PREFACE TO THE SECRETARIAL STANDARDS

Secretarial Standards Board and its Objectives

The Institute of Company Secretaries of India, (ICSI), recognising the need for integration, harmonisation and standardisation of diverse secretarial practices, has constituted the Secretarial Standards Board (SSB) with the objective of formulating Secretarial Standards.

Scope and Functions of the Secretarial Standards Board

The scope of SSB is to identify the areas in which Secretarial Standards need to be issued by the Council of ICSI and to formulate such Standards, taking into consideration the applicable laws, business environment and best secretarial practices. SSB will also clarify issues arising out of such Standards and issue guidance notes for the benefit of members of ICSI, corporates and other users.

The main functions of SSB are:

(i) Formulating Secretarial Standards;
(ii) Clarifying issues arising out of the Secretarial Standards;
(iii) Issuing Guidance Notes; and
(iv) Reviewing and updating the Secretarial Standards / Guidance Notes at periodic intervals.

Need for Secretarial Standards

Companies follow diverse secretarial practices and, therefore, there is a need to integrate, harmonise and standardise such practices so as to promote uniformity and consistency.

Scope of Secretarial Standards

The Secretarial Standards do not seek to substitute or supplant any existing laws or the rules and regulations framed thereunder but, in fact, seek to supplement such laws, rules and regulations.

Secretarial Standards that are issued will be in conformity with the provisions of the applicable laws. However, if, due to subsequent changes in the law, a particular Standard or any part thereof becomes inconsistent with such law, the provisions of the said law shall prevail.

ICSI will endeavour to persuade the Government and appropriate authorities to enforce these Standards, to facilitate the adoption thereof by industry and corporate entities in order to achieve the desired objective of standardisation of secretarial practices.
Procedure for issuing Secretarial Standards

The following procedure shall be adopted for formulating and issuing Secretarial Standards:

1. SSB, in consultation with the Council, shall determine the areas in which Secretarial Standards need to be formulated and the priority in regard to the selection thereof.

2. In the preparation of Secretarial Standards, SSB may constitute Working Groups to formulate preliminary drafts of the proposed Standards.

3. The preliminary draft of the Secretarial Standard prepared by the Working Group shall be circulated amongst the members of SSB for discussion and shall be modified appropriately, if so required.

4. The preliminary draft will then be circulated to the members of the Central Council as well as to Chairmen of Regional Councils/Chapters of ICSI, various professional bodies, Chambers of Commerce, regulatory authorities such as the Department of Company Affairs, the Department of Economic Affairs, the Securities and Exchange Board of India, Reserve Bank of India, Department of Public Enterprises and to such other bodies/organisations as may be decided by SSB, for ascertaining their views, specifying a time-frame within which such views, comments and suggestions are to be received.

   A meeting of SSB with the representatives of such bodies/organisations may then be held, if considered necessary, to examine and deliberate on their suggestions.

5. On the basis of the preliminary draft and the discussion with the bodies/organisations referred to in 4 above, an Exposure Draft will be prepared and published in the “Chartered Secretary”, the journal of ICSI, and also put on the Website of ICSI to elicit comments from members and the public at large.

6. The draft of the proposed Secretarial Standard will generally include the following basic points:

   (a) Concepts and fundamental principles relating to the subject of the Standard;

   (b) Definitions and explanations of terms used in the Standard;

   (c) Objectives of issuing the Standard;

   (d) Disclosure requirements; and

   (e) Date from which the Standard will be effective.
7. After taking into consideration the comments received, the draft of the proposed Secretarial Standard will be finalised by SSB and submitted to the Council of ICSI.

8. The Council will consider the final draft of the proposed Secretarial Standard and finalise the same in consultation with SSB. The Secretarial Standard on the relevant subject will then be issued under the authority of the Council.

