DRAFTING, APPEARANCES AND PLEADINGS

The Paper 'Drafting, Appearances and Pleadings' has been included in the syllabus with a view to equip the students with legal drafting abilities, legal frame work pertaining to the appearances before various tribunals/ quasi judicial bodies and the basic understanding of the principles of pleadings. Drafting of deeds and documents for various purposes in a company usually forms part of multifacet duties of the Company Secretary. For this purpose, the course contents of this study material have been so designed as to provide practical orientation and develop necessary acumenship in drafting legal documents. Only those deeds and documents have been included which are of direct relevance to the work of a Company Secretary. Further, the literature available on the subject has been found to be unwieldy and it has, therefore, been our endeavour to make the study material tailored made. Every effort has been made to provide a self- contained material and an integrated approach has been adopted throughout.

While writing the study material, relevant provisions of the various Acts and Rules made thereunder have been kept in mind. Except where found absolutely necessary, text of the provisions of Bare Act(s), Rule(s), Order(s), etc. have not been produced. This paper presupposes knowledge of substantive law; therefore, students are advised to have thorough knowledge of the same by referring to various Acts mentioned at appropriate places in this study material. This paper also warrants continuous updation in terms of substantive and procedural laws as well as latest judicial pronouncements. Moreover, drafting of petitions, deeds and documents is an art and even acquiring working knowledge in this demands application of skills of higher order. Students are, therefore, advised not only to master the principles and applications of drafting and pleadings, but also keep themselves abreast of latest developments by regularly resorting to reading of at least one of the leading English Newspapers and additional source materials concerning corporate world which are published from time to time. Students are also advised to refer the 'Student Company Secretary e-bulletin'/'Chartered Secretary' wherein all important judicial and legislative developments are reported regularly.

The study material is based on those sections of the Companies Act, 2013 and the rules made there under which have been notified by the Government of India and came into force w.e.f. April 01, 2014 (including Amendments/clarifications/circulars issued there under upto June, 2014). In respect of sections of the Companies Act, 2013 which have not been notified, applicable sections of Companies Act, 1956 have been dealt with in the study.

Although care has been taken in publishing this study material yet the possibility of errors, omissions and/or discrepancies cannot be ruled out. This publication is released with an understanding that the Institute shall not be responsible for any errors, omissions and/or discrepancies or any action taken in that behalf. In the event of any doubt, students may write to the Directorate of Academics in the Institute for clarification at academics@icsi.edu.

Should there be any discrepancy, error or omission in the study material, the Institute shall be obliged if the same is brought to its notice for issue of corrigendum in the e-bulletin Student Company Secretary.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Drafting, in legal sense, means an act of preparing the legal documents like agreements, contracts, deeds etc. A proper understanding of drafting cannot be realised unless the nexus between the law, the facts, and the language is fully understood and accepted. Conveyancing is an art; an art of drafting deeds and documents whereby any right, title or interest in an immovable property is transferred from one person to another.

The importance of the knowledge about drafting and conveyancing for the corporate executives has been felt particularly for the three reasons viz., (i) for obtaining legal consultations; (ii) for carrying out documentation departmentally; (iii) for interpretation of the documents.

A corporate executive must note down the most important legal requirements which must be fulfilled while drafting complete instrument on the subject.

The objective of the study lesson is to make the students understand the meaning and distinction between drafting and conveyancing, general principles of drafting of deeds, legal implications and requirements, engrossment and stamping of a deed etc.

INTRODUCTION

Importance of drafting and conveyancing for a company executive could be well imagined as the company has to enter into various types of agreements with different parties and have to execute various types of documents in favour of its clients, banks, financial institutions, employees and other constituents.

The importance of the knowledge about drafting and conveyancing for the corporate executives has been felt particularly for the three reasons viz.,

- (i) for obtaining legal consultations;
- (ii) for carrying out documentation departmentally;
- (iii) for interpretation of the documents.

With the knowledge of drafting and conveyancing, better interaction could be had by the corporate executives while seeking legal advice from the legal experts in regard to the matters to be incorporated in the documents, to decide upon the coverage and laying down rights and obligations of the parties therein. Knowledge in advance on the subject matter facilitates better communication, extraction of more information, arriving on workable solutions, and facilitates settlement of the draft documents, engrossment and execution thereof.

Knowledge of drafting and conveyancing for the corporate executives is also essential for doing documentation departmentally. An executive can make a better document with all facts known and judging the relevance and importance of all aspects to be covered therein.

A number of documents are required to be studied and interpreted by the corporate executives. In India, in the absence of any legislation on conveyancing, it becomes imperative to have knowledge about the important rules of law of interpretation so as to put right language in the documents, give appropriate meaning to the words and phrases used therein, and incorporate the will and intention of the parties to the documents.

DRAFTING – ITS MEANING

Drafting may be defined as the synthesis of law and fact in a language form [Stanley Robinson: Drafting Its Application to Conveyancing and Commercial Documents (1980); (Butterworths); Chapter 1, p.3]. This is the essence of the process of drafting. All three characteristics rank equally in importance. In other words, legal drafting is the crystallization and expression in definitive form of a legal right, privilege, function, duty, or status. It is the development and preparation of legal instruments such as constitutions, statutes, regulations, ordinances, contracts, wills, conveyances, indentures, trusts and leases, etc.

The process of drafting operates in two planes: the conceptual and the verbal. Besides seeking the right words, the draftsman seeks the right concepts. Drafting, therefore, is first thinking and second composing.

Drafting, in legal sense, means an act of preparing the legal documents like agreements, contracts, deeds etc.

A proper understanding of drafting cannot be realised unless the nexus between the law, the facts, and the language is fully understood and accepted. Drafting of legal documents requires, as a pre-requisite, the skills of a draftsman, the knowledge of facts and law so as to put facts in a systematised sequence to give a correct presentation of legal status, privileges, rights and duties of the parties, and obligations arising out of mutual understanding or prevalent customs or usages or social norms or business conventions, as the case may be, terms and conditions, breaches and remedies etc. in a self-contained and self-explanatory form without any patent or latent ambiguity or doubtful connotation. To collect, consolidate and co-ordinate the above facts in the form of a document, it requires serious thinking followed by prompt action to reduce the available information into writing with a legal meaning, open for judicial interpretation to derive the same sense and intentions of the parties with which and for which it has been prepared, adopted and signed.

CONVEYANCING — ITS MEANING

Technically speaking, conveyancing is the art of drafting of deeds and documents whereby land or interest in land i.e. immovable property, is transferred by one person to another; but the drafting of commercial and other documents is also commonly understood to be included in the expression.

Mitra's legal and commercial dictionary defines "conveyance" as the action of conveyancing, a means or way of conveyancing, an instrument by which title to property is transferred, a means of transport, vehicle. In England, the word "conveyance" has been defined differently in different statutes. Section 205 of the Law of Property Act, 1925 provides that the "conveyance includes mortgage, charge, lease, assent, vesting declaration, vesting instrument, disclaimer, release and every other assurance of property or of any interest therein by any instrument except a will". "Conveyance", as defined in clause 10 of Section 2 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, "includes a conveyance on sale and every instrument by which property, whether movable or immovable, is transferred inter vivos and which is not otherwise specifically provided by Schedule I" of the Act." Section 5 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (Indian) makes use of the word "conveyance" in the wider sense as referred to above.

Thus, conveyance is an act of conveyancing or transferring any property whether movable or immovable from one person to another permitted by customs, conventions and law within the legal structure of the country. As such, deed of transfer is a conveyance deed which could be for movable or immovable property and according to the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, transfer may be by sale, by lease, by giving gift, by exchange, by will or bequeathment. But acquisition of property by inheritance does not amount to transfer under the strict sense of legal meaning.

DRAFTING AND CONVEYANCING: DISTINGUISHED

Both the terms "drafting and conveyancing" provide the same meaning although these terms are not interchangeable. Conveyancing gives more stress on documentation much concerned with the transfer of property from one person to another, whereas "drafting" gives a general meaning synonymous to preparation of drafting of documents. Document may include documents relating to transfer of property as well as other "documents" in a sense as per definition given in Section 3(18) of the General Clauses Act, 1897 which include any matter written, expressed or described upon any substance by means of letters, figures or mark, which is intended to be used for the purpose of recording that matter. For example, for a banker the document would mean loan agreement, deed of mortgage, charge, pledge, guarantee, etc. For a businessman, document would mean something as defined under Section 2(4) of the Indian Sale of Goods Act, 1930 so as to include a document of title to goods i.e. "Bill of lading, dock-warrant, warehouse-keepers' certificate, wharfingers' certificate, railway receipt multi-modal transport document warrant or order for the delivery of goods and any other document used in ordinary course of business as proof of the possession or control of goods or authorising or purporting to authorise, either by endorsement or by delivery, the possessor of the document to transfer or receive goods thereby represented." The Companies Act, 1956 defines vide Section 2(15) the term "document" in still wider concept so as to include "summons, notices, requisitions, order, other legal process, and registers, whether issued, sent or kept in pursuance of this or any other Act, or otherwise". Thus, drafting may cover all types of documents in business usages.

In India, the commercial houses, banks and financial institutions have been using the term "documentation" in substitution of the words "drafting and conveyancing". Documentation refers to the activity which symbolises preparation of documents including finalisation and execution thereof.

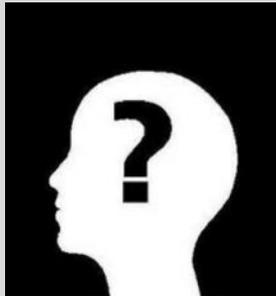

DISTINCTION BETWEEN CONVEYANCE AND CONTRACT

Having understood the meaning of conveyance, it becomes necessary to understand the distinction between conveyance and contract before discussing basic requirements of conveyance or deed of transfer. Apparently, conveyance is not a contract. The distinction between conveyance and contract is quite clear. Contract remains to be performed and its specific performance may be sought but conveyance passes on the title to property to another person. Conveyance does not create any right of any action but at the same time it alters the ownership of existing right. There may be cases where the transaction may partake both contract as well as conveyance. For example, lease, whereby obligation is created while possession of the property is transferred by lessor to lessee. More so, contracts are governed by provisions of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 whereas the cases of transfer of immovable property are governed by the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 in India. A mere contract to mortgage or sale would not amount to actual transfer of interest in the property but the deed of mortgage or sale would operate as conveyance of such interest. In other words, once the document transferring immovable property has been completed and registered as required by law, the transaction becomes conveyance. Any such transaction would be governed under the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF DRAFTING ALL SORTS OF DEEDS AND CONVEYANCING AND OTHER WRITINGS

As discussed above, drafting of legal documents is a skilled job. A draftsman, in the first instance, must ascertain the names, description and addresses of the parties to the instrument. He must obtain particulars about all necessary matters which are required to form part of the instrument. He must also note down with provision any particular directions or stipulations which are to be kept in view and to be incorporated in the instrument. The duty of a draftsman is to express the intention of the parties clearly and concisely in technical language. With this end in view, he should first form a clear idea of what these intentions are.

When the draftsman has digested the facts, he should next consider as to whether those intentions can be given effect to without offending against any provision of law. He must, therefore, read the introductory note, or, if time permits, the literature on the subject of the instrument. A corporate executive, therefore, must note down the most important requirements of law which must be fulfilled while drafting complete instrument on the subject. Validity of document in the eye of law cannot be ignored and at the same time the facts which should be disclosed in the document cannot be suppressed. Nothing is to be omitted or admitted at random. Therefore, knowledge of law of the land in general and knowledge of the special enactments applicable in a particular situation is an essential requirement for a draftsman to ensure that the provisions of the applicable law are not violated or avoided. For example, in cases where a deed to be executed by a limited company, it is necessary to go into the question as to whether the company has got power or authority under its memorandum to enter into the transaction. A limited company can do only that much which it is authorised by its memorandum. Further, a company being a legal entity, must necessarily act through its authorised agents. A deed, therefore, should be executed by a person duly authorised by the directors by their resolution or by their power of attorney.

It is also to be ensured that the format of documents adopted adheres to the customs and conventions in vogue in the business community or in the ordinary course of legal transactions. For any change in the form of such document, use of juridical and technical language should invariably be followed. The statements of negatives should generally be avoided. The order of the draft should be strictly logical. Legal language should be, to the utmost possible extent, precise and accurate. The draft must be readily intelligible to laymen. All the time the draftsman must keep his eye on the rules of legal interpretation and the case-law on the meaning of particular words and choose his phraseology to fit them. [Piesse and Giechrist Smith book on The Elements of Drafting, 2nd Ed. pp. 7-12].

Document should be supported by the schedules, enclosures or annexures in case any reference to such material has been made in that.

In addition to above facts, following rules should also be followed while drafting the documents:

(i) Fowlers' five rules of drafting

According to Fowler, "anyone who wishes to become a good writer should endeavour, before he allows himself to be tempted by more showy qualities, to be direct, simple, brief, vigorous and lucid."

The principle referred to above may be translated into general in the domain of vocabulary as follows:

- (a) Prefer the familiar word to the far fetched (familiar words are readily understood).
- (b) Prefer the concrete word to the abstract (concrete words make meaning more clear and precise).
- (c) Prefer the single word to the circumlocution (single word gives direct meaning avoiding adverb and adjective).
- (d) Prefer the short word to the long (short word is easily grasped).
- (e) Prefer the Saxon word to the Roman (use of Roman words may create complications to convey proper sense to an ordinary person to understand).
- (f) Always prefer active voice to the passive voice in the drafting of documents.

(ii) Sketch or scheme of the draft document

It is always advisable to sketch or outline the contents of a document before taking up its drafting. This rule is suggested by Mr. Davidson, a celebrated authority on conveyancing in his book on Conveyancing, 4th Ed., Vol. I, p. 20, where the learned author says as follows:

"The first rule on which a draftsman must act is this-that before his draft is commenced, the whole design of it should be conceived, for if he proceeds without any settled design, his draft will be confused and incoherent, many things will be done which ought to be done and many left undone which ought to be done. He will be puzzled at every step of his progress in determining what ought to be inserted and what is to guide him in his decision because he does not know what his own object is."

The importance of the above rule cannot be overemphasized and it should be observed by every draftsman.

(iii) Skelton draft and its self-appraisal

After the general scheme of the draft has been conceived, the draftsman should note down briefly the matters or points which he intends to incorporate in his intended draft. In other words, he should frame what is called a "skeleton draft" which should be filled in or elaborated as he proceeds with his work. Once the draft of the document is ready, the draftsman should appraise it with reference to the available facts, the law applicable in the case, logical presentation of the facts, use of simple language intelligible to layman, avoidance of repetition and conceivable mis-interpretation, elimination of ambiguity of facts, and adherence to the use of Fowlers' Rules of drafting so as to satisfy himself about its contents.

(iv) Special attention to be given to certain documents

Certain documents require extra care before taking up the drafting. For example, it must be ensured that contractual obligations are not contrary to the law in the document, where the facts so warrant to ensure. Further, in all the documents where transfer of immovable property is involved through any of the prescribed legal modes, it is necessary to ensure the perfect title of the transferor to such property proposed to be transferred by causing investigation and searches in relation to such title done through competent lawyers or solicitors in the concerned offices of Registrar of Assurance, local authorities, Registrar of Companies (in the case of the vendor being a corporate unit) etc. In addition, the requisite permissions required under different enactments viz., Income-tax Act, Land Ceiling Laws, Companies Act, 1956, Lessor's consent in the case of leasehold land, or any compliance desired under other Central or State Laws or personal laws etc. should be planned to be obtained in advance and recited in the documents wherever thought necessary.

(v) Expert's opinion

If the draft document has been prepared for the first time to be used again and again with suitable modification depending upon the requirements of each case it should be got vetted by the experts to ensure its suitability and legal fitness if the corporate executive feels it so necessary.

To sum up, the draftsman should bear in mind the following principles of drafting:

- (i) As far as possible the documents should be self-explanatory.
- (ii) The draftsman should begin by satisfying himself that he appreciates what he means to say in the document.
- (iii) The well drafted document should be clear to any person who has competent knowledge of the subject matter.
- (iv) The draft must be readily intelligible to layman.
- (v) The document may not be perfect because it says too much or too little or is ambiguous or contains one or more of the facts because it has to be applied in circumstances which the draftsman never contemplated. This should be avoided in the drafting of the documents.
- (vi) Nothing is to be omitted or admitted at random on the document that is to say negative statements should generally be avoided.
- (vii) Use of juridical language should be made.
- (viii) The text of the documents should be divided into paragraphs containing the relevant facts. Each paragraph should be self-explanatory and should be properly marked by use of Nos. of letters for clause, sub-clause and paragraphs.
- (ix) Schedule should be provided in the documents. Schedule is a useful part of the document and should contain the relevant information which forms part of the document. Whether any portion of the document should be put into the schedule(s) will depend upon the circumstances. The schedule is important in the document as it explains useful matters which forms part of the document and should not be ignored and should not be inserted in the body of the document. The main function of the schedule is to provide supplementary test to the document with clarity and convenience.
- (x) The active voice is preferable to the passive voice, unless the passive voice in a particular connection makes the meaning more clear . [See Sir Rohland Burrow's Book on Interpretation of Documents, pp. 119 to 121].

REVIEW QUESTIONS

Drafting of legal documents is a job

Correct Answer : Skilled

Some Do's

1. Reduce the group of words to single word;
2. Use simple verb for a group of words;
3. Avoid round-about construction;
4. Avoid unnecessary repetition;
5. Write shorter sentences;
6. Express the ideas in fewer words;
7. Prefer the active to the passive voice sentences;
8. Choose the right word;
9. Know exactly the meaning of the words and sentences you are writing; and
10. Put yourself in the place of reader, read the document and satisfy yourself about the content, interpretation and the sense it carries.

Some Don'ts

The following things should be avoided while drafting the documents:

- (a) Avoid the use of words of same sound. For example, the words "Employer" and "Employee";
- (b) When the clause in the document is numbered it is convenient to refer to any one clause by using single number for it. For example, "in clause 2 above" and so on.
- (c) Negative in successive phrases would be very carefully employed.
- (d) Draftsman should avoid the use of words "less than" or "more than", instead, he must use "not exceeding".
- (e) If the draftsman has provided for each of the two positions to happen without each other and also happen without, "either" will not be sufficient; he should write "either or both" or express the meaning of the two in other clauses.

In writing and typing, the following mistakes always occur which should be avoided:

1. "And" and "or";
2. "Any" and "my";
3. "Know" and "now";
4. "Appointed" and "Applied";

5. "Present" and "Past" tense.

GUIDELINES FOR USE OF PARTICULAR WORDS AND PHRASES FOR DRAFTING AND CONVEYANCING

There cannot be any clear cut rule which can be laid down as guideline for using the particular words and phrases in the conveyancing. However, the draftsman must be cautious about the appropriate use of the words and should be clear of its meaning. The following rules may be prescribed for the guidance of the draftsman for using any particular word and phrase in the drafting of the documents:

- (1) For general words refer to ordinary dictionary for ascertaining the meaning of the words. For example, Oxford Dictionary or Webster's Dictionary or any other standard dictionary may be referred to for this purpose.
- (2) For legal terms refer to legal dictionary like Wharton's Law Lexicon or other dictionaries of English Law written by eminent English Lexicographers as Sweet Cowel, Byrne, Stroud, Jowit, Mozley and Whiteley, Osborn etc. In India, Mitra's Legal and Commercial Dictionary is quite sufficient to meet the requirements of draftsman.
- (3) As far as possible current meaning of the words should be used and if necessary, case law, where such words or phrases have been discussed, could be quoted in reference.
- (4) Technical words may be used after ascertaining their full meaning, import of the sense and appropriate use warranted by the circumstances for deriving a technical or special meaning with reference to the context.
- (5) The choice of the words and phrases should be made to convey the intention of the executor to the readers in the same sense he wishes to do.
- (6) The draftsman should also use at times the recognised work of eminent legal expert on the interpretation of statutes. In Maxwell's Interpretation of Statutes use of some of the words is explained for the guidance of the readers.

The above guidelines acquaint the students of a few instances leading to the choice of appropriate word or phrase. As a matter of fact, much will depend upon the executives own skills and talents as to how they express the wishes of the company in limited words befitting to an expression of a certain event or description of facts.

USE OF APPROPRIATE WORDS AND EXPRESSIONS

After discussing the guidelines for use of particular words and phrases in drafting of documents, meaning of some of the terms commonly used in drafting of deeds and documents is discussed hereunder:

Instrument: The word "instrument" has been interpreted in different judgements by different courts with reference to the different enactments. As such, the meaning of instrument has to be understood with reference to the provision of a particular Act. For example, under Section 2(b) of the Notaries Act, 1952, and Section 2(14) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, the word "instrument" includes every document by which any right or liability is, or purports to be, created, transferred, modified, limited, extended, suspended, extinguished or recorded.

The expression is used to signify a deed inter partes or a charter or a record or other writing of a formal nature. But in the context of the General Clauses Act, it has to be understood as including reference to a formal legal writing like an order made under constitutional or statutory authority. Instrument includes an order made by the President in the exercise of his constitutional powers (Mohan Chowdhary v. Chief Commissioner, AIR 1964 SC 173).

"Instrument" includes awards made by Industrial Courts (Purshottam v. Potdar, AIR 1996 SC 856).

“Instrument” does not include Acts of Parliament unless there is a statutory definition to that effect in any Act (V.P. Sugar Works v. C.I. of Stamps U.P. AIR 1968 SC 102).

A will is an instrument (Bishun v. Suraj Mukhi, AIR 1966 All. 563).

The word “instrument” in Section 1 of the Interest Act is wide enough to cover a decree (Savitribai v. Radhakishna, AIR 1948 Nag. 49).

Deed, Indure and Deed Poll: These terms have been discussed at length in “Study II”.

“AT”, “NEAR”, “ON”, “in the vicinity” and the like: In construing a description, the word “at” when applied to a place, is less definite in meaning than “in” or “on”. Primarily, “at” signifies nearness, and is thus a relative term. When used in describing the location of real estate the word “near” signifies relativity in a greater or less degree. It may be equivalent to “at” or it may import the sense of “at” or “along” as in the expression “along the sea shore”.

The word “on” when used in describing the location of the land with reference to some geographical feature may mean, “in the vicinity of”. The phrase “in the vicinity” imports nearness to the place designated but not adjoining or abutting on it. The word “immediate” when used to qualify the word “vicinity” may signify adjoining.

Generally “Adjoining”, “Adjacent” or “Contiguous”: In the absence of anything to the contrary indicated by the deed itself words descriptive of the land conveyed are construed according to their proper and most generally known signification, rather than according to their technical sense with the view of giving effect to the probable intention of the parties. Nevertheless, specific terms of description may be regarded as having a technical meaning unless controlled by something else in the deed.

The word “adjoining” does not necessarily import that the boundary of the land conveyed is conterminous with the boundary of the adjoining land, for all that the word implies is contiguity, and hence it is equally applicable where one boundary is shorter than the other. It has been held that a common corner will make two tracts of land “contiguous”.

The term “adjacent” is not synonymous and “abutting”. It may imply contiguity but the term is more often a relative one depending for its meaning on the circumstances of the case.

“LOT”: The term “lot” is sometimes used in restrictive sense as a wood lot, a house lot, or a store lot, but where the term is used unqualifiedly, especially if it refers to a lot in a certain range or right, it is almost uniformly used in a technical sense and means a lot in a township as duly laid out by the original proprietors. Lots from lands which have been surveyed and laid out in ranges and townships which are numbered in regular sequence may be sold and described by number and range without a more particular description. In the absence of qualifying words, the designation of the number of a lot will be taken to refer to the original place of the city or town.

Generally speaking, in a conveyance of fractional part of a designated lot, the word “lot” refers to that portion of the premises set aside for private use, and hence does not include the right to occupancy of any part of a street on which it abuts.

“And”, “Or”: As used in deeds, the word “and” ordinarily implies the conjunctive, while “or” ordinarily implies the alternative or is used as a disjunctive to indicate substitution. There is a presumption that when the word “or” is used in the habendum of deed, the grantor intended it to express its ordinary meaning as disjunctive, and that he did not intend to use the word “and” which will be read “or” and “or” will be read “and” but such construction is never resorted to for the purpose of supplying an intention not otherwise appearing.

“Subject to”: The words “subject to” in a deed conveying an interest in real property are words of qualification of the estate granted. Even though the words “Subject to” mentioned in the phrase “subject to a specified encumbrance” bear the obvious meaning that only the equity of redemption belonging to the grantor passes by a deed, such words may, under the circumstances of the particular case, be ambiguous. To ascertain the intention in such an ambiguous case, all the circumstances are taken into consideration, and the primary meaning of the words “subject to” will be departed from, if necessary, in order to effectuate what seems best to accord with intention of the parties. Of course, the rights of an earlier grantee to which a later grant is expressed to be subject are neither abridged nor enlarged by the later grant.

Use of the terms “excepting”, “reserving” and the like: While there is a well defined distinction between a “reservation” and an “exception” in deed, the use, in the instrument of conveyance, of one or the other of these terms is by no means conclusive of the nature of the provisions. In fact, it may be said that since these two terms are commonly used interchangeably little weight is given to the fact, that the grantor used one or the other. The use of the technical word “exception” or “reservation” will not be allowed to control the manifest intent of the parties, but that such words will be given a fair and reasonable interpretation looking to the intention of the parties, which is to be sought from a reading of the entire instrument, and when their intention is determined it will be given effect, provided no settled rules of law are thereby violated. In cases of doubt, the question will be determined in the light of the subject matter and circumstances of the case, and the deed will be construed, where possible, so as to give it validity.

“More or less”, “about”, “estimated” and the like: The words “more or less” when related to the description of the property in a deed, are generally construed with reference to the particular circumstances involved. In relation to the quantity of land conveyed, the description is not rendered indefinite by the addition of the words “more or less” to the specified area. Such words are used as words of precaution and safety and are intended to cover unimportant inaccuracies. They and other words of like import regarding the quantity of acres intended to be conveyed are regarded as matters of description of the land, and not of essence of the contract, and the buyer as a general rule takes the risk of quantity in the absence of any element of fraud. But in case of a considerable and material discrepancy in quantity, relief may be had after the conveyance. Accordingly, where the deed purports to convey the whole of a designated tract, described whatever may be its acreage, the grant is not defeated by a discrepancy between the recited and the actual area. When used with reference to the quantity of land conveyed, the words “estimated” and “about” are synonymous with the phrase “more or less”.

In construing a description as to the length of a line, the words “more or less” may be deemed to have some meaning so as not to fix the distance absolutely even though they may be often construed as having practically no effect.

Words indicating compass points: The words “north”, “south”, etc. indicating points of the compass, may, no doubt, be controlled or qualified in their meaning by other words of description used in connection with them, but unless qualified or controlled by other words, they mean “due north”, “due south” etc. Moreover, the words “Easterly”, “Westerly”, etc. when used alone in the description of land, will be construed to mean “due East”, “due West”, etc. unless other words are used to qualify their meaning. Where, however, the land is described as being the “West half” of a city lot and a North to South line will divide the lot almost diagonally, it has been held that parol evidence can be introduced on the theory that such evidence neither enlarges nor diminishes the grant, but merely identifies the land.

AIDS TO CLARITY AND ACCURACY

The following discussion is devoted to devices that are resorted to provide clarity and accuracy in documents:

Interpretation of Deeds and Documents

In India, in the absence of any legislation on conveyancing, it becomes imperative to have knowledge about the important rules of law of interpretation so as to put right language in the documents, give appropriate meaning to the words and phrases used therein, and incorporate the will and intention of the parties to the documents. There is no law in India on the interpretation of documents also. On the subject of interpretation of statutes Maxwell’s works published by Butterworth commands wide acceptance by the judiciary all over India. Based on the said work a set of principles has been evolved for the interpretation and construction of documents, assessing the language and assigning the exact meaning to the words and phrases to be used in the documents. For a detailed study of such principles, students are advised to refer “Study Lesson 21” on “Interpretation of Statutes” of the “Industrial, Labour and General Laws”, Module II, Paper 7 of the Executive Programme under the New Syllabus. However, some of the relevant principles of interpretation of deeds and documents are discussed below:

(A) Informal Agreements: In interpretation of informal agreements, the rule to be applied is that of reasonable expectation; that is to say, the agreement is to be interpreted in the sense in which the party who used the words in question should reasonably have apprehended that the other party may apprehend them. If the intention is manifested ambiguously, the party manifesting the same in an ambiguous manner ought to have had reason to know that the manifestation may reasonably bear more than one meaning and the other party believes it to bear one of those meanings, having no reason to know that it bears another meaning that is given to it.

(B) Formal Agreements: Where the agreement is formal and written, the following rules of the interpretation may be applied:

- (1) A deed constitutes the primary evidence of the terms of a contract, or of a grant, or of any other disposition of property (Section 91 of the Evidence Act). The law forbids any contradiction of, or any addition, subtraction or variation in a written document by any extrinsic evidence, though such evidence will be admissible to explain any ambiguity (Section 92 of the Evidence Act). The document should, therefore, contain all the terms and conditions, preceded by recital of all relevant and material facts.
- (2) In cases of uncertainty, the rules embodied in provisos 2 and 6 of Section 92 of the Evidence Act can be invoked for construing a deed. The sixth proviso enables the court to examine the facts and surrounding circumstances to which the language of the document may be related, while the second proviso permits evidence of any separate oral agreement on which the document is silent and which is not inconsistent with its terms.
- (3) The cardinal rule is that clear and unambiguous words prevail over any hypothetical considerations or supposed intention. But if the words used are not clear and unambiguous the intention will have to be ascertained. In other words, if the intention of the parties can be gathered from the words and expressions used in a deed, such an intention does not require to be determined in any other manner except giving the words their normal or natural and primary meanings. It is the dominant intention of the document as disclosed from its whole tenor, that must guide the construction of its contents.
- (4) In case the terms are not unambiguous it is legitimate to take into account the surrounding circumstances for ascertaining the intention of the parties. The social milieu, the actual life situations and the prevailing conditions of the country are also relevant circumstances.
- (5) Sometimes a contract is completed in two parts. At first an executory contract is executed and later on an executed contract. In case of any difference between the preliminary contract and final contract, the terms of the latter must prevail.
- (6) If in a deed an earlier clause is followed by a later clause which destroys altogether the obligation created by the earlier clause, the latter clause is to be rejected as repugnant and the earlier clause prevails.
- (7) The court must interpret the words in their popular, natural and ordinary sense, subject to certain exceptions as,
 - (i) where the contract affords an interpretation different from the ordinary meaning of the words; or
 - (ii) where the conventional meanings are not the same with their legal sense.
- (8) Hardship to either party is not an element to be considered unless it amounts to a degree of inconvenience or absurdity so great as to afford judicial proof that such could not be the meaning of the parties.
- (9) All mercantile documents should receive a liberal construction. The governing principle must be to ascertain the intention of the parties through the words they have used. The Court should not look at technical rules of construction, it should look at the whole document and the subject matter with which the parties are dealing, take the words in their natural and ordinary meaning and look at the substance of the matter.

The meaning of such a contract must be gathered by adopting a commonsense approach and it must not be by a narrow, pendantic and legalistic interpretation.

- (10) No clause should be regarded as superfluous, since merchants are not in the habit of inserting stipulations to which they do not attach some value and importance. The construction adopted, should, as far as possible, give a meaning to every word and every part of the document.
- (11) Construction given to mercantile documents years ago, and accepted in the mercantile world should not be departed from, because documents may have been drafted in the faith thereof.
- (12) If certain words employed in business, or in a particular locality, have been used in particular sense, they must prima facie be construed in technical sense.
- (13) The ordinary grammatical interpretation is not to be followed, if it is repugnant to the general context.
- (14) Antecedent facts or correspondence, or words deleted before the conclusion of the contract cannot be considered relevant to ascertain the meaning.
- (15) Evidence of acts done under a deed can, in case of doubt as to its true meaning, be a guide to the intention of the parties, particularly when acts are done shortly after the date of the instrument.
- (16) Unless the language of two documents is identical, and interpretation placed by courts on one document is no authority for the proposition that a document differently drafted, though using partially similar language, should be similarly interpreted. However, judicial interpretation of similar documents in the past can be relied on, but as the effect of the words used must inevitably depend on the context and would be conditioned by the tenor of each document such decisions are not very useful unless words used are identical.
- (17) If the main clause is clear and the contingency mentioned in the proviso does not arise, the proviso is not attracted at all and its language should not be referred to for construing the main clause in a manner contradictory to its import.
- (18) The fact that a clause in the deed is not binding on the ground that it is unauthorised cannot ipso facto render the whole deed void unless it forms such an integral part of the transaction as to render it impossible to sever the good from the bad.
- (19) As a general rule of construction of documents, the recitals are not looked into, if the terms of the deed are otherwise clear. If in a deed the operative part is clear, or the intention of the parties is clearly made out, whether consistent with the recitals or not, the recitals have to be disregarded. It is only when the terms of a deed are not clear or are ambiguous or the operative part creates a doubt about the intention of the parties that the recitals may be looked into to ascertain their real intention. If there are several recitals in a deed, as is the case with indentures, and there is at the same time some ambiguity in the operative part of the deed, it may be resolved by giving preference to such a recital as may appear to be the most important to convey the intention of the parties. An ambiguity in the recitals, when the terms of the contract or the intentions of the parties are clear from the operative part, has no importance. If the recitals refer to an earlier transaction evidenced by a deed, such reference does not amount to an incorporation of the terms and conditions of the earlier deed unless the parties so intended.
- (20) Sometimes a standard form is used, particularly in contracts with government departments or big corporations. In these standard printed forms, words not applicable are deleted according to the requirements of individual transactions. A question often arises, whether reference may be made to the deleted words for interpreting the terms of the contract. The true rule is that the court must first look at the clause without the deleted words, and only if that clause is ambiguous then for solving the ambiguity assistance may be derived by looking at the deleted words. If something is added in handwriting or by typewriter to a printed form, such addition should prevail over the language in print.

