CORONA KAAL IN UJJAIN

PATIENT DIES, CREMATED; RECORD SAYS ALIVE

Saving one's skin and not lives is perhaps the guiding mantra of Ujjain administration in the ongoing fight against Corona virus. The city, that marked its presence on Covid-19 map at the onset of lockdown on March 25 by reporting its first (Covid-19) death, saw the mortality rate rise to 22% between March 25 and May 31. Instead of trying to crush the corona menace and stub the infection, the jittery administration launched a "damage-control" exercise. It appeared to be a game on a chess board. Officers on crucial positions were check-mated and replaced overnight. Arbitrary agreements were struck with private medical colleges for Covid-19 treatment. As corona subsided, officials patted their backs for 'this new found success'. However, there are several loopholes in administration's 'success story'. Free Press goes behind side scene to highlight these loopholes and test the administration claims one-by-one. Nirukt Bhargava, in his shocking trail finds...

CASE STUDY

A 72-year-old man of 102, Begumpura was admitted to RD Gardi Medical College (RDGMC) on May 17. He was reported to have died at 2.15am on June 2. Medical certificate issued vide form number-14(A) said that he was corona positive and cited 'respiratory failure' as cause of death. Last rites, too, were performed as per corona protocol.

However, for district administration it was not a corona death even

According to administration's record, the corona positive patient was admitted to RDGMC and was discharged on May 30. Hence, as per administration's record he is still alive. However, the reality is starkly different. He died on June 2. RDGMC issued doctor's certificate declaring it a 'Corona death' record and 'alive' in another. This raises a very pertinent question: Who is lying? While RD Gardi Medical College (RDGMC) records claim that the patient died on June 2 due to Covid-19, the administration claimed that the said patient was discharged on May 30 after defeating corona.

though his name finds a mention in the list of Corona positive patients and it stands there at Serial Number 321. The list also claimed that he was discharged on May 30.

So the patient is 'dead' in one government agency

The case raises a serious question mark over the authenticity of the 'corona record' of the district administration and points towards some sort of a man-induced discrepancy.

NUMBERS GAME

The District administration says that around three dozen Covid-19 deaths were reported in RDGMC, but is silent over many other deaths in the hospital, whose number is not less than the 'accepted' deaths.

OFFICIALSPEAK

On condition of anonymity, an RDGMC

official on Saturday said, "Begumpura man was Corona positive and we treated him accordingly as per protocol for a fortnight. He died on June 2 and his body was sent for last rites as per (corona) protocol. We issued death certificate citing it as Covid-19 death." CMHO Dr Mahavir Khandelwal said though the patient in question had initially tested positive, his second report came negative and that's why he was shown discharged in the list of Corona positive patients.

Asked why the list line showed him discharged on May 30 when he died on June 2 at RDGMC, CMHO said that he was out of station and would comment only after checking the facts on his return to Ujjain.

Suspecting affair with hubby, woman kills kin

SHAHDOL: A 35-year-old woman allegedly hacked her cousin to death on Saturday on suspicion that she was having affair with her husband in Shahdol district. The incident took place at Padhkar village and the accused was Roshani Kewat, who suspected that her cousin Lalita (30), was having affair with her husband, said inspector Mahendra Singh Chauhan of Budhar police station. "Roshani lost her cool when she saw Lalita talking on mobile phone. She thought Lalita was speaking to her husband. She picked up an axe lying nearby and hit Lalita in the neck thrice, killing her on the spot," the officer said.

The ministers have put up their choice before the Chief Minister and before the senior leaders of the party organisation.

Chouhan, however, wants the central leadership to take a decision on the allotment of portfolios. The chief minister held a meeting with Scindia over distribution over the issue after the cabinet expansion.

Scindia spoke to Chouhan about the departments that he wanted for his supporters. Chouhan would speak to the central leaders about it. The number of departments that Scindia wanted for his supporters may be reduced. Chouhan may distribute portfolios after returning from Delhi on Sunday.

The BJP's central leadership will allot portfolios to ministers the way they have given berths during the cabinet expansion.

For that reason, Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan will leave for Delhi on Sunday. He may meet the party's national president JP Nadda, besides some Union ministers. The real problem is with the distribution of portfolios among the ministers who are from the BJP.

Some big and some small departments will be distributed among the ministers from Jyotiraditya Scindia's quota and among those from the BJP's.

Chouhan does not want to court any controversy.

Rameshwar Sharma is protem Speaker

Governor Anandiben Patel appointed BJP MLA Rameshwar Sharma as pro-tem Speaker of the Assembly. Earlier, Jagdish Devda had resigned as pro-tem speaker after his inclusion in the cabinet.

Assembly's Principal Secretary A P Singh on Saturday said that the Governor appointed Sharma as pro-tem speaker.

Therefore, he has left the decision on allotment portfolios to the party's central leadership.

Instead of home and health, Narottam Mishra may be given the urban administration department. Mishra, however, does not want to give up home.

Agriculture minister Kamal Patel's department may also be changed. Similarly, Govind Rajput is likely to get another department.

Gopal Bhargava, who was the minister of Panchayat and Rural Development Department in the previous BJP regime, wants a new assignment. Bhargava is keen on getting transport department.

Yashodhara Raje Scindia has interest in industries, MSMEs, sports and youth welfare. Likewise, Vijay Shah, Bhupendra Singh and Vishwash Sarang want important departments.

US sends aircraft carriers into South China Sea amid India-China tensions

AGENCIES
Washington

The United States has sent two aircraft carriers into the disputed waters of the South China Sea to participate in military exercises as Beijing flexes its muscle in the region.

The US navy confirmed with ANI that the USS Ronald Reagan and USS Nimitz are conducting dual-carrier operations and exercises in the South China Sea to support a "free and open Indo-Pacific".

The two combat carriers along with four warships will include round-the-clock flights testing the striking ability of carrier-based aircraft.

What grabs attention about this move by the US is that it is rare for major American and Chinese military drills to take place in the same region at the same time.

"I can confirm that the USS Nimitz (CVN 68) and USS Ronald Reagan (CVN 76) are conducting dual-carrier operations and exercises in the South China Sea to support a free and open Indo-Pacific. High-end integrated exercises build unmatched flexibility, endurance, manoeuvrability and firepower in an all-domain war-fighting environment," Lt Cmdr Sean Brophy, APR-M, Public Affairs Officer for the Ronald Reagan Carrier Strike Group, told ANI.

"These efforts support enduring the US commitments to stand up for the right of all nations to fly, sail and operate wherever international law allows. This opportunity for two carrier strike groups to train and operate together in the region provides combatant commanders with significant operational flexibility and capabilities that only the US Navy can command," Lt Brophy said.

The exercise is long-planned but comes as China conducts military drills of its own in the area, near the contested Paracel Islands, exercises that have been criticised by the US and other countries.

OUR STAFF REPORTER
Indore

Out of 15 students who got a perfect score of 300/300 in the Madhya Pradesh Board of Secondary Education class 10th examination, there was only one from Indore district - Kavita Lodhi of Mhow. Not a single student from Indore city, considered to be the education hub of the state, got the perfect score.

Yet again, girls outshone boys with 70.18 passing percentage overall and made their mark stronger. Boys overall passing percentage stood at 62.30 per cent. In general category, the passing percentage was much higher than average crossing 80 per cent and boy's passing percentage was 68.32.

Overall, the passing percentage of MPBSE is 62.3%, which is a per cent higher than last year.

In 2019, the pass percentage of students in the Class 10 MP board exams was 61.32%. Even last year, girls had outshone boys with a pass percentage of 63.69%. In 2018, 66.54% students had cleared the exam while only 49.9% cleared in 2017.

There were only two toppers last year, who had scored 499/500. This year, there are 15 students with perfect score of 300/300 across the state.

Maximum students making the perfect score merit list are from Guna, Vidhisha and Raisen. Only 1 student (Kavita Lodhi) from Indore and 1 student (Kanika Mishra) from Bhopal has made the perfect score merit list.

Merit best out of 3 instead of 5

Unlike every year, when merit list comes out from best of 5, this year, it was best of three to make the merit this year. Out of six, two subjects had general promotions. The two subjects were Hindi special/general and English special/general.