Compliance with Secretarial Standards

In the initial years, the Secretarial Standards will be recommendatory. The Institute will request the Government and other appropriate authorities to enforce these Standards and will endeavour to educate the users about the utility and need for compliance with these Standards. The Standards would be made mandatory thereafter.
SECRETARIAL STANDARD ON REGISTERS AND RECORDS

The following is the text of the Secretarial Standard-4 (SS-4) on “Registers and Records”, issued by the Council of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India.

In the initial years, adherence by a company to this Secretarial Standard will be recommendatory.

In this Secretarial Standard, the standard portions have been set in bold type. These should be read in the context of background material which has been set in normal type, and in the context of the ‘Preface to Secretarial Standards’.

INTRODUCTION

Under the Companies Act, 1956, a company is required to maintain certain registers and records. There are some other registers and records, the maintenance of which is not statutorily required but is essential for the smooth, efficient and systematic functioning of the company.

This Secretarial Standard seeks to prescribe a set of principles in relation to various registers and records including the maintenance and inspection thereof.

Some of the registers and records are required to be kept open by a company for inspection by directors and members of the company and by other persons, including creditors of the company. The right to inspect such registers and records is an enforceable right. Companies are also required to allow extracts to be made from certain documents, registers and records and to furnish copies of certain documents, registers and records on demand by a member or by any other specified person. Government authorities have the right of access to all registers and records. Non-compliance with the provisions relating to maintenance, preservation and inspection of registers and records, to the extent they are statutory, creates punishable offences and leads to various penalties on the company, the directors and every officer in default.

In respect of records such as minutes books of Board meetings, committee meetings and general meetings of a company, as well as notices and agenda of meetings and notes on agenda, detailed reference has been made in the ‘Secretarial Standard on Meetings of the Board of Directors’ (SS-1) and the ‘Secretarial Standard on General Meetings’ (SS-2) and their respective Guidance Notes. Hence, these records are not dealt with in this Secretarial Standard.

The Information Technology Act, 2000, permits the maintenance of registers and records in electronic mode. Such registers and records should be maintained in accordance with the provisions of the said Act.

SCOPE

The principles enunciated in this Secretarial Standard are governed by the Companies Act, 1956 and the rules and regulations framed thereunder as well as several provisions of the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 and the rules, regulations and guidelines framed thereunder.

SECRETARIAL STANDARDS

1. REGISTER OF INVESTMENTS IN SECURITIES NOT HELD IN THE NAME OF THE COMPANY

1.1 Maintenance

1.1.1 Every company should, from the date of its registration, maintain a register of investments in securities and enter therein the particulars of investments in securities made by the company on its own behalf but which are not held in its own name.

If a company nominates any person to act as a director of any other company or body corporate, the company can for the purpose of meeting share qualification requirements of such company or body corporate, hold shares in such company or body corporate either jointly in its name and in the name of each such person or nominee, or exclusively in the name of such person or nominee. In such cases, the nominal value of such shareholding should not exceed the nominal value of the qualification shares that may be required to be held by the person nominated to act as a director of that company or body corporate.

A company can also make investment in its subsidiaries and hold such shares in the name(s) of its nominee(s) only to ensure minimum number of members in the subsidiaries.

If the company is a trustee, the investment should be deemed to have been made on behalf of the beneficiaries of the trust and not on its own behalf. Consequently, no entries are required to be made in respect of such investments.
1.1.2 The register should contain the following information in relation to each investment made: name of the company or body corporate in which investment is made; date of Board resolution; date of investment; kind and number of securities; purpose for making the investment; certificate number; distinctive number of securities; folio number/client ID number; cost of acquisition of securities; face value of securities; name of the person in whose name the investment is made; date of disposal; number of securities disposed of and sale consideration.

“Date of investment” for the purpose of this register means the date on which investments already held by the company are transferred in the name of its nominee/directors/other persons.

“Date of disposal” for the purpose of this register means the date on which the investments are either disposed off or transferred in the name of the company.

1.1.3 Entries in the register should be made forthwith, in chronological order and separate folios should be assigned to every person in whose name the investments are held.

The details of benefits arising out of corporate actions such as rights shares, bonus shares, etc. should be recorded.