- (21) If an alteration by erasure, interlineations, or otherwise is made in a material part of a deed after its execution by, or with the consent of, any party thereto or person entitled thereunder, but without the consent of the party or parties liable thereunder, the deed is thereby made void, but only with prospective effect. However, an alteration which is not material i.e., which does not vary the legal effect of the deed in its original state but which merely express that which was implied by law in the deed as originally written, or which carries out the intention of the parties already apparent on the face of the deed and does not otherwise prejudice the party liable thereunder will not make the deed void.

Legal Implications and Requirements

Drafting of documents is very important part of legal documentation. Documents are subject to interpretation when no clear meaning could be inferred by a simple reading of the documents. The legal implications of drafting, therefore, may be observed as under:

- (a) Double and doubtful meaning of the intentions given shape in the document.
- (b) Inherent ambiguity and difficulties in interpretation of the documents.
- (c) Difficulties in implementation of the objectives desired in the documents.
- (d) Increased litigation and loss of time, money and human resources.
- (e) Misinterpretation of facts leading to wrongful judgement.
- (f) Causing harm to innocent persons.

The above implications could be avoided if drafting principles are fully adhered to by the draftsman as discussed in the foregone paragraphs.

BASIC COMPONENTS OF DEEDS

Having understood, the meaning of drafting and conveyancing it is necessary to familiarise with various terms such as deeds, documents, indentures, deed poll etc. These terms are frequently used in legal parlance in connection with drafting and conveyancing. Out of these, the meaning of deeds and documents, have a common link, and used in many a time interchangeably, but it is very essential to draw a line in between.

Deed

In legal sense, a deed is a solemn document. Deed is the term normally used to describe all the instruments by which two or more persons agree to effect any right or liability. To take for example Gift Deed, Sale Deed, Deed of Partition, Partnership Deed, Deed of Family Settlement, Lease Deed, Mortgage Deed and so on. Even a power of Attorney has been held in old English cases to be a deed. A bond is also included in the wide compass of the term deed.

For such an instrument covering so wide field it is difficult to coin a suitable definition. A deed may be defined as a formal writing of a non-testamentary character which purports or operates to create, declare, confirm, assign, limit or extinguish some right, title, or interest. Many authorities have tried to define the deed. Some definitions are very restricted in meaning while some are too extensive definitions. The most suitable and comprehensive definition has been given by Norton on 'Deeds' as follows:

A deed is a writing –

- (a) on paper, vellum or parchment,

14 EP-DA&P

(b) sealed, and

(c) delivered, whereby an interest, right or property passes, or an obligation binding on some persons is created or which is in affirmance of some act whereby an interest, right or property has been passed.

In Halsbury's Laws of England, a deed has been defined as "an instrument written on parchment or paper expressing the intention or consent of some person or corporation named therein to make (otherwise than by way of testamentary disposition, confirm or concur in some assurance of some interest in property or of some legal or equitable right, title or claim, or to undertake or enter into some obligation, duty or agreement enforceable at law or in equity or to do, or concur in some other act affecting the legal relations or position of a party to the instrument or of some other person or corporation, sealed with the seal of the party, so expressing such intention or consent and delivered as that party's act and deed to the person or corporation intended to be affected thereby.

A deed is a present grant rather than a mere promise to be performed in the future.

Deeds are in writing, signed, sealed and delivered.

Deeds are instruments, but all instruments are not deeds.

Document

"Document" as defined in Section 31(18) of General Clauses Act, 1894 means any matter expressed or described upon any substance by means of letters, figures or marks, or by the more than one of those means, intended to be used, or which may be used, for the purpose of recording that matter.

Illustration:

A writing is a document.

Words printed, lithographed or photographed are documents.

A map or plan is a document.

An inscription on a metal plate or stone is a document. A caricature is a document. Thus document is a paper or other material thing affording information, proof or evidence of anything.

All deeds are documents. But it is not always that all documents are deeds. A document under seal may not be a deed if it remains undelivered, e.g. a will, an award, a certificate of admission to a learned society, a certificate of shares or stocks and share warrant to bearer, an agreement signed by directors and sealed with the company's seal, license to use a patented article, or letters of co-ordination.

Various Kinds of Deeds

Particular statutory definitions cover different sets of deeds. In the re-statement of American Law in Corpus Juris Secundum, the following kinds of deeds have been explained:

A good deed is one which conveys a good title, not one which is good merely in form.

A good and sufficient deed is marketable deed; one that will pass a good title to the land it purports to convey.

An inclusive deed is one which contains within the designated boundaries lands which are expected from the operation of the deed.

A latent deed is a deed kept for twenty years or more in man's escritoire or strong box.

A lawful deed is a deed conveying a good or lawful title.

A pretended deed is a deed apparently or prima facie valid.

A voluntary deed is one given without any "valuable consideration", as that term is defined by law, one founded merely on a “good”, as distinguished from a “valuable”, consideration on motives of generosity and affection, rather than a benefit received by the donor, or, detriment, trouble or prejudice to the grantee.

A warranty deed is a deed containing a covenant of warranty.

A special warranty deed which is in terms a general warranty deed, but warrants title only against those claiming by, through, or under the grantor, conveys the described land itself, and the limited warranty does not, of itself, carry notice of title defects.

Some other terms connected with deeds are of importance of general legal knowledge. These terms are mentioned herein below:

(i) Deed Pool

A deed between two or more parties where as many copies are made as there are parties, so that each may be in a possession of a copy. This arrangement is known as deed pool.

(ii) Deed Poll

A deed made and executed by a single party e.g. power of attorney, is called a deed poll, because in olden times, it was polled or cut level at the top. It had a polled or clean cut edge. It is generally used for the purpose of granting powers of attorney and for exercising powers of appointment or setting out an arbitrator’s award. It is drawn in first person usually.

(iii) (a) Indenture – Indenture are those deeds in which there are two or more parties. It was written in duplicate upon one piece of parchment and two parts were severed so as to leave an indented or vary edge, forging being then, rendered very difficult. Indentures were so called as at one time they are indented or cut with uneven edge at the top. In olden times, the practice was to make as many copies or parts as they were called, of the instruments as they were parties to it, which parts taken together formed the deed and to engross all of them of the same skin of parchment.

(b) Cyrographum – This was another type of indenture in olden times. The word “Cyrographum” was written between two or more copies of the document and the parchment was cut in a jugged line through this word. The idea was that the difficulty of so cutting another piece of parchment that it would fit exactly into this cutting and writing constituted a safeguard against the fraudulent substitution of a different writing for one of the parts of the original. This practice of indenting deeds also has ceased long ago and indentures are really now obsolete but the practice of calling a deed executed by more than one party as an “indenture” still continues in England.

(iv) Deed Escrow

A deed signed by one party will be delivered to another as an “escrow” for it is not a perfect deed. It is only a mere writing (Scriptum) unless signed by all the parties and dated when the last party signs it. The deed operates from the date it is last signed. Escrow means a simple writing not to become the deed of the expressed to be bound thereby, until some condition should have been performed. (Halsbury Laws of England, 3rd Edn., Vol. II, p. 348).

Components of Deeds

As explained what is a deed, it is now appropriate to know more about drafting of Deed as a document. Out of various types of deeds, Deeds of Transfer of Property is the most common one. Deeds of Transfer include Deed of Sale, Deed of Mortgage, Deed of Lease, Deed of Gift etc. These deeds effect a transfer of property or interest.

A deed is divided into different paragraphs. Under each part relevant and related information is put in paragraph in simple and intelligible language as explained in the earlier chapter. If a particular part is not applicable in a particular case that part is omitted from the document.

16 EP-DA&P

The usual parts or components or clauses of deeds in general are mentioned as follows:

- (1) Description of the Deed Title.
- (2) Place and Date of execution of a Deed.
- (3) Description of Parties to the Deed.
- (4) Recitals.
- (5) Testatum.
- (6) Consideration.
- (7) Receipt Clause.
- (8) Operative Clause.
- (9) Description of Property.
- (10) Parcels Clause.
- (11) Exceptions and Reservations.
- (12) Premises and Habendum.
- (13) Covenants and Undertakings.
- (14) Testimonium Clause.
- (15) Signature and Attestation.
- (16) Endorsements and Supplemental Deeds.
- (17) Annexures or Schedules.

The above parts of the deeds are described as under:

1. Description of the Deed Title

The deed should contain the correct title such as “This Deed of Sale”, “This Deed of Mortgage”, “This Deed of Lease”, “This Deed of Conveyance”, “This Deed of Exchange”, “This Deed of Gift” etc. These words should be written in capital letters in the beginning of document. Where it is difficult to locate the complete transaction out of number of transactions covered under the deed, it may not be possible to give single name to the deed like ‘Deed of Gift’ and as such it would be better to describe the deed as “This Deed” written in capital letters like “THIS DEED”.

This part hints the nature of the deed and gives a signal to the reader about the contents of the Deed.

Sometimes a question may arise whether a particular instrument or document is a deed of conveyance of transfer. To ascertain the nature of the document it becomes necessary to read the language of the document and locate the intention of the parties which is the sole determining factor. Besides the intention of the parties, consideration paid for conveyance is another important aspect in assessing the document as a conveyance. Consideration may be paid initially or may be agreed to be paid in future also. However, in those cases where any condition is stipulated as precedent to the title being passed on to the purchaser then the document does not become conveyance unless the condition is performed. The document may be couched in ambiguous terms then the interpretation of the wordings would throw light on the intention of the parties so as to treat a particular document as conveyance or contract or otherwise.

2. Place and Date of Execution of a Deed

We first highlight the importance of “date”. The date on which the document is executed comes immediately after the description of the deed. For example, “This Deed of Mortgage made on the first day of January, 1986”. It is the date of execution which is material in a document for the purpose of application of law of limitation, maturity of period, registration of the document and passing on the title to the property as described in the document. Thus, the “date” of the document is important.

Date of execution of document is inscribed on the deed. The date is not strictly speaking an essential part of the deed. A deed is perfectly valid if it is undated or the date given is an impossible one, e.g. 30th day of February.

If no date is given oral evidence will always be admissible to prove the date of execution only it leaves necessary to prove it. However, it is of great importance to know the date from which a particular deed operates. In India there is a short period of 4 months (Section 23 of Registration Act) for its registration from the date of execution within which a deed must be presented for registration. The date is important for application of law of limitation also. In view of the extreme importance of date of execution of deed it should be regarded as an essential requirement. The date of deed is the date on which parties sign or executing it. If several parties to a deed sign the deed on different dates, in such cases, the practice is to regard the last of such dates as the date of deed.

In order to avoid mistake and risk of forgery, the date be written in words and in figures.

The place determines the territorial and legal jurisdiction of a document as to its registration and for claiming legal remedies for breaches committed by either parties to the document and also for stamping the document, as the stamp duty payable on document differs from State to State. An illustration of this part follows:

“This Deed of Lease made at New Delhi on the First day of December One Thousand Nine Hundred and Eighty Eight (1.12.1988)” etc.

3. Description of Parties

The basic rule is that all the proper parties to the deed including inter-parties should be properly described in the document because inter-parties are pleaded as they take benefit under the same instrument. While describing the parties, the transferor should be mentioned first and then the transferee. Where there is a confirming party, the same may be placed next to the transferor. In the order of parties, transferee comes in the last.

Full description of the parties should be given to prevent difficulty in identification. Description must be given in the following order:

Name comes first, then the surname and thereafter the address followed by other description such as s/o, w/o, d/o, etc. It is customary to mention in India caste and occupation of the parties before their residential address.

However, presently mention of caste is not considered necessary. But to identify the parties if required under the circumstances, it may be necessary to mention the profession or occupation of a person/party to the deed. For example, Medical Practitioner, Chartered Accountant, or Advocate or likewise.

In the case of juridical persons like companies or registered societies it is necessary that after their names their registered office and the particular Act under which the company or society was incorporated should be mentioned. For example, “XYZ Co. Limited, the company registered under the Companies Act, 1956 and having its registered office at 1, Parliament Street, New Delhi”.

In cases where the parties may be idol then name of the idol and as represented by its “Poojari” or “Sewadar”, or so, should be mentioned. For example, “the idol of Shri Radha Mohan Ji installed in Hanuman Temple in Meerut being 10, Jawahar Chowk, Lale Ka Bazar, Meerut City acting through its Sewadar Pt. Krishan Murari Lal Goswami of Mathura”.

In the case of persons under disability like minor, lunatic, etc. who cannot enter into a contract except through a guardian or a ward, in certain cases through guardian with the permission of the court where necessary, full particulars of the same should be given with the authority from whom a guardian draws power. For example, “Mohan, a minor, acting through Ramdev as guardian appointed by Civil Judge Class I, Delhi by order on... passed under Section... of... Act or “Mohan, Minor acting through his father and natural guardian Ramdev etc.” In this way, particulars for the sake of identification of the party should be given. Similarly, in the case of partners, trustees, co-partners, etc. full details of the parties should be given for the sake of identification.

18 EP-DA&P

Reference label of parties are put in Parenthesis against the name and description of each party to avoid repetition of their full names and addresses at subsequent places. The parties are then prepared to by their respective lables e.g. “lesser” and “lessee” in a lease deed.

The form is illustrated as under:

“This lease deed at New Delhi on the day of 2013 between Shri Vinod resident of..... (Hereinafter called lessor) of the one part and Shri Dinov resident of (hereinafter called lessee) of the other part.

It is also necessary that refusee of heirs, executors, assigns liquidators, successors etc. should be made against each party’s name after putting lables. It shall safeguard the interest of the parties. Legal heirs of the property of the party can take benefit on death of the original party when the easy identification of the party is done by giving the notation of the “one part” and “of other part” will be written as of first part ‘for party one’, ‘of the second part’ for party two and ‘of the third part’ for party three and so on, the likewise illustrating this.

Between..... called the lessor.

(which term shall mean and unless, it be repugnant to the context or meaning thereof mean and include the heirs, legal representative or assigns of one part) AND..... called the lessee (which term shall unless it be repugnant to the context or meaning thereof mean and include the heirs, legal representative or assigns (or in case of a company the liquidator or assigns).

REVIEW QUESTION

Full description of the parties should be given to prevent in identification.

Correct Answer : Difficulty

4. Recitals

Recitals contain the short story of the property up to its vesting into its transferors. Care should be taken that recitals are short and intelligible. Recitals may be of two types. One, narrative recitals which relates to the past history of the property transferred and sets out the facts and instrument necessary to show the title and relation to the party to the subject matter of the deed as to how the property was originally acquired and held and in what manner it has developed upon the grantor or transferor. The extent of interest and the title of the person should be recited. It should be written in chronological order i.e. in order of occurrence. This forms part of narrative recitals. This is followed by inductory recitals, which explain the motive or intention behind execution of deed.

Introductory recitals are placed after narrative recitals. The basic objective of doing so, is to put the events relating to change of hand in the property.

Recitals should be inserted with great caution because they precede the operative part and as a matter of fact contain the explanation to the operative part of the deed. If the same is ambiguous recitals operate as estoppel. Recital offers good evidence of facts recited therein. Recitals are not generally taken into evidence but are open for interpretation for the courts. If the operative part of the deed is ambiguous anything contained in the recital will help in its interpretation or meaning. In the same sense, it is necessary that where recitals contain chronological events that must be narrated in chronological order.

Recitals carry evidentiary importance in the deed. It is an evidence against the parties to the instrument and those claiming under and it may operate as estoppel [Ram Charan v. Girija Nandini, 3 SCR 841 (1965)].

Recital generally begins with the words “Whereas” and when there are several recitals instead of repeating the words “Whereas” before each and every one of them, it is better to divide the recitals into numbered paragraphs for example, “Whereas” —

5. Testatum

This is the “witnessing” clause which refers to the introductory recitals of the agreement, if any, and also states the consideration, if any, and recites acknowledgement of its receipt. The witnessing clause usually begins with the words “Now This Deed Witnesses”. Where there are more than one observations to be put in the clause the words, “Now This Deed Witnesses as Follows” are put in the beginning and then paragraphs are numbered.

6. Consideration

As stated above, consideration is very important in a document and must be expressed. Mention of consideration is necessary otherwise also, for example, for ascertaining stamp duty payable on the deed under the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. There is a stipulation of penalty for non-payment of stamps, but non-mention of consideration does not invalidate the document.

In the absence of mention of consideration the evidentiary value of document is reduced that the document may not be adequately stamped and would attract penalty under the Stamp Act.

7. Receipt

Closely connected with consideration is the acknowledgement of the consideration amount by the transferor, who is supposed to acknowledge the receipt of the amount. An illustration follows:

“Now this Deed witnesses that in pursuance of the aforesaid agreement and in consideration of sum of Rs. 100,000/- (Rupees One Lakh Only) paid by the transferor to the transferee before the execution thereof (receipt of which the transferee does hereby acknowledge)”.

8. Operative Clause

This is followed by the real operative words which vary according to the nature of the property and transaction involved therein. The words used in operative parts will differ from transaction to transaction. For example, in the case of mortgage the usual words to be used are “Transfer by way of simple mortgage” (usual mortgage) etc. The exact interest transferred is indicative after parcels by expressing the intent or by adding habendum. (The parcel is technical description of property transferred and it follows the operative words).

9. Description of Property

Registration laws in India require that full description of the property be given in the document which is presented for registration under Registration Act. Full description of the property is advantageous to the extent that it becomes easier to locate the property in the Government records and verify if it is free from encumbrances. If the description of the property is short, it shall be included in the body of the document itself and if it is lengthy a schedule could be appended to the deed. It usually contains area, measurements of sides, location, permitted use, survey number etc. of the property.

10. Parcels Clause

This is a technical expression meaning methodical description of the property. It is necessary that in case of non-testamentary document containing a map or plan of the property shall not be accepted unless it is accompanied by the True Copy. Usually the Parcel Clause starts with the words "All Those....." And further or description covers as per the type of property subjected to transfer under the deed. This clause includes words such as: Messuages, Tenements, Hereditaments, Land, Water etc. But use of these now has been rendered unnecessary in view of Section 8 of Transfer of Property Act given herein below.

"Section 8. Operation of transfer — Unless a different intention is expressed or necessarily implied, a transfer of property passes forthwith to the transferee all the interest which the transferor is then capable of passing in the property, and in the legal incidents thereof.

Such incidents include, where the property is land, the easements annexed thereto, the rents and profits thereof accruing after the transfer, and all things attached to the earth;

And, where the property is machinery attached to the earth, the movable parts thereof;

And, where the property is a house, the easements annexed thereto, the rent thereof accruing after the transfer, and the locks, keys, bars, doors, windows, and all other things provided for permanent use therewith;

And, where the property is a debt or other actionable claim, the securities therefor (except where they are also for other debts or claims not transferred to the transferee), but not arrears of interest accrued before the transfer;

And, where the property is money or other property yielding income, the interest or income thereof accruing after the transfer takes effect."

This Section has cut down the length of the deeds and do away with description of minute details of the incidents of the property intended to be conveyed.

11. Exceptions and Reservations Clause

It refers to admission of certain rights to be enjoyed by the transferor over the property to be agreed to by the transferee. All exceptions and reservations out of the property transferred should follow the parcels and operative words. It is the contractual right of the parties to the contract or to the document to provide exceptions and reservations which should not be uncertain, repugnant or contrary to the spirit of law applicable to a particular document or circumstances. For example, Section 8 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 provides for transfer of all the interest to the transferee in the property and any condition opposing the provisions of law will be void. Further, Section 10 of the said Act provides that any condition or limitation restraining the transferee of property in disposing of his interest in the property is void. So, nothing against the spirit of law can be provided in the document.

The clause generally is signified by the use of words "subject to" in deeds, where it is mentioned, it is advisable that both the parties sign, to denote specific understanding and consenting to this aspect.

12. Premises and Habendum

Habendum is a part of deed which states the interest, the purchaser is to take in the property. Habendum clause starts with the words "THE HAVE AND TO HOLD". Formerly in England if there was a gratuitous transfer, the transferee was not deemed to be the owner of the beneficial estate in the property, the equitable estate wherein remained with the transferor as a resulting trust for him. It was therefore, necessary to indicate in the deed that it was being transferred for the use of the transferee if it was intended to confer an equitable estate in him. It was for that reason that the habendum commenced with the words: "to have to hold to the use of.....". Now it is not necessary to express it so. In the modern deeds, however, the expression "to have and" are omitted. The habendum limits the estate mentioned in the parcels. The transferee is mentioned again in the habendum for whose use the estate is conveyed. Whatever precedes the habendum is called the premises. The parcels or the description of the property usually again included in the premises. If the property conveyed is encumbered, reference thereto should be made in the habendum. If the parties to transfer enter into covenants, they should be entered after the habendum.

In India such phrases as “to have and to hold” or such an expression as “to the use of the purchaser” can very well be avoided as in cases except those of voluntary transfers such an expression is superfluous.

13. Covenants and Undertakings

The term “covenant” has been defined as an agreement under seal, whereby parties stipulates for the truth of certain facts. In Whasten’s Law Lexicon, a covenant has been explained as an agreement or consideration or promise by the parties, by deed in writing, signed, sealed and delivered, by which either of the parties, pledged himself to the other than something is either done or shall be done for stipulating the truth of certain facts. Covenant clause includes undertakings also. Usually, covenant is stated first. In some instances the covenants and undertakings are mixed, i.e. can not be separated in that case, they are joint together, words put for this as “The Parties aforesaid hereto hereby mutually agree with each other as follows:” Such covenants may be expressed or implied.

14. Testimonium Clause

Testimonium is the clause in the last part of the deed. Testimonium signifies that the parties to the document have signed the deed. This clause marks the close of the deed and is an essential part of the deed.

The usual form of testimonium clause is as under:

“In witness whereof, parties hereto have hereunto set their respective hands and seals the date and year first above written”. This is the usual English form of testimonium clause. In India, except in the case of companies and corporations seals are not used and in those cases testimonium clause reads as under:

“In witness whereof the parties hereto have signed this day on the date above written”.

Thus testimonium clause can be worded according to the status and delegation of executants.

15. Signature and Attestation Clause

After attestation clause, signatures of the executants of the documents and their witnesses attesting their signatures follow. If the executant is not competent enough to contract or is juristic person, deed must be signed by the person competent to contract on its behalf. For example, if the deed is executed by the company or co-operative society then the person authorised in this behalf by and under the articles of association or rules and regulations or by resolution as the case may be should sign the document and seal of the company/society should be so affixed, thereto by mentioning the same.

In India, the Deed of Transfer is not required to be signed by the transferee even though the transferee is mentioned as party in the document. All conditions and covenants are binding upon him without his executing the conveyance, if he consents to it by entering into the lease granted under the conveyance. However, in case the deed contains any special covenant by the transferee or any reservation is made by the transferee then it is always proper to have the deed signed by the transferee also.

Attestation is necessary in the case of some transfers, for example, mortgage, gift, sale, and revocation of will. In other cases, though it is not necessary, it is always safe to have the signatures of the executant attested. Attestation should be done by at least two witnesses who should have seen the executant signing the deed or should have received from the executant personal acknowledgement to his signatures. It is not necessary that both the witnesses should have been present at the same time. There is no particular form of attestation but it should appear clearly that witnesses intended to sign is attesting the witnesses. General practice followed in India is that the deed is signed at the end of the document on the right side and attesting witnesses may sign on the left side. If both the parties sign in the same line then the transferor may sign on the right and the transferee on the left and witnesses may sign below the signatures.

It is essential that the attesting witness should have put his signature, amino attestandi, intending for the purpose of attesting that he has seen the executant sign or has received from him, a personal acknowledgement of his signature.

16. Endorsements and Supplemental Deeds

Endorsement means to write on the back or on the face of a document wherein it is necessary in relation to the contents of that document or instrument. The term "endorsement" is used with reference to negotiable documents like cheques, bill of exchange etc. For example, on the back of the cheque to sign one's name as Payee to obtain cash is an endorsement on the cheque. Thus, to inscribe one's signatures on the cheque, bill of exchange or promissory note is endorsement within the meaning of the term with reference to the Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881. Endorsement is used to give legal significance to a particular document with reference to new facts to be added in it. Endorsement helps in putting new facts in words on such document with a view to inscribe with a title or memorandum or to make offer to another by inscribing one's name on the document or to acknowledge receipt of any sum specified by one's signatures on the document or to express definite approval to a particular document. Thus, endorsement is an act or process of endorsing something that is written in the process of endorsing when a provision is added to a document altering its, scope or application. Under the Registration Act, 1908 the word endorsement' has significant meaning and it applies to entry by the Registry Officer on a rider or covering slip tendered for registration under the said Act.

Supplemental deed is a document which is entered into between the parties on the same subject on which there is a prior document existing and operative for adding new facts to the document on which the parties to the document have agreed which otherwise cannot be done by way of endorsement. Thus, supplemental deed is executed to give effect to the new facts in the deed. When a deed or document is required to be supplemented by new facts in pursuance of or in relation to a prior deed this can be affected by either endorsement on the prior deed when short writing would be sufficient, or by executing a separate deed described as supplemental deed. For example, if lessee transfers his right in the lease to another person such transfer may be done by way of endorsement. On the other hand, if the terms of the lease document are to be altered then it becomes necessary to give effect to such alteration through a supplementary deed. In case the alteration to be made in the terms and conditions and is of minor nature and can be expressed by a short writing execution of supplementary deed may not be considered necessary as this can be done by endorsement only. Thus, this is a matter of convenience which of the two alternatives whether endorsement or a supplementary deed is to be used by the parties to a particular document.

In conveyancing practices endorsements which are of general use and for which no supplementary deed is necessary are those which relate to part payment or acknowledgement of a debt by a debtor. The main stress is that endorsement should represent or exhibit the intention of the parties to the document. Thus, in the context of negotiable instruments, endorsements which are made on the document will definitely differ with reference to the nature and content of the prior document and will be added to the endorsement explained above. Endorsements are common for negotiating a negotiable document or instrument or transfer of bill of exchange or policy or insurance or Government securities and there is no particular form of endorsement prescribed in such cases. Endorsements follow the forms by customs, conventions and trade practices or banking norms.

The following forms of endorsement and supplemental deed respectively could be used by business executives while facing a situation of altering the documents:

1. Form of Endorsement: The endorsement on the document may begin either by saying:

This deed may on thisday of between within named and within named” or directly like, “The parties to the within written deed hereby agree as follows:”

The operative part of the deed then follows usually without any recital unless any recital is considered necessary to make the deed intelligible. Generally, no recital is added but there may be exception in different situations to this rule. The original deed on which endorsement is made as referred to in the endorsement is within the written deed and the parties, recital covenants in the original deed are referred to as within named “Lessor” or “within named parties” or “within mentioned covenants” or “within described use” or “the garden described in the schedule of the within written deed”.

These are the examples when endorsement is to be made for the first time in the document.

There may be situations where subsequent endorsement becomes necessary on the document which bears already an endorsement. In such eventuality when endorsement is made one after another reference in the latter to the former endorsement shall be made by the use of the word “above” instead of M/s “within”. After the operative part of endorsement the usual testimonium clause shall be added ending with signatures of executants and of witnesses, if necessary.

2. For giving effect to the supplemental deed the form of the deed of agreement will be more or less the same as the prior document with the difference that with the other names of the parties the words, “Supplemental (intended to read as annexed) to a deed of..... dated..... made between the parties thereto (or between.....) hereinafter called the principal deed”, shall be added. In case the particulars of a principal deed are somewhat long it is more convenient to refer to the principal deed in the first recital and to say that this deed (the one under preparation) is supplemental to that (the former) deed; for example, “Whereas this deed is supplemental to a deed of sale made, etc. hereinafter called the ‘principal deed’.

There may be situations when the supplemental deed is supplemental to several deeds. In such a case, each prior deed should be mentioned clearly by way of recitals to make the deed with reference to the existing deed intelligible and free from ambiguity.

All endorsements or supplemental deed should be stamped according to the nature of the transaction which they evidence. In case the endorsement is made for receipt of money which should be stamped as a receipt. In case it is an agreement, it must be stamped as an agreement. Some documents if endorsed are exempted from stamp duty, for example, endorsement made on the prior deed, receipt of mortgage money, endorsement on mortgage deed. Similarly, transfer of bill of exchange or policy of insurance or security of Government of India can be endorsed without attracting the stamp duty.

17. Annexures or Schedules

A deed remains incomplete unless particulars as required under registration law about the land or property are given in the Schedule to be appended to the deed. It supplements information given in the parcels. A Site Plan or Map Plan showing exact location with revenue no. Mutation No., Municipal No., Survey No., Street No., Ward Sector/Village/Panchayat/Taluka/District etc..... Plot No., etc. so that the demised property could be traced easily.

REVIEW QUESTION

Testimonium clause is the of the deed & signifies that the parties to the document have

Correct Answer : Last part; signed the deed

Engrossment and Stamping of a Deed

The draft of document is required to be approved by the parties. In case of companies it is approved by Board of Directors in their meeting or by a duly constituted committee of the board for this purpose by passing requisite resolution approving and authorising of its execution. The document after approval is engrossed i.e. copied fair on the non-judicial stamp-paper of appropriate value as may be chargeable as per Stamp Act. In case document is drafted on plain paper but approved without any changes, it can be lodged with Collector of Stamps for adjudication of stamp duty, who will endorse certificate recording the payment of stamp duty on the face of document and it will become ready for execution.

If a document is not properly stamped, it is rendered inadmissible in evidence nor it will be registered with Registrar of Assurances.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- Drafting of legal documents is a skilled job. A draftsman, in the first instance, must ascertain the names, description and addresses of the parties to the instrument. The duty of a draftsman is to express the intention of the parties clearly and concisely in technical language.
- A corporate executive must note down the most important requirements of law which must be fulfilled while drafting complete instrument on the subject.
- All the time the draftsman must keep his eye on the rules of legal interpretation and the case-law on the meaning of particular words and choose his phraseology to fit them. Apart from the above facts, there are certain rules that should also be followed while drafting the documents.
- For using particular words and phrases in the conveyancing, the draftsman must be cautious about the appropriate use of the words and should be clear of its meaning.
- Drafting of documents is very important part of legal documentation. Documents are subject to interpretation when no clear meaning could be inferred by a simple reading of the documents.
- Deed is the term normally used to describe all the instruments by which two or more persons agree to effect any right or liability. To take for example Gift Deed, Sale Deed, Deed of Partition, Partnership Deed, Deed of Family Settlement, Lease Deed, Mortgage Deed and so on.
- A deed may be defined as a formal writing of a non-testamentary character which purports or operates to create, declare, confirm, assign, limit or extinguish some right, title, or interest. Many authorities have tried to define the deed. Some definitions are very restricted in meaning while some are too extensive definitions.
- A deed is divided into different paragraphs. Under each part relevant and related information is put in paragraph in simple and intelligible language.
- The usual parts or components or clauses of deeds in general are: Description of the Deed Title; Place and Date of execution of a Deed; Description of Parties to the Deed; Recitals; Testatum; Consideration; Receipt Clause; Operative Clause; Description of property; Parcels Clause; Exceptions and Reservations; Premises and Habendum; Covenants and Undertakings; Testimonium Clause; Signature and Attestation; Endorsements and Supplemental Deeds; Annexure or Schedules.
- The draft of document is required to be approved by the parties. The document after approval is engrossed i.e. copied fair on the non-judicial stamp-paper of appropriate value as may be chargeable as per Stamp Act. In case document is drafted on plain paper but approved without any changes, it can be lodged with Collector of Stamps for adjudication of stamp duty, who will endorse certificate recording the payment of stamp duty on the face of document and it will become ready for execution.

SELF-TEST QUESTIONS

(These are meant for recapitulation only. Answers to these questions are not to be submitted for evaluation)

1. Define and differentiate the terms “drafting” and “conveyancing”.
2. What are the preliminary requirements of drafting which a company executive should consider before drafting a document?
3. Draw guidelines for use of particular words or phrases in drafting and conveyancing.
4. What are the principles which a corporate executive should keep in mind while drafting company’s documents?
5. What are the “do’s” and “don’ts” which a draftsman should keep in mind while drafting company’s documents?
6. Define and differentiate following terms:
 - (a) Instrument
 - (b) Document
 - (c) Deed.
7. Discuss briefly the Components of Deed of Transfer of Property.
8. Define and distinguish between ‘Deed’ and ‘Document’.
9. What do you understand by endorsement and supplemental deeds? Does such an endorsement or supplemental deed attract stamp duty?
10. (a) Illustrate description of parties in a lease deed.
(b) Illustrate a Receipt clause in a deed of sale.
11. Write short notes on any four of the following:
 - (i) Recitals
 - (ii) Testimonium clause
 - (iii) Consideration clause
 - (iv) Exceptions and Reservations clause
 - (v) Deed Escrow
 - (vi) Indenture
 - (vii) Deed poll.
12. Explain “Habendum”. What does a Habendum clause signify in a document? How does the absence of a Habendum clause in a document effect the validity of the document?

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

A contract lays out the understanding between a buyer and the seller and is important that such understanding be provided clearly and unambiguously. An effective contract is not only a reflection of the parties' intention to get into a legal relationship, but clearly lays out the respective obligations of the parties with necessary safeguards and efficacious remedies. Today's world is economized by trade, domestic and international, and this trade is facilitated through contracts either domestic or international entered into by the parties.

Accelerated globalization has almost removed the disparity of required terms between the domestic and international contracts. A domestic contract is one where both the parties operate their business from the one and the same country, whereas an international contract is one where both the parties operate their business from two different countries.

Drafting of contracts is a different kind of legal writing than petition writing. The goal is not to persuade someone of a position, but to specify very clearly what has been agreed between the parties.

The objective of the study lesson is to make the students understand and also learn the drafting of the various aspects of the topics mentioned in the lesson outline.

CONVEYANCING AND OBJECT OF CONVEYANCING

Conveyancing and its object has been discussed in the Study Lesson- 1. Students are advised to refer Study Lesson- 1 to recapitulate their understanding on the topic.