The four subjects that were accessed, as shared by divisional officer Deven Sonwani are: Social Science, Science, Math and Sanskrit. Best of score of any three were considered for merit list this year.

This year, based on the positions and marking, the competition was stiff and closer than ever. The main reason behind such close marking is general promotion in language papers. Not just alphabets but teaching every essential skill of life from moral values to our purpose in life, a Guru plays the most important role in our lives. Honouring their Guru, Guru Purnima is celebrated among Hindu community on the first full moon after the summer solstice in the month of Ashadha (July-August).

This year, Guru Purnima will be celebrated on July 5, i.e. today. On this Guru Purnima, we bring some essential life lessons and experiences for our readers from the lives of those who inspire us by setting an example:

Don't let Culture be eaten up by Vulture

Guru is a comprehensive word and explaining different aspects of a Guru, founders of 'Sarvang Sampurn Gayaki' Gharana Padma Bhushan Dr Pandit Gokulotsav Maharaj and Dr Vrajotsav Goswami talked about Shiksha Guru, Diksha Guru and further the world as the biggest university.

"The one who teaches us to drive, read and do basic tasks of life is a Shiksha Guru, the one who leads the path of spiritual growth, devotion and music is a Diksha Guru," Gokulotsav said. He added that the biggest world that teaches us every lesson of life is everything around us.

"We all exist with our surroundings, but how we can live in sync with them peacefully is the task of a Guru," Gokulotsav said. He explained that mismanagement is what results in imbalance and disasters.

Founders of 'Sarvang Sampurn Gayaki' Gharana Padma Bhushan Dr Pandit Gokulotsav Maharaj and Dr Vrajotsav Goswami

"Take Covid-19 for example, it is a consequence of mismanagement with nature clearly showing that humans are failing to live in sync with nature," Gokulotsav said. He added that humans need to learn to take care of our biodiversity and nature around.

"Having other life forms on earth not only affects the balance of nature but also the balance in our bodies,"

Gokulotsav said.

Another essential lesson that he shared for our readers is 'Culture should not be eaten by Vulture'.

"We have been blessed with traditional values and lessons from Guru, which can help us live a full life, so we need to remember and follow in those footsteps," Gokulotsav said. He added that Guru is synonymous to God.

BOW TO THEE OH! GUIDING FORCE!

LEARN FROM NATURE, LIVE IN SYNC WITH ENVIRONMENT

Learning is a continuous process and when learning from Mother Earth, it is an endless pleasure as explained by Padma Shri Janak McGilligan Palta. Janak is the guru of sustainable development and an inspiration for many who have the essential lesson of survival.

"We can learn the most important lessons from our surroundings and nature," Janak said. She explained that most people overlook the essential signs of nature and continue to move ahead in the direction of destruction.

VALUES GIVE BIRTH TO AN ARTIST

It is not what we do, but how we do it, which matters the most, explained dance guru Ragini Makkhar. Quoting the importance of values, she said, "Our values is what makes our life and my essential message to everyone is to keep up their values."

She added that without values, an artist cannot be born. "The basic of an artist comes from values and further with five mantras," Ragini said.

The five mantras shared by her are: dedication, devotion, hard work, punctuality and realisation. "Realisation is the most aspect that people overlook in life," Ragini said. She added one needs to realise what they are doing and how it affects the world.

Dance guru Ragini Makkhar

"When we cannot stand comfortably in a field where crops are sprayed with pesticides, how can those crops benefit us after we eat them? We continue to ignore this simple logic, which ends up taking a toll on our health," Janak said.

She added that the very lesson we must learn from coronavirus is to live and learn from nature. "Those living in villages and areas with better forest cover were proven to have higher immunity, isn't it obvious what we need to do?" Janak questioned.

MHOW: Student of Pithampur Public School Harsh Kumar got 300 out of 300 marks in 10th class and secured 9th position in state. His school teachers, friends and well wishers greeted him for his achievement.

DAVV gears up for formation of EC as Section 52 ends

OUR STAFF REPORTER

Devi Ahilya Vishwavidyalaya (DAVV) is gearing up for formation of executive council (EC) as Section 52 of Madhya Pradesh Vishwavidyalaya Adhiniyam exhausted on June 23.

The university authorities have decided names to be recommended to Raj Bhawan for nomination in EC.

The university has decided 10 names which it would recommend to the Chancellor for appointment in executive council. Tech names are from academic background in the EC and rest from other background.

Four members each deans and principals of affiliated and two professors from UTD.

According to information, the names of principals decided for EC are Suresh Silawat, Sudha Silawat, Mangal Mishra, and Vandana Agnihotri whereas dean names included Pratima Sen, Kamakshi Agnihotri, Rajesh Sharma and Ratnesh Gupta. Professors' names included Rekha Gadre and Bhumesht Gupta.

Citing irregularities and mismanagement, State government on June 24 clamped Section 52 which led to ouster of the then vice chancellor Dr Narendra Dhakad and disbanding of executive council comprising 16 members.

In place of Dhakad, Jiwanji University faculty Prof Renu Jain was appointed as VC. Recently, the state government sent file to Raj Bhawan for lifting Section 52 which paved way for appointment of new VC and formation of new EC.

As the Raj Bhawan could not meet the deadline, it gave extension to Jain and started process for appointment of new VC. Now, it would have to initiate process for forming EC also.

"We have decided names to be recommended to the Chancellor for appointment in EC. The names will be sent to the Raj Bhawan after scrutiny work is over," a senior DAVV office said.

When Saroj Khan witnessed a performance mirroring her life

She left a part of her in me as Guru, says Khushboo Panchal

I met her in her house for the first time in the year 2016. Since then I've always been in consistent touch with her on phone. On 28, 2019, my institute 'Nrityaaradhna Nritya Mandir' organised a programme dedicated to her in Vikram Kirti Mandir, Ujjain and she was invited as a chief guest. This was her first visit to the Holy City of Ujjain. I performed on a special poetic tribute mirroring the whole life of the legend in front of her and she not only gave a standing ovation but burst into tears. She also said that having dedicated her whole life to dance and choreographed thousands of songs, teaching hundreds of actresses, she still wasn't honoured by any award by the government of India. But in Ujjain we felicitated her by 'Nrityaaradhna Kala Sadhak Samman-2019' and she felt very affectionate and dignified here.

Witnessing my dance and how I choreographed and worked here with my students to make this event a reality she was very impressed and invited me to learn from her in Mumbai. After many visits and classes when she was convinced I have what she wants to see in her students and accepted me as her 'Shagird' (student). That was probably the last time she fastened the band of love and affection as a Guru to any of her students seeing potential of taking the responsibilities to take dance to a level she wanted and learn and grow as a dancer under her guidance. She taught me then for 1.5 years almost and I got the golden opportunity to learn from her the subtleties of Bollywood dance style. I'll always cherish all the

elling with her in her car, the way she taught many things to me not just dance but about life, she scolded me with love shaping me as better artist and luckily I celebrated my last birthday with her- the best birthday ever. During this period our bond was no less than a mother and daughter. I can never forget when she said Khushboo when you dance I see my reflection in you and many a times she gave me some token of love in the form of money which I'm going to keep safe as a source of inspiration and blessing to keep doing what she wanted me to do, taking dance to newer heights. She must've left us but she left a part of her in me as Guru that I'll always keep intact in my heart with love, sincerity and dedication.

In our government, the transfers and postings are not done by taking money. They are done on the basis of merit. This was stated by chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan at the law and order review meeting held at Mantralaya on Saturday. On every Monday, the chief minister will hold meeting with chief secretary and DGP to review the state's law and order situation. The chief minister tried to give the message to public servants and also to the opposition parties that attack government for running 'transfer industry' in the state. Through the video conference, the chief minister instructed SPs to launched a campaign in the state against the criminals and prepare list of criminals because they are enemies of the society. He asked to seize the property of criminals against whom action was taken in the past by the government. He also asked officials to focus on their duties and if someone gives shelter to criminals, he will deal with the matter personally. He said police department should prepare plan to curb crime ahead of the festival season. The chief minister insisted that officials who fail to control crime will be removed along with their senior officials. CM discusses Chambal project with Union min Gadkari

'It is Chambal Progress Way, not Express Way'

OUR STAFF REPORTER
BHOPAL

It is Chambal Progress Way not Chambal Express Way now for which Rs 781 crore have been sanctioned. This was stated by chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan while holding discussions with union minister for transport Nitin Gadkari on the subject through video conferencing on Saturday. Chouhan said that with the construction of Chambal Express Way, the rough terrain and backward area of the state will develop as an industrial area.