1.1.4 The register should be maintained at the registered office of the company.

1.2 Inspection

1.2.1 The register should be open for inspection of any member or debenture holder of the company during the business hours of the company without payment of any fee, subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may impose by its articles or in general meeting so that not less than 2 hours in each working day of the company are allowed for inspection.

A member or debenture holder inspecting the register can make extracts from the register during the course of inspection.

A representative of a body corporate, seeking to inspect the register should be duly authorized to do so by the Board of such body corporate. Where a representative of a body corporate inspects the register and if the inspection were to be continued by some other person, such other person should also be authorized by the Board of the inspecting body corporate.

The words ‘reasonable restrictions’ relate to the time of inspection and the company may permit inspection of the register during certain identified hours only. The company should, through its notices, annual report or other communication, duly intimate members about the time of inspection of the register.

Only one person at a time should be allowed to inspect the register.

1.2.2 No person is entitled to copies of the register or any portion thereof.

1.3 Authentication

1.3.1 Entries in the register should be authenticated by the secretary of the company or by any other person authorized by the Board for the purpose, by appending his signature to each entry.

1.4 Preservation

2.1.2 A separate register should be maintained for each buy-back undertaken by the company.

2.1.3 The register should contain information relating to the date of Board or special resolution authorizing buy-back; quantum authorized to be bought back; date of completion of buy-back; description of securities bought back and, in respect of each folio number/client ID number or certificate number of securities bought back, the date of buy-back; number of securities bought back; category to which they belong (preference/ equity/ employees’ stock... option/ sweat equity, etc.); name of last holder of securities; reference to entry in the register of members; mode of buy-back; nominal value of securities and consideration paid for buy-back; date of payment; date of cancellation of securities bought back; date of extinguishment and physical destruction of securities bought back.

‘Date of buy-back’ means the date of acceptance of offer by the company after the completion of verification of offers. The company should complete the verification of the offers received within 15 days of the closure of the offer.

‘Date of payment’ means the date when cash is paid or bank draft or pay order or cheque is posted to the security holder. Payment for buy-back of securities should be made within 7 days from the date of completion of verification of offers.

‘Date of completion of buy-back’ means the date when the last of the payments is made to the security holders.

‘Date of extinguishment’ means the date when the company extinguishes and physically destroys the certificates of securities so bought back.

2.1.4 Entries in the register should be made in chronological order.

3. REGISTER OF CHARGES

3.1 Maintenance

3.1.1 Every company should, from the date of its registration, maintain a register of charges and enter therein all charges specifically affecting the property of the company and all floating charges on the undertaking or property of the company, or on any property acquired subject to a charge as well as particulars of any modification of a charge and every satisfaction of a charge.

The word “charge” includes a mortgage or a lien, whether created or evidenced by an instrument in writing or by an agreement for deposit of title deeds.

A charge is considered as fixed if it covers definite and ascertained properties such that the company is precluded from dealing with the properties so charged without the consent of the charge holder.

A floating charge is not attached to any definite property but is a charge on a class of properties which in the ordinary course of business entitles the company to deal with the properties charged in such manner as the charger company may deem fit until the charge holders take steps to enforce the security.

3.1.2 The register should contain the following information in respect of each charge: serial number of the charge; date of creation of charge or the date of the resolution creating a series of debentures with description of instrument creating charge; date of completion of acquisition of properties subject to charge; particulars of the property charged and terms and conditions thereof; period and amount of charge; names and addresses of persons entitled to the charge; date of modification of charge with description of instrument modifying the charge; particulars of modification; date of satisfaction of charge or redemption of debentures; date of filing of the creation of charge or modification or satisfaction of the charge with the Registrar of Companies and the respective date of registration of charge or modification or satisfaction as the case may be; if any delay is condoned by the competent authority, the fact and date of such condonation.

It should be specified whether the property on which the charge is created is situated in or outside India.

‘Modification’ for this purpose includes any variation of any of the terms of the charge whether by mutual agreement or by operation of law.