DRAFTING OF AGREEMENTS

An agreement which is enforceable at law is called a contract. Generally when a contract is reduced to writing, the document itself is called an agreement. A company has to execute countless commercial agreements and other contracts during the course of its business. But how many company executives possess the simple, easily cultivable, yet rare acumen of concluding their contracts precisely, comprehensively and unambiguously? It is very much desirable and useful to keep in view certain important points in regard to the drafting of contracts, particularly commercial and international trade contracts.

FORM OF CONTRACT

There is no particular form prescribed for the drawing up of trade contracts, except that they must fulfil all the essential requirements of a valid contract under the law applicable to the contract. If the law requires any particular category of contracts to be in writing or to be registered, these formalities must be complied with. A contract may be hand written, type written or printed. It may be as brief or as detailed as the circumstances of a particular trade transaction demand.

However, it is extremely desirable and essential that precise and comprehensive terms and conditions relating to the subject matter and performance of the contract should be incorporated by companies in both domestic and international contracts. In sale-purchase contracts well defined provisions relating to the quality and quantity of the goods, the shipment period, price (C.I.F./C&F/F.O.B., etc.), delivery, port of shipment and of destination packing and marketing, mode of payment, insurance, brokerage/commission etc. should also be stipulated. In international contracts additional provisions relating to the applicable law, licences and permits, taxes, duties and charges, exchange rate, etc. also become relevant and important. Some of the important matters which deserve to be provided for in the contract are discussed briefly hereunder:

IMPORTANT POINTS IN REGARD TO DRAFTING OF CONTRACTS

1. Description of Parties to the Contract: Parties to the contract should properly be defined by giving their names, status and address. In case of an individual, father's name and in case of a company, the place where registered office is situated be also given. In case of firms and companies the particulars of persons representing them be invariably given including details of particulars of the firm.
2. Legal Nature of the Contract: In the title or in the introductory part of the contract, the parties should clearly indicate the legal nature of the contract as to whether it is a sale/purchase contract or a commercial agency contract or a contract for technical assistance and advice or building construction and erection contract, etc. so as to avoid any doubt as regards the nature of the contract and the legal position of the parties thereunder.
3. Licences and Permits: It is desirable to provide particularly in international trade contracts as to which party would be responsible for obtaining export/import licences and the effects of delay, refusal or withdrawal of a license by Government authority, etc. It is generally the commercial practice to provide that each party to the contract may obtain the requisite licences in its own country.
4. Taxes, Duties and Charges: A provision regarding the responsibility for payment of taxes, duties and other charges, if any, may also be included in the contract. In international contracts, it is generally provided that the seller would be responsible for taxes, duties and charges levied in the country of export and the buyer with such charges levied in the country of import. Provision should also be made for fluctuations in the rate of taxes, duties and fees, after the conclusion of the contract and it may be agreed upon whether any increase in such rates would be borne by the buyer or the seller.

5. Quality, Quantity and Inspection of Goods: Quality of the goods is very important to the buyer in a sale-purchase contract and it is in this area that a number of disputes arise and, therefore, it is necessary to include a suitable provision relating to the description and inspection of the quality and quantity of the goods in the contract. Inspection of the goods may be provided either in the seller's country before shipment or in the buyer's country after delivery of the goods, depending upon the relative convenience of the parties in this regard. Some tolerance of 10 to 15% is generally provided for in regard to the quantity of the goods stipulated in the contract. It has to be provided whether the additional quantity will be calculated at the price quoted in the contract for at a different price.

6. Packing: Proper packing is very important, particularly in the case of goods which have to be set over a long voyage. Sometimes goods are spoiled during the transit because of poor packing and dispute may arise regarding the responsibility for damage to the merchandise during the transit. Therefore, a proper stipulation regarding packaging of the goods according to the nature of the merchandise should be included in the contract. Where the goods are of a fragile or inflammable nature, specialised packaging will have to be provided for them. Similarly, goods which require to be protected from humidity or chemical action of sea water etc. will require to be packed suitably, to meet the requirements. Another very important matter which needs to be provided for regarding packaging in the contract is the legal specifications, if any, regarding the packing material.

For example, in certain countries particular type of grass, etc. cannot be used for packing and if it is used, the customs authorities of the particular country may confiscate the consignment. In such cases, it should be stipulated in the contract that the buyer will inform the seller of any such legal specifications or requirement with regard to the packaging of the goods and that a damage or loss occurring for lack of such information, will not be the responsibility of the seller.

7. Shipment of the Goods: It is desirable to stipulate precise particulars regarding the rights and duties of the parties towards shipment of the goods, i.e., the time, date and port of shipment, name of the ship and other ship particulars. It may also be stipulated as to whether and up to what time the shipment may be delayed by the seller. Sometimes a penalty is provided for delay in shipment according to the time of delay.

8. Insurance: A provision regarding insurance of the merchandise is also made in the contract, as it is usual to insure the goods during transit particularly when the goods are to be shipped overseas. The insurance provision will state as to which party will be responsible for taking out insurance and what type of insurance cover has to be taken.

9. Documentation: In modern business transactions, it is sometimes necessary for the seller to supply detailed specifications, literature, etc. relating to the goods particularly if the goods are of scientific or technical nature. In such cases, it is usual to provide in the contract as to whether the technical documentation supplied by the seller will become the property of the buyer or it has to be returned to the seller after a stipulated time. It is also desirable to provide that the technical and confidential information contained in the documentation should be kept confidential by the buyer and that it will not be transmitted by him to a third-party without the permission of the seller.

10. Guarantee: Sometimes the goods sold are of such a nature that the buyer insists for guarantee regarding their use and performance for a particular period. Under a guarantee clause, the seller is held responsible for the defects appearing in the goods during the period of the guarantee. The seller is usually given an option to remove the defects in the goods either by replacement or by repair. The replaced or repaired goods will usually be given a new guarantee of the same length of time as the original goods but a different period can also be provided for the replaced goods.

11. Passing of the Property and Passing of the Risks: It is very important to provide for the exact point of time when the title or the property in the goods and the risk will pass from the seller to the buyer. This is important to ascertain as to whether the seller or the buyer will be responsible for the damage or loss to the goods during transit at a particular point of time. Moreover, the control over the goods will be with the person in whom the title or the property in the goods vests. Similarly, it is necessary and useful to provide for the point of time at which the risk in the goods will pass from the seller to the buyer.

12. Amount, Mode and Currency of Payment: It is useful to provide for the amount, mode and currency in which the price for the goods has to be paid. Modes of payment may be on D/A or D/P basis or it may be a Letter of Credit or otherwise as per the agreement of the parties. One of the most important matter which needs to be provided in international contracts relates to the exchange rate. It is advisable to provide the exchange rate of the currency of payment in terms of dollar, pound or any other currency agreed to by the parties so that if a devaluation, revaluation or fluctuation takes place before the payment of price, the liability of the buyer and the seller regarding the amount of payment may be clearly known.

13. Force Majeure: Another very important provision witnessed in modern commercial contracts relates to force majeure or excuses for non-performance. This provision defines as to what particular circumstances or events beyond the control of the seller would entitle him to delay or refuse the performance of the contract, without incurring liability for damage. It is usual to list the exact circumstances or events, like strike, lockout, riot, civil commotion, Government prohibition, etc. which would provide an excuse to the seller to delay or refuse the performance. It may be further provided that events of a similar nature which are beyond the control of the seller and which could not have been avoided with due diligence would also furnish the above relief.

14. Proper Law of Contract: When both the parties to a contract are resident in the same country, the contract is governed by the laws of the same country. However, in international contracts, the parties are subject to different legal systems and, therefore, they have to choose a legal system which will govern the rights and duties of the parties. Therefore, it is desirable and necessary to stipulate the proper law of contract in international contracts.

15. Settlement of Disputes and Arbitration: The last but not least important is the provision regarding settlement of disputes under the contract by arbitration or otherwise. It is usual to provide for an arbitration clause in the contract, particularly under the auspices of an arbitral institution. A suitable arbitration clause may be provided by the parties by mutual agreement. It is also desirable to provide for the mode of appointment of arbitrator and also for the venue of the arbitration in the arbitration clause.

Where Company is a Party to an Agreement

A company being a legal person has to act through the Board of directors who under Section 291 of the Companies Act can exercises all such powers and do all such acts which company can exercise and do subject to the provisions of the Memorandum and Articles and subject to restrictions under the Companies Act. Thus, any agreement on behalf of the company can be signed by any director, officer or any other person so specifically or generally authorised by the Board of directors. The putting of seal of the company on agreements entered on behalf of the company is governed by the provisions in the Articles of Association of the company and/or by the resolution of the Board authorising the entering of the agreement. However, non putting of seal or an agreement may not invalidate the agreement if it has otherwise been properly executed. However, if a document purported to be sealed or signed on behalf of the company is proved to be forged, it does not bind the company. But the company may be stopped from disclaiming document as a forgery, if it has been put forward as genuine by an official acting within his actual, usual, or apparent authority [Naguneri Peace Memorial Cooperative Urban Bank Ltd. v. Alamelu Ammal, (1961) 31 Comp. Cas. 705 (Mad.)].

Where the Companies Act requires certain clauses to be included or not to be included in agreements entered into by the companies, this should be strictly followed, say, Sections 119(1) and 294(2) of the Companies Act.

ADDITIONAL GUIDELINES REGARDING AGREEMENT TO SELL/PURCHASE

In an agreement to sell/purchase, the following details must be incorporated:

- names and descriptions of the contracting parties;
- consideration and earnest money if paid;
- subject-matter of the agreement;
- time within which the agreement is to be performed; and
- special terms agreed upon between the parties.

Contracting Parties

The vendor and the purchaser must be sufficiently described, irrespective of the fact that the parties know each other. There must be reciprocity of interest between the person who wants to enforce the agreement and the person against whom it is sought to be enforced. A stranger to the agreement has no enforceable claim and as such no court shall entertain his claim for specific performance. However, specific performance may be enforced not only against a party to the contract but also against a person claiming title under it. If one of the parties to the agreement is acting in his representative capacity, such capacity must be clearly and precisely disclosed and his authority to act in that capacity must form part of the agreement.

Legal representatives of parties have a right to require specific performance of a contract or are bound by the promise to perform the contract in the absence of a contrary intention. This rule does not apply where the obligation is personal in nature. As a rule, obligation under a contract cannot be assigned except with the consent of the promisee. On the other hand, rights under a contract are assignable unless the contract is personal in nature or the rights are incapable of assignment either under the law or under the agreement between the parties. If one of the parties to the agreement is acting in his representative capacity, such capacity must be clearly and precisely disclosed and his authority to act in that capacity must form part of the agreement. It is, however, usual to have a clause in a deed specifically stating that the parties shall include their executors, administrations, heirs, legal representatives and assigns.

Consideration

Price is the essence of an agreement of sale/purchase and unless the price is clearly and precisely disclosed in the agreement, there is no enforceable contract between the parties because if no price is named in the agreement, the law does not imply, as in the case of sale of goods, a contract to buy/sell at a reasonable price is implied. Therefore, in all sales, the price is an essential ingredient and where it is neither ascertained nor rendered ascertainable, the contract is void for incompleteness and is incapable of enforcement. Price may not necessarily be in the form of money, it may be any other consideration. The word “price” is comprehensive enough to include any other lawful consideration. If any earnest money is paid, the same should be stated and the consequences arising in breach of the agreement may be stipulated for, namely, by forfeiture of the deposit, payment of a fixed sum by the vendor, if the breach is committed by the purchaser or the vendor, respectively.

Subject Matter

Property of any kind subject to the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, and those of any other applicable law or custom may be sold/purchased. Transferability is the general rule and the right to property includes the right to transfer the property to another person. The property, subject-matter of the agreement, must be described in detail giving its precise situation and the extent of interest agreed to be conveyed therein should be clearly stated. If the property is subject to certain charges, easements, encumbrances, restrictions, covenants etc., the same should be clearly stated so that the purchaser knows the real nature of the property he is purchasing. The vendor should not conceal any material particular with regard to the property he is selling, which the purchaser has a right to know.

Time for Performance

If the time for performance is the essence of the agreement, the same should be clearly stipulated and the consequences of non-performance within the stipulated time should also be clearly and precisely declared.

Drafting of an Agreement

An agreement between the parties is an instrument whereby the parties freely agree to perform certain acts or refrain from doing sometimes unilaterally or bilaterally. The purpose of the instrument is to bind the parties to the terms and conditions agreed upon. The agreement should, therefore, be drafted as deeds between the parties thereto. The old practice of drafting them as Deeds Poll should be discouraged.

While preparing agreements it is necessary and important that the intention of the parties should be set forth explicitly so as to leave no room for doubt or future controversy. The language should be simple and the words used should be definite and precise; the use of loose expression such as “proper”, “reasonable”, should, as far as possible, be avoided.

The provisions of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 about the essential incident and legality of agreements (Sections 2 to 30) should be studied and nothing should be introduced or left out which would make the agreement void. But, if the material terms of an agreement are clear and specific, omission of certain details which can be worked out by consent of the parties or in its absence be settled by court will not invalidate the agreement (Ramchandra v. Chinnubhai, AIR 1945 Mad. 10).

An agreement can be split into same parts as any other document viz. Title, Date, Parties, Recitals, Testatum, Operating Clause, Schedule (if necessary), Exceptions and Reservations (if any), Habendum, Covenants (if any) and Testimonium. The above clauses were discussed in detail in Study Lesson-1 and a reference to the same may be made. However, model forms of a few general/usual clauses in agreement may assume the following forms:

(i) Operation of Agreement:

“THIS AGREEMENT shall come into force w.e.f. (date) and shall remain in force for a period of (period) until determined earlier by notice as hereinafter provided.”

(ii) Termination by Notice:

“THIS AGREEMENT shall be liable to be terminated by either party by giving (period) notice to the other party (without assigning any reason or cause)”.

(iii) Arbitration Clause:

“Every difference or dispute which may hereafter arise between the parties hereto or their respective representatives in relation to this agreement or arising thereout whether as to the constructions or operations thereof, or the respective rights and liabilities thereunder or any thing done hereunder or otherwise shall be referred to a sole arbitrator in accordance with and subject to the provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996. His award shall be accepted and binding on both the parties.”

(iv) Clause for Services of Communication:

“Any notice may be sent through the post to the last known place of abode or business of the party to whom it is given, and if so sent under a certificate of posting shall be taken to be sufficient service thereof.”

If it is desired that each party should have a copy of the agreement, it should be executed in duplicate, either party signing one of the duplicates and such duplicates being exchanged. Thus, the duplicate signed by A is given to B and that signed by B is given to A, but it is better if both the duplicates are signed by both the parties. The duplicates must be the exact reproduction of the original and require signature and attestation in the same manner as the original.

Attestation, Registration and Stamp Duty

Attestation: It is not necessary for an agreement to be attested by any witness. But agreements are usually attested by one witness. Where registration is desired the agreement should be attested by two witnesses.

Registration: Agreements not relating to immovable property and agreements not creating an interest in immovable property are not compulsorily registrable. Only agreements creating an interest in immovable property worth more than Rs. 100 are required by law to be registered.

Stamp Duty: For the purpose of stamp duty, agreements are covered by Article 5 of Schedule I to the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. The stamp duty for different kinds of agreements varies from State to State. While drafting an agreement the draftsman should ascertain the proper stamp duty having regard to the changes made in the Stamp Act in the State where the agreement is executed.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS IN THE AGREEMENT TO SELL/PURCHASE

The usual conditions in an agreement to sell/purchase are:

- (i) The vendor has a marketable title in the property agreed to be sold/ purchased and that the vendor has produced the title deeds relating to the property to the purchaser for his inspection or in any other manner, must be specifically stipulated between the parties to the agreement.
- (ii) If the property agreed to be sold is a part of a larger property, an agreement as to retention of a particular or all the title deeds to the property by a party should be arrived at and incorporated in the agreement to sell/purchase.
- (iii) If the property is subject to any prior charge or encumbrance, the parties must agree that the sale is to be subject to such encumbrance or price payable under the agreement included the sum due under the encumbrance and is required to be paid to the chargeholder at the time of registration or thereafter.
- (iv) The mode of payment of the price or the balance thereof, if some earnest money or deposit has been paid, should also be stipulated in the agreement. It should also be clearly stated whether the vendor or the purchaser shall be liable to pay rates, rents, taxes or other imposts for the period commencing from the date of execution of the agreement to sell/purchase till the execution of the conveyance deed. It should also be stated in the agreement that interest at a particular rate shall be payable by the vendor on the earnest money paid in the event of his delaying the execution of the conveyance deed or the liability of the purchaser to pay interest at a particular rate, to the vendor, if he fails to pay the balance amount of consideration at the agreed date and the execution of the conveyance deed is delayed on that account.
- (v) The parties should agree as to the point of time when possession of the property should be handed over by the vendor to the purchaser, if the vendor is in possession or how the attornment by the tenant(s), if the possession is to be effected.
- (vi) The parties should also agree as to who shall bear the cost and expense of execution and registration of the sale deed and if both the parties have to bear the same, in what precise proportions they shall bear.
- (vii) If any broker is involved in the transaction, the agreement should clearly spell out if any brokerage is payable and by whom and at what rate, and at what point of time.

The agreement must incorporate if there are any other particular conditions attached to the transaction of sale/purchase so that the document is complete and self-contained and nothing is left to draw inferences or to presume intentions of the parties.

BUILDING CONTRACTS

Building contracts, being legal documents, have to be drawn in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Contract Act.. Such an agreement or contract must be drawn in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. All the essential ingredients of a contract, such as, a proposal, its acceptance, its due communication to the proposer, lawful consideration, lawful purpose and competence of parties to the contract etc. must be duly satisfied and ensured while drafting such contracts.

It is essential to ascertain not only the legal position or condition of each of the parties to the contract, e.g. an individual, a firm or partnership, a company, or as the case may be, but also that each person signing the document has capacity to contract. The contract should clearly state the full names, addresses (The addresses being that to which all communications, including notices and judicial processes, should be sent), and capacities of each of the contracting parties and, in the case of firm, partnership or company, the name or complete style of the firm, partnership or company, its legal status, the date and place of its incorporation, Registered office, and so on.

COMMERCIAL AGENCY CONTRACTS

Sometimes business is conducted by traders not directly with their counterparts but through the agency of independent agents appointed for the purpose. Such agents would locate customers for the principal's goods and in certain conditions would have an implied authority to deal with the goods of the principal, allow credit terms to customers and receive payment from the customers on behalf of the principal. The rights and duties of the principal and his agent abroad would be governed by the contract of agency concluded between them. Commercial agency contracts exhibit certain peculiar characteristics of their own and their terms and conditions are substantially different from those of a sale purchase or other trade contracts.

A commercial agency contract should inter alia include provisions regarding the date of commencement and of termination of the agency, the goods or products to be covered by the agency, the contractual territory, the nature of the agency, e.g. sole or exclusive agency, etc. The rate and basis of commission payable to the agent should also be clearly indicated. The conditions regarding the reimbursement of expenses incurred by the agent; payment of commission on orders received directly by the principal from the agent's territory and commission on repeat orders may also be defined. The commission may be calculated on the gross amount or the net amount of the invoice. If the net amount is used as the basis it may be further specified what elements of the cost, such as, freight, insurance, discount, taxes, packing and the like would be deducted from the sales amount for calculation of the commission. It may also be stipulated when the commission will accrue and be payable, e.g. when the order is transmitted or accepted or when the goods are delivered or when the payment is received by the principal. It may also be stipulated how far the amount of the commission would be affected by such subsequent events as cancellation of an order, reduction in price, failure to deliver the goods, bankruptcy or insolvency of the buyer and so on. The currency of payment of the commission and the rate of exchange applicable may also be mentioned. The permission of the Reserve Bank of India may be required for fixing the rate and remittance of the commission to foreign agents.

The agency contract should clearly indicate whether the agent may or may not make binding agreements on behalf of the principal in respect of orders obtained by him. The circumstances in which the principal may validity refuse to accept the orders transmitted by the agent may also be mentioned. It is usual to provide in the agency contracts that the agent shall guarantee certain minimum sales turnover over a given period. The duties of the agent would further include not to divulge confidential information of the principal to third-parties, not to make secret profits or accept bribes and to use all reasonable diligence, disclose all material facts and be accountable to the principal for all monies received by him on behalf of the principal.

In drawing up Commercial Agency Contracts between parties residing in different countries, it is essential to ensure that nothing contained in such a contract shall be repugnant to imperative provisions of the law of any country in which such a contract or any part thereof has to be carried into effect. It is also appropriate, as stated earlier, to add a warning against the possible liability of the principal to tax in the contractual territory.

Experience has clearly shown, especially in the field of international trade the expediency of reducing to writing the commercial agency contract and any amendments thereto; in certain countries the law requires that this be done. Further, it is always advisable to seek legal and fiscal advice, not only in the country of the principal, but also in each of the countries (if more than one) wherein the commercial agent is to have authority to act in that capacity for the principal.

It is for the parties to the contract, carefully to decide, in the light of the facts of each case, the various points which should be covered therein. The points to be covered and the way in which they should be covered will depend largely upon the extent to which the law of the country or countries concerned covers these matters and the extent to which the law leaves them freely to be expressed in the contract.

The contract should clearly define the territory or territories (including or excluding any other country which may be associated with any such territory) in which the agent is entitled to act. It is important that the parties should give serious thought to this matter, as lack of precision may give rise to disputes between the agent and other agents of the principal to disputes between the agent and other agents of the principal as regards their respective territorial rights.

If the agent is to have the sole and exclusive right to represent the principal within contractual territory, the parties should agree to what extent, if any, the principal may nevertheless reserve the right to operate in the territory, either himself or by means of his employees, with or without, as the case may be, the assistance of the agent.

In addition, it may be expedient in certain cases to append to the contract a list showing the customers of the principal in the contractual territory to whom the contractual goods or any of them had been sold before the coming into force of contract, and the quantities and value of goods so sold during that twelve months (or as the case may be) last preceding such time.

The parties should always insert a suitably worded clause at the end of their contract to the effect that there are no other agreements in existence between the parties and that the whole of the terms between the parties are set out in the contract.

Del Credere Agency

There is a special type of agency, which combines agency with guarantee. This is known as del credere agency. A del credere agent is one who, for an extra remuneration undertakes the liability to guarantee the due performance of the contract by the buyer. By reason of his charging a del credere commission he assumes responsibility for the solvency and performance of the contract by the vendee and thus indemnifies his principal against loss. He, therefore, gives an additional security to the seller, but he does not shift the responsibility of payment from the buyer to the seller. A commission del credere is the premium or price given by the principal to the agent for guarantee, which presupposes a guarantee.

A del credere agent like any other agent, is to sell according to the instructions of his principal, to make such contracts as he is authorised to make for his principal and be bound, as soon as he receives the money, to hand it over to the principal. He is distinguished from other agents simply in this that he guarantees that those persons to whom he sells perform the contracts which he makes with them.

Ingredients of an Agency Contract

The contract of agency is governed by Chapter X (Sections 182 to 238) of the Contract Act, 1872. The basic features of contract of agency are:

1. Authority should be given either expressly or impliedly to bind his principal.
2. While the principal should not be a minor, an agent could be a minor.
3. Consideration is not necessary for an agency contract.
4. For the acts of the agent, the principal is liable unless the principal has exceeded his authority.
5. The authority of an agent extends to the doing of all that is necessary and collateral to the doing of the main act.
6. The obligations under the contract of agency is not assignable unless:
 - (i) the nature of the business necessitates such assignment.
 - (ii) customs of usage of trade in the locality with regard to the business permit such assignment.
 - (iii) such assignment is expressly permitted by the contract of agency.

Provided always that the agent shall have no right of action against the principal for delay resulting from shortage of stock, delays in transit, accidents, strikes or other unavoidable occurrences in replenishing such stock. The principal shall always have the right, without any prior notice, to cause a stock checking of the said goods and on any shortage or deficiency found on such stock-taking the agent shall on demand pay to the principal the list price of such shortage or deficiency less the deduction by way of commission or rebate receivable by the agent. The agent shall not alter, remove, or tamper with the marks or numbers on the goods so entrusted into his custody.
10. That the agent shall not sell the goods of the principal to any purchaser except at current price list of the principal conveyed by him from time to time. The agent may, however, allow a discount or rebate of..... per cent.
11. That in the event of any dispute arising between the agent and a purchaser of the principal's goods, the agent shall immediately inform the principal of the same and shall not without the principal's approval or consent in writing take any legal proceedings in respect of or compromise such dispute or grant a release to any purchaser of the principal's goods.

12. That either party may terminate this agreement at his option at any time after the expiration of..... years by giving the other one month's notice in writing.
13. That the benefits under this agreement shall not be assignable to any other person.
14. That the agent shall always, during the existence of this agreement, devote his whole business time and energy for pushing the sale of the principal's goods and shall in all such dealings act honestly and faithfully to the principal and shall carry out orders and instructions and shall not engage or be interested either directly or indirectly as agent or servant in any other business or trade without the prior consent in writing of the principal.
15. That on the termination of his agreement for any reason whatsoever, the agent shall not for the period of one year solicit trade orders from the persons who had been purchasers of the goods of the principal any time within..... years immediately preceding the date of such termination and the agent shall not for a period of one year engage or be interested as agent or servant in any business, firm or company manufacturing, selling or dealing in goods similar to those of the principal.
16. That all goods shall be sold by the agent for delivery at agent's place or business but the agent shall, at his own expense, have the right to deliver goods to purchasers at their places of business.
17. That without prejudice to any other remedy he may have against the agent for any breach or non-performance of any part of this agreement, the principal shall have the right summarily to terminate this agreement:
 - (i) on the agent being found guilty of a breach of its provisions or being guilty of misconduct or negligence of his duties; or
 - (ii) on the agent absenting himself from his business duties entrusted to him under this agreement for..... days without the principal's prior permission in writing; or
 - (iii) on the agent committing an act of bankruptcy.
18. That in the event of any dispute arising out of or in relation to or touching upon the agreement, the same shall be decided by arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996.
19. That the principal shall be entitled to terminate this agreement by one month's notice in writing to the agent in the event of his ceasing to carry on the said business of the principal.
20. That on the termination of this agreement for whatever reason, the agent shall forthwith deliver to the principal all the unsold stock of goods and shall pay to the principal for the shortages or deficiency of stock at list price less commission and rebate allowable to the agent. The agent shall also deliver to the charge of the principal all books of account and documents of the agency, cash, cheques, bills of exchange or other securities he may have received during the normal course as a result of sales of the principal's goods and shall transfer, assign or negotiate in favour of the principal all such securities on demand.

Sole Selling Agreement—Where a Company is Principal

If in the above mentioned agreement of sole selling agency, the principal is a company, then as per provisions of Section 294(2) of the Companies Act, 1956, one more clause must be added as under:

“This agreement ceases to be valid if it is not approved by the shareholders of the principal in first general meeting held after the date of this agreement”.

The provisions of Section 294(2) are mandatory and if the directors enter into sole selling agreement without the above condition, the appointment is bad ab initio. Therefore, such an agreement cannot be ratified by the shareholders. [Shalagram Jhajharia v. National Co. Ltd., (1975) 35 Comp. Cas. 706 (Cal)].

If the provisions of Section 294AA(3) are also applicable i.e. the paid-up capital of the principal (company) is rupees fifty lakhs or more, then a suitable clause in the agreement should also be added that the agreement shall be valid only if approved by the shareholders by a special resolution and also approved by the Central Government.

COLLABORATION AGREEMENTS

When two parties join hands for exchange of technical know-how, technical designs and drawings; training of technical personnel of one of the parties in the manufacturing and/or research and development divisions of the other party; continuous provision of technical, administrative and/or managerial services, they are said to be collaborating in a desired venture. The word “collaboration” has, however, acquired a specific meaning, which refers to cooperation between a party within India and a party abroad. The agreements drawn and executed between such collaborating parties are known as “foreign collaboration agreements”. With sophistication and technical advance achieved in the developed countries and motivated by the desire of carrying the country into the twenty-first century, the Indian entrepreneurs are seeking all possible avenues for obtaining technical know-how in the fields of industry, agriculture, mining, oil exploration, power generation, etc. A large number of Indian industrialists have already entered into long and short-term collaboration arrangements with foreign companies, firms etc. In order to ensure quick processing of the proposed collaboration arrangements and on a uniform basis, the Central Government has issued guidelines for prospective collaborators so that they submit their proposals in accordance with those guidelines.

GUIDELINES FOR ENTERING INTO FOREIGN COLLABORATION AGREEMENTS

These guidelines cover the following aspects of foreign collaboration agreements:

1. Investment: Where in a foreign collaboration agreement, equity participation if involved, the value of the shares to be acquired about be brought in cash.
2. Lump sum payment: The amount agreed to be paid by an Indian party to a foreign collaborator for technology transfer should be paid in three instalments as follows:
 - (i) one-third to be paid after the agreement has been approved by the Central Government;
 - (ii) one-third on transfer of the technical documents; and
 - (iii) one-third on the commencement of commercial production.
3. Royalty: Royalty payable to a foreign collaborator has to be calculated on the basis of net ex-factory selling price of the product less excise duties and cost of imported components. The normal rate of royalty may be three per cent to five per cent. This rate will depend upon the nature and extent of the technology involved. Payment of a fixed royalty is preferred by the Government in certain cases. There should be no provision for payment of a minimum guaranteed royalty, regardless of the quantum and value of production.
4. Duration of agreement: Normal period of a foreign collaboration agreement is eight years subject to maximum of ten years. The period is approved by the Government usually for five years from the date of the agreement in the first instance or five years from the date of commencement of commercial production; the total period, however, not exceeding eight years from the date of the agreement.

44 PP-DA&P

5. Renewal or extension of agreement: The Central Government may consider an application for renewal of a foreign collaboration agreement or for extension of its period on merit.
6. Remittances: Remittances to foreign collaborators are allowed only on the basis of the prevailing exchange rates.
7. Sub-licensing: An agreement shall not normally impose any restriction on the sub-licensing of the technical know-how to other Indian parties. The terms of such sub-licensing will be as mutually agreed to between all the concerned parties including the foreign collaborator. Sub-licensing is, however, subject to the Central Government's approval.
8. Exports: No foreign collaboration agreement shall be allowed to contain any restriction on the free export to all countries, except in a case where the foreign collaborator has licensing arrangements in which case the countries concerned shall be specified.
9. Procurement of capital goods etc.: There should be no restriction on procurement of capital goods, components, spares, raw materials etc. by the Indian party. The Indian collaborator must be free to have control over pricing facility and selling arrangements.
10. Technicians: The number terms of service, remuneration etc. of technicians to be deputed on either side are subject to approval of the Reserve Bank of India.
11. Training: Provision shall be made in the agreement for adequate facilities for training of Indian technicians for research and development.
12. Exploitation of Indian patents: Where any item of manufacture is patented in India, the payment of royalty or lump sum to the foreign collaborator should make provision for compensation for use of such patent until its expiry. There should also be provision for manufacture by the Indian company of the said item even after the expiry of the collaboration agreement without making any additional payment.
13. Consultancy: If the necessity for any consultancy arises, it should be obtained from an Indian company. If, however, in the special circumstances foreign consultancy becomes essential, even then the prime consultant should be an Indian company.
14. Brand Name: There should be no insistence on the use of foreign brand names on products for sale in India. There can, however, be no objection for use of foreign brand name on products to be exported to other countries.
15. Indian Laws: All collaboration agreements shall be subject to Indian laws.
16. Approval of Central Government: Every foreign collaboration agreement shall be approved by the Central Government.

While drafting a collaboration agreement, care should be taken that it is in strict compliance with the guidelines as detailed above. Every collaboration agreement must contain one or more clause to the effect: "The agreement shall be subject to Indian laws. The agreement shall be subject to the approval of the Government of India".

(12) It is agreed that the payment made to the U.K. company shall include the compensation for use of the patent rights for the period of its duration and that the Indian company shall have the right for the period of its duration and that the Indian company shall have the right to manufacture their products even after the expiry of this Agreement.

(13) The Indian company shall not during the continuance of the Agreement refer any technical or manufacturing problems or difficulties to any one other than the U.K. company but shall regard and use the U.K. company as its sole technical consultant.

(14) On the expiry of the period prescribed herein or of extended period provided in clause 3 (supra) or upon the termination of this agreement for any reason the Indian company shall return to the U.K. company all copies of information data or material sent to it by the U.K. company under this Agreement and then in its possession and shall expressly refrain from communicating any such information, technical data or material received by it hereunder to any person, firm or company whatsoever.

ARBITRATION AGREEMENTS

The 'arbitration agreement' under the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 means an agreement by the parties to submit to arbitration all or certain disputes which have arisen or which may arise between them in respect of defined relationship whether contractual or not. It may be in the form of an arbitration clause in a contract or in the form of a separate agreement. It has to be in writing. It is in writing if it is contained in a document signed by the parties, or in an exchange of letters, telex telegrams or other means of telecommunication which provide a record of the agreement, or in an exchange of statements of claim and defence in which the existence of agreement is alleged by one party and not denied by the other.

The important ingredient of the arbitration agreement is the consent in writing to submit dispute to arbitration. Consent in writing implies the application of mind to the reference of dispute to arbitration in accordance with Arbitration and Conciliation law and the binding nature of the award made thereunder.

An arbitration agreement stands on the same footing as any other agreement. It is binding upon the parties unless it is tainted with fraud, undue influence etc., in which case it can be avoided like any other agreement.

An arbitration rests on mutual voluntary agreement of the parties to submit their differences to selected persons whose determination is to be accepted as a substitute for the judgement of a court. The object of arbitration is the final determination of differences between parties in a comparatively less expensive, more expeditious and less formal manner than is available in ordinary court proceedings.

Pre-requisites of Arbitration

Every arbitration must have the following three pre-requisites:

- (i) a dispute between parties to an agreement, requiring a settlement;
- (ii) its submission for a settlement to a third person; and
- (iii) a decision by such third person according to his own judgement based on the facts and circumstances of the dispute, which is binding on both the parties.

Submission of Dispute to Arbitration

A submission is an agreement between two contracting parties to take decision from a third mutually-agreed party, to whom they refer the dispute. The arbitration presupposes that the arbitrator must accept the office of arbitrator to perfect his appointment.