He said it is state government's dream project. There is a provision to provide only 50 per cent of the land free of cost under Bharatmala project. The state government is providing 100 percent land worth Rs 421 crore free of cost to complete the project. Besides, state government has provided financial assistance of Rs 330 crore in the form of royalty of soil and murrum and will also bear the expenditure of Rs 30 crore to be incurred on per-mile of forest land. Thus,

The Express Way will be 309-kilometre long in the state. It will connect the boundaries of Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh via Sheopur, Morena and Bhind. This route will be connected to Golden Quadrilateral (Agra-Kanpur) route in Bhind, North-South Corridor in Morena and Delhi Mumbai Corridor in Rajasthan

So this happened 800 mn years after the Big Bang

AGENCIES / Leiden

Astronomers have discovered a luminous galaxy caught in the act of reionizing its surrounding gas only 800 million years after the Big Bang. The research, led by Romain Meyer, PhD student at UCL in London, UK, has been presented at the virtual annual meeting of the European Astronomical Society (EAS).

Studying the first galaxies that formed 13 billion years ago is essential to understanding our cosmic origins. One of the current hot topics in extragalactic astronomy is 'cosmic reionization,' the process in which the intergalactic gas was ionized (atoms stripped of their electrons).

Cosmic reionization is similar to an unsolved murder: We have clear evidence for it, but who did it, how and when? We now have strong evidence that hydrogen reionization was completed about 13 billion years ago, in the first billion years of the universe, with bubbles of ionized gas slowly growing and overlapping.

The objects capable of creating such ionized hydrogen bubbles have however remained mysterious until now: the discovery of a luminous galaxy in which 60-100 percent of ionizing photons escape, is likely responsible for ionizing its local bubble. This suggests the case is closer to being solved. The two main suspects for cosmic reionization are usually 1) a population of numerous faint galaxies leaking ~10 percent of their energetic photons, and 2) an 'oligarchy' of luminous galaxies with a much larger percentage (>50 percent) of photons escaping each

A luminous galaxy was caught in the act of reionizing its surrounding gas.

The objects capable of creating such ionized hydrogen bubbles have however remained mysterious until now

In either case, these first galaxies were very different from those today: galaxies in the local universe are very inefficient leakers, with only <2-3 percent of ionizing photons escaping their host. To understand which galaxies governed cosmic reionization, astronomers must measure the so-called escape fractions of galaxies in the reionization era.

The detection of light from excited hydrogen atoms (the so-called Lyman-alpha line) can be used to infer the fraction of escaping photons. On the one hand, such detections are rare because reionization-era galaxies are surrounded by neutral gas which absorbs that signature hydrogen emission.

On the other hand, if this hydrogen signal is detected it represents a 'smoking gun' for a large ionized bubble, meaning we have caught a galaxy reionizing its surroundings.

The size of the bubble and the galaxy's luminosity determines whether it is solely responsible for creating this ionized bubble or if unseen accomplices are necessary.

The discovery of a luminous galaxy 800 million years after the Big Bang supports the scenario where an 'oligarchy' of bright leakers emits most of the ionizing photons.

Men more likely to be seen as 'brilliant' than women

AGENCIES / New York

Men are more likely to be seen as 'brilliant' than women, say researchers in a new study measuring global perceptions linked to gender. The study, published in the Journal of Experimental Social Psychology, found that these stereotyped views are an instance of implicit bias, which is when associations are automatically activated in our minds.

"Stereotypes that portray brilliance as a male trait are likely to hold women back across a wide range of prestigious careers," said study lead author Daniel Storage from the University of Denver in the US.

"Understanding the prevalence and magnitude of this gender-brilliance stereotype can inform future efforts to increase gender equity in career outcomes," said study senior author Andrei Cimpian from the New York University in the US.

Previous work by Cimpian and his colleagues has suggested that women are underrepresented in careers where success is perceived to depend on high levels of intellectual ability (e.g., brilliance, genius), including those in science and technology. Less understood are the factors that explain this phenomenon. To address this, the current study explored the potential impact of stereotypes. In a series of five experiments, the research team surveyed more than 3,000 people from over 78 countries including US women and men as well as US girls and boys between the ages of 9 and 10.

To find out more about gender perceptions of brilliance, the researchers adopted an indirect way of measuring the stereotype - namely, a tool called the Implicit Association Test (IAT). IAT measures the degree of overlap between concepts (e.g., brilliant and male) without explicitly asking participants whether or not they hold stereotyped views. The researchers consistently found evidence for an implicit stereotype associating brilliance with men more than with women.

The magnitude of this stereotype was striking as well—for example, it was similar in strength to the implicit stereotype that associates men more than women with careers (and women more than men with the family), which was identified in earlier work.

The team also gauged explicit stereotypes, directly asking participants whether they believed that men are more brilliant than women.

JUDGE EXPUNGES OBSERVATIONS

SHANKAR RAJ Bengaluru

Karnataka High Court's Justice Krishna S Dixit has expunged his controversial observations made in a bail order in a rape case after the state government filed a petition requesting the same. It may be recalled that Justice Dixit kicked up a row on July 17 while granting advance bail to a rape accused when he observed that it was "unbecoming of a woman to fall asleep after rape". He made this observation while hearing a rape case of a 42-year-old HR manager, where the woman is said to have fallen asleep after the incident of rape occurred. In his controversial observation, Justice Dixit had said that "The explanation offered by the complainant that after the perpetration of the act she was tired and fell asleep, is unbecoming of an Indian woman; that is not the way our women react when they are ravished." His remarks upset lawyers, activists and journalists across the country. The state government later filed a petition requesting that the observations be expunged as it could adversely affect the investigation.

AGENCIES New Delhi

Criticising the law and order situation in Uttar Pradesh, Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi termed it as "jungle raj" during a video conference with party leaders on Saturday. The virtual meeting was called to discuss what the Congress called the deteriorating law and order situation in the state. Priyanka alleged during the course of the meeting that, "Uttar Pradesh has turned into a jungle raj. Even police personnel are not safe here. The law and order in the state has collapsed because of the alliance between criminals, ruling party leaders and officials." She said that the morale of criminals has been boosted in the state. This sharp attack comes soon after eight police personnel, including a circle officer, were shot dead and six policemen seriously injured when a local criminal, Vikas Dubey, and his gang sprayed bullets on them in Vikru village under Chaubeypur police circle in Kanpur in the wee hours of Friday. Alleging that criminals are enjoying political protection, Priyanka Gandhi asked Congress leaders to "expose" the BJP in front of the people. She has asked party workers to run a campaign against the state government for this purpose. The meeting also discussed the strategy for the forthcoming panchayat elections the state where law and order will be one of the main electoral issues for the Congress. The Home Minister said that the grant of citizenship will be expedited as per the provisions of the law and all Hindu refugees will be accepted as the country's citizens. Around 750 Hindus are living in makeshift tents on the Yamuna bank and homes in north Delhi's Majnu ka Tila area that have unplastered walls and metal roofs. Many others live in resettlement colonies on the outskirts of New Delhi in Rohini's Sectors 9 and 11, Adarsh Nagar and near the Signature Bridge. Sirsa thanked the Home Minister for taking various measures and initiatives like the Citizen Amendment Act for granting Indian citizenship to such people facing persecution.