Filing of particulars of charge and entries thereof in the register of charges could be made charge holder wise. In the case of consortium documents, particulars of charge could be filed jointly and particulars thereof could be entered accordingly. Each charge should be assigned a charge number and a cross reference of the same should be given at the respective entry of modification or satisfaction of the charge.

The serial number allotted by the Registrar for indexing the registered documents should be recorded in a separate column.

In the case of borrowing from several banks, the names of all the banks should be mentioned in the register. Any change of limits among the lending banks would amount to modification.

The names of the original parties to the mortgage deed including those of their transferees and assignees if any should be included in the register.

All particulars of secured loans should be entered in the register, whether the loans are secured by a registrable charge or not.

Even if satisfaction of charge is not filed, the relevant entries should be made in the register.

3.1.3 Entries should be made in the register forthwith after the creation or modification or satisfaction of a charge.

3.1.4 Entries in the register should be made in chronological order of creation of the charge and modification thereof.

Each entry relating to modification of charge should also make a cross reference to the original charge.

3.1.5 Entries relating to satisfaction of charges should be made against the respective entry for each charge.
3.1.6 Entries relating to appointment of receiver or manager or the cessation of their office should be made in the register forthwith.

3.1.7 The register should be maintained at the registered office of the company.

3.2 Inspection

3.2.1 The register along with copies of instruments, if any, creating or modifying charges should be open for inspection during the business hours of the company, subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may impose by its articles or in general meeting so that not less than 2 hours in each working day of the company are allowed for inspection.

3.2.2 Members or creditors can inspect the register and the instruments, if any, creating or modifying charges without payment of any fee and any other person can inspect the register on payment of the requisite fee.

Any person inspecting the register can make extracts from the register during the course of inspection.

A representative of a body corporate seeking to inspect the register should be duly authorized to do so by the Board of such body corporate. Where a representative of a body corporate inspects the register and if the inspection were to be continued by some other person, such other person should also be authorized by the Board of the inspecting body corporate.

3.2.3 No person is entitled to copies of the register or any portion thereof.

3.3 Authentication

3.3.1 Entries in the register should be authenticated by the secretary of the company or by any other person authorized by the Board for the purpose, by appending his signature to each entry.

3.4 Preservation

3.4.1 Instruments creating a charge should be preserved for a period of 8 years from the date of satisfaction of charge and should be kept in the custody of the secretary of the company or any other person authorised by the Board for the purpose.

3.4.2 The register should be preserved permanently in the custody of the secretary of the company or any other person authorized by the Board for the purpose.

4. REGISTER AND INDEX OF MEMBERS

4.1 Maintenance

4.1.1 Every company should, from the date of its registration, maintain a register of members.

4.1.2 In the case of a company having share capital, the register should contain the following particulars in respect of each member: name, father’s/husband’s name, address (address of registered office in case the member is a body corporate) and occupation; name of guardian if shares are held by a minor and date of birth of minor; folio number; date on which the name of each person is entered in the register as a member; date on which any person ceased to be a member; allotment number or transfer number; number of shares allotted or transferred; date of allotment or transfer; nominal value of shares acquired; type of shares; number and date of issue of share certificate; transferor’s name and folio number; distinctive number of shares except where such shares are held with a depository; nominal value and the amount paid or agreed to be considered as paid and amount due, if any, on such shares; date of payment; date of transfer; number of shares transferred; transferee’s name and folio number; nominal value of shares transferred; balance of shares held; number of shares, if any, kept in abeyance; note of declaration of beneficial interest, if any, given by the member; name and details of nominee; dividend mandates; other instructions, if any, given by the member with regard to sending of notices etc.
In the case of a company without share capital, the register should contain the following particulars in respect of each member: name, father’s/husband’s name, address and occupation; folio number; date on which the name of each person is entered in the register as a member; date on which any person ceased to be a member; amount of guarantee; instructions, if any, given by the member with regard to sending of notices etc.

In the case of shares held in dematerialized mode, the name and particulars of the depository should be entered in the register as the registered owner of such shares. The names of beneficial owners on whose behalf such shares are held in dematerialized form should not be entered. The register of beneficial owners maintained by a depository is deemed to be part of the register of members.