Aim of Arbitration

Civil litigation takes years and years to settle simple disputes. Arbitration is a means devised to quick and economical settlement of a dispute between two contracting parties, who also agree as part of the main agreement to refer dispute or difference arising out of or touching upon the terms and conditions of the agreement to a third person to give his judgement, which shall be binding on both the parties. Where the decision of a person is binding on only one of the parties and not on all the parties to the dispute, it cannot be said that the function, which the person giving the decision is exercising, is arbitral in character.

Methods of Arbitration

The parties to the dispute will enter into an agreement to refer the dispute to arbitration and will agree on the terms of reference, that is, to state clearly and precisely the matter the arbitrator is required to decide. An arbitrator is not bound by the strict rules of evidence of courts of law. However, he does follow the practice of presentation and conduct of a case in a court of law. Most of the evidence is in writing. The party adducing evidence has to be present before the arbitrator so that he may be cross-examined on his written evidence. After hearing the evidence of both the parties, the arbitrator makes his award. The award must be within the terms of reference.

It is for the arbitral Tribunal to lay down its own procedure during the arbitration proceedings. The law should however, be fair and reasonable. The tribunal may decide to ask the parties to adduce evidence by way of affidavits. In that case it would be fair and just to allow cross-examination of the witness whose affidavit has been filed.

Requisites of an Award

The general requisites of an award are:

- (a) it must be consistent with the submission;
- (b) it must be certain;
- (c) it must be fair to the parties;
- (d) it must be final;
- (e) its implementation must be possible.

Specimen of Arbitration Agreement to Refer the Dispute to two Arbitrators

This agreement made and entered into between Mr..... and Mr..... on this day of (month) and (year) witnesseth as follows:

WHEREAS differences and disputes have arisen between the parties above-mentioned regarding the matter of and the parties could not mutually settle the matter. Now the parties agree that the matter as under be referred to arbitration to obtain an award:

1. For the purpose of final determination of the dispute, the matter will be referred to Mr... nominated by one party and Mr. nominated by the other party as arbitrators and their award shall be final and binding on both the parties.
2. If differences should arise between the said two arbitrators on the questions referred to them, the said arbitrators shall select an umpire and the award to be given by the umpire shall be final and both the parties hereby agree that the award so given by the umpire or arbitrators shall be binding on both the parties.
3. A reasonable time-limit may be fixed after consulting the arbitrators for the grant of the award by them and umpire if appointed and the said time may be extended in consultation with the arbitrators or umpire if need be.
4. The provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 so far as applicable and as are not inconsistent or repugnant to the purposes of this reference shall apply to this reference to arbitration.
5. Both the parties agree that they would co-operate and lead evidence etc. with the arbitrators so appointed as expeditiously as possible and it is an express condition of this agreement, that if any of the parties non-co-operates or is absent at the reference, the arbitrators would be at liberty to proceed with the reference ex parte.
6. The parties hereto agree that this reference to arbitration would not be revoked either by death of either party or any other cause.
7. If the arbitrators or anyone of them as chosen under this agreement become incapacitated either by death or sickness or other disability, the parties retain the right of nominating substitutes and no fresh agreement therefor would be necessary.
8. It is an express stipulation that any award passed by the said arbitrators shall be binding on the parties, their heirs, executors and legal representatives.

Having agreed to the above by both the parties, the said parties affix their signatures to this agreement this..... day of (month and year) at (place).

AND WHEREAS the said agreement provides that in the event of any dispute or difference arising between the parties the same shall be referred to arbitration of a common arbitrator if agreed upon or otherwise to two Arbitrators and the Arbitration shall be governed by the provisions of the Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996.

AND WHEREAS the parties have agreed to refer all the disputes regarding the said contract to Mr. Architect, as common Arbitrator and have proposed to enter into this Agreement for reference of the disputes to the sole arbitration of the said Mr.....

NOW IT IS AGREED BETWEEN THE PARTIES HERETO AS FOLLOWS:

1. That the following points of dispute arising out of the said agreement dated... are hereby referred to the sole arbitration of the said Mr..... for his decision and award.

The points of dispute are:

- (a) Whether the Party of the Second Part has carried out the work according to the sanctioned plans and specifications.
 - (b) Whether the Party of the Second Part has delayed the construction.
 - (c) Whether the Party of the Second Part is overpaid for the work done up to now.
 - (d) Whether Party of the First Part is bound to make any further payment over and above the payments made up to now for the work actually done.
 - (e) All other claims of one party against the other party arising out of the said contract up to now.
2. The said Arbitrator shall allow the parties to file their respective claims and contentions and to file documents relied upon by them within such reasonable time as the Arbitrator may direct.
 3. The said Arbitrator shall give hearing to the parties either personally or through their respective Advocates but the Arbitrator will not be bound to take any oral evidence including cross examination of any party or person.

4. The said Arbitrator shall make his Award within a period of four months from the date of service of a copy of this agreement on him by any of the parties hereto provided that, the Arbitrator will have power to extend the said period from time to time with the consent of both the parties.
5. The Arbitrator will not make any interim award.
6. The award given by the Arbitrator will be binding on the parties hereto.
7. The Arbitrator will have full power to award or not to award payment of such costs of and incidental to this arbitration by one party to the other as he may think fit.
8. The Arbitration shall be governed by the provisions of the Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties herein under have set their hands the day and year hereinabove mentioned.

GUARANTEES: COUNTER GUARANTEE, FIDELITY GUARANTEE, PERFORMANCE GUARANTEE, BANK GUARANTEE

A “contract of guarantee” is a contract to perform the promise, or discharge the liability, of a third person in case of his default. The person who gives the guarantee is called the “surety”; the person in respect of whose default the guarantee is given is called the “principal debtor”; and the person to whom the guarantee is given is called the “creditor”. A guarantee may be either oral or written. (Section 126 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872)

A guarantee which extends to a series of transactions is called a “continuing guarantee”.

A guarantee, guaranteeing an employer against the misconduct of an employee or to answer for the debt or default of another, is called a “fidelity guarantee”.

A guarantee given by the principal debtor to the surety providing him continuing indemnity against any loss or damage that the surety may suffer on account of default on the part of the principal debtor, is called “counter-guarantee”.

A guarantee which ensures the contracted performance of another person and under which the surety undertakes to compensate the person in whose favour the guarantee is given, in the event of failure on the part of the person on whose behalf the guarantee is given, is known as “performance guarantee”.

A “bank guarantee” is a guarantee given by a bank on behalf of its client or account-holder to another person with whom the client has entered into a contract to perform some job or to do and call upon the bank to pay the guaranteed amount in the event of the contingency, mentioned in the guarantee, happening or not happening, as the case may be.

Purpose of a Guarantee

The primary idea of a guarantee or suretyship is, an undertaking to indemnify the creditors in case the principal debtor does not fulfil his promise; the contract of guarantee in that sense is a contract to indemnify. The central point in such a case is to determine what was the contingency which the parties had in their minds when the contract of guarantee was entered into.

Form of a Guarantee

The law does not require a contract of guarantee to be necessarily in writing. It may be either oral or in writing. It may be express or it may even be implied. It might be even inferred from the course of conduct of the parties concerned. However, whatever may be the form of the contract, it must be satisfactorily proved. Like any other contract, a contract of guarantee must be supported by consideration. It is, however, not necessary that the consideration should flow from the creditor and be received by the surety. Consideration between the creditor and the principal debtor is a valid and good consideration for the guarantee given by the surety. A contract of guarantee as specified in Section 126 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 presupposes the existence of a principal debtor and no such contract can be made before a sale has taken place when there is no principal debtor in existence in respect of whose default the guarantee can be given.

Fidelity Guarantee

A surety's liability for the faithful discharge by another of his duties depends in each case on the exact terms of that guarantee. The surety is not discharged from the liability for the principal debtor's default because the default would not have happened if the creditor had used all the powers of superintending the performance of the debtor's duty which he could have exercised, because the employer of the servant whose due performance of work is guaranteed does not contract with the surety that he will use the utmost diligence in checking the servant's work.

If the employer of a servant whose fidelity has been guaranteed continues to employ him even after a proved act of dishonesty without notice to the guarantor, the surety is discharged. That is a basic principle implicit in the very nature of a fidelity guarantee. The guarantor in such a case guarantees the fidelity and ensures the loss against the risk of infidelity and not the fact of infidelity. If the employer wants to continue a dishonest servant after his dishonesty has been proved then he must give the guarantor notice of the fact of infidelity so that the guarantor may get an opportunity to say whether he would continue his guarantee or not for a man whose infidelity has been proved.

Construction of a Guarantee

The terms of a guarantee must be strictly construed. The surety receives no benefit and no consideration. He is bound, therefore, merely according to the proper meaning and effect of the written engagement that he has entered into.

In construing a guarantee, the principle is that a guarantee will only extend to a liability precisely answering the description contained in the guarantee.

Consideration for a Guarantee

Section 127 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 defines consideration for guarantee as "Anything done, or any promise made, for the benefit of the principal debtor may be a sufficient consideration to the surety for giving the guarantee".

Consideration between the principal debtor and the creditor is good consideration for guarantee given by surety. It is not necessary that the thing done or the promise made for the benefit of the principal debtor should be at the desire of the surety. The word "done" in the above definition shows that past benefit to the principal debtor can be good consideration for a bond of guarantee.

Surety's Liability

According to Section 128 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, the liability of the surety is co-extensive with that of the principal debtor, unless it is otherwise provided by the contract.

The surety's liability is not deferred until the creditor exhausts his remedies against the principal debtor. In the absence of some special equity the surety has no right to restrain an action against him by the creditor on the ground that the principal debtor is solvent or that the creditor may have relief against the principal debtor in some other proceedings.

The liability of the surety being co-extensive with that of the principal debtor, is joint and several with the latter and, therefore, in the absence of a clear intention to the contrary it is at the option of the creditor, to decide whether he shall proceed against the surety or the principal debtor. Of course, a guarantor is prima facie entitled to have the debt proved as against him.

Subrogation of Surety to the Rights of Creditor on Payment

Section 140 of the Act invests a surety with all the rights which the creditor has against the principal debtor, where a guaranteed debt has become due, or default of the principal debtor to perform a guaranteed duty has taken place, the surety has made the payment or performed all that he is liable for.

Continuing Guarantee

Section 129 of the Act lays down that a guarantee which extends to a series of transactions is called a continuing guarantee, and according to Section 130, a continuing guarantee may be revoked by the surety at any time as to future transactions, by notice to the creditor.

HYPOTHECATION AGREEMENT

Hypothecation is a form of transfer of property in goods. Hypothecation agreement is a document by which legal property in goods passes to the person who lends money on them, but the possession does not pass. This form of transfer is not regulated in India by any statute. Neither the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, nor the Indian Contract Act, 1872, nor the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, recognize the non-possessory hypothecation of immovables and the rights and remedies of the parties are regulated by the courts according to the general law of contract.

In hypothecation, there must be an intention of the parties to create a security on the property on which the money has been lent. If that intention can be established, equity gives effect to it.

A hypothecation not merely of moveable existing on the premises at the time but also in respect of moveable which might be subsequently acquired and brought there, is valid though it is not governed by the Transfer of Property Act or by the Indian Contract Act, 1872. An oral or written hypothecation is permitted under the law in India.

Hypothecation is an extended form of pledge. Pledge has been codified by the Indian Contract Act. Sections 172 to 176 deal with pledge of goods. Under Section 172, a pledge is a bailment of the goods as security for payment of a debt or performance of a promise. Section 172 entitles a pawnee to retain the goods pledged as security for payment of a debt and under Section 175 he is entitled to receive from the pawnor or the pledger any extra-ordinary expenses he incurs for the preservation of the goods pledged with him. Section 176 deals with the rights of a pawnee and provides that in case of default by the pawnor the pawnee has the right to sue upon the debt and to retain the goods as collateral security and to sell the goods after reasonable notice of the intended sale to the pawnor. Once the pawnee, by virtue of his right under Section 176 sells the goods, the right of the pawnor to redeem them is extinguished. However, the pawnee is bound to apply the sale proceeds towards satisfaction of the debt and pay the surplus, if any, to the pawnor. So long the sale does not take place the pawnor is entitled to redeem the goods on payment of the debt. Therefore, when a pawnee files a suit for recovery of debt, though he is entitled to retain the goods, he is bound to return them on payment of the debt. The right to sue on the debt assumes that he is in a position to re-deliver the goods on payment of the debt and, therefore, if he has put himself in a position where he is not able to re-deliver the goods, he cannot obtain a decree.

As against pledge of goods, the transfer of legal title in the goods in the case of a hypothecation, the rights of the lender and the borrower are strictly governed by the terms and conditions of the hypothecation agreement executed by the parties. No assumptions can be drawn in such a case. Hypothecation is resorted to mostly by banks and other financial institutions for securing their long-term and medium-term loans and limits of working capital, bill discounting, letters of credit and guarantees to limited companies, partnerships etc. Alongwith the hypothecation agreements, the loaning institutions including banks have a plethora of other documents executed by the borrowing companies e.g. demand promissory note, collateral personal guarantees of managing directors, directors and other persons having substantial interest in the borrowing entities, second charge on fixed assets like land and building and plant and machinery permanently attached to land by legal or equitable mortgage and so on and so forth.

Hypothecation agreements usually cover moveable machinery, equipment, stocks of finished and semi-finished goods, raw materials, consumable stores, present and future available in factories and godowns of the borrower and also enroute to the borrower's factories and book debts. While these items as moveable assets, remain in the possession of the borrower and he has absolute right to convert them, sell them and deal with them in any manner the borrower likes in the course of his business, the legal title vests in the lending institution by virtue of the hypothecation agreement. Pledge, which is regulated by the Indian Contract Act, 1872, as stated above, technically speaking, cannot exist without bailment or possession. Though not accompanied by delivery of possession, the validity of hypothecation of moveables has been recognised in India and it has sometimes been enforced even against a bona fide purchaser without notice. Since such hypothecation is not governed by the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 or the Indian Contract Act and even the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, the Court is thrown back upon principles of equity and justice.

A Specimen Agreement to Hypothecate Goods to Secure Fixed Loan

The Manager,
.....Bank,
.....

Sir,

In consideration of your Bank advancing to me/us on loan the sum of Rs..... I/We hereby agree to hypothecate and hold under lien to the Bank as security for the repayment as per Schedule hereto of the principal amount of the loan and payment of interest on demand at.....% per annum subject to a maximum of.....% per annum above Bank Rate.

The goods so to be held by me/us under lien to the Bank I/We declare to be my/our absolute property, and to be stored in my/our godowns at..... OUTSOURCING AGREEMENTS

Outsourcing is the contracting out of a company's non-core, non-revenue producing activities to specialists. It differs from contracting in that outsourcing is a strategic management tool that involves the restructuring of an organization around what it does best - its core competencies.

Two common types of outsourcing are Information Technology (IT) outsourcing and Business Process Outsourcing (BPO). BPO includes outsourcing related to accounting, human resources, benefits, payroll, and finance functions and activities. Knowledge Process outsourcing (KPO) includes outsourcing related to legal, paralegal, and other highly skilled activities.

A good outsourcing agreement is one which provides a comprehensive road map of the duties and obligations of both the parties - outsourcer and service provider. It minimizes complications when a dispute arises. However, many a times people neglect to pay attention while drafting an outsourcing agreement. Before finalizing an outsourcing agreement, the terms should be thoroughly discussed and negotiated to avoid any misunderstanding at a later stage. It is advisable to consult a lawyer before finalizing any outsourcing agreement.

Before signing an outsourcing agreement, the following factors must be properly addressed:

- Duties and obligations of Outsourcer
- Duties and obligations of service provider
- Security and confidentiality
- Legal compliance
- Fees and payment terms
- Proprietary rights

- Auditing rights
- Applicable law to outsourcing agreement
- Term of the Agreement
- Events of Defaults and Addressing
- Dispute Resolution Mechanism
- Time limits
- Location of Arbitration
- Number of Arbitrators
- Interim measures/Provisional Remedies
- Privacy Agreement
- Non-compete Agreement
- Confidentiality Agreement
- Rules Applicable
- Appeal & Enforcement
- Be aware of local peculiarities
- Survival terms after the termination of the outsourcing agreement.

Every outsourcing agreement should be modified as applicable under different circumstances. [Source: www.madaan.com)

SERVICE AGREEMENTS

Contents of a Service Contract

Service contracts are drafted in the same way as other agreements. The terms of employment should be definitely fixed and clearly expressed and nothing should be left to presumptions. They are required to be both affirmative (describing the acts and duties to be performed) as well as negative (putting restrictions on the acts of the employee during and/or after the term of employment). It is therefore necessary to make provision for (1) the time or period of employment; (2) the remuneration and other perquisites, if any, including pay, allowances, commission, rent-free house, conveyance, etc.; (3) duties of employment; (4) powers of the employee; (5) leave and the terms on which it will be granted; (6) modes and grounds of determining the employment during the term; and (7) restrictive covenants, if any.

As the employer and the employee may not be conversant with law, the terms of a service contract should be as explicit as possible and should be easily intelligible to a lay man, Unlike other agreements and legal documents which need not contain matters presumed or implied by law, it is better in such an agreement to specify even such matters and all other matters so as to make it a complete code, embodying the rights and duties of each party.

In respect of Government service, normally no formal contract is executed and only an appointment order is issued and the terms of service are thereafter governed by statutory rules and Government order. The same is the position of statutory corporations as employers.

Period of Service: This may be definite or indefinite. If no period is fixed or an indefinite period is stated, e.g., "so long as the parties respectively please", the contract is terminable by a reasonable notice on either side. What is a reasonable notice varies in different cases, according to the characters of the employment and the general custom, from 15 days to six months. When no term is fixed, it is always proper to provide for determination by notice. In such a case, and also in case option of determination is reserved during the term, the period of notice should be settled and expressed in the agreement.

Remuneration: Remuneration may be fixed monthly salary, or fees or commission, or salary as well as fees or commission. Sometimes in business firms, employees are allowed a share in the profits in addition to a fixed salary. All these should be clearly provided.

Leave: Conditions and grounds on which, and the period for which leave may be granted as well as allowance payable during leave should be stated. In the case of Government servants engaged on contract, the leave rules applicable to permanent Government Servants in general may be applied but as there are different rules for different classes of Government Servants those applicable should be clearly referred to, or if they are not lengthy, they may be embodied in the agreement in the form of a covenant.

Determination of Employment: The grounds for determination of employment should be clearly expressed in the agreement. The grounds on which the employment may be determined during the term are generally misconduct, negligence, or want of medical fitness. Subject to what has been stated earlier, it may also be determined at pleasure by notice, without giving any ground. In the case of misconduct or neglect, no notice is required, but, provision may be made for framing charges and taking defence as in the case of Government Servants. Since an employee is entitled to damages for wrongful dismissal if the termination of the service is not properly made, provision in this respect should be carefully worded.

Restrictive Covenants: It is usual to include restrictive covenants in the agreement such as that the employer will not undertake any other work or service or that he will not divulge the employer's secrets or make improper use of his trade secrets or information about the employer's affairs.

While drafting restrictive covenants, it is necessary to see that they are not illegal. Agreements in restraint of trade are void under Section 27 of the Indian Contract Act, and should not be inserted in an agreement.

Effect of Labour Laws: Many Acts have been passed by the Central or State legislatures relating to the conditions of employment of teachers and other employees of aided schools and colleges and of universities, and of workers in factories and commercial establishments, for e.g. the Factories Act, the Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act, the Payment of Wages Act, the Workmen's Compensation Act etc. In drawing up a service contract for such an employee, the provisions of the relevant Acts must be kept in view. Any term of contract contrary to the statutory provisions will be null and void, as it is not open to an employee to contract out of the safeguards provided by the legislature for his protection.

ELECTRONIC CONTRACTS (E-CONTRACTS)

Due to the immoderate advancement of technology E-Commerce has become a part of human daily life. . E-Commerce is the selling and purchasing of goods and services using technology. E-Contracts are basically the contracts analyzed with E-Commerce and other transactions taking place in the digital environment.

E-contract (contract that is not paper based but rather in electronic form)is any kind of contract formed in the course of e-commerce by the interaction of two or more individuals using electronic means, such as e-mail, the interaction of an individual with an electronic agent, such as a computer program, or the interaction of at least two electronic agents that are programmed to recognize the existence of a contract. Traditional contract principles and remedies also apply to e-contracts. This is also known as electronic contract.

Electronic contracts are born out of the need for speed, convenience and efficiency. Imagine a contract that an Indian exporter and an American importer wish to enter into. One option would be that one party first draws up two copies of the contract, signs them and couriers them to the other, who in turn signs both copies and couriers one copy back. The other option is that the two parties meet somewhere and sign the contract. In the electronic age, the whole transaction can be completed in seconds, with both parties simply affixing their digital signatures to an electronic copy of the contract. There is no need for delayed couriers and additional travelling costs in such a scenario.

There was initially an apprehension amongst the legislatures to recognize this modern technology, but now many countries have enacted laws to recognize electronic contracts. In India Information Technology Act, 2000 governs the law relating to e-contracts substantially. The Act provides for the Attribution, Acknowledgement, Dispatch of Electronic Records, Secure Electronic Records and Secure Digital Signatures which are related to the E-Contracts [Sections: 4, 11, 12, 13, 15].

The contracts formed through electronic media are treated as the general contracts and their formation and acceptance are governed as per the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

The Indian Contract Act, 1872 governs the manner in which contracts are made and executed in India. It governs the way in which the provisions in a contract are implemented and codifies the effect of a breach of contractual provisions. Within the framework of the Act, parties are free to contract on any terms they choose. Indian Contract Act consists of limiting factors subject to which contract may be entered into, executed and breach enforced.

The conventional law relating to contracts is not sufficient to address all the issues that arise in electronic contracts. The Information Technology Act (IT Act) solves some of the peculiar issues that arise in the formation and authentication of electronic contracts

The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 deals with the presumption as to e-records. Providing the electronic records as evidence in the disputed matter [Sections: 85A, 85B, 88A, 85C]

ESSENTIALS OF E-CONTRACT

As per the Indian Contract Act, the essentials of a contract are:

- (i) An offer or proposal by one party and acceptance of that offer by another party resulting in an agreement consensus-ad- idem.

- (ii) An intention to create legal relations or an intent to have legal consequences.
- (iii) The agreement is supported by lawful consideration.
- (iv) The parties to contract are legally capable of contracting.
- (v) Genuine consent between the parties.
- (vi) The object and consideration of the contract is legal and is not opposed to public policy.
- (vii) The terms of the contract are certain.
- (viii) The agreement is capable of being performed i.e., it is not impossible of being performed.

Therefore, to form a valid contract there must be (1) an agreement, (2) based on the genuine consent of the parties, (3) supported by consideration, (4) made for a lawful object, and (iv) between the competent parties.

The bargaining process must satisfy two requirements to result in a valid contract: first, mutual assent as an expression of the parties' intent to contract and second, sufficiently definite terms. In arriving at such mutual assent and definite terms the parties employ the mechanics of offer and acceptance.

TYPES OF E-CONTRACTS

Generally the basic forms of e-contracts are:

- The Click-wrap or Web-wrap Agreements.
- The Shrink-wrap Agreements.
- The Electronic Data Interchange or (EDI).

Click-wrap or Web-wrap Agreements

These are the agreements which we generally come across while surfing internet such as "I AGREE" to the terms or "I DISAGREE" to the above conditions. A click-wrap agreement is mostly found as part of the installation process of software packages. It is also called a "click through" agreement or click-wrap license.

Click-wrap agreements can be of the following types:

1. Type and Click where the user must type "I accept" or other specified words in an on-screen box and then click a "Submit" or similar button. This displays acceptance of the terms of the contract. A user cannot proceed to download or view the target information without following these steps.
2. Icon Clicking where the user must click on an "OK" or "I agree" button on a dialog box or pop-up window. A user indicates rejection by clicking "Cancel" or closing the window. Upon rejection, the user can no longer use or purchase the product or service. A click wrap contract is a "take-it-or-leave-it" type of contract that lacks bargaining power.

The Shrink-wrap Agreements

Shrink wrap contracts are license agreements or other terms and conditions which can only be read and accepted by the consumer after opening the product like CD ROM of software. The terms and conditions are printed on the cover of CD ROM. Sometimes additional terms are imposed when in such licenses appear on the screen when the CD is downloaded to the computer. The user has right to return if the new terms and conditions are not to his liking.

Electronic Data Interchange or (EDI)

These contracts used in trade transactions which enables the transfer of data from one computer to another in such a way that each transaction in the trading cycle (for example, commencing from the receipt of an order from an overseas buyer, through the preparation and lodgment of export and other official documents, leading eventually to the shipment of the goods) can be processed with virtually no paperwork. Here unlike the other two there is exchange of information and completion of contracts between two computers and not an individual and a computer.

On-Line Shopping Agreement

Suppose Kerry Ltd. wants to offer online shopping services to its customers. Kerry would tie-up with manufacturers of books, toys, clothes etc and offer their products for sale through its website. Some of the products could be stocked in Noodle's warehouses while others could be stocked with the manufacturers.

Additionally visitors can post reviews, comments, photos etc on the Kerry website. Kerry would need to enter into a contract with all its potential customers "before" they place an order for a product using Kerry services. This contract must serve the following purposes:

1. Outline the scope of services provided by Kerry Ltd.
2. Restrict Kerry's liabilities in case there is any defect in the products sold through the Kerry website.
3. Outline the duties and obligations of the customer.
4. Grant suitable licence to the customer to use the Kerry website.
5. Restrict Noodle's liabilities in case of loss or damage suffered by the customer as a direct or indirect result of the Kerry website.

IMPORTANT POINTS IN REGARD TO E-CONTRACTS

These are as under :

1. Customer's relationship with Kerry

The contract must specify that by using the Kerry website, the customer becomes subject to the terms of a legal agreement between the customer and Noodle. Customers must be informed that they must be of legal age to enter into the contract.

2. Acceptance of the terms of the contract

The contract must clearly lay down that a customer cannot use the Kerry website unless he agrees with the terms of the contract. The customer can usually indicate his acceptance by clicking on an "I Accept" link or checking an "I Accept" checkbox.

3. Copyright

The contract should clearly state that all content included on the Kerry website, such as text, graphics, logos, button icons, images, audio clips, digital downloads, data compilations, and software, is the property of Kerry Ltd.

4. Customers duties and obligations

The contract should clearly lay down the duties and obligations of the customer. Amongst others, the customer must:

1. Not overload Noodle's systems.
2. Not download or modify the Kerry website.
3. Collect and use any product listings, descriptions, or prices.
4. Download or copy account information by data gathering and extraction tools.
5. Not frame or utilize framing techniques to enclose any trademark, logo, or other proprietary information (including images, text, page layout, or form).

6. Not use any meta tags or any other “hidden text” utilizing Noodle’s name or trademarks.

5. License from Noodle

The contract should specify that Kerry is giving the customer a limited, revocable, and nonexclusive right to create a hyperlink to the home page of Kerry so long as the link does not portray Noodle, or its products or services in a false, misleading, derogatory, or otherwise offensive matter. The contract must also specify that Kerry is giving the customer a personal, worldwide, royalty-free, non-assignable and non-exclusive licence to use the software provided as part of the Kerry website. The contract must clarify that this licence is for the sole purpose of enabling the customer to use the Kerry website. The contract must forbid the customer from the following acts in respect of the said software:

1. copying,
2. modifying,
3. creating a derivative work of,
4. reverse engineering,
5. decompiling or otherwise attempting to extract the source code. The contract must mention that the customer cannot assign, sub-licence or transfer his rights to use the Kerry software.

6. Reviews and comments

The contract should clearly mention that the reviews, comments, photos etc posted by customers should not be illegal, obscene, threatening, defamatory, invasive of privacy, infringing of intellectual property rights, or otherwise injurious to third parties.

It should also be mentioned that such content should not consist of or contain software viruses, political campaigning, commercial solicitation, chain letters, mass mailings, or any form of “spam.” It should also be stated that a customer who posts content grants to Kerry Ltd non-exclusive, royalty-free, perpetual, irrevocable, and fully sub licensable right to use, reproduce, modify, adapt, publish, translate, create derivative works from, distribute, and display such content throughout the world in any media.

The contract must also state that the customer posting the content indemnifies Kerry against all legal action and claims resulting from the said content

7. Risk of loss

Kerry has a shipping contract with various courier companies to deliver the products to the customers. The contract should clearly state that once the products are handed over to the courier company, Kerry’s liability ends.

8. Pricing

The contract should clarify how the prices listed on the Kerry’s website are computed. The various options could be:

1. The listed price represents the full retail price listed on the product itself,
2. The listed price is suggested by the manufacturer or supplier,
3. The listed price is estimated in accordance with standard industry practice, or
4. The listed price is estimated in accordance with the estimated retail value for a comparably featured item offered elsewhere.

9. Prohibitions

The contract must specifically prohibit the following:

1. Using “deep-link”, “page-scrape”, “robot”, “spider” etc to access, acquire, copy or monitor any portion of the service.
2. Reproducing the navigational structure or presentation of the service.
3. Circumventing the navigational structure or presentation of the service.
4. Attempting to gain unauthorized access to any portion or feature of the service.
5. Harvesting or collecting user names, email addresses or other member identification information.
6. Probing, scanning or testing the vulnerability of the service.
7. Tracing information relating to other users.
8. Agreeing not to use any device, software or routine to interfere or attempt to interfere with the proper working of the service or any transaction being conducted on the service, or with any other person’s use of the service.
9. Using the service for any unlawful purpose.

10. Applicable Law

The contract should mention the city / state and country whose law will prevail in this contract. The courts having exclusive jurisdiction over the disputes should also be mentioned. Conditions relating to arbitration of disputes may also be mentioned.

11. Limitation of liability

The contract must clearly mention that Kerry Ltd (and its subsidiaries, affiliates, licensors etc) will not be liable to the customer for:

1. Access delays or interruptions to the Kerry web site.
2. The loss of registration or processing of an order.
3. The unauthorized use of the customer’s account with Noodle.
4. Deletion of, failure to store, or failure to process or act upon email messages sent by customers to Kerry staff.
5. Errors taking place with regard to the processing of the customer’s orders.
6. Any direct, indirect, incidental, special consequential or exemplary damages incurred by the customer pursuant of his use of the Kerry website.
7. Any loss of profit, any loss of goodwill or business reputation, any loss of data suffered, cost of procurement of substitute goods or services, or other intangible loss incurred by the customer pursuant of his use of the Kerry’s services.
8. Any loss or damage incurred by the customer as a result of relationship or transactions with advertisers using the Noodle website.
9. Changes in or cessation of the Kerry’s services.
10. Customer’s failure to keep his account information, passwords etc secure and confidential.

12. Exclusion of warranties

The contract must clearly mention that the customer expressly understands and agrees that his use of the services is at his sole risk and that the services are provided “as is” and “as available”. The contract must expressly disclaim all warranties and conditions of any kind (express and implied).

It must also be mentioned clearly that Kerry (its subsidiaries, affiliates, licensors etc) do not represent or warrant to that:

1. the Kerry's services will meet the customer's requirements,
2. the Kerry's services will be uninterrupted, timely, secure or free from error,
3. the information provided by or through the Kerry's services will be accurate or reliable, and
4. that defects in the operation or functionality of the Noodle services will be corrected.

13. Ending the relationship between Kerry and the customer

The contract must lay down that the customer can terminate the contract by closing his accounts with Noodle. Kerry must retain the right to terminate the contract under the following circumstances:

1. The customer breaches any provision of the contract.
2. The customer acts in a manner that clearly shows his intention to breach a provision of the contract.
3. Kerry is required by law to terminate the contract.
4. The provision of the services to the customer is no longer commercially viable.

LEAVE AND LICENSE AGREEMENT

Leave and License Agreements are preferred by the parties to get out of the rigours of landlord-tenant relationship. Many types of agreements are made for the occupation of property like lease deeds, lease or tenancy agreements, rental agreements etc. Despite these agreements, most owners prefer to give their premises on leave and license basis rather than tenancy or lease basis. The process of eviction of tenants is generally difficult. The law is tilted in favour of the tenant for various purposes. Generally it is being witnessed that a person having a vacant apartment will never rent it out fearing what if the tenant decides not to vacate and makes the apartment his own. That is why tenancy has been put on the backburner and Leave and License is now the most popular option.

The word “leave” has many meanings. In Leave and License Agreements, it is used to indicate “permission”. The occupancy is in essence a permission granted by the landlord or owner to use and occupy the property concerned.

Mention should be made that the practice of entering into “Leave and License Agreements” was adopted in Mumbai. In Mumbai, the provisions contained under the then Bombay Rents Hotel and Lodging House Rates Control Act, 1947, popularly known as the “Bombay Rent Act” were considerably in favour of the tenants. Further, Tenancy or Lease Agreement had to be stamped and registered. Even if the Agreements were duly stamped and registered, the eviction of tenants was still a very tough and time consuming procedure.

With the hope of getting over the stamp duty and registration requirements, and also with the view of not creating any tenancy that will be covered by the said Act, a practice of entering into “Leave and License Agreements” was adopted. However, by virtue of an amendment to the said Act in 1973, those who were in occupancy of premises under Leave and License Agreements as on the specified date, became statutory tenants under the provisions of the said Act. Provisions were also introduced to protect the landlords, in as much as a person who was in occupation of premises under Leave and License Agreement on termination of License. Such person was liable to be summarily evicted.

Lease, License and Rental Agreements

The license is not a lease. The lease and the license both are different. The word “License” under Section 52 of the Indian Easement Act, 1882 is a grant by one person to another or to a definite number of persons, a right to do, or continue to do, in or upon the immovable property of the grantor, something which would, in the absence of such right, be unlawful, and such right does not amount to an easement or an interest in the property, the right is called a license.

A lease of immovable property as per Section 105 of the Transfer of Property Act is a transfer of a right to enjoy such property. It may be for a specified period, express or implied. The price or payment of money is usually referred to as the “rent”.