UP police fail to nab mastermind of Friday bloodbath

OUR CORRESPONDENT Lucknow

Almost 40 hours on, Kanpur's notorious don Vikas Dubey, accused of Friday bloodbath in Bikru village in which eight cops lost their lives, is still absconding. Entire UP police force, including the highly skilled Special Task Force (STF) and about two dozen teams, have not been able to chase the accused till the time of going to press. "The police force of neighbouring states have also been roped in assuming that he might have slipped there," an official said. A police sub inspector was suspended Saturday for allegedly giving clues to the accused about the police teams' massive plan to nab Dubey Thursday night. "At the time of encounter, he fled the encounter site. Had he faced the criminals, the situation could have been different," Mohit Agarwal, Inspector General (Kanpur Range) told the media. District administration demolished a house belonging to Dubey using

JCB. The demolition was done in the presence of Uttar Pradesh police officers. Bulldozers demolishing his house, several cars and other items were seen in visuals shared on social media. Many people questioned the legality of the demolition drive. The officials have now moved to freeze his bank accounts. The mastermind of the gruesome murder of policemen, Dubey already had 60 serious charges, including one in which he murdered the then minister inside a police station in 2001.

In the larger public health interest, it is important for ICMR to expedite the clinical trials with a promising indigenous vaccine, the statement stated. Faced with the unprecedented nature of the COVID-19 pandemic, and the consequent dislocation of the normal life, all other vaccine candidates across the globe have been similarly fast-tracked, it said. "ICMR's process is exactly in accordance with the globally accepted norms to fast-track the vaccine development for diseases of pandemic potential wherein human and animal trials can continue in parallel," it said. Underlining ICMR was among the world's most reputed organisations in the field of medical research and its track record of facilitating India's globally respected and acknowledged vaccine and drug industry speaks for itself, the research body said trials will be done following the best practices and rigour. They will be reviewed, as required, by a Data Safety Monitoring Board (DSMB). "While issues raised in public domain from time-to-time by commentators are welcome, as they form an important part of feedback loop, the best of India's medical professionals and research scientists should not be second guessed for their professionalism or adherence to the highest scientific rigour," the statement stated. "ICMR is committed to treat the safety and interest of people of India as a topmost priority," it said. The Indian Council of Medical Research(ICMR) has identified 12 clinical trial sites, including medical institutions and hospitals, and has asked their principal investigators to ensure that the subject enrolment is initiated no later than July 7. Noting that this was the first indigenous vaccine being developed by India, Bhargava in his letter to principal investigators of the 12 sites said that it is one of the "top priority projects which is being monitored at the top-most level of the government". "It is envisaged to launch the vaccine for public health use latest by August 15 after completion of all clinical trials.... "You have been chosen as a clinical trial site of the BBV152 COVID vaccine. In view of the public health emergency due to COVID-19 pandemic and urgency to launch the vaccine, you are strictly advised to fast track all approvals related to initiation of the clinical trial and ensure that the subject enrolment is initiated no later than July 7," the letter stated. The letter further warned that any non-compliance will be viewed very seriously. "Kindly note non-compliance will be viewed very seriously. Therefore, you are advised to treat this project on highest priority and meet the given timelines without any lapse," the letter stated.

Karnika's collector dream...

Karnika followed a gruelling schedule. After returning from school at noon, she studied with her classmates from 1.30 pm to 4 pm. Then she attended a coaching class up to 6 pm. From 6.30 to 8 pm she was again at the coaching class. Her school, Reema Vidya Mandir, Semra Kalan, supported her in every possible way. Fee was not charged from her since her father's death. "The coaching sir was also very accommodating and never insisted on payment," she said. What was the secret of her success? "Teaching others," she says. Karnika regularly taught weaker students of her class during group study. That helped her revise the difficult topics dozens of times. "Gyan to baatne se badhta hai (Knowledge grows by sharing)," she says. Karnika doesn't have a phone of her own. "Mummy had left her phone with me today as the result was to be announced at 12 noon," she says. Her mother phoned her at 12.15pm to inquire about her result. "I couldn't believe my ears. I never expected she would do so well," her mother said. Her mother's bosses allowed her to leave for home early to celebrate the success of her only child. Like most teenagers, Karnika loved TikTok and used to make videos. She, however, didn't have many followers, she said. She uninstalled the app from her mother's phone before the exams. Karnika credits 'God, Mummy and Nani' for her success; in that order.

US sends aircraft...

"America agrees with our South-East Asian friends: The PRC's (People's Republic of China) military exercise in disputed waters of the South China Sea is highly provocative. We oppose Beijing's unlawful claims. Period," Secretary of State Mike Pompeo tweeted on Friday. The Pentagon said in a statement cited by CNN on Thursday that China's "military exercises are the latest in a long string of China's actions to assert unlawful maritime claims and disadvantage its South-East Asian neighbours in the South China Sea." The US Navy's operation of two nuclear-powered aircraft carriers in the South China Sea region further represents a significant show of force and comes amid heightened tensions between Washington and Beijing over a number of areas, including Hong Kong.

India registers highest single-day spike of nearly 23K COVID cases

AGENCIES
New Delhi

India's COVID-19 tally neared 6.5 lakh cases on Saturday with a record single-day spike of 22,771 new infections, even as the recovery rate further improved to 60.81 per cent. The government said several people-centric measures taken as part of the "test, trace, treat" strategy have removed the impediments for COVID-19 testing.

Facilitation of widespread testing by states or Union Territories has spurred the number of samples tested every day, the Union health ministry said. During the last 24 hours, 2,42,383 samples have been tested, pushing the cumulative number of tests to 95,40,132. While the COVID-19 tally climbed to 6,48,315, the death toll rose to 18,655 with 442 new fatalities, according to Union Health Ministry data.

With a steady rise, the number of recoveries stands at 3,94,226 and one patient has igrated. There are 2,35,433 active cases of the novel coronavirus currently in the country, the updated data at 8 am showed. "Thus, around 60.81 per cent of patients have recovered so far," an official said. The total number of confirmed cases also includes foreigners. This was the second consecutive day when coronavirus cases have increased by more than 20,000. There has been a surge of 4,57,780 COVID-19 cases from June 1 till date.

Meanwhile, as experts cautioned against rushing the process for developing a COVID-19 vaccine after the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) stated it plans to launch one by August 15, the apex health research body stressed that it is acting in accordance with the globally accepted norms to fast-track vaccine development for diseases of pandemic potential. The ICMR said that the letter by Director General of ICMR Dr Balram Bhargava to principal investigators of the clinical trial sites was meant to cut unnecessary red tape, without bypassing any necessary

Fully prepared: IAF gives a look at readiness near China border

AGENCIES
IAF Forward Air Base

The forward airbase near the India-China border is abuzz with activity. Russian-origin Su-30MKIs and the MiG-29s and other aircraft are seen constantly flying in and out as the Indian Air Force brings in journalists to demonstrate their preparedness.

Transport aircraft including the American C-17 and the C-130J along with their Russian counterparts Ilyushin-76 and the Antonov-32 are being used to ferry troops and equipment from far away locations to be deployed on the Line of Actual Control with China. Apaches are prominent as they carry out regular sorties with their only mandate of a combat role in the Eastern Ladakh sector.

The American-origin attack chopper along with its heavy-lift counterpart Chinook have played an important role in the area after the Chinese Army started building up along the LAC in Eastern Ladakh in May this year.

The entire base is seeing a flurry of activity and is playing a crucial role in enhancing the combat readiness of the country along the China border.

"This base plays a very important role in undertaking operations in this area. It is cleared for all contingencies and all combat and support operations to be undertaken in this area," a Flight Lieutenant told news agency ANI when asked about the importance of the forward airfield.

A Wing Commander, who is playing a crucial role in ensuring preparedness at the airbase, said, "The Indian Air Force is fully prepared for operations and is ready to meet all challenges. Air power is a very powerful aspect of war-fighting and more relevant today," he said.

Asked how the Air Force was readying itself in view of tensions following Galwan Valley clash, he said, "Air Power will play an important role in this area in both combat and support roles. We have all the resources in terms of men and equipment to meet all the challenges."

"The Indian Air Force is ready in all aspects to undertake all operational tasks and providing the requisite support for all military operations," the Wing Commander added.

The Chinook heavy-lift helicopters along with the Russian fleet of the Mi-17 V5 helicopters deployed at the base are carrying out regular sorties to take Army and ITBP troops to forward locations.

