PRESS RELEASE

CHIEF OF BUSINESS BUREAU

Dr. A K Sengupta, Director and Chair Professor of Finance Area, SIES College of Management Studies, Mumbai INAUGURATES 1ST ICSI CONVOCATION (WIRC) AT ICSI-CCGRT, NAVI MUMBAI

Standing from Left to Right: CS N K Jain, Secretary and CEO, The ICSI, CS Atul H Mehta, Council Member, The ICSI, CS Nesar Ahmad, President, The ICSI, Chief Guest Dr. A K Sengupta, Director and Chair Professor of Finance Area, SIES College of Management Studies, Nerul, CS S N Ananthasubramanian, Vice-President, The ICSI &CS Mahavir Lunawat, Chairman, WIRO of The ICSI

Dr. A K Sengupta, Director and Chair Professor of Finance Area, SIES College of Management Studies, in his Convocation Address lauded the efforts of ICSI in making the curriculum up to date with the requirements of the Corporates. He advised the young members to carry the Core Values of the ICSI and become successful Company Secretaries as in the success of Company Secretaries lies the success of the Country. He urged the newly passed members to make their lives successful with their dedicated efforts towards imbibing the ethical values and helping in the growth of the nation.

CS Nesar Ahmad, President, the ICSI in his address while congratulating the newly admitted members, meritorious students of the CS Course, their parents and teachers, stressed on the need for the young professionals to be professionals, reposed with a high level of responsibility towards their organisations, the government and the society at large. He advised the newly passed members and guided them on the Five Core Values in the ICSI Vision 2020 document, where the Institute identifies for itself the five core values:
• Integrity
• Ethics
• Reliability
• Ownership
• Being stakeholder centric

He advised the young professionals to constantly strive to build on these core values to not only meet but beat the expectations of all our stakeholders and the set the path for achieving sustained performance and growth.

CS SN Ananthasubramanian, Vice-President, The ICSI in his welcome address spoke about the importance of continuous learning and advised all young professionals to have a craving for learning with application of knowledge towards professional success in tandem with societal expectations. He stressed on the need to become professionals who set examples and the set pace for the growth and further development of the Profession based on ethics and core values of the Institute.

Earlier, CS R Sridharan, Council Member, The ICSI said that education and opportunities have created unprecedented social and economic mobility. There is a revolution of expectations and the surge of aspirations in an increasingly young India. He advised the young professionals to follow the Core Values of the Institute diligently.

CS B Narasimhan, Council Member, The ICSI was also present on the occasion and while addressing the students, He reiterated that while there should be pride in successes, there is also need to be conscious of challenges ahead. He advised the young professionals to consistently develop their physical, emotional, psychological and mental levels.

CS Mahavir Lunawat, Chairman, ICSI – WIRC introduced the dignitaries on the dias.

CS N K Jain, Secretary & CEO, The ICSI while making concluding remarks and proposing a vote of thanks, congratulated all the newly admitted members and meritorious students. He emphasised that the perception of business towards Company Secretaries has been changing over a period of time as the portfolio of the profession has expanded beyond company law. He advised the young professionals to keep pace with the increased technological advancements, respond to the speed of change and innovation, meet with rising quality standards, satisfy accelerated demands and above all to perform, exceeding the expectations.