Consequent upon any forfeiture, buy-back or cancellation of shares, an appropriate remark should be made in the register.

If any change occurs in the status of a member whether due to death or insolvency or a change of name or a change in joint holding, entries thereof should be made in the register.

Entries in the register should be made both in the case of membership arising out of an agreement in writing and also in the case of any deemed membership such as membership arising on subscription to the memorandum of association or holding of qualification shares by a director.

Any rectification made in the register pursuant to any direction given by the competent authority should be indicated in the register.

Any order issued by any judicial or revenue authority attaching the shares and giving directions for remittance of dividend should be indicated in the register.

Entries in the register constitute prima facie evidence of the particulars entered therein. As such, the register should be updated whenever a change in the ownership of shares occurs by transfer, transmission, forfeiture, surrender etc. or if any change in any other particulars to be entered in the register is intimated to the company.

4.1.3 In the case of joint shareholders, the particulars of each joint shareholder should be recorded in the register.

4.1.4 No notice of any trust, express, implied or constructive, should be entered in the register.
If a declaration of beneficial interest is received from any person who holds beneficial interest in a share or class of shares of the company specifying the nature of his interest, the particulars of the person in whose name the shares stand registered, other relevant particulars, and a note of such declaration should be entered in the register. Such a note should also be made in the register if there is a change in the beneficial interest or a declaration is received from the person whose name is entered in the register as a member, specifying the name and other particulars of the person who holds the beneficial interest in such shares.

4.1.5 Separate registers should be maintained for each class of equity and preference shares.

Different classes of equity shares, for the purpose of maintenance of separate registers of members, include equity shares issued with differential rights as to dividend, voting or otherwise. Separate registers should also be maintained for convertible warrant holders and holders of sweat equity shares.

4.1.6 Every company having more than 50 members should keep an index of the names of the members of the company unless the register is in such form as in itself constitutes an index.

The index to the register of members should be maintained from the date when the total number of members exceeds 50.

In the case of a private company, for computing the figure of 50 members, joint holders and employee members should be excluded.

The index of beneficial owners maintained by a depository is deemed to be an index to the register of members.

The index should contain sufficient indication to enable correlation with the entries relating to each member in the register of members.

Any alteration made in the register whether by way of addition/deletion, should also be recorded in the index within 14 days.

4.1.7 Entries in the register should be made simultaneously with the allotment or transfer of shares and entries in the index should be made forthwith.

4.1.8 The register and index should be maintained at the registered office of the company unless, in a general meeting, a special resolution is passed, authorizing the keeping of the register at any other place within the same city, town or village in which the registered office is situated and an advance copy of the proposed special resolution is given to the Registrar of Companies.

The register should also specify, in relation to each director of the company, the names of the firms and bodies corporate of which notice has been given by him disclosing his concern or interest. Although a director shall not be deemed to be interested in a contract or arrangement if he himself or along with two or more directors holds not more than 2% of the paid-up share capital in the other company, the register should contain particulars of contracts wherein the interest of a director arises due to his holding of the office of director in the other company. This should be recorded whether or not his shareholding exceeds 2% of the paid up share capital of the other company.

If, on the date of contract or arrangement, the holding of a director in the other company exceeds 2% but has fallen below 2% on the date of the meeting at which the disclosure is required to be made, the director shall be deemed to be interested and entries in the register regarding the contract should be made.

No such contract can be entered into by a company with a paid-up capital of not less than Rs.1,00,00,000 except with the prior approval of the Central Government.

Further, where any director of a banking company is 8.1.3 Entries in the register should be made within 7 days of the date of the Board meeting at which approval of the contract or arrangement was obtained or, if no approval of the Board is required, within 7 days of the receipt at the registered office of the company of particulars of such contract or arrangement, or within 30 days of the date of the contract or arrangement, whichever is later.

In calculating the number of days, intervening public holidays should be excluded.