To prepare for a long haul, Chinook helicopters could be loaded with important equipment for being delivered to forward bases as China has also dug in heels all along the LAC in this area.

The air activities in the Ladakh area and other places along the China border had gone up extensively soon after the Chinese started building up and went up further after the Galwan valley clash on June 15 in which 20 Indian soldiers lost their lives.

Strategic affairs experts hail Modi's visit to Ladakh

AGENCIES
New Delhi

By visiting Ladakh, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has sent a very clear signal that India is ready to escalate the cost on China for its "misadventurism" and that the armed forces are adopting a firm approach in defending the country's territories, strategic affairs experts said on Saturday.

They also said that China is increasingly getting isolated internationally for its aggressive military posturing in Ladakh, South China Sea and the Indo-Pacific region, and time has come for India to take advantage of the situation. Hailing Modi's visit to Ladakh, former Deputy Chief of Army Staff Lt Gen (ret'd) Subrata Saha said the "loudest message" from the visit was that India is not going to back-off in eastern Ladakh and that it will handle the situation with a "firm hand".

He also talked about Modi paying glowing tributes to 20 Indian soldiers killed in the Galwan Valley clashes and sought to contrast it with China's refusal to even acknowledge its military casualties. "On the Indian side, we have the prime minister going there, literally close to the ground zero, and praise the valiant sacrifice of 20 bravehearts at Galwan and just compare it to the Chinese side. They have not even acknowledged their casualties. Imagine the impact it could have on the minds of a Chinese soldier," Saha said.

Strategic affairs expert Dr Laxman Behera said by visiting Ladakh, Modi sent a very clear message to China that India is "resolute and firm" in defending its borders and that it is ready to escalate the cost on China for its "misadventurism".

"The prime minister sent a very clear and unequivocal message to China at a time India is getting lot of international support on the border row. China is being marginalised. Major powers have supported India on the issue," he said.

Welcoming Modi's visit, Lt Gen (ret'd) Ashok Mehta said Modi has sent a very strong message to China that India has taken the Chinese action in eastern Ladakh "very seriously". "This message from the visit was that we are taking these intrusions very seriously, unlike previous episodes of border skirmishes in Depsang in 2013, Doklam in 2017 and Chumar in 2013. The message was that the latest actions are highly provocative and we will respond adequately," he said. Behera, a noted defence expert from Manohar Parrikar Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses, said China will incur significant economic losses because of its latest belligerence in eastern Ladakh, South China Sea as well as in the Indo-Pacific region after drawing criticism over origin of the COVID-19.

UDF authorised to resolve KC(M) faction issue

The Jose faction of KC(M), which has two parliament members, has protested against the United Democratic Front's decision to keep it away from their meetings till it accepts the agreement reached by the coalition earlier on the Kottayam district panchayat president post.

J&K admin plans to undertake restricted Amarnath Yatra

AGENCIES
Jammu

Asserting that the upcoming annual Amarnath Yatra would have to be undertaken in a "restricted manner" due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Jammu and Kashmir administration on Saturday said only 500 pilgrims would be allowed per day by road from Jammu to the 3,880-metre-high holy cave shrine.

It also said the standard operating procedures (SOPs) for testing of persons entering the Union Territory would also be applicable to the intending Amarnath pilgrims.

"The yatra this year will have to be undertaken in a restricted manner so that the SoPs for COVID-19 are strictly adhered to during the conduct of the yatra... a maximum of 500 yatris only could be allowed per day by road from Jammu," Chief Secretary B V R Subrahmanyam said.

He was chairing a meeting of the sub-committee constituted by the Supreme Court for the yatra here.

In the meeting, he reviewed the arrangements, including security for the pilgrimage, an official spokesman said.

The 42-day yatra was scheduled to commence from the twin tracks of Pahalgam in Anantnag and Baltal in Ganderbal on June 23 but was delayed due to the outbreak of the pandemic. According to sources, the Shri Amarnathji Shrine Board (SASB) is planning to undertake the yatra in the last week of July for a short duration of 15 days.

While reviewing the preparations for the Yatra 2020, the chief secretary said in view of the COVID-19 pandemic, the State Executive Committee constituted under the Disaster Management Act has issued SoPs which, interalia, prescribe 100 per cent RT-PCR test for all persons travelling into J&K.

MELBOURNE: Australia's Victoria state recorded 108 new coronavirus cases Saturday, forcing authorities to lock down nine public housing towers and three more Melbourne suburbs. Victoria Premier Daniel Andrews said 3,000 people in the housing towers would go into "hard lockdown," meaning "there will be no one allowed in ... and no one allowed out." Residents in the Flemington and Kensington housing units will receive deliveries of food and medicine, along with alcohol support. The suburbs of Kensington, Flemington and North Melbourne will join 36 others in being subject to stage 3 coronavirus restrictions. Two new biomarkers can help predict preeclampsia risk SYDNEY: Researchers have found that two newly discovered biomarkers can help assess the risk of preeclampsia, a devastating disorder that occurs very suddenly in the second half of pregnancy and causes severe health problems for both mother and baby, says a study. Preeclampsia can cause high blood pressure and organ failure in mothers and lead to preterm births and even stillbirth. It also increases the risk of developing life-long chronic diseases such as diabetes and heart disease. The two novel biomarkers, called FKBPL and CD44, have the potential to change the way the condition is managed, according to the study.

INDIA IS THE IMPOTENCE CAPITAL OF THE WORLD!

With the population figures statistics, one would find it hard to believe the India is “the impotence capital of the world.” Unfortunately, India is a country where conversations about Erectile dysfunction (ED) are often a taboo and left unspoken. However, a study by Pfizer Upjohn reveals facts about the high prevalence of this lifestyle disease and how women play a crucial role in ensuring that their partners get timely and correct treatment for ED by visiting the doctor. ED is the inability to achieve/ maintain penile erection which leads to unsatisfactory sexual intercourse. While treatment is readily and easily available, men often shy away from addressing this condition, which can lead to relationship and health problems. In light of this, the pharmaceutical company launched a survey to gauge people's knowledge of ED, its treatment and the factors that influence treatment. According to other research, about 30 percent of the men below the age of 40 years and 20 percent of men across age groups had experienced difficulties in getting/maintaining an erection. 53 percent of men are not even aware of ED and 42 percent of men are willing to substitute medicines prescribed by their doctor with a cheaper option or opt for what their pharmacist suggests. 35 percent of men think that stress is the major catalyst for ED. However, the survey reiterates women are slowly finding their voice and becoming more vocal about the issues that matter to them. Interestingly as per the survey, 78 percent women are aware about ED, and 82 percent of women said that they would ask their partners to visit a doctor to get the right treatment instead of talking to friends or relying on home remedies. In general the survey also sheds light on the fact that 21percent of women are not sure if their partners satisfy them physically and 28 percent of women might consider separation if their partner does not take any corrective measure for ED. 96 percent of doctors agreed that partners play a significant role in the success or failure of the man's ED treatment and may influence decisions regarding treatment and even its continuation. The survey included 1042 men and women and 307 urologists, andrologists, sexologists and consulting physicians.

Stay at home, it's the best way to stop COVID spread

AGENCIES
New York

A new study has found that people who stayed home even before lockdown and sheltering-at-home orders were implemented may have helped slow the spread of the novel coronavirus back in March and April. Individual decisions to reduce movement likely helped slow the spread of Covid-19 in the US, according to a new study published in The Lancet Infectious Diseases Journal. The residents in 25 most affected US counties began to limit their public movements six to 29 days before states implemented stay-at-home orders. The decline in the number of daily trips people made as tracked by mobile phone data helped slow the spread of the virus. “Our results strongly support the conclusion that social distancing played a crucial role in the reduction of case growth rates in multiple US counties during March and April,” said study lead author Lauren Gardner from Johns Hopkins University. Determining the effectiveness of social distancing is difficult because counties and states implemented different policies at different times so to establish a reliable indicator of social distancing, the researchers used real-world mobile phone movement data. Their first step was to establish a baseline of normal movement between January 8-31. They then examined changes through April 16 in the 25 US counties with the highest numbers of confirmed Covid-19 cases. From January 24 to April 17, people made far fewer daily trips than they did during the baseline period. The findings showed that individuals began to reduce movement in early March, indicating that social distancing began well before the first state, California, imposed a stay-at-home directive on March 21. In New York City, for example, residents had limited movement to 35 per cent of the baseline, the most significant reduction in movement among the 25 jurisdictions. Social distancing will remain one of the most important ways to control the spread of infections until a vaccine is available, the researchers noted.

