to take examination seriously and pay proper attention about all the topics in the syllabus.

4. ELEMENTS OF BUSINESS LAWS AND MANAGEMENT

The performance of the candidates in this paper was satisfactory. This paper is divided into two parts: Part A and Part-B. Part A deals with Business Laws, whereas Part B deals with Management. The knowledge of the legal provisions was found to be missing in most of the candidates as they wrote vague answers. Conceptual clarity and logical presentation was also found to be poor. It was further observed that the performance of candidates was better in Part A on Law as compared to Part B on Management.

Question No.1 being compulsory, was attempted by all and the performance of the candidates was also good. However, many displayed lack of clarity of thought and failure to give proper reasoning in Part (a) leading to false statements. Part (b) of Question 1 on fill-in-the-blanks was also poorly attempted. The performance of the candidates in Question No.2 was satisfactory, except part (iv) where candidates could not bring out the distinction between negotiation and assignment properly. The performance in Question No.3 was average. At the same time, what came as a surprise to most of the examiner’s was that CS candidates were not even aware of “provisions relating to annual general meeting” as was asked in part (i) of Question 3. Part (ii) on Hundial was also not very well attempted. Question No.4 though attempted by only a handful of the candidates was fairly well attempted. Question No.5 being compulsory was well attempted by the candidates and their performance was also good. However, part (b) on fill-in-the-blanks was poorly attempted. The performance of the candidates in Question No.6 was good. Question No.7 was satisfactorily attempted by the candidates. Most of the candidates seemed unaware of the ‘ZBB’ concept as was asked in part (iv) of the question. The performance in Question No. 8 was below average as it was attempted by very few candidates and those who attempted gave wrong answers.

The candidates are advised to prepare seriously for the examination as better preparation and grasp on the study is the only key to scoring good marks. They should read the question paper thoroughly and follow the instructions as given therein. Further, the candidates should be very clear about the basic provisions of the various Acts and should understand the fundamental concepts of management thoroughly as propounded by various experts. Read Bare Acts to have knowledge about the legal provisions. Consult Guideline and Suggested Answers of the Institute to understand as to how answers are to be written to the questions. Quote relevant legal provisions wherever necessary and write legibly. Read Chartered Secretary, Student Company Secretary, and other Corporate Journals to update your knowledge on the subject.