In a Leave and License Agreement, the juridical possession of the premises is deemed to remain with the licensor and the licensee is said to be in constructive possession of the said premises. Thus, a leave and License does not create any interest in the premises in favour of the licensee but gives the licensee the mere right to use and occupy the premises for a temporary period.

A Rental Agreement between the landlord and tenant sets down the terms which will be followed while the tenant lives in the rental unit. Month-to-Month Agreement is commonly called a “Rental Agreement”. This agreement is for an indefinite period of time, with rent usually payable on a monthly basis. The agreement itself can be in writing or oral, but if any type of fee or refundable deposit is being paid, the agreement must be in writing.

Lease and License: Distinction

The cardinal distinction between a lease and a license is that in a lease there is a transfer of interest in the premises, whereas in the case of a license there is no transfer of interest, although the licensee acquires a right to occupy the premises. When premises are given out on lease or tenancy basis the legal possession of the premises in these cases is also deemed to be transferred to the lessee and tenant respectively.

Whether an agreement to occupy the premises between the landlord and tenant is allowed to occupy was an agreement to lease or an agreement of leave and license has been a subject of many Supreme Court & High Court rulings.

In a number of judgements various High Courts as well as the Apex Court have distinguished the lease and the license. In Khalil Ahmed Bashir Ahmed v. Tufelhussein Samasbhai Sarangpurwala, 1988 SCC 155, the Supreme Court has held:

“In order to determine whether a document created a license or a lease the real test is to ascertain the intention of the parties i.e. whether they intended to create a license or a lease. If the document creates an interest in the property entitling the transferee to enjoyment, then it is a lease; but if it only permits another to make use of the property without exclusive possession, then it is a license.” [See also Rajbir Kaur & Anr. v. M/s S Chokesiri & Co., 1988 (2) SCJ 316]

From the judgments of various Courts, it appears that the main factors to decide whether the agreement is a lease or a license are (i) the intention of the parties and (ii) whether the agreement creates an interest in the property.

A licensee is a licensee whether the license is for occupation of the premises or for casual visits or for any other purpose. The status of a licensee cannot change or vary according to the purpose of the license. The principle “once a licensee always a licensee” would apply to all kinds of licenses.

If the premises are given under the Leave and License Agreement, the same can be terminated as per the terms of the agreement or otherwise and the licensor can demand possession, back from the licensee. The termination is easy in the Leave and License Agreement and therefore Leave and License Agreements are preferred by the parties.

Factors to be Considered While giving out Premises on Leave & License Basis

In deciding whether to give out premises on leave & license basis some of the factors to be considered are as follows:

- Possession: In a leave and license agreement, the owner is deemed to be in legal or judicial possession of the premises and the licensee is in constructive possession of the premises.
- Income Tax: In a leave and license agreement the owner has to pay the applicable rate of tax.
- Municipal Tax: In a leave and license agreement the Municipal Authorities may charge taxes as applicable in the area and if there is a security deposit amount sometimes the Municipal Authorities may calculate a notional interest on the securities deposit amount and charge tax thereon.

A Specimen of Leave and License Agreement

THIS AGREEMENT is made at..... this..... day of, 2013, between Mr. A hereinafter referred to as 'the Licensor' of the One Part and Mr. B of hereinafter referred to as the 'Licensee' of the Other Part, as follows;

AND WHEREAS the Licensee has approached the licensor with a request to allow the Licensee to temporarily occupy and use a portion of the..... floor of the said building, admeasuring about square feet for carrying on his business, on leave and license basis until the Licensee gets other more suitable accommodation.

AND WHEREAS the Licensor has agreed to grant leave and license to the Licensee to occupy and use the said ground floor portion of the said building and which portion is shown on the plan hereto annexed by red boundary line on the following terms and conditions agreed to between the parties hereto;

NOW IT IS AGREED BY AND BETWEEN THE PARTIES HERETO AS FOLLOWS..

1. The Licensor hereby grants leave and license to the Licensee to occupy and use the said portion of the ground floor/..... floor of the said building of the Licensor (hereinafter referred to as the Licensed Premises) for a period of eleven months from The Licensee agrees to vacate the said premises even earlier if the Licensee secures any other accommodation in the locality where the said premises are situated.
2. The Licensee shall pay to the Licensor a sum of Rs..... per month (calculated at the rate of Rs..... per square foot) as License fee or compensation to be paid in advance for each month on or before the..... day of each month.
3. All the Municipal taxes and other taxes and levies in respect of the licensed premises will be paid by the Licensor alone.
4. The electric charges and water charges for electric and water consumption in the said licensed premises will be paid by the Licensee to the authorities concerned and the Licensor will not be responsible for the same. For the sake of convenience a separate electric and water meter if possible will be provided in the said premises.
5. The Licensee will be allowed to use the open space near the entrance to the Licensed premises and shown on the said plan by green wash for parking cars during working hours of the Licensee and not for any other time and no car or other vehicle will be parked on any other part of the said plot.
6. The licensed premises will be used only for carrying on business and for no other purpose.
7. The licensed premises have normal electricity fittings and fixtures. If the Licensee desires to have any additional fittings and fixtures, the Licensee may do so at his cost and in compliance with the rules. The Licensee shall remove such fittings and fixtures on the termination of the license failing which they shall be deemed to be the property of the Licensor.

8. The licensed premises are given to the Licensee on personal basis and the Licensee will not be entitled to transfer the benefit of this agreement to anybody else or will not be entitled to allow anybody else to occupy the premises or any part thereof. Nothing in this agreement shall be deemed to grant a lease and the licensee agrees and undertakes that no such contention shall be taken up by the Licensee at any time.
9. The Licensee shall not be deemed to be in the exclusive occupation of the licensed premises and the Licensor will have the right to enter upon the premises at any time during working hours to inspect the premises.
10. The Licensee shall maintain the licensed premises in good condition and will not cause any damage thereto. If any damage is caused to the premises or any part thereof by the Licensee or his employees, servants or agents the same will be made good by the Licensee at the cost of the Licensee either by rectifying the damage or by paying cash compensation as may be determined by the Licensor's Architect.
11. The Licensee shall not carry out any work of structural repairs or additions or alterations to the said premises. Only such alterations or additions as are not of structural type or of permanent nature may be allowed to be made by the Licensee inside the premises with the previous permission of the Licensor.
12. The Licensee shall not cause any nuisance or annoyance to the people-in the neighbourhood or store any hazardous goods on the premises.
13. If the Licensee commits a breach of any term of this agreement then notwithstanding anything herein contained the Licensor will be entitled to terminate this agreement by fifteen days' prior notice to the Licensee.
14. On the expiration of the said term or period of the License or earlier termination thereof, the Licensee shall hand over vacant and peaceful possession of the Licensed premises to the Licensor in the same condition in which the premises now exist subject to normal wear and tear. The Licensee's occupation of the premises after such termination will be deemed to be that of a trespasser.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- There is no particular form prescribed for the drawing up of trade contracts, except that they must fulfil all the essential requirements of a valid contract under the law applicable to the contract.
- Building contracts, being legal documents, have to be drawn in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Contract Act. Such an agreement as stated above under “dealership contracts”, must have all the essential ingredients of a contract.
- A commercial agency contract should inter alia include provisions regarding the date of commencement and of termination of the agency, the goods or products to be covered by the agency, the contractual territory and the nature of the agency.
- When two parties join hands for exchange of technical know-how, technical designs and drawings; training of technical personnel of one of the parties in the manufacturing and/or research and development divisions of the other party; continuous provision of technical, administrative and/or managerial services, they are said to be collaborating in a desired venture.
- In order to ensure quick processing of the proposed collaboration arrangements and on a uniform basis, the Central Government has issued guidelines for prospective collaborators so that they submit their proposals in accordance with those guidelines.
- The important ingredient of the arbitration agreement is the consent in writing to submit dispute to arbitration. Consent in writing implies the application of mind to the reference of dispute to arbitration in accordance with Arbitration and Conciliation law and the binding nature of the award made thereunder.
- The parties to the dispute will enter into an agreement to refer the dispute to arbitration and will agree on the terms of reference, that is, to state clearly and precisely the matter the arbitrator is required to decide. An arbitrator is not bound by the strict rules of evidence of courts of law. However, he does follow the practice of presentation and conduct of a case in a court of law. After hearing the evidence of both the parties, the arbitrator makes his award. The award must be within the terms of reference.
- A contract of guarantee is a contract to perform the promise, or discharge the liability, of a third person in case of his default. The terms of a guarantee must be strictly construed. The surety receives no benefit and no consideration. He is bound, therefore, merely according to the proper meaning and effect of the written engagement that he has entered into.
- In construing a guarantee, the principle is that a guarantee will only extend to a liability precisely answering the description contained in the guarantee.
- Hypothecation is a form of transfer of property in goods. Hypothecation agreement is a document by which legal property in goods passes to the person who lends money on them, but the possession does not pass. This form of transfer is not regulated in India by any statute.
- Outsourcing is the contracting out of a company’s non-core, non-revenue producing activities to specialists. Two common types of outsourcing are Information Technology (IT) outsourcing and Business Process Outsourcing (BPO).
- A good outsourcing agreement is one which provides a comprehensive road map of the duties and obligations of both the parties - outsourcer and service provider and minimizes complications when a dispute arises.
- Service contracts are drafted in the same way as other agree-ments. The terms of employment should be definitely fixed and clearly expressed and nothing should be left to presumptions.
- They are required to be both affirmative (describing the acts and duties to be performed) as well as negative (putting restrictions on the acts of the employee during and/or after the term of em-ployment).

- As the employer and the employee may not be conversant with law, the terms of a service contract should be as explicit as possible and should be easily intelligible to a lay man,
- In respect of Government service, normally no formal contract is executed and only an appointment order is issued and the terms of service are thereafter governed by statutory rules and Government order. The same is the position of statutory corporations as employers.
- Leave and License Agreements are preferred by the parties to get out of the rigours of landlord-tenant relationship.
- In a Leave and License Agreement, the juridical possession of the premises is deemed to remain with the licensor and the licensee is said to be in constructive possession of the said premises. Thus, a leave and license does not create any interest in the premises in favour of the licensee but gives the licensee the mere right to use and occupy the premises for a temporary period.

SELF-TEST QUESTIONS

(These are meant for recapitulation only. Answers to these questions are not to be submitted for evaluation).

1. Discuss in detail important points to be kept in mind while drafting commercial and international trade contracts.
2. Draft a specimen agreement of sale of a house property.
3. Define building contract. Draft a specimen building contract including all the terms and conditions which are essential for such a contract.
4. What precautions should be taken while drafting a commercial agency contract? Draft a specimen agency contract.
5. Explain in brief as to what do you understand by 'collaboration agreement'. Discuss various guidelines which are required to be followed while entering into a foreign collaboration agreement.
6. Explain in brief counter guarantee, fidelity guarantee and performance guarantee. Draft specimen deed of guarantee by a bank on behalf of a company for the performance of a contract in favour of State Government.
7. Draft a specific arbitration agreement.
8. Write short notes on:
 - (a) Surety's liability
 - (b) Fidelity guarantee
 - (c) Del credere Agency
9. Explain in brief the essentials of a hypothecation agreement. Draft a specimen agreement on behalf of a firm M/s XYZ to hypothecate goods to secure fixed loan from ABC Bank.
10. What is meant by outsourcing? Draft a specimen of outsourcing agreement.
11. Briefly explain the contents of a service contract.
12. Draft a specimen agreement of employment of manager of a business concern.
13. What are the factors to be considered while giving out premises on leave & license basis? Draft a specimen of leave and license agreement.

Drafting and Conveyancing Relating to Various Deeds and Agreements-I

LESSON OUTLINE

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

It is a common practice for business men to make use of certain documents as means of making payment. Some of these documents are called Negotiable instruments. The law relating to Negotiable Instruments is contained in the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881. It deals with promissory notes, bills of exchange and cheques, the three kinds of negotiable instruments in most common use.

A power of attorney is one of the documents which plays an important role in conveyancing. Granting a Power of Attorney is a legal process that involves the drafting of a document which assigns to another person the power to act as your legal representative.

Every person with assets needs a will. It ensures that his wishes are honoured after his death and stipulates how his estate should be managed and who should receive his assets. A will needs to be carefully drafted so as to avoid courts having to interpret what the testator actually meant.

A release or relinquishment deed is an instrument whereby a person renounces a claim upon another or against any specified property which he is or may be entitled to enforce.

Hire purchase contract affords facilities to acquire an asset to an intending purchaser who is unable to pay the full price of the asset at one time in lump sum. It is important for the students to carefully bear in mind all the legal aspects to be taken into account while drafting these documents to avoid any adverse situation in the future.

PROMISSORY NOTE

A detailed discussion of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 is not within the scope of this lesson. Students are, therefore, advised to study the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 in detail on their own so as to recapitulate their understanding of the provisions of the Act. However, introductory observations on promissory note are made below.

Promissory note is one of the negotiable instruments recognized under the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881. A “promissory note” is defined by Section 4 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 as “an instrument in writing (not being a bank note or a currency note) containing an unconditional undertaking, signed by the maker to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a certain person, or to the bearer of the instrument”.

Illustrations:

A signs instruments in the following terms:

- (a) “I promise to pay B or order Rs.500.”
- (b) I acknowledge myself to be indebted to B in Rs. 1,000 to be paid on demand for values received.”
- (c) “Mr. B, I.O.U. (I owe you) Rs. 500”
- (d) “I have taken from you Rs. 100, whenever you ask for it have to pay”.

The instruments marked (a) and (b) are promissory notes. The instruments respectively marked (c) and (d) are not promissory notes.

Parties to a Promissory Note

A promissory note has the following parties:

- (a) The maker: the person who makes or executes the note promising to pay the amount stated therein.
- (b) The payee: one to whom the note is payable.
- (c) The holder: is either the payee or some other person to whom he may have endorsed the note.
- (d) The endorser.
- (e) The endorsee.

Essentials of a Promissory Note

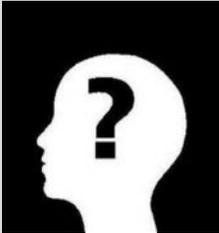

To be a promissory note, an instrument must possess the following essentials:

- (a) It must be in writing. An oral promise to pay will not do.
- (b) It must contain an express promise or clear undertaking to pay. A promise to pay cannot be inferred. A mere acknowledgement of debt is not sufficient. If A writes to B “I owe you (I.O.U.) Rs. 500”, there is no promise to pay and the instrument is not a promissory note.
- (c) The promise or undertaking to pay must be unconditional. A promise to pay “when able”, or “as soon as possible”, or “after your marriage to D”, is conditional. But a promise to pay after a specific time or on the happening of an event which must happen, is not conditional, e.g. “I promise to pay Rs. 1,000 ten days after the death of B”, is unconditional.
- (d) The maker must sign the promissory note in token of an undertaking to pay to the payee or his order.

- (e) The maker must be a certain person, i.e., the note must show clearly who is the person engaging himself to pay.
- (f) The payee must be certain. The promissory note must contain a promise to pay to some person or persons ascertained by name or designation or to their order.
- (g) The sum payable must be certain and the amount must not be capable of contingent additions or subtractions. If A promises to pay Rs. 100 and all other sums which shall become due to him, the instrument is not a promissory note.
- (h) Payment must be in legal money of the country. Thus, a promise to pay Rs. 500 and deliver 10 quintals of rice is not a promissory note.
- (i) It must be properly stamped in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Stamp Act. Each stamp must be duly cancelled by maker's signature or initials.
- (j) It must contain the name of place, number and the date on which it is made. However, their omission will not render the instrument invalid, e.g. if it is undated, it is deemed to be dated on the date of delivery.

[Note: A promissory note cannot be made payable or issued to bearer, no matter whether it is payable on demand or after a certain time (Section 31 of the RBI Act).

DEEDS OF POWER OF ATTORNEYIntroduction

Wharton in his Law Lexicon (1953), page 784 defines a power of attorney as “a writing given and made by one person authorising another, who, in such case, is called the attorney of the person (or donee of the power), appointing him to do any lawful act in stead of that person, as to receive rents, debts, to make appearance and application in court, before an officer of registration and the like. It may be either general or special, i.e., to do all acts or to do some particular act”.

Stroud in his Judicial Dictionary (1953), page 2257 defines a power of attorney as an authority whereby one is “set in turn, stead or place” of another to act for him.

A definition of power of attorney is also contained in Section 2(21) of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 which reads as follows:

“Power of Attorney” includes any instrument (not chargeable with fee under the law relating to Court fees for the time being in force) empowering a specified person to act for and in the name of the person executing it”.

In terms of Section 1A of the Powers-of-Attorney Act, 1882 (7 of 1982) as amended by the Powers-of-Attorney (Amendment) Act, 1982 (55 of 1982), a power of attorney includes an instrument empowering a specified person to act for and in the name of the person executing it. It is always kept by the attorney.

A power of attorney executed for the purpose of a specific act is called a “special power of attorney”. It is also called a “particular power of attorney”. A specific act is meant to imply either a specific act or acts related to each other as to form one judicial transaction, such as all the acts necessary to perfect a mortgage or a sale of a particular property. A power of attorney executed for the purpose of generally representing another person, or for performing more than one act, is called a ‘general power of attorney’.

A power of attorney can be executed in favour of more than one person. If a power of attorney is executed in favour of more than one person it would be desirable to provide whether such donees will act jointly or severally. In the absence of such an express provision authorising them to act severally, they will be entitled to act only jointly.

The law relating to the powers of attorney is governed by “Powers-of-Attorney Act, 1982” as amended by the Powers-of-Attorney (Amendment) Act, 1982 (55 of 1982). A copy of the Act is reproduced at Annexure I.

Since the donee of a power of attorney is an agent of the donor, it is essential to know about the law of agency. Several matters concerning agency are dealt with, not in the Powers-of-Attorney Act, but in the Indian Contract Act, 1872 (sections relating to agency). Important amongst these are:

- (a) who may execute a power;
- (b) who may become an attorney;
- (c) when is a power terminated; and
- (d) whether a power coupled with interest is revocable.

The reason, obviously, is that these matters would be governed by the general principles of the law of agency. A power of attorney is an authority in writing to another person to act for and in the name of the person who executed the power. Therefore, speaking generally, the law relating to authority, that is, agency, would be attracted when a power of attorney is executed.

Note: The students are, therefore, advised to refer Chapter X of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 with a view to acquainting themselves with the rights and liabilities of an agent. For the authority of a partner in a firm, the provisions of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932, may be looked into.

Who can Execute Power of Attorney

A power of attorney can be executed by any person, who can enter into a contract i.e. a person of sound mind who has attained majority. A power of attorney can be executed only in favour of a major. While functioning as an attorney the donee is acting as an agent of the donor i.e. the executor of the power of attorney, who is the principal. Thus, in such cases there is relationship of agent and principal and such relationship can be entered into by majors and not by minors.

Section 2 of the Powers-of-Attorney Act, 1882 in its operative part provides that the donee of a power of attorney may execute or do any assurance, instrument or thing in his own name and signature, and an instrument or thing so executed or done shall be as effectual in law as if it had been executed or done “by the donee of the power in the name and with the signature and seal of the donor thereof”. Simply stated, the section provides that the signature of the agent will be deemed to be the signature of the principal.

Section 5 of the Powers-of-Attorney Act, 1882, relating to married women’s power to execute a power of attorney provides that a married woman of full age shall, by virtue of this Act, have power, as if she were unmarried, by a non testamentary instrument, to appoint an attorney on her behalf, for the purpose of executing any non testamentary instrument or doing any other act which she might herself execute or do; and the provisions of this Act relating to instruments creating powers-of-attorney, shall apply thereto.

REVIEW QUESTION

A power of attorney can be executed in favour of _____

Correct Answer: More than one person

Form of Deed of Power of Attorney

Powers of attorney are executed in the form of Deed Poll, usually in the first person. It is unilateral document. It begins either as - “KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS THAT I, ETC.” or “BY THIS POWER OF ATTORNEY, I, ETC.”. Generally, the operative words making the appointment are introduced directly without any recitals. If recitals become necessary, they should be added after the words “KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS” thus “THAT WHEREAS etc.”, and after recitals the operative part is introduced thus “Now I, the said AB, etc., hereby appoint, etc., or the deed may be drafted with the heading “THIS POWER OF ATTORNEY is made on the, etc., then adding the recitals, the operative part is introduced thus "NOW THIS DEED WITNESSES THAT I APPOINT, ETC."

The powers conferred on the attorney should be specifically stated after the appointment, preferably, in separate paragraphs. Sometimes after giving specific powers a general clause empowering the attorney to do all such lawful acts as the attorney should think reasonable is added, but this is not ordinarily necessary, as according to authorities such a clause does not extend or widen the authority. For specimen forms of the special powers of attorney, see Annexure II. Specimen forms of some of powers of attorney relevant for companies are given at Annexure IV.

Authentication of Power of Attorney

A power of attorney need not be attested. However, it would be advisable to execute the power of attorney before and have it authenticated by a Notary Public or any Court Judge/Magistrate, Indian Consul or Vice-Consul or representatives of the Central Government. If a power of attorney is so authenticated courts shall presume the execution of the power of attorney (Section 85 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872). Under Section 85 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, the Court shall presume that every document purporting to be a power of attorney, and to have been executed before and authenticated by a Notary Public or any Court, Judge, Magistrate, Indian Consul or Vice-Consul or representative of the Central Government, was so executed and authenticated. Under Section 57(6) and (7) of that Act, the seals of Notary Public are taken judicial notice of.

Under Section 32(c) of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, a power of attorney can be granted to an agent to present a document for registration; but, under Section 33(1) of that Act, only certain powers of attorney are recognised. But if a power of attorney gives authority to present documents for registration under Section 32 of the Registration Act, 1908 it must be executed before and authenticated by the Registrar or Sub-Registrar within whose District or Sub-District the principal resides or where the Registration Act is not in force, before any Magistrate or if it is executed outside India, before a Notary Public, or any Court, Judge, Magistrate, Indian Consul or Vice-Consul or representative of the Central Government (Section 33 of the Registration Act, 1908). But a power of attorney empowering an agent to execute a deed conveying the property in an immovable property and get the deed registered thereby perfecting the transaction of conveyance, need not be executed before the Officer appointed to authenticate and register documents in as much as when the agent executes the document in the name of the principal, he is the executant thereof and as such can himself present the document for registration.

Duration of Power of Attorney

Unless expressly or impliedly limited for a particular period, a general power of attorney will continue to be in force until expressly revoked or determined by the death of either party. In the case of a company, the power of attorney executed by the directors ceases to be operative as soon as an order for winding up is made as the directors cease to function [Fowler v. Broode P.N. Light & Co., (1893) 1 Ch. 724]. A special power of attorney to do an act is determined when the act is done. In case it is desired that the power should continue for a particular period or until a certain event happens, an express provision to that effect should be made in the deed itself.

Revocable and Irrevocable Power of Attorney

A power of attorney executed in favour of a person can always, at the discretion of the donor thereof, be revoked. As we have seen earlier, the donee of a power of attorney is an agent of the donor. If a donee himself has an interest in the matters covered by the power of attorney, which forms the subject matter thereof, the power of attorney in the absence of express contract cannot be terminated to the prejudice of such interest. In other words, agency coupled with interest cannot be terminated without the consent of the other party (Section 202 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872). Therefore, a power of attorney executed, in which the donee himself has an interest, is irrevocable. Such irrevocable powers of attorney are executed in favour of the financial institutions by a company who offer financial assistance to the latter. Through such irrevocable powers of attorney, powers are given to the financial institutions for executing a security document for securing the financial assistance in the event of a company failing to execute such a document by a certain date. A draft of the irrevocable power of attorney is given at Annexure III. Such a power of attorney will need registration.

Power of Attorney by a Company

A company being an artificial person can act through agents i.e. its officers. Powers are delegated by companies to the agents through Board resolutions or through powers of attorney. Delegation of powers through a power of attorney is resorted to in view of the fact that it will be very easy to prove the execution thereof. In the case of a resolution it would be necessary to produce the Minutes Books etc. to prove the passing of the resolution of delegation of the powers. Further, under Section 48 of the Companies Act, 1956, a company may, by writing under its Common Seal, empower any person, either generally or in respect of any specified matters, as its attorney, to execute deeds on its behalf in any place either in India or outside India, and a deed signed by an attorney on behalf of a company and under his seal where sealing is required shall bind the company and have the same effect as if it were under its Common Seal. In any event a power of attorney, in case of a company, be executed in conformity with the articles of association. See also Regulation 84 of Table A of Schedule I to the Companies Act, 1956 in this regard.

As we have seen that companies act through agents, powers to the agents of a company i.e. officers of the company, are delegated through powers of attorney. Generally, a detailed power of attorney is executed in favour of the managing director or chief executive of the company delegating to him all the powers which under the Companies Act, 1956, directors of a company can delegate/sub-delegate. In regard to routine matters like execution of excise documents, and execution of various deeds and documents in connection therewith, the powers relating to court cases are delegated to various officers of the company. Form of such powers of attorney are given at Annexure IV. A specimen of a special power of attorney filed with the Registrar at the time of incorporation of a company is given at Annexure V. A delegate unless expressly authorised by the principal cannot sub-delegate the powers. If the intention is to empower the delegate to sub-delegate his powers then it should be specifically mentioned in the power of attorney.

Stamp Duty on Power of Attorney

Power of attorney is liable to stamp duty under the provisions of the Indian Stamp Act, 1889. Duty varies from State to State. The exact amount of the duty will depend upon the State in which the power of attorney is executed. Further, if a power of attorney executed in one State has to be sent to another State where the stamp duty payable is higher, for use, then the power of attorney should be stamped with the difference in the duty before it is so used. Otherwise, the power of attorney could be impounded.

If a power of attorney is executed in a foreign country, it should be stamped within three months of its being received in India. If it is not so stamped within the period of three months of its being brought to India, then the same will be deemed to be unstamped and cannot be acted upon.

The proxy lodged with the Company under Section 176 of the Companies Act, 1956, is also a power of attorney. In that case a shareholder who is not able to attend the meeting authorises another person on his behalf to attend and vote at the meeting. It is a particular power of attorney. The stamp duty of 30 paise payable on the proxy is uniform throughout India.

In connection with the registration/subscription of shares or debentures or transfer of shares/debentures invariably companies receive powers of attorney executed by certain non-resident shareholders or resident shareholders or by companies. These powers of attorney generally provide for making of investment and varying the investments so made and empowering the attorney to sign the transfer deeds for transfer of shares from or to the name of the principal.

Construction of a Power of Attorney

As a rule, a power of attorney, should be construed strictly and general words must be interpreted in the light of the special powers, although they include incidental powers necessary for carrying out the authority. The general words used in the subsequent clauses of a power of attorney must be read with the special or specific powers given in the earlier clauses and cannot be construed so as to enlarge the restricted powers mentioned in the powers of attorney.

The following two well known rules of construction should be borne in mind while interpreting a power of attorney (Mulla: Contract Act, Page 539):

1. That regard must be had to the recitals, if any, as showing the scope and object of the power, as such recitals will control any general terms in the operative part of the instrument. Thus, when it was recited that the principal was going abroad, and the operative part gave authority in general terms, it was held that the authority continued only during the principal's absence.
2. Where special powers are afforded by general words, the general words are to be construed as limited to what is necessary for the exercise of the special power and as enlarging those powers only when necessary for the carrying out the purposes for which the authority is given.

Any power which has not been expressly delegated should not be implied. For instance, if a delegate has been authorised to invest in shares in a company, it should not be implied that the power to sell has been delegated unless the authority for varying the investment has also been delegated to the attorney.

Similarly, the power of investment in shares does not automatically confer the power of transfer the shares purchased in exercise of the power. The power delegated for investment in shares or transfer of shares should not be deemed to include the power of investment in debentures of a company. Great care has, therefore, to be taken in interpreting a power of attorney.

Precisely, some of the principles governing the construction of a power of attorney are:

- (1) the operative part of the deed is controlled by the recitals;
- (2) where an authority is given to do particular acts, followed by general words, the general words are restricted to what is necessary for the performance of the particular acts;
- (3) the general words do not confer general powers, but are limited to the purpose for which the authority is given and are construed as enlarging the special powers only when necessary for that purpose;
- (4) a power of attorney is construed so as to include all incidental powers necessary for its effective execution [A.I.R. 1972 Gauhati 122 (125)].

Where an act purporting to be done under a power of attorney is challenged as being in excess of the authority conferred by the power, it is necessary to show that on a fair construction of the whole instrument the authority in question is to be found within four corners of the instrument, either in express terms or by necessary implication (Bank of Bengal v. Ramanathan Chetty, 43 I.A. 48, 55).

Registration of Power of Attorney

Registration of a power of attorney is not compulsory. Section 4 of the Powers-of-Attorney Act, 1882 provides that it may be deposited in the High Court or District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the instrument is with an affidavit verifying its execution, and a copy may be presented at the office and stamped as the certified copy and it will then be sufficient evidence of the contents of the deed.

In certain cases, registration of power of attorney may become compulsory under Section 17 of the Indian Registration Act, 1908. Thus, a power which authorises the donee to recover rents of immovable property belonging to the donor for the donee's own benefit is an assignment and requires registration under clause (b) of Sub-section (1) of Section 17 of the Registration Act. Similarly, a power of attorney which creates a charge on the immovable property referred to therein in favour of the donee of the power requires registration [Indra Bibi v. Jain Sirdar, (1908) I.L.R. 35 Cal. 845, 848].

In other cases, a mere general power of attorney, even though it deals with immovable property, need not be registered (Kochuvareed v. Mariappa, A.I.R. 1954 T.C. 10, 17) since it does not come under any of the documents specified in the Indian Registration Act as requiring registration.

Letters of Authority

Letters of authority is nothing but a power of attorney. They are executed on plain paper and not on stamp paper. Letters of authority are usually issued for collecting some documents or papers, dividend interest etc. on behalf of another. By and large, the law relating to the powers of attorney will apply to letters of authority.

ANNEXURES

ANNEXURE I

THE POWERS-OF-ATTORNEY ACT, 1882

(ACT 7 OF 1882)

[24th February, 1982]

An Act to amend the law relating to Powers-of-Attorney.

ANNEXURE III

IRREVOCABLE POWER-OF-ATTORNEY

(To be stamped as a General Power of Attorney)

THIS POWER OF ATTORNEY granted at this..... day of..... 2013 by ‘A Limited’ a company within the meaning of the Companies Act, 1956, and having its registered office at..... (hereinafter referred to as ‘the Borrower’ which expression shall, unless excluded by or repugnant to the context include its successors and assigns) in favour of..... a corporation constituted by..... and having its Head office at..... (hereinafter referred to as “the LENDER”, which expression shall, unless excluded by or repugnant to the context, include its successors and assigns).

1. WHEREAS by an Agreement dated the..... day of..... 2007 (hereinafter referred to as “the said Agreement”) made between the ‘Borrower’ and the ‘Lender’. ‘Lender’ has agreed to grant the ‘Borrower’ financial assistance by way of a term of Rs..... (Rupees.....) (hereinafter referred to as “the financial assistance”) for the purposes and on the terms and conditions set out therein.

2. ‘Lender’ has stipulated, inter alia, that if so required by ‘Lender’ at any time, the ‘Borrower’ shall secure Lender’s loan of Rs..... (Rupees.....) together with interest, commitment charge, additional interest by way of liquidated damages, costs, charges, expenses and other moneys payable by the Borrower to Lender under the said Agreement by a registered legal mortgage in English form of all the properties of the Borrower immovable and movable, present and future and other assets, including uncalled capital and the charge in favour of the Lender to rank pari passu with the charge or charges created and/or to be created by the Borrower in favour of the Lender, AND the charge of Lender on movables to be subject to the charge or charges created and/or to be created by the Borrower in favour of its bankers on stocks of raw-materials, semi-finished and finished goods and consumable stores and book debts and such other movables as may be permitted by Lender in writing to secure borrowings for working capital requirements.

3. Lender has also stipulated that the Borrower shall, for the aforesaid purpose, execute an undertaking in favour of the Lender and shall simultaneously with the execution of such undertaking, grant an irrevocable power of attorney to the Lender, being these presents, authorising the Lender to execute in favour of itself a first legal mortgage in English form for and on behalf of the Borrower in the event of the Borrower failing, when required by the Lender, to duly execute and register a first legal mortgage in English form of all its immovable and movable properties as aforesaid.

4. The Lender has called upon the Borrower to execute these presents which the Borrower has agreed to do in the manner hereinafter expressed.

NOW THIS DEED WITNESSETH THAT in consideration of the Lender having sanctioned the said financial assistance to the Borrower, the Borrower hereby irrevocably appoints the Lender to be the true and lawful attorney of the Borrower in the name and for and on behalf of the Borrower to do, execute and perform the following acts, deeds and things, namely:

- (i) To make, execute, sign, seal and deliver in favour of the Lender, at the expense of the Borrower, in all respects, a first legal mortgage in English form of all its immovable and movable properties, present and future, including lands, here-ditaments and premises and fixed plants and machinery and uncalled capital agreed to be mortgaged to the Lender, with all such covenants, conditions, provisions, and stipulations, as may, in the absolute discretion of the Lender, be deemed necessary or expedient and in particular granting in favour of the Lender a right to take over the management of the Borrower, a right to appoint a receiver of the undertaking of the Borrower and a right to sell the Borrower's properties without intervention of the Court, for the purposes of securing to the Lender all the moneys payable by the Borrower's under the said Agreement, as aforesaid, the charge of the Lender to rank pari passu with the charge or charges created and/or to be created by the Borrower in favour of the Lenders for the purposes and in the manner mentioned therein. PROVIDED THAT the charge of the Lender on movables shall be subject to the charge or charges created and/or to be created by the Borrower in favour of its bankers on its stocks of raw materials, semi-finished and finished goods and consumable stores and book debts and such other movables as may be permitted by the Lenders in writing to secure borrowings for working capital requirements.
- (ii) To investigate or cause to be investigated, at the expense of the Borrower in all respects, the Borrowers' title to the immovable properties agreed to be mortgaged by the Borrower to the Lender and to take all steps to make out title to the said properties to the satisfaction of the Lender as and when required by the Lender.
- (iii) To apply for and obtain necessary clearance certificates under Section 230A of the Income Tax Act, 1961.
- (iv) To do or cause to be done all such acts, deeds and things as may be necessary or proper for the effectual completion and registration of the said mortgage.
- (v) AND GENERALLY to do or cause to be done every other act, matter or thing which the LENDER may deem necessary or expedient for the purposes of or in relation to these present.
- (vi) The Borrower hereby agrees to deposit in advance with the Lenders sufficient sums to cover the expenses to be incurred on investigation of title, stamp duty and registration charges and other miscellaneous expenses for the purpose of and in connection with the execution and registration of the said mortgage deed in English form.