Guru Purnima: The day to celebrate Guru's grace

— By Sohan Singh

Guru Purnima is celebrated every year on the full moon day of the Shakra Samavat in the Hindu calendar. It is a grand festival for Buddhists, Hindus, Jains and Sikhs. On this day, thousands of devotees worship and thank their gurus for enlightenment. This day is also very beneficial to carry out yogic sadhana and meditation. Guru Purnima is a paradoxical term with “Gu” meaning darkness and “ru” standing for the removal of darkness. Thus, the guru is believed to be someone who removes darkness from your life or path. From spiritual gurus to secular ones, people pay respect to teachers all over the country. A guru helps you to connect to the guru within. He resides in your “Vishudha Chakra” on the throat and awakens when a person surrenders himself/herself to the higher self. There is a strong belief that Lord Buddha gave his first sermon on this day. By achieving enlightenment under the Bodhi tree for five weeks, Lord Buddha went from Bodhgaya to Sarnath, where he gave the sermon on the full moon day. The followers of Lord Buddha thus celebrate this day to worship him.

In the yogic tradition, however, Lord Shiva is seen as the first-ever guru. On this day, Lord Shiva is known to have transmitted the learning of Yoga to his disciples the “Saptarishis” or seven sages on this day. Guru Purnima is also known by the name “Vyasa Purnima” as on this day, it is believed that Ved Vyasa – the author of Mahabharata was born, who is known to be a pioneer of the guru-shishya tradition. On the occasion of Guru Purnima, the Sikhs also honour their ten spiritual gurus. But irrespective of how you see it, or which guru you bow to, the purpose is to commemorate them for their teachings.

'There's added pressure being a star's son'

Says Tiger Shroff, amid the 'insider versus outsider' debate

Bollywood's new-age star Tiger Shroff says that while life is easier for people from the film industry, it also takes "double the effort" to emerge from the filmy family shadow. "Being my father's son, there's an added pressure of being a star's son. People think it's very easy for us. I won't lie, in a way to get a little attention it helps. It's easier for people who are from the film industry but it's double the effort to make it on our own. I managed to get out of my father's shadow," added Tiger, son of actor Jackie Shroff.

The young actor also opened up about his parent's reaction to social media comments on his looks in the initial days of his career. "My father has been in this industry for 30 odd years. He has seen the highs and lows of the industry and he protected me from that from a very young age. Now, that I am out there in the open, I have become an easy target," he said.

On being constantly trolled for his roles in movies, Tiger said, "I enjoy some of the memes and trolls people share. It's interesting and it's good to be talked about."

Asked if he loses his cool ever, he said, "I do get angry but at myself when I'm not able to get a shot right or not able to get a step. I am harsh at myself sometimes in order to improve. In an industry where there is so much competition, just to find one's identity is so important. I want people to think something synonymous with my name," said Tiger on him being typecast with generic movies of action cum dance sequences.

Speaking about how he handles criticism, Tiger said: "I like to give it back to them with my work and therefore, I take what they say to heart and take it sportingly."

He is fascinated with the whole superhero universe. "I would do anything to do a Spiderman film. Ever since I was a kid, I was enticed by the whole superhero genre. I have tried to imbibe their attributes and qualities," he said.

Asked who he thinks would best suit superhero roles, Tiger said: "I think Hrithik Roshan would be perfect to play Captain America because this superhero is the perfect superhero and Hrithik is a perfect hero as well. I feel Ranveer Singh would pull off Thor because Thor is so electric, and he is the god of thunder as well."

On the personal front, Tiger said he is not a party person. "I'm very awkward at social gatherings. I usually tend to stay away, I'm not much of a party guy nor am I a late kind of person. I go to bed at 10 while these clubs open around 10:30," he said during a chat show. —IANS

Ajay to make a film on Galwan Valley incident

Actor-producer Ajay Devgn is all set to announce a film based on the attack on Indian soldiers by Chinese troops in Ladakh's Galwan Valley. According to the film's description, it will narrate the "story of the sacrifice of 20 Indian army men who fought the Chinese army".

Coming up for Ajay soon is Bhuj: The Pride of India. The film also stars Sanjay Dutt, Sonakshi Sinha, Ammy Virk, and Sharad Kelkar and is written and directed by Abhishek Dudhaiya. The film is slated to premiere digitally on an OTT platform soon. —IANS

Kangana accuses Taapsee Pannu of ganging up on her

Kangana Ranaut's social media team on Saturday accused Taapsee Pannu of "reaping the fruits of" the former's struggles and "ganging up on her". Team Kangana made the allegation in a tweet tagging Taapsee.

"Many chaploos outsiders consistently try to derail movements started by Kangana, dey want to b in movie mafia good books, dey gt movies and awards fr attacking Kangana and dey take part in open harassment f a woman, shame on u @taapsee u reap the fruits f hr struggles bt gang up on hr," the tweet said. "A couple of things have followed in my life, especially the last few months. Really helped in seeing life in a better light. Brought me a lot of peace n perspective so sharing it," tweeted the actress.

She also shared a quote by Gaskins that reads: "Bitter people. God loves them and so should we. Pray for them. They will find something negative to say about anything positive. They can't be happy for you because they are disgusted with themselves. Don't become bitter with them, become better and pray for their growth and maturity."

This is not the first time Taapsee has faced heat from Kangana's team. Earlier, Kangana's sister Rangoli Chandel had taken a dig at Taapsee calling the actress a "sasti copy" (cheap imitation) of Kangana. —IANS

HOLLYWOOD TALK

Kumail Nanjiani criticises Ricky Gervais for 'normalising harmful ideas'

Kumail Nanjiani has called out British comedian Ricky Gervais for "normalising harmful ideas" against marginalised groups through his comedy.

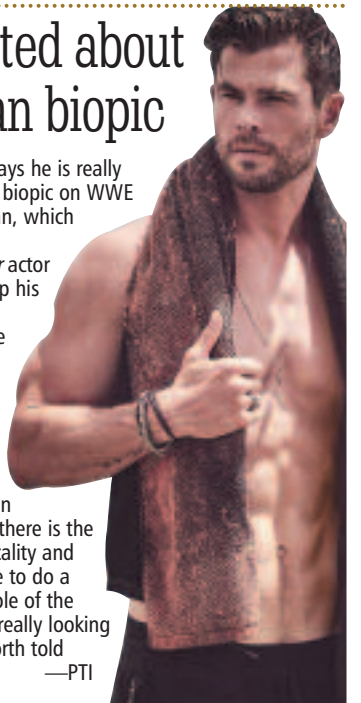

Nanjiani and Gervais recently took part in The Hollywood Reporter's comedy actor roundtable alongside Ramy star Ramy Youssef, Saturday Night Live's Kenan Thompson and Dan Levy of Schitt's Creek.

