17th National Convention of Company Secretaries

Theme: Changing Profile of the Profession and Tasks Ahead

March 2-4, 1989, Hotel Ashok, Bangalore

Inaugurated by Shri G. N. Mehra, Secretary to Government of India, Department of Public Enterprises and Company Affairs and Chairman, Company Law Board

“...Urged Company Secretaries to be more responsive to discharge manifold responsibilities towards corporate sector, workers, shareholders, customers, community and the State. He advised Company Secretaries to be more alert and willing to learn and change with the times and added that in the coming decades they had to initiate more exacting professional skills and standards to keep unsullied image of the profession...exhorted Company Secretaries to strike a judicial balance between the conflicting interests with the aid of their professional competence coupled with professional independence. He advised the members of the Institute to maintain absolute integrity and render sound counsel to companies without fear or favour....”