In the event of failure on the part of the Borrower to deposit sufficient amounts with the Lenders, the Lenders may, but shall not be obliged to, incur the expenditure for the said purposes and the Borrower shall, on receipt of notice of demand from the Lenders, reimburse the same to the Lenders together with interest at the rate stipulated by the Lender from the date of payment by the Lender.

- (vii) The Borrower hereby agrees that all or any of the powers hereby conferred upon the Lender may be exercised by any officer or officers of the Lender nominated by the Lender in that behalf.

(viii) AND the Borrower does hereby declare that all and every receipts, documents, deeds, matters and things which shall by the Lender or by any of its officers appointed by the Lender in that behalf, be made, executed or done for the aforesaid purposes by virtue of these presents shall be as good, valid and effectual to all intents and purposes whatsoever as if the same had been made, executed or done by the Borrower in its own name and person. The Borrower hereby agrees to ratify and confirm all that the Lender or any of its officers appointed by the Lender in that behalf shall do or cause to be done in or concerning the premises by virtue of this power of attorney.

(ix) AND the Borrower does hereby declare that this Power of attorney shall be irrevocable.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the Borrower company has caused its Common Seal to be hereunto affixed the day and year first hereinafter written.

The Common Seal of the Borrower Company was hereunto affixed pursuant to the resolution of its Board of Directors passed on the..... in the presence of Shri..... Director and Shri..... Director who have signed these presents in token thereof.

WILL

‘Will’ means the legal declaration of the intention of a testator with respect to his property, which he desires to be carried into effect after his death [Section 2(h) of Indian Succession Act, 1925].

A Will is, therefore, the legal declaration of a man’s intention which he wills to be performed after his death or an instrument by which a person makes a disposition of his property to take effect after his death.

‘Will’ as per General Clause Act, 1897 shall include a Codicil and every writing making a voluntary posthumous disposition of property – Section 3(64).

‘Codicil’ means an instrument made in relation to Will and explaining, altering or adding to its dispositions and is deemed to form part of the Will – Section 2(d) of Indian Succession Act, 1925.

Essential characteristics of will are:

- (a) The document must be in accordance with the requirements laid down under section 63 of Indian Succession Act, 1925; i.e., executed by a person competent to make Will and attested as required under the Act.
- (b) The declaration should relate to the properties of the testator, which he wishes to bequeath.
- (c) The declaration must be to the effect that it operates after the death of Testator.
- (d) It is revocable during the life time of the testator. As per section 62 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925 a Will is liable to be revoked or altered by the maker of it at any time when he is competent to dispose of his property by will. Any clause in a Will that the testator cannot revoke, it will render the Will void.
- (e) It is of an ambulatory nature which can be modified or altered at any time by the testator.
- (f) After the Indian Succession Act, 1925, Wills (except made by Mohammedans) should be made in writing.

Who can make a Will?

Section 59 of the Indian Succession Act, provides for the persons capable of making wills. Accordingly, every person of sound mind not being a minor may dispose of his property by will. A married woman may dispose by will of any property which she could alienate by her own act during her life. (Expln. 1). Even persons who are deaf or dumb or blind can make Will provided they are able to know what they do by it. (Expln.2). Further, a person who is ordinarily insane, may make his Will during the interval in which he is of sound mind. (Expln.3). However no person can make a Will while he is in a state of mind arising from intoxication or from illness or from any other cause such that he does not know what he is doing (Expln. 4).

The testamentary capacity is recognized only in a sound disposing state of mind. Soundness of mind denotes the mental capacity of the testator as to what he is doing, his capability of understanding his extent of his property, the person who is the object of his bounty and the persons who are thereby excluded. Testamentary disposition is personal, it can not be delegated to any other person. A testator can not confide to another the right to make a will for him.

Types of Wills

Under the Indian Succession Act, Will can be Privileged Will or Unprivileged Will.

Privileged Will

Any soldier being employed in an expedition or engaged in actual warfare, or an airman so employed or engaged, or any mariner being at sea, may, if he has completed the age of eighteen years, dispose of his property by a Wills made in the manner provided in Section 66. Such Wills are called privileged Wills. Privileged Wills may be made orally and may not always be in writing. If written in handwriting of testator, it need not be signed or attested. It is governed by sections 65 & 66 of the Indian Succession Act.

Unprivileged Will

Wills made by the persons other than stated above are Unprivileged Will. Such Wills are required to be in writing, signed by testator and attested by the two witnesses (except those made by Mohammedans). It is governed by section 63 of the Indian Succession Act.

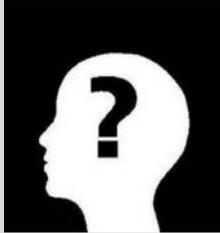

Language, Stamp Duty & Registration

Preparation of a Will does not require any specific legal language. Any form of writing printing or type writing may be employed. However, the language should be as simple as possible and free from technical words and easily intelligible to a layman.

A Will does not require any stamp duty.

Registration of Will is not mandatory. It is optional. (Section 18(c) Registration Act, 1908) However a registered Will has certain advantages. Any testator may, either personally or by duly authorized agent deposit with any Registrar his Will in a sealed cover superscribed with the name of the testator and that of his agent (if any) and with a statement of the nature of the document as per Section 42 of Registration Act, 1908. The testator, or after his death any person claiming as executor or otherwise under a Will, may present it to any Registrar or Sub-Registrar for registration under section 40 of the Registration Act, 1908.

REVIEW QUESTIONS

The testamentary capacity is recognized only in a _____

Correct Answer: Sound disposing state of mind.

Attestation

The Will must be attested by two or more witnesses by complying with the following requirements:

- (i) Each of them must have seen the testator sign or affix his mark to the Will or has seen some other person sign the Will, in the presence and by the direction of the testator, or
- (ii) Each witness has received from the testator a personal acknowledgment of his signature or mark, or of the signature of such other person; and
- (iii) Each witness must sign the Will in the presence of the testator.

However it is not necessary that more than one witness must be present at the same time, and no particular form of attestation is necessary.

Construction of Wills

There are two cardinal principles in the construction of Wills, deeds and other documents. The first is that clear and unambiguous dispositive words are not to be controlled or qualified by any general expression or intention. The second is, to use Lord Denham's language, that technical word or words of known legal import must have their legal effect even though the testator uses inconsistent words, unless those inconsistent words are of such a nature as to make it perfectly clear that the testator did not mean to use the technical terms in their proper sense. [Lalit Mohan Singh Roy v. Chikkun Lai Roy, ILR 24 Cal 834.]

- (i) Cardinal maxim: The cardinal maxim to be observed in construing a Will is to endeavour to ascertain the intentions of the testator. This intention has to be primarily gathered from the document which is to be read as a whole without indulging in any conjecture or speculation as to what the testator would have done, if he had been better informed or better advised. [Gnambal Ammal v. T. Raju Iyer, AIR 1951 SC 103, 105.]
- (ii) Relevant considerations: In construing the language of a Will, the courts are entitled and bound to bear in mind other matters than merely the words used. They must consider the surrounding circumstances, the position of the testator, his family relationship, the probability that he would use words in a particular sense and many other things which are often summed up in somewhat picturesque figure. The court is entitled to put itself into the testator's arm chair. [Venkatanarasimha v. Parthasarthy, 41 IA 51, 70 (PC) ; Gnambal Ammal v. T. Raju Iyer, AIR 1951 SC 103, 106.]

- (iii) Avoidance of intestacy: If two constructions are reasonably possible and one of them avoids intestacy while the other involves it, the court would certainly be justified in preferring that construction which avoids intestacy. [Kasturi v. Ponnammal, AIR 1961 SC 1302]. It is settled law that words in a Will must be construed in their ordinary grammatical sense unless it is shown that a clear intention to use them in a different sense exists and is so proved. [Guruswami Pillai v. Sivakami Ammal, AIR 1962 Mad 236].
- (iv) Effect should be given to every disposition: It is one of the cardinal principles of construction of Will that to the extent that it is legally possible, effect should be given to every disposition contained in the Will unless the law prevents effect being given to it. The intention of the testator should be gathered by giving a harmonious interpretation to the various terms of the Will as a whole. [Rampali v. Chando, AIR 1966 All 584, 586].
- (v) Later part or last words to prevail in case parts irreconcilable or there is repugnancy. – If the several parts of the Will are absolutely irreconcilable, the part that is later has to prevail. [Section 88, Indian Succession Act, 1925; Somasundera Mudaliar v. Ganga Bissen Soni, 28 Mad 386]. In case of repugnancy, the last word in the Will shall prevail. [CIT v. Indian Sugar Mills Association, (1974) 97 ITR 486 SC].

Probate

Probate is a certificate granted under the seal of Competent Court, certifying the Will (a copy whereof is annexure thereto) as the Will of the testator and granting the administration of the estate of the deceased in accordance with that Will to the executor named under the Will.

Letters of Administration

A letter of administration can be obtained from the Court of competent jurisdiction in cases where the testator has failed to appoint an executor under a will or where the executor appointed under a will refuses to act or where he has died before or after proving the Will but before administration of the estate. Letters of Administration are not always necessary in cases of intestacy of Hindus, Mohammedans, Buddhists, Sikhs, Jains, Indian Christians or Parsis. Letter of Administration is always necessary where a person (governed by the Indian Succession Act) dies intestate.

Broad Outlines

A Will is a most solemn document. It is also a sacred one as by it a dead man entrusts to the living the carrying out of his wishes and desire. The preparation of a will is an intelligent work on the part of the draftsman. He should, therefore, study carefully laws relating to Real Properties and the provisions of Part VI sections 57 to 120 of the Indian Succession Act and also Hindu Succession Act, Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act before drafting the Will.

The following broad outlines should be followed while drafting a Will:

- Mention the name and address of the testator;
- Mention of the fact that the testator is making the will voluntarily and in sound disposing state of mind;
- The necessity or urgency, if any, for exclusion of the will;
- Enumeration of testators relatives who would be entitled to his properties on intestacy and to whom the bequests are proposed to be made;
- Details of procedure of making bequests;
- Use of clear and unambiguous language;
- Avoidance of conflict with the rule of law. For eg., rule against perpetuity (in this connection, the provisions of sections 112-118 of the Indian Succession Act must be borne in mind)

- Appointment of executor
- Schedule of properties bequeathed;
- Attestation of will by atleast two witnesses;
- Provisions relating to bequest and trusts created by the will should be complete
- Interest conveyed by will should be clearly defined. A will or bequest not expressive of any definite intention is void for uncertainty.

Relinquishment Deed

A release or relinquishment deed is an instrument whereby a person renounces a claim upon another or against any specified property which he is or may be entitled to enforce. It may be deed poll or as a deed to which both the releaser as well as the person in whose favour the release is made are made parties.

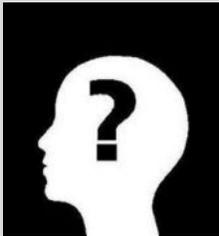

A release is sometimes called relinquishment. When considered from the point of view of the person in whose favour the transaction operates, it is “release” as it releases him or his property from an obligation or liability. When considered from the point of view of the releaser, it may be said to be a “relinquishment” as the releaser relinquishes a certain right which he has, or may be entitled to enforce.

A release must be in writing signed by all the releasers. It can be drafted as a deed poll or as a deed. If it is drafted as a deed then all releasers and all persons having an interest in the claim or property should be made parties. If the release is of a claim under an instrument then it would require attestation, if the instrument required attestation. If the release is required to be registered it should be attested by at least two witnesses. In other cases it may be attested by one witness.

If the subject matter of the release is an immovable property the amount of value of which exceeds Rs.100, it is compulsorily registrable. The release deed should contain the recitals regarding the origin of the claim, acknowledgement of the releaser about the claim and words and expressions sufficiently clear to convey the intention of the releaser to discharge the claim.

Under Article 55, Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 a simple release deed is chargeable to stamp duty. The duty is the same as bond (Article 15) for such amount or value as set forth in the release. A release or discharge of an instrument mentioned in Section 23A(1) of the Stamp Act is chargeable to the same stamp duty as the instrument. Such an instrument is chargeable to duty as an agreement or memorandum of agreement under article 5(c) of the Stamp Act.

HIRE-PURCHASE DEEDS

Introduction

A contract of hire is a contract of bailment and is governed by the provisions of Chapter IX of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. Students are advised to study on their own relevant provisions of Chapter IX of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 and relevant provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 since both these Acts are relevant for and applicable to the transaction of hire-purchase. Students are also advised to refer Study II on to recapitulate their understanding of some of the basic aspects of contract.

The system of acquiring ownership through an agreement of hire purchase helps in promoting sales especially consumer durables. It affords facilities to acquire an asset to an intending purchaser who is unable to pay the full price of the asset at one time in lumpsum. After making the payment of an initial amount in the form of part payment of the cost of the article, the purchaser pays the balance consideration money in monthly/quarterly instalments as may be settled. This initial payment generally covers 20 to 25 per cent of the value of the article being purchased on hire-purchase basis. On payment of all the instalments, the property in the article automatically passes on to the hirer. He has an option to return the article during the period of hire. The essential terms of hire purchase agreement are (1) a clause by which the owners agree to let and hirer agrees to hire the goods; and (2) a clause giving to the hirer a right to determine the hiring or return the goods; and (3) a clause giving the hirer a right or option to purchase the goods for a nominal sum at the end of the hiring.

Deeds of Hire-Purchase Agreements

The document for causing the transaction of hire is drafted in the form of an agreement. The statutory rights and obligations provided in the Indian Contract Act, 1872 need not be provided in the agreement. All other conditions agreed upon between the seller and hirer should be mentioned in the agreement. In law the transaction of hire purchase is treated as an act of bailment and the provisions of the Contract Act are available to protect the rights and obligations of the hirer and the seller. But it should be drafted in conformity with the provisions of Indian Contract Act.

Two things that distinguish the hire-purchase agreement from an ordinary contract of sale are (i) payment of instalments and (ii) option to purchase the goods hired. Such agreements should be drafted like hire contracts with the usual conditions, but with a clause or clauses providing for the said option to purchase. The additional clause should be carefully drafted so as to provide for that option or for the property in the goods passing to the hirer on the payment of all the instalments and on the hirer duly observing the conditions of hire contract. Two points should be carefully borne in mind in drafting this clause, viz.,

1. It should not amount to an agreement to buy but should only give the hirer an option to purchase, for under the agreement to buy the hirer having got possession of the goods would be able to give good title to any one who takes the goods on sale or pledge from him without notice of the hire-purchase contract [vide Section 30(2) Indian Sale of Goods Act, 1930] and the intention of the owner will thereby be defeated. But if the agreement does not amount to an agreement to buy and gives the hirer only an option to buy the hirer cannot give a valid title to any one, even if the latter takes the goods without notice.
2. There should be an express stipulation that the property in the goods shall not pass to the hirer until all the instalments have been paid. In the absence of this clause, the power to seize the goods in default of payment of instalments might be held to make the agreement a contract of sale. The owner has in him vested not only his contractual right under the agreement but also a reversionary interest in the goods which form the subject of agreement. Similarly, the agreement confers two distinct sets of rights on the hirer, viz., the benefit of the hiring-which constitutes the bailment part of the contract-and the option to purchase which it is now established constitutes a separate and proprietary right. Each of the two interests of both the owner and the hirer, is capable of separate assignment. But the legal position of hirer shall be of bailee towards the goods as well as to the seller.

Minimum Payment Clause

In order to provide for depreciation of the article taken under the hire purchase agreement, it is usual to insert a "minimum payment" clause which provides that in the event of the determination of the agreement by the hirer or the owner the hirer shall be liable to pay 50 per cent of the total price after deduction of the instalments already paid by the hirer.

Types of Hire-Purchase Agreements.

The Hire-purchase agreements, ignoring variations of detail, broadly takes one or other of two forms.

1. When the owner is unwilling to look to the purchaser of goods to recover the balance of the price, and the financier who pays the balance undertakes the recovery. In this form, goods are purchased by the financier the dealer, and the financier obtains a hire-purchase agreement from the customer under which the latter becomes the owner of the goods on payment of all the instalments of the stipulated hire and exercising his option to purchase the goods on payment of a nominal price.

2. In the other form of transactions, goods are purchased by the customer, who in consideration of executing a hire-purchase agreement and allied documents remains in possession of the goods, subject to liability to pay the amount paid by the financier on his behalf to the owner or dealer, and the financier obtains a hire-purchase agreement which gives him a license to seize the goods in the event of failure by the customer to abide by the conditions of the hire-purchase agreement.

Generally there is a guarantor who also signs the agreement as a surety.

Stamp Duty and Registration

A deed of hire-purchase is liable to stamp duty as an agreement under Article 5 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899.

Registration is not compulsory.

The Hire-Purchase Act, 1972

The Hire-Purchase Act, 1972 passed by the Parliament received the assent of the President on June 1972 and was to have come in force on September 1, 1973, but operation was postponed sine die by a Notification in the Gazette of India on 30th August, 1973.

The provisions of the Hire-Purchase Act, 1972, although the Act has not been enforced as law, still provide ample guidance and the same should be adhered to in providing a legal cover to the transaction of hire-purchase. Some of the important aspects of the Act, relevant to hire-purchase agreements, are given below:

Hire-Purchase agreement to be in writing and signed by parties thereto:

(1) Every hire-purchase agreement shall be:

- (a) in writing, and
- (b) signed by all the parties thereto.

(2) A hire-purchase agreement shall be void if in respect thereof any of the requirements specified in (1) above has not been complied with.

(3) Where the hire-purchase is associated with a contract of guarantee, the hire-purchase agreement shall be signed by the surety also, and if the hire-purchase agreement is not so signed, the hire-purchase agreement shall be voidable at the option of the owner.

Important Contents of hire-purchase agreements:

(1) Every hire-purchase agreement shall state:

- (a) the hire-purchase price of the goods to which the agreement relates;
- (b) the cash price of the goods, that is to say, the price at which the goods may be purchased by hirer for cash;
- (c) the date on which the agreement shall be deemed to have commenced;
- (d) the number of instalments by which the hire-purchase price is to be paid, the amount of each of those instalments, and the date, or the mode of determining the date, upon which it is payable and the person to whom and the place where it is payable; and
- (e) the goods to which the agreement relates, in a manner sufficient to identify them.

(2) Where any part of the hire-purchase price is, or is to be, paid otherwise than in cash or by cheque, the hire-purchase agreement shall contain a description of that part of the hire-purchase price.

(3) Where any of the requirements specified in (1) and (2) above has not been complied with, the hirer may institute a suit for getting the hire-purchase agreement rescinded; and the court may, if it is satisfied that the failure to comply with any such requirement has prejudiced the hirer, rescind the agreement on such terms as it thinks just, or pass such other order as it thinks fit in the circumstances of the case.

Two or more agreements when treated as a single hire-purchase agreement: As provided in the above referred Hire-Purchase Act, 1972, where by virtue of two or more agreements in writing, none of which by itself-constitutes a hire-purchase agreement, there is a bailment of goods and the bailee has an option to purchase the goods and the requirements of Section 3 and Section 4 of the Hire-Purchase Act, 1972, are satisfied in relation to such agreements, the agreement shall be treated for the purposes of that Act as a single hire-purchase agreement made at the time when the last of the agreements was made.

Warranties and conditions to be implied in hire-purchase agreements:

(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any contract, in every hire-purchase agreement there shall be an implied warranty:

- (a) that the hirer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods; and
- (b) that the goods shall be free from any charge or encumbrances in favour of any third party at the time when the property is to pass.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in any contract, in every hire-purchase agreement there shall be:

- (a) an implied condition on the part of the owner that he has a right to sell the goods at the time when the property is to pass;
- (b) an implied condition that the goods shall be of merchantable quality, but no such condition shall be implied by virtue of this clause:
 - (i) as regards defects of which the owner could not reasonably have been aware at the time when the agreement was made, or
 - (ii) as regards defects specified in the agreement (whether referred to in the agreement as defects or by any other description to the like effect), or
 - (iii) where the hirer has examined the goods, or a sample thereof, as regards defects which the examination ought to have revealed, or
 - (iv) if the goods are second-hand goods and the agreement contains a statement to that effect.

(3) Where the hirer, whether expressly or by implication:

- (a) has made known to the owner the particular purpose for which the goods are required, or
- (b) in the course of any antecedent negotiations has made that purpose known to any person by whom those negotiations were conducted, there shall be an implied condition that the goods shall be reasonably fit for such purpose.

(4) Where the goods are let under a hire-purchase agreement by reference to a sample, there shall be:

- (a) an implied condition on the part of the owner that the bulk will correspond with the sample in quality, and
- (b) an implied condition on the part of the owner that the hirer will have reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample.

(5) Where the goods are let under a hire-purchase agreement by description, there shall be an implied condition that the goods will correspond with the description; and if the goods are let under the agreement by reference to a sample as well as by description, it shall not be sufficient that the bulk of the goods correspond with the sample if the goods do not also correspond with the description.

(6) An owner shall not be entitled to rely on any provision in a hire-purchase agreement excluding or modifying the condition set out in Sub-section (3) above, unless he proves that before the agreement was made, the provision was brought to the notice of the hirer and its effect made clear to him.

(7) Nothing shall prejudice the operation of any other enactment or rule of law whereby any condition or warranty is to be implied in any hire-purchase agreement.

Passing of Property: The property in the goods to which a hire-purchase agreement relates shall pass to the hirer only on the completion of the purchase in the manner provided in the agreement, subject of course to the other terms in the hire-purchase agreement and in case of doubt to the provisions of the Hire-Purchase Act, 1972.

The hirer to purchase at any time with rebate:

(1) The hirer may, at any time during the continuance of the hire-purchase agreement and after giving the owner not less than fourteen days' notice in writing of his intention so to do, complete the purchase of the goods by paying or tendering to the owner the hire-purchase price or the balance thereof as reduced by the rebate calculated in the manner provided in the relevant clause of the hire-purchase agreement.

(2) The rebate for the purposes of the above Sub-section (1) could normally be equal in two-thirds of an amount which bears to the hire-purchase charges in the same proportion as the balance of the hire-purchase price not yet due bears to the hire-purchase price.

Explanation: "Hire-purchase charges" mentioned in this clause mean the difference between the hire-purchase price and the cash price as stated in the hire-purchase agreement."

(3) It should be ensured that the provisions contained hereinabove shall have effect notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the hire-purchase agreement, but where the terms of the agreement entitled the hirer to a rebate higher than that allowed by the proviso mentioned hereinabove, the hirer shall be entitled to the rebate provided by the agreement.

Right of hirer to terminate agreement any time:

(1) Normally the hire-purchase agreement provides that the hirer may, at any time before the final payment under the hire-purchase agreement falls due, and after giving the owner not less than fourteen days' notice in writing of his intention so to do and re-delivering or tendering the goods to the owner, terminate the hire-purchase agreement by payment or tender to the owner of the amounts which have accrued due towards the hire-purchase price and have not been paid by him, including the sum, if any, which he is liable to pay under the above referred Sub-clause (2).

(2) Where the hirer terminates the agreement under the above referred Sub-clause (1) and the agreement provides for the payment of a sum named on account of such termination, the liability of the hirer to pay that sum shall normally be made subject to the following conditions, namely:

- (a) where the sum total of the amounts paid and the amounts due in respect of the hire-purchase price immediately before the termination exceeds one-half of the hire-purchase price, the hirer shall not be liable to pay the sum so named;
- (b) where the sum total of the amounts paid and the amounts due in respect of the hire-purchase price immediately before the termination does not exceed one half of the hire-purchase price, the hirer shall be liable to pay the differences between the said sum total and said, one half, or the sum named in the agreement, whichever is less.

(3) Nothing contained in the immediately preceding paragraph shall relieve the hirer from any liability for any hire which might have accrued due before the termination.

(4) Any provision in any agreement, whereby the right conferred on a hirer to terminate the hire-purchase agreement before the completion of the full payment, is excluded or restricted, or whereby any liability in addition to the liability imposed by the hire-purchase agreement itself is imposed on a hirer by reason of the termination of the hire-purchase agreement by him under this early termination clause shall be void.

(5) Nothing herein shall prejudice any right of a hirer to terminate a hire-purchase agreement otherwise than by virtue of such early termination clause.

Rights of hirer to appropriate payment in respect of two or more Agreements: As provided in the Hire-Purchase Act, 1972, a hirer who is liable to make payments in respect of two or more hire-purchase agreements to the same owner shall, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary, be entitled on making any payment in respect of the agreements which is not sufficient to discharge the total amount then due under all the agreements, to appropriate the sum so paid by him in or towards the satisfaction of the sums due under any one of the agreements, or in or towards the satisfaction of the sums due under any two or more of the agreements in such proportions as he thinks fit, and if he fails to make any such appropriation as aforesaid, the sum so said shall, by virtue of this clause, stand appropriated towards the satisfaction of the sums due under the respective hire-purchase agreements in the order in which the agreements were entered into.

Assignment and transmission of hirer's right or interest under hire-purchase agreements:

(1) The Hire-Purchase Act provides that the hirer may assign his right, title and interest under the hire-purchase agreement with the consent of the owner, or, if his consent is unreasonably withheld, without his consent.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in the preceding paragraph, no payment or other consideration shall be required by the owner for his consent to an assignment under the clause referred to in the preceding paragraph and where an owner requires any such payment or other consideration for his consent, that consent shall be deemed to be unreasonably withheld.

(3) Where on a request being made by a hirer in this behalf, the owner fails or refuses to give his consent to an assignment under clause (1) the hirer may apply to the Court for an order declaring that the consent of the owner to the assignment has been unreasonably withheld, and where such an order is made, the consent shall be deemed to be unreasonably withheld.

Explanation: In this agreement wherever the word "Court" occurs, it should mean a Court which would have jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the relief claimed in the application.

(4) As a condition of granting such consent, the owner may stipulate that all defaults under the hire purchase agreement shall be made good and may require the hirer and the assignee to execute and deliver to the owner an assignment agreement, in a form approved by the owner, whereby without affecting the continuing personal liability of the hirer in such respects, the assignee agrees with the owner to be personally liable to pay the instalments of hire remaining unpaid and to perform and observe all other stipulations and conditions of the hire-purchase agreement during the residue of the term thereof and whereby the assignee indemnifies the hirer in respect of such liabilities.

(5) The right, title and interest of a hirer under a hire-purchase agreement shall be capable of passing in by operation of law to the legal representative of the hirer but nothing in this clause shall relieve the legal representative from compliance with the provisions of the hire-purchase agreement.

Explanation: In this Agreement the expression "legal representative" has the same meaning as in Clause (11) of Section 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908) and the provision of that section shall apply notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the hire-purchase agreement.

Obligations of hirer to comply with agreement: Subject to the provisions of the Hire-Purchase Act, a hirer shall be bound:

- (a) to pay the hire in accordance with the agreement, and
- (b) otherwise to comply with the terms of the agreement.

Obligation of hirer in respect of care to be taken of goods:

(1) A hirer in the absence of a contract to the contrary:

- (a) shall be bound to take as much care of the goods to which the hire-purchase agreement relates as a man of ordinary prudence would, under similar circumstances, take of his own goods of the same bulk, quality and value;
- (b) shall not be responsible for the loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods, if he has taken the amount of care thereof described in clause (a).

(2) The hirer shall be liable to make compensation to the owner for any damage caused by failure to take care of the goods in accordance with the provisions of Sub-section (1) hereof.

Obligation of hirer in respect of use of goods: If the hirer makes any use of the goods to which the hire-purchase agreement relates which is not according to the conditions of the agreement, the hirer shall be liable to make compensation to the owner for any damage arising to the goods from or during such use.

Obligation of hirer to give information as to whereabouts of goods:

(1) Where by virtue of hire-purchase agreement a hirer is under a duty to keep in his possession or control the goods to which the agreement relates, the hirer shall, on receipt of a request in writing from the owner, inform the owner where the goods are, at the time when the information is given or, if it is sent by post, at the time of posting.

(2) If the hirer fails without reasonable cause to give the said information within fourteen days of the receipt of the notice, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Rights of hirer in case of seizure of goods by owner: Where the owner seizes the goods let under a hire-purchase agreement, the hirer may recover from the owner the amount, if any, by which the hire-purchase price falls short of the aggregate of the following amounts, namely:

- (i) the amounts paid in respect of the hire-purchase price up to the date of seizure;
- (ii) the value of the goods on the date of seizure.

For the purposes mentioned hereinabove the value of any goods on the date of seizure is the best price that can be reasonably obtained for the goods by the owner on that date less the aggregate of the following amounts, namely:

- (i) the reasonable expenses incurred by the owner for seizing the goods;
- (ii) any amount reasonably expended by the owner on the storage, repair or maintenance of the goods;
- (iii) (whether or not the goods have subsequently been sold or otherwise disposed of by the owner) the reasonable expenses of selling or otherwise disposing of the goods; and
- (iv) the amount spent by the owner for payment of arrears of taxes and other dues which are payable in relation to the goods under any law for the time being in force and which the hirer was liable to pay.

(3) If the owner fails to pay the amount due from him under the provisions stated hereinabove, or any portion of such amount, to the hirer within a period of thirty days from the date of notice for the payment of the said amount is served on him by the hirer, the owner shall be liable to pay interest on such amount at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of expiry of the said period of thirty days.

(4) Where the owner has sold the goods seized by him, the onus of proving that the price obtained by him for the goods was the best price that could be reasonably obtained by him on the date of seizure shall lie upon him.

Rights of owner to terminate hire-purchase agreement for default in payment of hire or unauthorised act or breach of express conditions:

(1) Where a hirer makes more than one default in the payment of hire as provided in the hire-purchase agreement then, subject to the provisions of Section 21 of the Hire-Purchase Act, 1972 and after giving the hirer notice in writing of not less than:

- (i) one week, in a case where the hire is payable at weekly or lesser intervals; and
- (ii) two weeks, in any other case;

the owner shall be entitled to terminate the agreement by giving the hirer notice of termination in writing:

Provided that if the hirer pays or tenders to the owner the hire in arrears together with such interest thereon as may be payable under the terms of the agreement before the expiry of the said period of one week or, as the case may be, two weeks, the owner shall not be entitled to terminate the agreement.

(2) Where a hirer:

- (a) does any act with regard to the goods to which the agreement relates which is inconsistent with any of the terms of the agreement; or
- (b) breaks an express condition which provides that, on the breach thereof, the owner may terminate the agreement, the owner shall, subject to the provisions of Section 22 of the Hire-Purchase Act, 1972 be entitled to terminate the agreement by giving the hirer notice of termination in writing.

Rights of owner on termination: Where a hire-purchase agreement is terminated then the owner shall be entitled:

- (a) to retain the hire which has already been paid and recover the arrears of hire due:

Provided that when such goods are seized by the owner, the retention of hire and recovery of the arrears of hire due shall be subject to the provisions of Section 17 of the Hire-Purchase Act;
- (b) to forfeit the initial deposit subject to the conditions specified in Clause (a) and (b) of Sub-section (2) of Section 10 of the Hire-Purchase Act, and provided in the agreement;
- (c) subject to the provisions of Section 17 and Section 20 of the Hire-Purchase Act and subject to any contract to the contrary, to enter the premises of the hirer and seize the goods;
- (d) subject to the provisions of Section 21 and Section 22 of the Hire-Purchase Act, to recover possession of the goods by application under Section 20 or by suit;
- (e) without prejudice to the provisions of Sub-section (2) of Section 14 and of Section 15 of the Hire-Purchase Act to recover damages for non-delivery of the goods, from the date on which termination is effective, to the date on which the goods are delivered to or seized by the owner.

Model Forms of Hire-Purchase Agreements

Four model forms of the higher-purchase agreements are given below which could be adopted with suitable modifications suiting to the circumstances of each case.

If the said hired goods is injured or destroyed by fire or lost by theft all moneys received in respect of such insurance shall be paid forthwith to the owner and the hirer shall pay to the owner all sums of money received in respect of such insurances who shall apply such money in making good the loss by replacement of such damaged part or parts or the entire goods of similar description and value whereupon such substituted part or parts or goods shall become subject to this agreement in the same manner as the original goods;
- (h) in case of default by hirer in payment of any insurance premium as mentioned in sub-clause (g) or the charges mentioned in sub-clause (e) above, the owner may pay the same or any part thereof and any sum so paid by them shall be reimbursed by the hirer together with interest thereon at the rate of 15% p.a. from the date of payment by the owner;
- (i) the hirer shall indemnify the owner against claims by third parties arising by accident caused by user of the asset until the determination of this agreement;
- (j) the hirer shall not use or permit or suffer the asset to be used in contravention of any statute and regulations for the time being in force or otherwise in any way contrary to law excepting as permitted under this agreement.

(Other conditions settled as may be or prescribed by the owner and necessary according to the nature of the hired goods be incorporated here). The clauses should invariably cover inter alia the following matters:

- (i) Hirer agrees to make good to the owner all damages to the asset (fair wear and tear excepted) and pay the owner the full value of the asset in event of a total loss, whether the damage or loss be caused accidentally or otherwise and by any reason whatsoever and to keep the asset at the sole risk of the hirer, until the hirer purchases the asset or returns it to the owner.
- (ii) Hirer agrees to pay expenses for repair deemed necessary by the owner, replace any damaged parts and not make any alteration or addition without previous written approval of the owner.
- (iii) Hirer has examined or caused to be examined the asset and the receipt by him of the same shall be conclusive evidence that the asset has been accepted duly in perfect order and working condition, etc.)