During their discussion, Gervais said that people often think that "a joke is the window to the comedian's true soul". Nanjiani asked Gervais about how does he feels when people watch his stand-up and assume the words he says on stage are his actual thoughts. The comedian described it as "occupational hazard" and said, "The fact is if I play to 15,000 people, there are going to be rapists, paedophiles, murderers... That someone might take you at face value doing an ironic joke or a satirical joke, well, yeah, some people try to inject themselves with bleach. There are stupid people in the world." Nanjiani, however, didn't take the answer lightly. "But if you're making some sort of joke where obviously you don't believe it, but the point of view of the joke is that it's good that these people are marginalised, I do think that can normalise ideas that would otherwise societally be considered harmful," the actor said. —PTI

The Thor actor revealed that he will bulk up his physique for the much-anticipated film. "This movie is going to be a really fun project. As you can imagine, the preparation for the role will be insanely physical. I will have to put on more size than I ever have before, even more than I put on for Thor. And then there is the accent as well as the physicality and the attitude. I will also have to do a deep dive into the rabbit hole of the wrestling world, which I'm really looking forward to doing," Hemsworth told British magazine Total Film. —PTI

THE STORY

Nand Kishor Tyagi (Ayushmaan Saxena) is a young school boy living in Meerut. His captivating smile and confidence earns him the reputation of the 'most sought after lad' at school. While at senior grade, he is smitten by the charms of the erotic world, finding it exceedingly hard to control his raging libido. He starts by hitting out at his classmate and rakhi sister, Priyanka (Rashmi Agdekar). Things begin to change when the new grammar teacher, Shano Madam (Swara Bhaskar), enters the scene. Shano's charismatic ways sweep Nand off his feet and he soon obsessed with her. What he is about to discover about Shano Madam is beyond shocking.

THE REVIEW

In India, adult comedy equals as soft porn. Writers and directors go to the farthest extent of making a mockery out of any social situation concerning women. In a patriarchal society like India, women are simply looked down upon as sex objects, whose sole criteria is reduced to satiating the carnal desires of a man. Her opinions and social standing are conveniently discarded and relegated to the simple aspect of being ably equipped to keep a man happy.

The series goes all out to show how it is absolutely okay for a high school boy to hit out at his teacher. Even as the series progresses, one will find a very young girl (who is probably not even a decade old) showing off her rather seductive moves in front of a group of drunk men. Thankfully, she isn't provocatively dressed. And, the men are embarrassed to see her that way. Yet, the indirect conditioning involves that the little song and dance keep her man from going on a merry-go-round in lieu of searching for more enticing options.

The protagonists have made a tremendous effort at adding glam quotients with their craft, however, the way the plot is directed weakens the very essence of the plot and delivers viewers the unwarranted connotation of soft porn. The editing is far from crisp, and the direction is simply confused. Saxena earns a serious fan following with his boyish grin and evolving teenage charm. He is oozing with confidence and is equipped with fitting bouts of energy to carry off the role. Swara Bhaskar has convincingly essayed the role of Shano. One can witness the effeminate version of Jekyll and Hyde take over as she transforms herself into an erotic diva. The narrative is prominently discounted for the Amazon Prime standards. However, despite all the efforts made by writer Shantanu Srivastava this could have made for an interesting narrative if it were tweaked to incorporate social consciousness and judicious amounts of glam to flavour the series more amicably.

BOTTAS GOES ON OFF-TRACK EXCURSION

Beats team mate Lewis Hamilton to take the first pole position of 2020

FPJ CORRESPONDENT
Spielberg

Mercedes continued their vice-like grip on the Austrian Grand Prix weekend, with an emphatic one-two finish in qualifying as Valtteri Bottas escaped an off-track excursion to beat team mate Lewis Hamilton to take the first pole position of 2020.

Formula 1 has been in a holding pattern as the coronavirus pandemic struck the world, but after nearly four months, the cars finally hit the track – and it was Mercedes, running a black livery in a stand against racism – who continued their rampant form in F1 who seized the advantage.

Bottas set an early marker with a new track record, pipping Hamilton after the opening salvos. The Finn looked immense in the first sector on the second run, but threw it all away as he lost control of the car and bounced across the track before re-joining.

ly half a second off the pace, but the Red Bull driver will fancy his chances of spoiling the Mercedes party on Sunday, given he'll be starting on the more durable medium

Qualifying results
1	Valtteri Bottas Mercedes	1:02.939
2	Lewis Hamilton Mercedes	1:02.951
3	Max Verstappen Red Bull Racing	1:03.477
4	Lando Norris McLaren	1:03.626
5	Alexander Albon Red Bull Racing	1:03.868

That opened the door for Hamilton to take advantage, the Briton running last on track, and while he did improve on his first effort, he couldn't quite make the difference, finishing 0.012s off Bottas' pace.

Max Verstappen, winner of the last two Austrian Grands Prix, was third, albeit it neartyre with everyone else in the top 10 on the softs.

Lando Norris was a brilliant fourth, the McLaren driver recovering from an error on his first run which forced him to back off to put everything together when it mattered in the second runs, edging out Alexander Albon by just 0.024s.

F1 gives green light

Spielberg: Formula One and FIA have given the Austrian Grand Prix thumbs up after no positive tests for Covid-19 were found in more than 4,000 tests of F1 personnel over the course of the last seven days, a statement said. "The FIA and Formula 1 can today confirm that between Friday 26th June and Thursday 2nd July, 4,032 drivers, teams and personnel were tested for COVID-19. Of these, zero people have tested positive," said Formula 1 in a statement on their official website formula1.com. "The FIA and Formula 1 are providing this aggregated information for the purposes of competition integrity and transparency. No specific details as to teams or individuals will be provided by the FIA or Formula 1 and results will be made public every seven days." Everyone entering the track at the Red Bull Ring in Spielberg had to have tested negative before travelling and all, from drivers to team members, track staff and media, are being tested every five days by private medical teams on site.

"The (governing body) FIA and Formula 1 can today confirm that between Friday 26th June and Thursday 2nd July, 4,032 drivers, teams and personnel were tested for COVID-19. Of these, zero people have tested positive," F1 said in a statement.

"No specific details as to teams or individuals will be provided by the FIA or Formula 1 and results will be made public every seven days." There is another race in Austria next weekend and the following race will be held at the Hungaroring in Hungary one week later. There are eight races taking place in Europe. After Hungary, there are back-to-back races at the British GP, then single races in Spain, Belgium and Italy.

FIA president Jean Todt said Saturday that discussions are ongoing with F1 owner and rights holder Liberty Media over the rest of the season. F1 remains hopeful of hosting 15-18 of the original 22 races by rescheduling some of the postponed ones, with the season ending in December in Bahrain and Abu Dhabi.

"More details will be given soon," Todt said.

Red Bull loses appeal

Red Bull has lost an appeal it lodged against the dual assistant steering system unveiled by Formula One rival Mercedes during winter testing in February. The DAS helps the Mercedes car's cornering and reduces its tire wear. On-board footage from testing in Spain showed world champion Lewis Hamilton pulling the steering wheel back and forth on the front straight, apparently changing the angle of the front tires. Other teams were caught cold by the innovation, with Red Bull claiming in its protest that the DAS is both an aerodynamic and a suspension device. But stewards said it was part of the steering system alone and cleared Mercedes late on Friday night following a hearing. "DAS is part of the steering system, albeit not a conventional one," the FIA said in a statement. "The key challenges to the legality of the DAS rely on it not being part of the steering system. If this were indeed the case, then it would be breaching (regulations)." The system will be banned as from 2021 but can be used by Mercedes and other teams this season.

Boost for coaches

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi

The Sports Ministry on Saturday removed the Rs 2 lakh cap on the salary given to Indian coaches for training elite athletes in a bid to encourage them to produce better results.

The move is also aimed at attracting former players to become high performance trainers.

The announcement came after the ministry's decision to extend the contracts of all foreign coaches till September 30 next year.

"Several Indian coaches are showing very good results and need to be rewarded for their hard work. The government is also keen to attract the best coaching talent from across the country to train elite athletes and we do not want the cap on compensation to be a deterrent for good coaches to join," Sports Minister Kiren Rijiju said in a release.

The ministry release said the increased remuneration and longer contract period 'is to attract ex-elite athletes into the high performance sporting ecosystem, and to use their experience and skill to train athletes bound for major international competitions, including the Olympics'.

The future hiring, both Indian and foreign, will be for a four-year cycle in sync with the Olympics to ensure continuity.

Indian Olympic Association (IOA) welcomed the move, saying it will encourage domestic coaches to produce better results as they have been put on par with their foreign counterparts.

"IOA and National Sports Federations wholeheartedly appreciate the decision of the Sports Ministry to remove salary cap of domestic coaches. The cap was limiting our coaches who have been producing high-performance international medallists," IOA Secretary General Rajeev Mehta said.

ing with a great attitude," Morata said.