If there is no contract in which a director is interested, a ‘nil’ entry should be made in the register on a yearly basis.

8.1.4 Entries should be made in the register in chronological order.

8.1.5 The register should be maintained at the registered office of the company.

If the register is taken and kept at a place other than the registered office of the company for the purpose of any meeting, such removal would not amount to non-compliance if the company gives adequate notice to its members, indicating the time during normal business hours (being not less than 2 hours) and the days on which members could inspect the register at the registered office of the company.

Notice in this case can be given by displaying the same on the notice board at the registered office of the company as well as on the official website of the company.

In case a director is appointed as managing director, or as a whole-time director, only an indication to that effect in the remarks column of the register shall be sufficient, as it does not amount to fresh appointment.

Where an additional director or a director appointed in a casual vacancy is appointed as a director of the company at an annual general meeting, the nature of his appointment changes and therefore such change should be entered in the register. Where all the directors of a company retire at the annual general meeting and are re-appointed at the same meeting to the same respective offices as before, such re-appointments will not be deemed to constitute a “change” for the purpose of filing of details with the Registrar of Companies, but the entries in connection thereto should be made in the register.

11.1.1 Every company should, from the date of its registration, maintain one or more registers of intercorporate loans and investments in securities and enter therein the particulars of every investment or loan made, guarantee given or security provided by the company in relation to any body corporate.

‘Loan’ for this purpose includes any deposit of money made by one company with another company, not being deposits of money in a banking company. However, leasing and hire purchase transactions do not result in making of any loan or deposit and hence entries thereof are not required to be made in the register.

A banking company or an insurance company or a housing finance company in the ordinary course of its business, or a company established with the object of financing industrial enterprises or of providing infrastructural facilities or a company whose principal business is the acquisition of shares, stock or other securities or a private company, unless it is a subsidiary of a public company, need not maintain this register.

Though investment in rights shares is not reckoned for the purpose of computing investment /loan limits, the register should contain particulars of investments in rights shares also. Similarly, the register should contain particulars of investments by a holding company in its wholly owned subsidiaries. Particulars of loans made, guarantees given, securities provided by a holding company to its wholly owned subsidiaries should also be entered in the register.

11.1.2 The register should contain in respect of each investment or loan made, the particulars of the name and address of the body corporate in which investment or loan is made; date of making such investment or loan; the amount, terms, period and purpose of the investment or loan; number and kind of shares or debentures or other securities in which investment is made; nominal value, paid-up value and cost of the investment made; percentage of the investment or loans made to paid up capital and free reserves of the company; rate of interest on loan; date and amount of repayment on the loan; bank rate of interest; date of Board / general meeting approval; specific sources of funding; date of approval of financial institutions; date of disinvestment and details of number, face value and cost of securities disinvested.

The maintenance of such a register by a private company, though not mandatory, would facilitate compilation of data of all loans and investments made and guarantees given and securities provided in connection therewith.

In case a private company becomes a public company, all loans and investments made while it was a private company need to be reckoned while making further loans or investments.

Where the granting of a loan or the giving of a security or providing of any guarantee had taken place after obtaining prior approval of the Central Government, the date of such approval should be indicated in the register.

11.1.3 The register should contain the following particulars in respect of each guarantee given: date on which the guarantee is given; name and address of the body corporate to which loan is made in respect of which the guarantee is given; date of making such loan; percentage of the exposure on guarantee given to paid up capital and free reserves; date of Board / general meeting approval; date of approval of financial institutions.

11.1.4 The register should contain the following particulars in respect of security provided for each loan: amount; date on which the security is provided; name and address of the body corporate to which loan is made in respect of which the security is provided; date of making such loan; percentage of the security provided to paid up capital and free reserves; date of Board / general meeting approval; date of approval of financial institutions.

11.1.5 Entries in the register should be made chronologically, but separately for loans, investments, guarantee given and security provided, within 7 days of making such loan or investment or giving of such guarantee or the provision of such security.

11.1.6 The register should be maintained at the registered office of the company.