4. Change in address: The hirer shall forthwith intimate the owners any change of address of the hirer and of the address of the premises where the asset is kept and shall further more forthwith notify the owner in writing of any loss or damage to the said asset.

5. Default clause: If the hirer shall make default in the punctual payment in full, of the said monthly hire or in the observance or performance of any of the provisions of this agreement, on his part to be observed and performed the hiring shall immediately determine (specify here other conditions stipulated by the owner).

6. Owner to make possession: On the determination of the hiring, the owner may without notice or demand retake possession of the said goods and for that purpose may by himself or by his agent or servants enter into or upon any premises occupied by the hirer and search the same if necessary for the hired goods.

7. Option to terminate hiring: The hirer may terminate this agreement at any time by returning the said goods at the owner's place of business.

8. Rights of damages not affected: If the hiring is terminated by the hirer under clause 8 such termination shall not prejudice the owner's right to recover the hire upon the date of such termination nor his right to recover damages for any prior breach of this agreement by the hirer, and the hirer shall not be allowed credit or set off for on account of any payments previously made by him.

9. Compensation for depreciation: At the termination of this agreement either at the instance of the hirer or the owner, the hirer shall pay to the owner by way of compensation for depreciation of the said article such sum as with the amount previously paid for hire shall make up a sum equal to not less than one half of total amount payable under the agreement.

10. Any time or other indulgence granted by the owner shall not prejudice or affect his strict rights under this agreement.

3. That if the hirer shall fail to pay any of the said stipulated instalments on the respective dates on which the same should be paid as hereinbefore mentioned then the hirer shall pay interest on the amount in arrears until payment thereof at the rate of..... per cent, per annum.
4. That the hirer shall, on the execution of this agreement, execute and deliver to the company promissory notes or bills of exchange for the respective amounts of the said instalments payable hereunder and such notes or bills shall respectively be made payable on the dates on which such instalments are respectively payable under this agreement and shall bear interest at the said rate of..... per cent, per annum after the due dates. The said bills shall be deemed to be collateral security for the payment of the said instalments and shall not suspend or affect any other remedy or remedies of the company hereunder.
5. That the hirer shall not, during the continuance of this agreement, in any way sell, assign, sublet or otherwise part with the possession of the machinery or any part or parts thereof or remove the same from one building to another or attempt so to do or part with possession of their interest in the premises where the machinery is kept, without first informing the company of such intended removal and receiving its consent in writing to do so. The machinery shall at all times be at the risk of the hirer who shall bear any loss arising from destruction, loss thereof or damage thereto howsoever caused and who shall take all reasonable care thereof so long as the agreement for hiring remains in force and shall permit the company or its agents at all reasonable times to inspect the same; and if at any such inspection any part or parts of the machinery shall be found broken, damaged or destroyed, the hirer shall forthwith at his own expenses, and to the satisfaction of the company, replace and repair the part so broken, damaged or destroyed. The hirer shall not any time during the said period purchase any parts as may be required to be used with or in connection with the machinery except from the company, who shall from time to time supply the same at their ordinary prices current in (name of place) at the respective dates when such parts are required.
6. That the hirer shall punctually pay all rents, rates and taxes payable in respect of the premises wherein the machinery or any part thereof is kept and shall, upon demand, produce to the company or its agents the receipts for the said rents, rates and taxes and in the event of the same being in arrears, the company is hereby empowered to pay the same together with any expenses necessary for the purpose and the hirer shall on demand repay the company any sums so paid.
7. That the hirer shall at all times during the continuance of the hiring keep in a conspicuous position on the machinery such plate or plates as the company may approve of for denoting that the machinery is the property of the company and the hirer shall not remove or obliterate any such plates or allow the same to be removed or obliterated.
8. That the company/hirer shall insure the machinery against fire in a recognised fire insurance office in the sum of Rs..... and shall if required produce to the..... for his or its inspection the policy of insurance and the receipts of the premiums paid (and the hirer shall on demand repay to the company the premiums paid by it).

9. That if any of the instalments of hire or any part thereof shall be in arrear and unpaid for one calendar month after the same shall have become due, or if the hirer shall at any time fail or neglect to perform or observe any of the stipulations or provisions herein contained and on his part to be performed and observed, or if a warrant of attachment or seizure shall be issued or executed against any of the property of the hirer, or if a receiver shall be appointed of any of the assets of the hirer, then and in any such case the company may even without notice to the hirer terminate the agreement of hiring hereby made and may by its servants or agents, without any previous notice to the hirer, enter upon and into any premises or building where the machinery or any part or parts thereof may be and seize and take possession of and remove the same to such place as the company may think fit notwithstanding any payments previously made by the hirer; and for that purpose leave and licence are hereby given to the company, its agents and servants or any other person employed by it, to break open and enter any building, premises or place where the said machinery may be or be supposed to be and take possession of the same without being liable to any suit, action or other proceeding by the hirer or any other person claiming under him.

10. That if the agreement of hiring shall be determined under the preceding clause hereof, the company shall not be liable to any claim or demand at the instance of any person whosoever in respect of any payments previously made by the hirer, all of which shall in every such case as aforesaid be absolutely forfeited to the company and the company shall further be entitled to recover from the hirer or his estate all such instalments (if any) or hire aforesaid as may then be in arrears with interest thereon as aforesaid and also the instalment payable during the month in which the determination shall take place and in addition thereto such sum (if any) as shall be required with the money so to be paid for hire (exclusive of interest) and the sum previously paid for hire (exclusive of interest) to make up a sum equal to 60 per cent, of the said amount of Rs..... payable as hire under clause 2 hereof and the company shall also be entitled to recover from the hirer or his estate all costs and expenses incurred in or about the entry, seizure and removal as hereinbefore provided under this agreement and the hirer shall not nor any person claiming through him, commence or maintain any action or proceeding against the company, its servants or agents by reason of the company taking possession of the machinery or the temporary possession of the premises where the machinery or any part thereof may then be for such time as may be reasonably required in the removal of the same.

11. That the hirer may determine the agreement of hiring hereby made upon giving to the company one calendar month's previous notice in writing of his intention so to do specifying the date on which the hiring is to terminate and upon delivering up at his own cost the machinery to the company on or before that date in good repair at the godown of the company at (place); provided that the hirer shall at the same time pay to the company all moneys payable hereunder up to that date and in addition such sum (if any) as with the sums then and previously paid for hire (exclusive of interest) shall be required to make up a sum equal to 60 per cent of the total amount of Rs..... payable as hire under clause 9 hereof.

12. That if the hiring hereby constituted shall be determined under clause 2 or clause 11 hereof, the company shall, upon payment by the hirer of all sums payable under clause 10 or 11 hereof, as the case may be, return to the hirer duly cancelled such of the notes and bills mentioned in clause 4 hereof as shall not at the time of such payment have fallen due.

13. That upon payment by the hirer to company of the full sum of Rs..... and interest (if any) payable hereunder on the days and in manner aforesaid, the hiring shall cease and determine and the machinery shall thenceforth be and become the sole and absolute property of the hirer; but until such payment the machinery shall remain the sole and absolute property of the company but let on hire to the hirer.

(4) Agreement for Hire-Purchase of Motor Vehicle

THIS AGREEMENT made this the..... day of..... between carrying on business at..... (hereinafter called the Owners, which expression shall include their successors and assigns where the context so admits) of the First part and..... (hereinafter called the Hirer) of the Second part and..... (hereinafter called the Guarantor) of the Third part.

WHEREAS the Hirer has completed and signed a proposal form (which is to be regarded as the basis of this contract) it is hereby agreed as follows:

1. The Owner will let and the Hirer will take on hire upon the terms and conditions hereinafter expressed the Motor Vehicle with body, equipment and accessories described in the Schedule 'A' hereto (hereinafter called "the Vehicle") for the term of..... months from the (date) at the rent specified in the Schedule 'B' hereunder and payable without demand on the date therein mentioned.

SCHEDULE 'A'

No.	New or used	Make Trade Name	Model Year	Type of Body	H.P. Chasis Number	Engine Number	Registration Number

2. It is agreed between the parties that on account of the expected depreciation in the price of the Vehicle, the hire for the first month is fixed at Rs..... and the hire for future months shall be as mentioned in the Schedule 'B' of this agreement.

3. The Hirer and the Guarantor hereby expressly agree to execute jointly and deliver to the Owners at their option either a Demand Promissory Note or Usance Hundies and by way of collateral security for the due payment of the Hire and they further agree that the Owners shall be entitled to negotiate the Promissory Note or Hundies and also to sue upon the same. They further agree that any such negotiation of suits upon the Promissory Note or Hundies which have already become due or any judgement on the Promissory Note or the Hundies obtained by the Owners Will in no way prejudice the right of the Owners to repossess the Vehicle under this Agreement, provided always that in case such court action results in the Owners realising more than the amount justly due to them including interest, all costs and damages, such surplus shall be paid by them to the Hirer or Guarantor from whom it is realised.

4. The Hirer will, during the tenure of hire:

- (a) Punctually pay the said rent specified in the Schedule 'B' hereto as the same shall become due respectively.
- (b) Register the Vehicle in the name of the Owners, and the Hirer shall not represent or hold himself out as or to or suffer anything whereby he may be required to be the Owner of the said Vehicle.
- (c) Keep the Vehicle in good and serviceable repair, order and condition to the satisfaction of the Owners.

- (d) Authorise the Owners to insure and keep insured the Vehicle against loss or damage by fire, accident third party risks and riot risks for the sum of Rs..... at least, in the name of the Owners with the..... Insurance Company and pay punctually the premium and all money payable in respect of such insurance.
- (e) Authorise the Owners in selecting the Insurance Company for insuring the Vehicle described in Schedule 'A' hereto and the option made by the Owners is final and the Hirer or the Guarantor will under no circumstance raise objection for insuring the Vehicle with any Insurance Company selected by the Owner.
- (f) Pay all taxes, fees, duties, fines, registration charges and other charges payable in respect of the Vehicle and all rents and outgoings payable by the Hirer in respect of the premises where the Vehicle shall for the time being be kept or garaged when the same shall respectively become due.
- (g) Further agrees that the hire payments to be made by the Hirer are not subject to any suspensions or delay by reason of the Vehicle suspended by any Traffic authority or of the any pending insurance claim or due to any other cause or reason whatsoever.
- (h) On demand produce to the Owners the Policy of Insurance in respect of the Vehicle and receipts for the last premium and the last payments due towards the said taxes, license fees, duties, registration charges, rent and outgoings mentioned above.
- (i) Not sell, charge, pledge, assign or part with possession of the Vehicle.

5. In case of default by Hirer in payment of any insurance premium under sub-clause (d) or the charges mentioned in sub-clause (f) of the preceding clause, the Owners may pay the same or any part thereof, and any sum so paid by them shall be paid by the Hirer together with interest thereon at the rate of 15%. (Flat) per annum from the date of payment by the owner.

6. The Hirer agrees to make good to the Owner all damages to the Vehicle (fair wear and tear excepted) and pay the Owner the full value of the Vehicle in the event of a total loss, whether the damage or loss be caused accidentally or otherwise and by any reason whatsoever and to keep the Vehicle at the sole risk of the Hirer until the Hirer purchases the Vehicle or returns the Vehicle to the Owner.

7. The Hirer shall:

- (i) Permit the Owner, their agents and servants to examine the Vehicle at any time during the currency of this Agreement;
- (ii) Pay expenses for repairs deemed necessary by the Owners, replace any damaged parts and not to make any alteration or additions without previously obtaining the written permission of the Owners.

8. It is agreed and declared that any accessories which shall be fixed and additions, renewals and replacements which shall be made to the Vehicle shall for all purposes be deemed to have become part of the Vehicle and be subject to the provisions of this Agreement.

9. The Hirer has examined or caused to be examined the Vehicle, and the receipt by him of the same shall be conclusive evidence that the Vehicle has been accepted duly fitted and equipped according to the contract. No claim or objection thereafter shall be admissible and no warranty on the part of the Owners as to the quality or state of the Vehicle or accessories or spare parts supplied (thereto or as its or their fitness for any purpose or as to tradeworthiness is herein made implied and any implied warranty is hereby expressly excluded).

10. The Hirer shall forthwith intimate the Owners of any change of address of the Hirer and of the address of the premises where the Vehicle is kept and shall furthermore forthwith notify the owners in writing of any loss or damage to the Vehicle.

11. The granting of time or any other indulgence or the acceptance of any other payment after the due date or otherwise than at the Owner's Office at..... shall in no way or manner prejudice, alter or be deemed to vary any right, or claim vested in the Owner under this Agreement.

12. The Hirer shall indemnify the Owner against claims by third parties arising out of accident caused by the Vehicle until the Vehicle is returned to the Owner or purchased by the Hirer.

13. The Hirer shall not use or permit or suffer the Vehicle to be used in contravention of any statute and regulations for the time being in force or otherwise in any way contrary to the law, except described in the relative proposal for hire purchase.

14. The Vehicle being the property of the Owners shall not be subject to any lien, charge or claim in respect of any rent due by the Hirer to the landlord in respect of the premises where the Hirer is residing or where he is carrying on business or in respect of the premises where the Vehicle is garaged or placed at any time.

15. If the Hirer shall:

- (a) make default in payment of any rent specified in the Schedule 'B' hereto or any part thereof within seven days after the same shall become due whether the same shall have been demanded or not; or
- (b) make default in payment of the insurance premium, taxes, license, fees, fines, duties, registration charges, other charges, rents or outgoings; or
- (c) become insolvent or make any arrangement with the creditors; or
- (d) suffer any distress or execution to be levied upon any of his property; or
- (e) fail to observe or perform any stipulation or condition contained in this Agreement and on his part to be observed and performed, then and in any such case and so often as any such event shall happen, the hiring shall immediately be determined and the Owners may without notice or demand retake possession of the Vehicle whether the same shall be in the possession of the Hirer or of any other person and for that purpose the Owners, their Agents or Servants may enter the premises where the Vehicle shall for the time being parked, garaged or kept for the purpose of such retaking possession of the Vehicle. It shall, however, be at the option of the owner to reinstate this contract on such conditions as they deem fit after the determination of the hiring aforesaid.

16. Upon the determination of the hiring under the last preceding clause herein, all arrears of hires specified in the Schedule 'B' hereto and apportioned parts thereof to the date of determination and all costs and expenses incurred by the Owners in the exercise of the powers conferred by this Agreement shall forthwith be paid by the Hirer to the Owners and the Hirer shall not be entitled to any repayment of credit or allowance of any sum previously paid and all such hire and sum shall belong to the Owners absolutely.

17. The Hirer shall pay the Owner all expenses, costs or expenses incurred in ascertaining or endeavouring to ascertain the whereabouts of the Hirer or the Vehicle or in recovering or in endeavouring to recover any hire specified in the Schedule 'B' hereto and all other amounts payable by the Hirer in and by this Agreement.

18. All moneys payable to the Hirer by any insurer for loss or damage to the Vehicle are hereby assigned to the Owner who may notify the insurer of this condition.

19. The Hirer may determine the hire at any time by (a) delivering the Vehicle to the Owner during ordinary business hours at the premises of the Owner and (b) paying to the Owners, as apportioned, part of the current hire due upto the date of such delivery and all other sums, if any, which upto such date, the Hirer may have become liable to pay to the Owner under the provisions of this Agreement.

20. All sums due from the Hirer to the Owners under this Agreement will carry interest at the rate of 15% per annum from the due date until the date of payment by the Hirer.

21. If the Hirer shall duly observe and perform all the conditions and stipulations herein contained and on his part to be observed and performed, shall duly pay to the Owner all hire hereby reserved during the term of hiring together with all other sums, if any, payable by him to the Owners under the provisions of this Agreement, then and at the termination of hiring, the Hirer may purchase the Vehicle from the Owners provided the Hirer pays the Owner the price of Rs..... and also any sums chargeable, due, collected or recovered as and for Sales Tax under the provisions of the Sales Tax Law in force in respect of the transaction of Hire-Purchase Agreement entered into herein, (the liability for which shall always rest and remain on the Hirer whether the same be demanded or collected before or after the Hirer exercises his option to purchase the Vehicle).

22. The Hirer may at any time determine the hiring and become purchaser of the Vehicle by paying to the Owner such a sum as together with the sums previously paid will amount to the total sum payable by way of hire hereunder together with all sums, if any, payable by him to the Owners under the provisions of this Agreement and in addition a sum of Rs..... together with any sums chargeable, payable, due, collected or recovered as and for Sale Tax under the Provisions of the Sales Tax Law in respect of the transaction of Hire-Purchase Agreement entered into herein (the liability for which always rest and remain on the Hirer whether the same be demanded or collected before or after the Hirer exercises his option to purchase the Vehicle).

23. If the Hirer fails to observe and perform the conditions and stipulations herein contained and fails to exercise the option of purchasing the Vehicle in accordance with the termination of the hiring, the Hirer shall pay the Owners a sum of Rs..... every month until the Vehicle is handed over to the Owners by the Hirer.

24. Until the Vehicle shall have become the property of the Hirer under the provisions of this Agreement it shall remain the absolute property of the Owner and the Hirer shall have no right or interest in the same other than Hire under this Agreement.

25. The agreement is personal to the Hirer and the rights of the Hirer shall not be assignable or chargeable by him.

26. It is expressly agreed that any Motor Dealer or anybody else by or through whom this transaction may have been introduced, negotiated or conducted is not an authorised Agent of the Owner and the owner has no liability for any representation or statements not made directly by the Owner to the Hirer.

27. Any letter, notice or other communication despatched to the Hirer or the Guarantor, whether through Post or Telegraph Office or through Owners representative at the address last notified to the Owners by the Hirer or the Guarantor shall be deemed to have been delivered or served on them respectively although returned with the remarks 'refused', 'whereabouts not known' or words to that effect, or for any other reason whatsoever.

28. The Owners agree to permit the Hirer to have the registration of the Vehicle, in his own name, for the purpose of conforming with the provisions of Motor Vehicle Acts (Act IV of 1939)* and the Rules framed thereunder, provided that the Hirer shall transfer the registration in the name of the Owner whenever required to do so by them especially when the Hirer commits a breach of any of the conditions of this Agreement stated supra, and the Owners are obliged to take possession of the Vehicle.

29. This Agreement has been accepted and executed by the Owners at and it has been agreed between the parties here that all the CLAUSES, TERMS AND CONDITIONS of this Agreement shall be observed and performed at..... and the Hirer and the Guarantor specifically agree and undertake that they or their representatives and agents shall institute any arbitration or other legal proceedings in..... FAMILY SETTLEMENT DEEDS

Concept of Family Arrangement

Halsbury's Laws of England, 4th Edn. Vol. 18 at 135, Para 301 mentions:

"A family arrangement is an agreement between members of the same family, intended to be generally and reasonably for the benefit of the family either by compromising doubtful or disputed rights or by preserving the family property or the peace and security of the family by avoiding litigation or by saving its honour.”

It has been pointed out by Halsbury that though the agreement may be implied, it is more usual to embody or to effectuate the agreement by a deed to which the term “family arrangement” is applied.

Further it says “family arrangements are governed by principles which are not applicable to dealings between strangers. When deciding the rights of parties under a family arrangement or a claim to upset such an arrangement, the Court considers what in the broadest view of the matter is most in the interest of the family, and has regard to considerations which, in dealing with transactions between persons not members of the same family, would not be taken into account. Matter which would be fatal to the validity of similar transactions between strangers are not objections to the binding effect of family arrangements. Conversely, an intention to create a legally enforceable contract may be negatived more readily where the parties to an arrangement are members of the same family than where they are not.” [Halsbury’s Laws of England, 4th Edn. Vol. 18 at 137, Para 304]

The concept of family arrangement in England has been accepted by Courts in India, adopting the concept to suit the family set up in our country. The Supreme Court has generally taken a broad view of the matter and leaned heavily in favour of upholding any such arrangement. According to the Supreme Court, a family arrangement by which the property is equitably divided between the various contenders so as to achieve an equal distribution of wealth instead of concentrating the same in the hands of few, is undoubtedly a milestone in the administration of social justice. The object of such arrangement is to protect the family from long drawn litigation or perpetual strife’s which mar the unity and solidarity of the family and create hatred and bad blood between the various members of the family.

Essentials of Family Settlement

The principles which apply to the case of ordinary compromise between strangers, do not equally apply to the case of compromises in the nature of family arrangements. Family arrangements are governed by a special equity peculiar to themselves, and will be enforced if honestly made, although they have not been meant as a compromise, but have proceeded from an error of all parties, originating in mistake or ignorance of fact as to what their rights actually are, or of the points on which their rights actually depend.

In Kale v. Dy. Director of Consolidation, AIR 1976 SC 807 the Supreme Court has laid down the following propositions to put the binding effect and the essentials of a family settlement in a concretised form:

- (1) The family settlement must be a bona fide one so as to resolve family disputes and rival claims by a fair and equitable division or allotment of properties between the various members of the family.
- (2) The said settlement must be voluntary and should not be induced by fraud, coercion or undue influence.
- (3) The family arrangement may be even oral in which case no registration is necessary.
- (4) It is well-settled that registration would be necessary only if the terms of the family arrangement are reduced into writing. Here also, a distinction should be made between a document containing the terms and recitals of a family arrangement made under the document and a mere memorandum prepared after the family arrangement had already been made either for the purpose of the record or for information of the Court for making necessary mutation. In such a case, the memorandum itself does not create or extinguish any rights in immovable properties and, therefore, does not fall within the mischief of Section 17 (2) (sic) (Section 17 (1) (b)) of the Registration Act and is, therefore, not compulsorily registrable.
- (5) The members who may be parties to the family arrangement must have some antecedent title, claim or interest or even a possible claim in the property which is acknowledged by the parties to the settlement. Even if one of the parties of the settlement has no title but, under the arrangement, the other party relinquishes all its claims or titles in favour of such a person and acknowledges him to be the sole owner, then the antecedent title must be assumed and the family arrangement will be upheld and the Courts will find no difficulty in giving assent to the same.

- (6) Even in bona fide disputes, present or possible, which may not involve legal claims are settled by a bona fide family arrangement which is fair and equitable, the family arrangement is final and binding on the parties to the settlement.

The fifth proposition quoted above clearly contemplates that even if a party to the settlement had no title but, under the arrangement, the other party relinquishes all its claims or titles in favour of such a person and acknowledges him to be the sole owner, then the antecedent title must be assumed and the family arrangement will be upheld and the Courts will find no difficulty in giving assent to the same. [CIT v. R. Ponnammal, (1987) 164 ITR 706 (Mad)].

Correct Answer: registration is necessary.

Family Arrangement When Enforceable?

No doubt, a family arrangement, which is for the benefit of the family generally, can be enforced in a court of law. But before the court would do so, it must be shown that there was an occasion for effecting a family arrangement and that it was acted upon. [Lakshmi Perumallu v. Krishnavenamma, AIR 1965 SC 825 : 1965 (1) SCR 261.]

LESSON ROUND UP

- A promissory note is defined by Section 4 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 as “an instrument in writing (not being a bank note or a currency note) containing an unconditional undertaking, signed by the maker to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a certain person, or to the bearer of the instrument”.
- A power of attorney includes an instrument empowering a specified person to act for and in the name of the person executing it. It is always kept by the attorney. It may be either general or special, i.e., to do all acts or to do some particular act”.
- A power of attorney can be executed in favour of more than one person. A power of attorney can be executed only in favour of a major.
- A power of attorney need not be attested. However, it would be advisable to execute the power of attorney before and have it authenticated by a Notary Public or any Court Judge/Magistrate, Indian Consul or Vice-Consul or representatives of the Central Government.
- Unless expressly or impliedly limited for a particular period, a general power of attorney will continue to be in force until expressly revoked or determined by the death of either party.
- Registration of a power of attorney is not compulsory.
- A will is the legal declaration of a man's intention which he wills to be performed after his death or an instrument by which a person makes a disposition of is property to take effect after his death.
- Every person of sound mind not being a minor may dispose of his property by will. A married woman may dispose by will of any property which she could alienate by her own act during her life.
- There are two cardinal principles in the construction of wills, deeds and other documents. The first is that clear and unambiguous dispositive words are not to be controlled or qualified by any general expression or intention. The second is, to use Lord Denham's language, that technical word or words of known legal import must have their legal effect even though the testator uses inconsistent words, unless those inconsistent words are of such a nature as to make it perfectly clear that the testator did not mean to use the technical terms in their proper sense.

- A release or relinquishment deed is an instrument whereby a person renounces a claim upon another or against any specified property which he is or may be entitled to enforce. It may be deed poll or as a deed to which both the releaser as well as the person in whose favour the release is made are made parties.
- A release must be in writing signed by all the releasers. It can be drafted as a deed poll or as a deed.
- A contract of hire is a contract of bailment and is governed by the provisions of Chapter IX of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. Two things that distinguish the hire-purchase agreement from an ordinary contract of sale are (i) payment of instalments and (ii) option to purchase the goods hired. Such agreements should be drafted like hire contracts with the usual conditions, but with a clause or clauses providing for the said option to purchase.
- In order to provide for depreciation of the article taken under the hire purchase agreement, it is usual to insert a "minimum payment" clause which provides that in the event of the determination of the agreement by the hirer or the owner the hirer shall be liable to pay 50 per cent of the total price after deduction of the instalments already paid by the hirer.
- A deed of hire-purchase is liable to stamp duty as an agreement under Article 5 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. Registration is not compulsory.
- A family arrangement is an agreement between members of the same family, intended to be generally and reasonably for the benefit of the family either by compromising doubtful or disputed rights or by preserving the family property or the peace and security of the family by avoiding litigation or by saving its honour."
- The principles which apply to the case of ordinary compromise between strangers, do not equally apply to the case of compromises in the nature of family arrangements. Family arrangements are governed by a special equity peculiar to themselves, and will be enforced if honestly made, although they have proceeded from an error of all parties, originating in mistake or ignorance of fact as to what their rights actually are, or of the points on which their rights actually depend.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The law relating to transfer of property is governed by the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. 'Transfer of Property' means an act by which a living person conveys property, in present or future, to one or more other living persons, or to himself, and one or more other living persons. 'Living person' includes a company or association or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not.

Property has, always, been on the fundamental elements of socio economic life of an individual. Consequently, the law relating to transfer of property is not only an important branch of civil law but also one that demands proper elucidation due to its complexity.

Therefore, while drafting sale deeds relating to immovable property, students should be well versed in this subject so as to understand the intricacies involved in the transfer of property.

DEEDS OF SALE OF LAND AND BUILDING

Introduction

Sale of immovable property is governed by the provisions of Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Chapter-III of the said Act deals with the sale of immovable property exclusively. Section 54 of the said Act defines sale.

“Sale” defined - “Sale” is a transfer of ownership in exchange for a price paid or promised or part-paid and part-promised.

Sale how made - Such transfer, in the case of tangible immovable property of the value of one hundred rupees and upwards, or in the case of a reversion or other intangible thing, can be made only by a registered instrument.

In the case of tangible immovable property of a value less than one hundred rupees, such transfer may be made either by a registered instrument or by delivery of the property.

Delivery of tangible immovable property takes place when the seller places the buyer, or such person as he directs, in possession of the property.

Contract for sale - A contract for the sale of immovable property is a contract that a sale of such property shall take place on terms settled between the parties.

It does not, of itself, create any interest in or charge on, such property. Besides, Transfer of Property Act, legislation like Income-Tax Act, FEMA, Urban Land Ceiling Act and some other laws affect the free transfer of immovable property.

Essential Requirements of Sale of Immovable Property

The following are the essential requirements of sale of an immovable property:

- (1) Transfer of ownership in exchange of price paid or promised or part paid or part promised.
- (2) Parties to transaction of sale are known as seller and buyer.
- (3) Subject-matter of sale is immovable property which is sold by seller and purchased by buyer.
- (4) Delivery of possession of property to the buyer by seller may be made as under:
 - (i) Property of the value of less than Rs. 100/- may be transferred merely by delivery of physical possession;
 - (ii) Property of the value exceeding Rs. 100/- may be transferred under a written instrument known as ‘Sale Deed’ which should be registered under the Registration Act, 1908.
- (5) Sale of immovable property attracts stamp duty under the Indian Stamp Act.
- (6) (i) Clearance certificate from the Income-tax Officer is required to be obtained under Section 230A of the Income-tax Act, 1961 by the seller in all cases where the sale consideration of immovable property exceeds Rs. 5,00,000/- as a pre-requisite for registration of the Sale Deed with the Registrar/Sub-Registrar of Assurances under the Registration Act, 1908.
 - (ii) In all cases where the consideration money of the property exceeds Rs. 10 lakhs on or after 1st October, 1986, it is obligatory for the parties i.e. seller and buyer, to enter into an agreement in writing, at least three months before the intended date of transfer and submit, under Section 269UC of the Income-tax Act a statement in duplicate and in Form 37-I giving such particulars as required therein to the Appropriate Authority within 15 days of such agreement. This is required to be done to prevent under-valuation of properties situated in metropolitan towns such as Bombay, Calcutta, Madras, Delhi, Ahmedabad, Bangalore, etc. In cases of under-valuation the Government may acquire pre-emptively the property under transfer.

- (iii) Permission of Income-tax Officer is required under Section 281(1) of the Income-Tax Act. Section 281(1) classifies certain transfers to be void in case of any pendency of proceeding under this Act or after the completion thereof, but before the service of notice under rule 2 of the Second Schedule, any assessee creates a charge on, or parts with the possession (by way of sale, mortgage, gift, exchange or any other mode of transfer whatsoever) of, any of his assets in favour of any other person, However such transfer shall not be void in case the same is made with due permission of the Assessing Officer.
- (iv) Requisite permission or exemption under the provisions of Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 be obtained before taking up drafting of the sale deed in case the said Act is attracted to such acquisition of land in terms of the Act
- (v) General permission of RBI is available if the property acquired is owned by Non-resident as per the Provisions of FEMA.
- (vi) It may also be borne in mind by the draftsman to recite for all the above permissions, approvals, or exemptions obtained under different acts in the document.
- (7) The rights and obligations of the buyer and seller in the transaction of sale emerge as provided under Section 55 of the Transfer of Property Act.

Rights and Liabilities of Buyer and Seller

Section 55 of the Act prescribes the rights and liabilities of buyer and seller which can be modified by the parties to a contract by mutual consent and contract to the contrary of these provisions. The seller under Sub-section (1) is bound to (a) disclose to the buyer any material defect in the property or in his title to such property, (b) to give title documents to buyer for investigation of seller's titles to the property under transaction of sale, (c) to answer the question put to him by the buyer and provide all necessary information to him in regard to the property, (d) to execute the conveyance document on payment of consideration money in favour of the buyer, (e) pay all public dues on the property till the date of conveyance and take due care as a man of ordinary prudence to protect the title of the property till it is passed on to the genuine buyer. The buyer is also duty bound under the provisions of the Act to do the following things (a) to disclose to seller the interest of the seller in the property of which he is aware and believes that the seller is not aware and this information is likely to affect the price of the property, (b) to pay or tender the purchase money to the seller or such person as he directs, (c) where the ownership of property has passed to buyer he has to bear the full responsibility including any loss to the property etc., (d) to pay public dues from the date of transfer of ownership of the property.

Besides the above noted duties or obligations of the buyer and seller as covered under the provisions of the Act, there are certain rights and entitlements also. For example, the seller is entitled to following benefits:

- (a) to the rents and profits of the property till the ownership thereof passes to the buyer;
- (b) where the property has passed to the buyer before payment of the whole of the purchase moneys the seller is entitled to a charge upon the property in the hands of the buyer. He is also entitled for the interest on the amount of unpaid consideration money for the property.

Similarly, the buyer is also entitled to the following benefits viz., (a) where the ownership of the property has passed to him, to the benefit of any improvement in it which may be in any shape of increase in value of the property or its rent or profit; (b) he is entitled to charge upon the property to the extent of entitlement etc.

Documentation

Usually a transaction of a sale of immovable property involves two documents, e.g., Agreement to sell and the Conveyance Deed i.e. sale deed. But with only a Sale Deed the transaction of sale can be completed.

In Suraj Lamp & Industries Pvt Ltd. v. State of Haryana the Supreme Court of India observed that it has become common practice to effect transfers of immovable property by way of either general power of attorney (GPA) sales or sale agreement, GPA or will transfers in order to evade, inter-alia, the payment of duties, taxes and other fees payable on transfer and registration (eg, stamp duty or registration fees).

The Apex Court held that such transactions are illegal and cannot be recognized as valid under law. Hon'ble Court further sought to distinguish these illegal transactions from genuine transactions entered into by parties in good faith. While referring to Sections 53A and 54 of the Transfer of Property Act and its decisions in earlier cases, it further observed that a transfer of immovable property by way of sale can be effected only by a deed of conveyance. In the absence of a deed of conveyance, duly stamped and registered, no right, title or interest in an immovable property can be transferred.

Drafting of Deed of Sale of Immovable Property

Before drafting the conveyance or Sale Deed for the immovable property, it is necessary that the title of the property be investigated and it should be ensured that the title to the property is proved as good and marketable. Investigation of title should be done by an experienced person, solicitor or advocate or professional consultant who should certify having carried out searches in the concerned office that the property is free from any encumbrance i.e. charges, etc.

The Study Lesson II contains description of various parts of a Deed of Transfer of Property. Before attempting a draft for Sale Deed, it is advisable to have reading of the same. Though all the components are important, one has to be very much conscious of recital, parcels, consideration, receipt and witness, as they in variably receive a close scrutiny of the reader.

Acquisition of Immovable Property by a Company

A company can validly acquire or dispose of an immovable property if its Memorandum and Articles of Association so provide and its Board of Directors pass the requisite resolution in conformity with the provisions of the Companies Act.

A company may acquire any immovable property by having it sold out by any other person in its favour under a document known as 'Sale Deed' executed by the vendor in its favour. A Sale Deed must be properly drafted adhering to all the principal conditions prescribed under the Transfer of Property Act to acquire a perfect title to the property being purchased by the company.