Simeone's side dominated the relegation-threatened Mallorca from kickoff.

Morata earned a penalty when he was pulled down by Aleksandar Sedlar in the area.

Goalkeeper Manuel Reina blocked his strike, but a video review helped the referee order a redo of the spot kick after Sedlar entered the area too early.

Morata stepped back up

Jorge "Koke" Resurrecci stole the ball and played Marcos Llorente clear to reach the end line, where he found Morata at the far post to tap home.

The goals were Morata's 10th and 11th of the season in league play.

Mallorca could not muster a comeback and Renan Lodi hit the crossbar for Atletico before Koke scored in the 79th. His shot deflected off a defender to give Reina no chance to save.

CURRENTLY FIFTH IN THE LEAGUE WITH 52 POINTS, 34 POINTS BEHIND CHAMPIONS LIVERPOOL

Man U can still improve: Solskjaer

FPJ SPORTS DESK
Manchester

Fifteen down and yet to find an opponent, is the journey of Manchester United in their 15-match unbeaten run in all competitions, FA Cup, Europa League and Champions League qualification all remain realistic aims.

They are currently fifth in the league with 52 points, 34 points behind champions Liverpool.

Their manager Ole Gunnar Solskjaer said he expected the race to qualify for next season's Champions League. "I think the last round of fixtures is going to be vital".

Solskjaer and his boys unbeaten run across all competitions does not mean they have cracked the code as there is still room for improvement, feels Solskjaer.

Former United captain Gary Neville said on Sky Sports after Tuesday's 3-0 victory over Brighton & Hove Albion that the club still needed to recruit three or four new players during the transfer window to make them title contenders again.

United are currently fifth in the league with 52 points, 34 points behind champions Liverpool with six games remaining.

"Gary's right about a lot of things... we can't think we're there because of the table - we're nowhere near where we should be," Solskjaer, whose side face Bournemouth on Saturday, told a news conference.

"Consistency has to be improved. We still have to improve on many aspects of the game... there's not going to be complacency and thinking, 'This is it, we've cracked it.' "We've got so much work to do, but it's an enjoyable journey. You can see the improvement. So, yeah, we need to make one or two very good decisions - or more good decisions - but it's going to be a very important summer, definitely."

Solskjaer said he expected the race to qualify for next season's Champions League by finishing in the top four to go down to the wire.

United are two points behind fourth-placed Chelsea and three points behind third-placed Leicester City. Solskjaer's side are level with Wolverhampton Wanderers below them.

"I think the last round of fixtures is going to be vital," Solskjaer added.

"You've got Chelsea v. Wolves and us against Leicester - so it might be a three-point advantage for us or Leicester, and it's still an important game."

Guru Poornima

SAHAJA YOGA

HER HOLINESS SHRI MATAJI NIRMALA DEVI
Founder of Sahaja Yoga

Giving Self-Realisation by Kundalini Awakening

QUALITIES OF A REAL GURU

A GURU CONNECTS YOU TO THE DIVINE:

The first and foremost quality of a Guru is that he makes you meet God, means he raises the Kundalini and establishes your relation with the all-pervading power. It was asked to Guru Nanaka and he said, "Sahib mili hain so hi Satguru." Meaning, the one who makes you meet the Divine is the only one who is the Satguru, who is the Guru. Then he has categorized them as agurus, kugurus etc. But the one who is a Satguru, the one who is the real Guru is the one who makes you meet God, makes you meet this Divine power.

YOU CANNOT PURCHASE A GURU:

A Guru has to take full responsibility of the well-being and righteousness of the disciple, with the same intensity as the mother. Guru is the one who connects the disciple to the Brahmachaitanya. You cannot purchase him. If you buy a Guru then he is your slave, he cannot be a Guru.

A GURU HAS TO BE A REALIZED SOUL OF A VERY HIGH QUALITY AND GREATLY EVOLVED:

The Guru has to be a real Guru, not one who is just exploiting the disciples and who is not authorized by God. There is a gap between human awareness and Divine awareness, a very big gap, and that gap can be only fulfilled by a Guru who himself is complete. Today is a Poornima day, 'Poornima' means the complete moon. The Guru has to be a complete personality to talk about the Statutes of the Lord and to elevate his disciples to this level of understanding, by which they imbibe those statutes. He is there to fulfill this gap, and for that it is essential that every Guru has to be a realized soul of a very high quality and greatly evolved.

A GURU NEED NOT BE AN ASCETIC: If you see the lives of all these Gurus, they were married, they had children, they lived a normal life. Yet in their own personal life they were absolutely detached people. A Guru need not be a person who is an ascetic, or he need not be a person who is living in the forest. He could be a common householder, he could be a king. All these outward manifestations of one's life do not matter.

Guru Is He Who Connects You To God

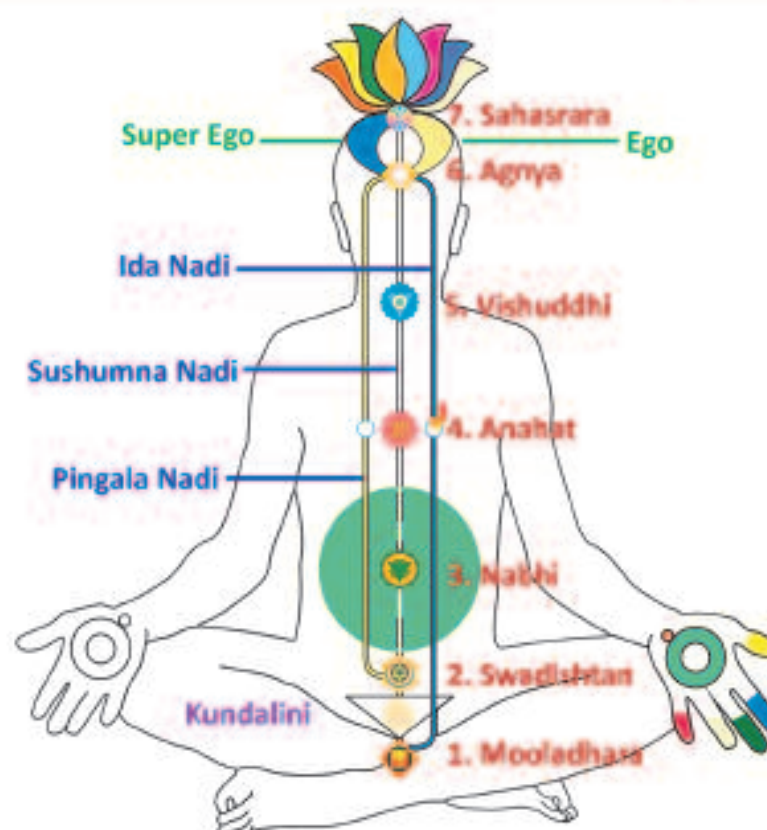

7 Touchstones For Seekers of a True Spiritual Master

Seekers of truth tend to look for a Guru to guide them through the ordeals of life and channelize their seeking of God. This is to caution them of false gurus mushrooming in India, ready to rob them of their faith, money, health and common sense.

1. Is money taken at any time? If it's not free, it's a fraud. The truth cannot be owned, nor can it be bought or sold.
2. If he or his agents pursue you like salesmen and take money, they are an organized business. The more valuable the path, the less organized it is, unlike a business.
3. What experience do you get? A transitory experience is not necessarily divine. Visions, voices, astral projections, auras, levitation, predictions, communication with the dead and other similar feats are dangerous.

4. If it teaches giving up family and property in the name of austerity or renunciation, it's a swindle you are about to subject yourself to.
5. Are you asked to clothe in unusual dress, sit in strange postures, perform wild chanting, or wear rings or some sort of an ornament? God is beyond these and the power of pure desire is all that matters.
6. What do you get? Does the Guru make you dharmic (righteous/ virtuous and not religious)? If he teaches that a particular religion is superior to others, he is faking spirituality.
7. If you are guided towards either sexual liberation or austerities, you are in a wrong place, ready to be physically exploited by fake gurus and their agents of deceit.

Good luck to you on your path of seeking!