Some of the important conditions as contained in the said Act which a draftsman should bear in mind while drafting a Sale Deed are very precisely noted below:

(a) Lawful Consideration and Object

The property must be purchased as a part of legal transaction having paid the consideration as required under the provisions of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 for a valid contract. Besides, the objectives for which the property is being purchased by the buyer should be lawful i.e., not forbidden by law, not to defeat the provisions of any law, not to be fraudulent, not to involve or impart injury to the person or property of another and should not be regarded by the court of law as immoral or opposed to public policy.

(b) Competence of Person to Transfer

For a company, the test of competence to enter into a transaction of sale or purchase is that its Board of Directors should authorise a person under the resolution passed in their meeting held in conformity with the Articles of Association and having object clause to sell or purchase immovable property under its Memorandum of Association. In case the other party is an individual who is either selling to the company or purchasing from the company any land or immovable property such individual should be considered competent to transfer if it fulfils the necessary conditions prescribed under the Indian Contract Act, 1872 viz. (i) should be of the age of majority, (ii) be of sound mind; (iii) not be disqualified from contracting by any law to which such individual is subjected. Further, the draftsman should ensure that where a transaction is being made involves a person whose competence is derived in pursuance of following or adhering a prescribed procedure under any special or general law, such procedure should be followed invariably. For example, a minor though incompetent to enter into a transaction under the Law of Contract but becomes competent if the procedure laid down under the Law of Minority and Guardianship is followed i.e. through the natural guardian or ward the minor can lawfully enter into the transaction of transfer of immovable property with the company.

(c) Transfer of All Interest - in the Property

All interests which a transferor is capable of passing in the property as legal incident of the transfer should be explained in the document, for example, if it is transfer of land, the easements annexed thereto, the rents of profits thereof, things attached thereto etc.

(d) Absolute Transfer

The transfer should be free of any conditions or limitations which may inhibit the other party to make full use of the property in exercise of legal rights.

(e) Absolute Interest in the Property

The interest being transferred in the property should not be conditional which may restricted full enjoyment of the property by the transferee.

(f) Justification for Transfer

Cogent reasons for the transfer be given so as to establish bona fide base for the transaction and to avoid eventualities of fraud and multiple litigation therefrom.

(g) Protection of Creditors' Interest

Law protects creditors' interest in the transferred property.

(h) Enforcement of Rights Attached to Property on Valid Transfer

If a transferee is aware of such rights attached to the property and the transfer is gratuitous then the person can enforce such rights against transferee. But this could be avoided if the transferee has no notice about such rights attached to property and also has paid full consideration for the transaction.

(i) Property to be Free from Conditions

The property being transferred should be free from any rights or obligations which a third person can enforce legally against transferee for enjoying any benefits.

(j) Transfer in Good Faith and with Full Authority

Where the property is transferred by a person not to be the real owner, it is necessary to make such transfer valid for the transferor should have the authority to transfer and he must exercise this authority in good faith.

(k) Protection for Defective Title

Law protects the transferee who acquires the immovable property under good faith and for bona fide consideration but by any circumstance unknown to him is rendered to have defective title, Section 51 of the Transfer of Property Act, provides such protection to bona fide transferees acquiring properties in good faith.

(l) Precautions

The draftsman should know beforehand that the property under transfer is free from encumbrances and no litigation questioning such property or rights or interest connected therewith is pending in any court. To avoid fraudulent transfers, the draftsman should ensure that the title to such property has been investigated by competent advocate and he has certified the title free from any encumbrance whatsoever.

In the case of a company, it must be ensured that the Board of Directors have requisite powers under Companies Act, 2013 to sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the property of company.

Sale by Liquidator of a Company in Voluntary Liquidation

Liquidation means winding of the company and Liquidator is the officer appointed to conduct the winding up of a company. Winding up is a proceeding by means of which the dissolution of a company is brought about and in the course of which its assets are collected and realised and applied in payment of its debts and when these are satisfied, returning to its members the sums which they have contributed to the company or paying them other moneys due to them in their character of members.

Voluntary winding up is one of the three modes of winding up recognised under Section 425 of the Companies Act, 1956 (Section 270 of Companies Act, 2013, yet to be notified) which includes liquidation by Court, voluntary and subject to the supervision of the Court.

Sale of Business and Assignment of Goodwill

Wharton's Law lexicon defines goodwill as the advantage or benefit which is required by a business, beyond mere value of the capital stock, funds or property employed therein, in consequence of the general public patronage and encouragement which it receives from constant or habitual customers.

Supreme Court of India in Khushall Khengar Shah v. Khorshedbanu, AIR 1970 SC 1147, had opined goodwill of a business as an intangible asset being the whole advantage of the reputation and connections formed with the customers together with the circumstances which make the connections durable. It is that component of the total value of the undertaking which is attributable to the ability of the concern to earn profits over a course of years because of its reputation, location and other features.

Specimen Form of the Sale Deed for sale of a business and assignment of goodwill is given below* :

A Specimen of Deed of Sale of a Business and Assignment of Goodwill

MORTGAGE AND ITS TYPES

Mortgage

A mortgage is a transfer of interest in specific immovable property for the purpose of securing the payment of money advanced or to be advanced by way of a loan, existing or future debt or the performance of an acknowledgement, which may give rise to pecuniary liabilities (Section 58 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882).

The Transfer of Property Act, 1882 deals with the mortgage of immovable property alone. It does not deal with movable at all. Therefore, it cannot be regarded as forbidding the mortgage of movable property. A mortgage of movables, such as plant and machinery, stock in trade, policy is perfectly a valid transaction even though the possession is not delivered and the mortgage is only a hypothecation. The hypothecation of movables is increasingly resorted to in the case of borrowings by companies for financing and implementation of its various investment proposals.

The transferor in the case of a mortgage is called a 'mortgagor' and the transferee as 'mortgagee', the principal money and interest of which payment is secured for the time being are called the 'mortgage money' and the instrument, if any, by which a transfer is effected is called a "mortgage deed".

Types of the Mortgages

The following are different kinds of mortgages in effect in India:

(a) Simple Mortgage

In a simple mortgage, the mortgagor without delivering possession of the mortgaged property binds himself personally to pay the mortgage money and agrees expressly or impliedly that if he fails to pay the debt and interest in terms of the mortgage deed, the property will be sold and the proceeds applied in payment of the mortgaged money.

(b) Mortgage by Conditional Sale

In a mortgage by conditional sale, the property is sold subject to the condition that on default in payment of the mortgaged money on a certain date the sale shall become absolute or that on such payment the sale shall become void or on such payment the buyer shall transfer the property to the seller. Possession of the property shall be with the mortgagee.

(c) Usufructuary Mortgage

In this mortgage, the mortgagor delivers possession of the mortgaged property to the mortgagee who retains the possession until the satisfaction of the debt. The mortgagee will take the usufruct in lieu of the interest or part payment of the principal or partly in payment of interest or partly in part payment of the principal. The mortgagor is not personally liable to pay the debt and the mortgagee is not entitled during the term of the mortgage to demand his mortgage money.

(d) English Mortgage

In an English mortgage, a mortgagor binds himself to repay the mortgaged money on certain date and transfers the mortgaged property absolutely to the mortgagee subject to the proviso that he will re-transfer it to the mortgagor upon payment of the mortgaged money as agreed.

(e) Mortgage by Deposit of Title Deeds

Mortgage by deposit of title deeds is called in English law as equitable mortgage. It is an oral transaction and no documents like Deed of Mortgage is required to be executed. No written acknowledgement is required for creating this mortgage. It is however, prudent to have a record of transaction to avoid difficulties to establish the creation of the mortgage. In this case, a Memorandum of Mortgage by deposit of title deeds is prepared by the mortgagee to secure the specific mortgage money. The main characteristics of this type of mortgage are as under:

1. Debt even time barred, present and future advances are covered under the equitable mortgage. In other types of mortgage, future advances are not covered.
2. Delivery of title deeds is required to be made in Bombay, Madras and Calcutta and other specified towns to which the facility is extended by State Government from time to time through Gazette notification.
It is not necessary for creation of mortgage that the property be located in the specified town or the company making deposit should have its registered office in that town.
3. This deposit can be made by the company through its nominee or agent duly authorised.
4. Intent to create security by deposit of title deeds should be present at the time of such deposit in the mortgagor.
5. Neither ownership nor possession of the property passes to the mortgagee under the equitable mortgage.

Equitable mortgage is preferred by the lenders/banks/creditors as well as the commercial enterprises because of the inherent advantages viz. (a) to save time and avoid inconvenience of documentation, and registration; (b) to minimise cost of creating mortgage and cost of borrowed funds by saving stamp duty; (c) to maintain secrecy of the debt transaction; (d) section 180 of the Companies Act, 2013.

(f) Anomalous Mortgage

Anomalous Mortgage is a combination of any of the above forms of mortgage or any mortgage other than those set out above.

Who can be Mortgagor and Mortgagee?

Any living person, company, or association or body of individuals, who has an interest on immovable property can mortgage that interest. In the case of a company mortgage of the property should be duly authorised by 'Object Clause' of the Memorandum of Association and approved by a resolution of the Board of directors. Further, for creation of a mortgage, the Financial Institutions usually insist on a resolution of the shareholders under Section 180 of the Companies Act, 2013.

Any person capable of holding property may take a mortgage unless he is dis-qualified by any special law from doing so. A minor may be a mortgagee but as he cannot enter into a contract, the mortgage should not involve any covenants by him.

Thus, as we have seen above, any interest in any property which is capable of being transferred may be a subject of mortgage.

Generally the mortgage is associated with immovable property; immovable property includes lands, benefits arising out of the land and things attached to it and does not include standing timber, growing crops or grass. When the principal money secured is Rs.100/- or more a mortgage other than a mortgage by deposit of title deeds, can be effected only by a Registered instrument signed by the mortgagor and attested by at least two witnesses.

Rights of Mortgagee

- Right to Sell

If borrower fails to return the loan in time then the mortgagee has the right to sell the property of the mortgagor, but the same can only be sold through auction subject to approval from the Court.

- Right to Recover Shortfall

In case the amount to be recovered falls short after selling the property, mortgagee shall have the right to recover the balance due.

- Refusal of Debt

Mortgagee shall have the right to get a foreclosure decree from the court.

Liabilities of Mortgagee

- Property should be protected to the best possible extent.
- No alteration to the property.
- Proper Insurance Cover against the Property.
- All taxes, revenues levied by government should be paid.

Rights and Liabilities of Mortgagor

- Right to redeem the Property on payment of dues.
- Right to Claim Damages in case the Property is damaged in the custody of Mortgagee.
- Right to lease the property in case the property is in possession of Mortgagor.
- Liability to pay taxes, revenues levied by government in case the property is in custody of Mortgagor.

Drafting of Deed of Mortgage

A deed of mortgage may be drafted either as a name change deed or Deed Poll on behalf of the mortgagor in favour of the mortgagee or as a deed between the mortgagor and mortgagee as parties. In the case of an equitable mortgage, as we have seen earlier, it is prudent to execute a memorandum referred to the deposit of title deeds to secure a specific mortgage money.

The following points should be borne in mind while drafting a Deed of Mortgage:

- (a) Parties: There should be two parties, the mortgagor and the mortgagee. The former is usually defined as the borrower. The Indian practice of having a deed of mortgage executed by the mortgagor only is unscientific, because the mortgage deed usually contains covenants by both the parties.
- (b) Recitals: These are of two kinds. Firstly, recital as to the title of the mortgagor, such as “Whereas the borrower is the absolute owner of the property hereby mortgaged free from encumbrances”. The second form of recital is as to the agreement for loan, such as: “And Whereas the mortgagee has agreed with the borrower to lend him the sum of Rs..... upon having the re-payment thereof with interest hereinafter mentioned secured in manner hereinafter appearing”.
- (c) Covenant for re-payment: This clause usually recites that in pursuance of the said agreement and in consideration of the receipt of the mortgage money the mortgagor covenants to pay the mortgage money with interest at the stipulated rate in the manner agreed upon.
- (d) Mortgage clause: This clause describes the property mortgaged. In case of simple mortgage, the property is charged and assured as security for re-payment of mortgage debt. In an English mortgage it is absolutely sold to the mortgagee, subject to the covenants as to re-conveyance upon repayment of debt with interest. A thorough investigation of the titles upto 60 years and preparation of an abstract of title to ensure that mortgagor has an absolute right over the property is recommended.
- (e) (i) Covenants by the mortgagor: To repair the mortgaged property, in default the mortgagee is given power to enter into possession without being liable as a mortgagee in possession, with a view to effect repairs. Mortgagee’s expenses for this purpose are considered properly incurred.

(ii) Covenant to insure: The mortgagor covenants to insure the mortgage property in the name of the mortgagee of an insurance office approved by the mortgagee. In default the mortgagee is entitled to insure and the costs incurred are to be charged to the mortgagor.

(iii) Covenant not to grant leases or accept surrender thereof: It often happens that the mortgagor while in possession grants long term leases to the detriment of the mortgagee. To guard against such a contingency, it is agreed that the mortgagor shall not grant leases of mortgaged property for a period exceeding one year without the written permission of the mortgagee or accept surrender of existing leases without like permission. (See Section 65A of the Transfer of Property Act)

(iv) Covenant to pay outgoings: The borrower undertakes to pay and discharge and indemnify the mortgagee against all rates, taxes, duties, charges, assessments, outgoings, whatever.

(f) Period fixed for the mortgage: Under this clause, the parties enter into a covenant by which mortgagor is debarred from redeeming the security before lapse of a certain period. This should not be unnecessarily a long period, as otherwise the Court might hold it as clogging equity of redemption and unenforceable.

The mortgagee may also enter into a covenant not to call in his money before the lapse of certain period provided that:

(i) If the mortgagor is declared insolvent;

(ii) If he alienates the mortgage property or creates a subsequent mortgage in favour of a third person without consent of mortgagee, the mortgagee may call in his dues even before the expiry of the term agreed upon.

(g) Power of sale: Under this clause, the mortgagee is entitled to recover his dues by sale of the mortgaged property, and if the sale proceeds are insufficient, to recover the balance from the person and other property of the mortgagor.

(h) Power to appoint Receiver: Under this clause, the mortgagee is given power to appoint a Receiver of the mortgaged property in case the payment of interest for two or more instalments is in arrear under Section 69A of Transfer of Property Act.

(i) Power to sell given to mortgagor with the consent of the mortgagee: The mortgagor is authorised to sell the whole or part of the mortgaged property with the consent of the mortgagee provided the sale proceeds are paid to the credit of the mortgage account.

(j) Proviso for redemption: Under this clause, the mortgagee covenants and declares that on payment of his dues, he shall re-transfer the mortgaged property to the mortgagor or his nominee at his expense. (See Section 60A of the Transfer of Property Act)

(k) Possession: In English mortgage, the mortgagee has a right to take possession of the property. In usufructuary mortgage, the possession of the property is given to the mortgagee.

(l) Attestation & Execution: Attestation is compulsory in every mortgage. In case where the mortgagor does not know the language, deed must be explained to him by some competent person.

(m) Registration & Stamp duty is compulsory in case of mortgage value of Rs.100/- and above.

(n) Mortgagee is entitled to all the title deeds of the mortgaged property. If for any reason they are left with the mortgagor through inadvertance or negligence he can manipulate a prior equitable mortgage by depositing the same elsewhere.

(o) The application of any other law either to the mortgage or to the property under mortgage has to be ascertained. For example: Urban Land Ceiling Regulation Act.

In Drafting of Memorandum of Mortgage by deposit of title deeds, the following information is invariably included:

- I. Preliminary information:
 - (1) Caption
 - (2) Name and address of the borrower/mortgagor Company
 - (3) Name and address of Mortgagee
 - (4) Amount of loans made available/sanctioned
 - (5) Date of creation of mortgage by deposit of title deeds.
- II. Memorandum record note to contain brief information covering creation of deposit, date of deposit, name and authorisation of person who created deposit, name of the lender in whose favour deposit was made, description of title deeds is to be given in the Schedule to be appended thereto, and reference of property with situation and location briefly described thereto.
- III. Consideration for creation of equitable mortgage i.e. the description of the property offered with title deeds with full description in a different schedule, the amount of loans against and for which the security is created, this..... by coverage of other cash charges, expenses, interests, liquidated damages, etc.
- IV. Description of Board Resolution to create equitable mortgage by the person authorised therein.
- V. Declaration of clear and marketable title to the property.
- VI. Witnessing clause - Mention of the name of the person in whose presence the deposit of title was made.
- VII. (Schedule I - List of document of title and evidence) (Schedule II - Details of property).
- VIII. Date and Signature.

Further Charge

Sometimes the mortgagee advances further sums of money to the mortgagor on the same security and on the same condition. The deed executed to secure the advance of further sums of money is called "Deed of Further Charge". The deed so executed would make a reference to the first mortgage and would also set out the new loan/s, terms of its/their repayment and would make the principal and interest further charged on the same security to be endorsed in the same manner as per the original mortgage.

Appointment of Receiver under Mortgage

Under Section 69A of the Transfer of Property Act, a mortgagee having the right to exercise the power to sell is entitled to appoint by writing signed by him or on his behalf a Receiver of the income of the mortgaged property or any part thereof. Any person who has been named in the mortgage deed and is willing and able to act as a Receiver may be appointed by a mortgagee. If any person has been so named or if the person or persons are not capable and unwilling to act or are dead, the mortgagee may appoint any person to whose appointment the mortgagor agrees. Failing such an agreement the mortgagee shall be entitled to apply to the Court for appointment of a Receiver and any person appointed by the Court shall be deemed to have been duly appointed by the mortgagee.

The powers and functions of the Receiver have been set out in the Section and the Receiver is required to apply all money received by him as follows:

- (i) in discharge of all rents, taxes, land revenue, rates and outgoings whatever affecting the mortgaged property;
- (ii) in keeping down all annual sums or other payments, and the interest on all principals sums, having priority to the mortgage in right whereof he is Receiver;

- (iii) in payment of his commission, and of the premiums on fire, life or other insurances, if any, properly payable under the mortgage deed or under this Act, and the cost of executing necessary or proper repairs directed in writing by the mortgagee;
- (iv) in payment of the interest falling due under the mortgage;
- (v) in or towards discharge of the principal money, if so directed in writing by the mortgagee.

Release and Reconveyance of Mortgaged Assets

Release of any of the mortgaged assets or reconveyance of the mortgaged property could be done by a registered document in case the mortgage has been created in the form other than equitable mortgage by deposit of title deeds by a registered deed of mortgage.

In those cases where release or reconveyance of mortgaged property covered under equitable mortgage is sought by the mortgagor, the same could be done by releasing the relevant title documents and repositing the remaining title deeds by rewriting the memorandum for creation of equitable mortgage. On redemption of equitable mortgage all the title deeds could be released by the mortgagee to the mortgagor by personal hand delivery and against accountable receipts from the mortgagor.

Forms of various Deeds hereinbefore discussed are as follows:

LICENSE

Chapter VI of the Indian Easements Act, 1882 (hereinafter referred to as 'The Act') contains the statutory provisions governing licenses. This chapter comprises of Sections 52 to 64. The students are advised to be thorough with the provisions contained in these Sections. In States where the aforesaid Act does not apply, Courts rely upon English Law and the principles of the Act also (Sohan Lal Naraindas v. Laxmidas Reghunath, 1971 (1) SCC 276).

License has been defined in Section 52 of the Indian Easements Act, 1882 as under:

"License" defined – where one person grants to another, or to a definite number of other persons, a right to do, or continue to do, in or upon the immovable property of the grantor, something which would, in the absence of such right, be unlawful and such right does not amount to an easement or an interest in the property, the right is called a license".

A license may be granted by any one in the circumstances and to the extent in and to which he may transfer his interest in the property affected by the license (Section 54). The grant of license may be expressed or implied from the conduct of the grantor, and an agreement which purports to create an easement, but is ineffectual for that purpose, may operate to create a license. (Section 54)

License when Transferable

A license ordinarily carries with it the incident of non-transferability. A license cannot be transferred by the licensee or exercised by his servants or agents. The only exception to this rule is that, unless a different intention is expressed or necessarily implied, a license to attend a place of public entertainment may be transferred by the licensee. (Section 56 of the Act)

Revocation of License

The revocation of license may be expressed or implied.

The general rule is that subject to the agreement between the parties, all licenses are revocable at the will of the licensor. However, following are two exceptions to this rule:

- (a) a license which is coupled with a transfer of property and such transfer is in force, and
- (b) a license acting upon which the licensee has executed a work of permanent character and incurred expenses in the execution cannot be revoked.

Section 62 of the Act provides that a license is deemed to be revoked:

- (a) when, for a cause proceeding the grant of it, the grantor ceases to have an interest in the property affected by the license;
- (b) the licensee releases it, expressly or impliedly, to the grantor or his representative;
- (c) where it has been granted for a limited period or acquired on condition that it shall become void on performance or non-performance of a specified act, and the period expires, or the condition is fulfilled;
- (d) where the property affected by the license is destroyed or by superior force so permanently altered that the licensee can no longer exercise his right;
- (e) where the licensee becomes entitled to the absolute ownership of the property affected by the license;
- (f) where the license is granted for a specified purpose and the purpose is attained or abandoned, or becomes impracticable;
- (g) where the license is granted to the licensee as holding a particular office, employment or character, and such office, employment or character ceases to exist;
- (h) where the license totally ceases to be used as such for an unbroken period of twenty years, and such cessation is not in pursuance of a contract between grantor and the licensee;
- (i) in the case of an accessory license, when the interest or right to which it is accessory ceases to exist (Section 62).

Form of Deed of License

No special form of grant is prescribed. It may be granted orally or by an agreement in writing or by a covenant contained in any other deed, e.g. lease, sale, etc. If it is granted in writing, the writing should be in the form of a deed or agreement or in the simple form of a deed poll. If no fee is to be paid and the licensee has not to enter into any covenants, the form of deed poll would be suitable, but if the licensee is to pay any fee and the license is for a fixed term or revocable only by notice, a deed or agreement is preferable. The deed may be described as "THIS LICENSE" or "THIS DEED OF LICENSE" or simply as "THIS DEED" and the parties as "Licensor" and "Licensee" or "Owner" and "Licensee" or "Grantor" and "Grantee".

The operative words may be "License and authorizes to do" or "grants liberty and license to do etc.", or "grants leave and license to do etc." The exact liberty given, the property on which it is to be exercised, and the conditions imposed on the exercise should be clearly expressed in the deed. If there is a long list of the powers and authority given by the license the same may be incorporated in a schedule to be referred to in the deed. The deed should make it clear that it is a license and not a lease or a grant.

In a simple deed recitals will be rarely necessary. A license may be for consideration though this is not necessary. If so, it should be mentioned.

If the license is granted by an instrument it need not be bilateral unless mutual covenants for observance and breach thereof have to be incorporated.

Registration and Stamp Duty

A mere deed of license need not be registered unless any right, title or interest in immovable property of the value of Rs. 100 or more is created, declared, assigned, limited or extinguished. (Section 17, Registration Act, 1908)

If a license is contained in any deed such as in a deed of sale or lease, no separate stamp duty is required in respect of the covenants relating to the license, but if a separate deed is executed it will be chargeable with the same duty as an agreement under Article 5, Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899.

Specimen Forms of Licenses

The specimen forms of some of license documents are given hereinbelow which can be adopted in different situations by making suitable modifications as per the needs of an organisation:

(1) Deed of License for use of wall of a Building for publicity and advertisement for goods, etc.

THIS DEED OF LICENSE is made on the..... day of2013 BETWEEN AB of, etc. (the Licensor) of the one part and CD of, etc. (the Licensee) of the other part.

WHEREAS the said CD has applied to AB for the use of the eastern outside wall of his building being premises No..... for the purposes of utilising the same for publicity and advertisement of his goods, a specimen copy whereof with type and design shall be delivered to the licensor, for a period of two years.

AND WHEREAS the said AB has agreed to grant the license on the following terms and conditions:

- 1. That the said CD shall be entitled to use the said outer wall of premises No..... for the purpose of advertisement of his goods by coloured signs, marks, letters or other representations for two years from the date, in dimensions measuring..... and not contrary to any regulations of the Municipality or other public body or authority.
- 2. That the said CD shall pay Rs..... as such advertisement charges per month in advance within the 5th day of every current month.
- 3. That in the event the said outer wall or the plaster thereof is damaged on account of any act, default or negligence or omission on the part of CD, he shall forthwith execute all the necessary repairs thereto or in the alternative pay adequate compensation to AB on that account.
- 4. That the said CD shall pay for all taxes and impositions on account of such advertisement.
- 5. That the said AB shall be entitled to revoke this license within the said period of two years only on failure to pay regularly the fees or taxes or impositions as aforesaid.
- 6. That the said CD shall not be entitled to affix on the said wall any representation of other goods nor have any interest in the said wall and further shall indemnify the said AB against any damage suffered in case such display or advertisement is found to be in breach of statutory rules or authoritative order.

AN AGREEMENT MADE this..... day of..... 2013 BETWEEN AB son of..... by faith..... by occupation..... herein after referred to as the “owner” of the ONE PART AND CD represented by its secretary being signatory to this agreement having its principal office at present at No..... hereinafter referred to as “occupiers” of the OTHER PART.

WHEREAS the occupiers approached the owner for permission for using a portion of his property, viz. premises No. fully mentioned and described in the Schedule hereto for a period not exceeding eleven months only from the date of signing of this agreement which the owner has agreed to grant reserving for himself the care, maintenance and services to property and on the basis of leave and license only (which will stand ipso facto revoked on the expiry of the said term). Now, it is hereby expressly agreed and declared by and between the parties as follows:

1. This writing shall never be construed as any tenancy agreement or lease nor otherwise creating any other right or interest in the property in favour of the occupiers which is not at all the intention of the parties but on the contrary merely a temporary agreement or arrangement simply to allow the occupiers to use and occupy portion of the premises for their office accommodation under the control and supervision of the owner for which purpose the owner shall retain rooms, viz., one in the ground floor and another in the first floor. The owner shall have his own staff in the said rooms for the care and supervision and maintenance of and services to the property.
2. The occupiers shall, in consideration of such accommodation as hereunder provided, pay to the owner a fixed sum of Rs. as charges for such temporary occupation for the period of months which sum will be paid at the rate of per month on the of every current month without delay or default and a further sum of Rs. for service charges and also use of fittings and fixtures making thus a sum total of Rs..... per month. The two last mentioned amounts shall also be paid on the..... of every current month.
3. The occupiers shall also pay to the owner on account of Corporation of Calcutta all existing and future occupiers' share of rate and taxes of the property and also the enhancement in the owner's share, if any, during the period of their occupation and shall otherwise keep the owner and his estate indemnified as against any loss, if any, arising out of such non-payment or non-observance of any of the covenants herein contained.
4. The occupiers have as security deposit for such payments and observance of the covenants hereunder contained, kept with the owner a sum of Rs..... to be repaid without interest on revocation of license and surrender and deliver the possession of the said portion of the property subject to such deductions as the owner shall be entitled as against the occupiers. e.g., arrears of charges provided in Clause 2, unpaid taxes, electric bills, etc., as hereunder provided or otherwise permitted in law.
5. The occupiers shall on expiry of the period of..... and license hereunder granted or earlier revocation thereof, surrender the property and deliver the same to the owner when and in such an event he will be entitled to the refund of Rs..... subject to deductions provided in Clause 4 hereof.
6. Provided, however, and notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, it is hereby expressly agreed by and between the parties hereto that in default of any payment on the dates hereinbefore referred to above to the owner or the Corporation of Calcutta or other appropriate authorities the owner shall be entitled to and shall have always the power to revoke the license hereunder granted at his absolute discretion and reoccupy the said portion of the property without subjecting himself to any liability on that account and notwithstanding any intermediate negotiations or waiver of breach thereof when and in such an event the occupiers shall surrender the occupied portion of the property as hereunder contemplated.

7. The occupiers shall have no right to make any addition or alteration to the property except temporary removable walls by way of adjustments but shall be entitled to make interior decorations only by temporary wooden partitions which they shall remove at their own costs at the time of surrender of the said portion of the property on expiry of the term of the license hereby granted or earlier revocation thereof and repairs all the damages, if any caused to the property.

LEASE

According to Section 105 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, a lease of immovable property is a transfer of a right to enjoy property. It is the method of acquiring the right to use equipment or real property for consideration.

Lease is a contract between lessor and lessee for the fixed term for the use on hire of a specific asset selected by lessee. Lessor retains ownership of the assets and lessee has possession and use of the asset on payment of specified rental over a period. It is a sort of contractual arrangement between the two parties whereby one acquires the right to use the property called "lessee" and the other who allows the former the right to use his owned property, called the "lessor". Thus, lease is a contractual arrangement, it originates from a contract between the lessor and lessee and is regulated by the terms, conditions and covenants of such contract. In other words, leasing arrangement provides an enterprise with the use and control over assets without receiving title to them. This arrangement could be oral or written allowing the use of assets for a specified period of time. The written lease agreement is signed by both the owner of the assets i.e. the lessor and the user of the assets i.e. 'the lessee'. The lessee does not get the final ownership. In other words, leasing involves the use of an asset without assuming, or intending to assume, ownership.

Essential Points to be Observed for Drafting of Lease Documents

Before taking up drafting of the lease documents one is expected to be thorough with all the essential legal aspects involved in a lease transaction. Students are, therefore, advised to recapitulate what they have already learnt about "Leases" in the Study Lesson-6 on "Law Relating to Transfer of Property" of the "Economic and Commercial Laws" paper of the Executive Programme under the New Syllabus.

The essential legal elements of lease are (i) the parties i.e. lessor or lessee; (ii) the subject matter of lease i.e. the property to be leased; (iii) demise or partial transfer of such property; (iv) the term and period of lease; and (v) the consideration or rent. Law requires that the lease of real estate should be expressed and duration of the lease should be pre-settled under the written contract. The circumstances in which the lease shall be determined be also specifically reduced to writing to avoid complications of mis-conceptions. It should also state the mode of service of notice and the period within which the notice could be served for determining the lease both by the lessor and the lessee. However, in the absence of the contract or special law or usage to the contrary, a lease of immovable property for agricultural or manufacturing purpose shall be deemed to be a lease from year to year, terminable on the part of either lessor or lessee by six months notice expiring with the end of a year of the tenancy and the lease of immovable property for any other purpose shall be deemed to be lease from month to month, terminable on the part of either lessor or lessee, by fifteen days' notice expiring with the end of a month of the tenancy.

The main document to complete the leasing transaction between the lessor and the lessee is the lease agreement or lease deed which contains all the conditions and covenants binding the parties to the lease transaction. In the case of equipment lease, some leasing companies in the text of lease agreement provide for the guarantee provisions by the guarantors to indemnify the lessor of the involved risk of non-payment of lease rents and non-compliance of terms and conditions of the lease agreement by lessee. Thus, the lease agreement is entered into between lessor, lessee and guarantors covering suitable covenants for each of the parties. Such guarantee can be obtained separately from the guarantors even if guarantors are made party in the lease agreement.

The lessor or leasing company, in addition to the lease agreement and the guarantee or in substitution of guarantee, may also accept pledge of the shares or assignment of insurance policies of the promoters of the business.

Before taking up drafting of the lease documents both the leasing company and the lessee should have the information to have a birds-eye view of the existing charges, mortgages, encumbrances or lien on the property proposed to be leased by lessor or where the leased assets are proposed to be kept by the lessee. Generally in cases of plant and machinery etc. which are affixed in the land or kept in factory premises become part of immovable assets which are mortgaged to the banks and or financial institutions for availing of financial facilities from them. In such cases, the leasing company should have full details of these existing charges so as to take other precautionary measures by providing suitable clauses in lease documents to safeguard its own interest, i.e. where the leasing company has charged the leased property to bank as security for the due discharge by the leasing company of its obligations in the form of payment of interest instalments and the repayment of the principal sum borrowed. The mortgagee bank requires all these details from the leasing company about the lessee despite the fact that there is no privity of contract between the lessee and the bank. Such information provides full exposure to risk, if any, involved in the transaction for which bank finance is being utilized.

With a view to avoid ambiguity and uncertainty with regard to the nature of the lease, due care should be taken to create distinction in the lease agreement i.e. whether the lease is a finance lease or operating lease. In case of “finance lease”, provision of non-cancellability should invariably be set forth in the lease agreement. In “operating lease” the provision of cancellability is provided with responsibility of the lessor for repairs and maintenance, technology transfer and change of know-how and providing knowledge of running the equipment leased out to lessee. All these aspects, inter alia should be well provided in the document. In “operating lease” it is the responsibility of the lessor to provide the lessee the benefits of innovations, change in technology of the equipment and the related know-how required for.

Notwithstanding the remedies available to the parties in case of breach of the agreement and defaults in payments of lease rentals, other dues should be clearly expressed in terms of money, time and space. Both the contractual as well as legal remedies be properly spaced in the lease agreement. Arbitration clause provides a better way for settlement of mutual misunderstandings and disputes and suggests a rapid course to seek remedy, the contractual remedy. Both lessor and the lessee have, therefore, to take all due precautions in the drafting of the lease agreement and other auxiliary documents. The legal remedy available in the lease document is by way of specific relief by applying to the Court of law for the same under the Specific Relief Act. But an aggrieved party can choose only one course of action for seeking redressal to its grievances i.e. either by way of arbitration or specific performance at a time. Seeking one course of action stand a bar for the other course of action.

In every State there is a legislation providing for the rights of lessors and lessees of residential and commercial buildings. They override the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act. Legislation in one State differs from that in another, but all such legislations control and restrict the rent payable and the grounds on which a tenant may be evicted. Some enactments regulate the duration of a lease, some forbid the payment of premium and some even control the letting out to the extent that this function is exercised by the authorities. It is, therefore, desirable to study the local rent control and eviction legislations before entering into a transaction of lease and before taking any action on the basis of a lease.

Drafting of a Lease

A deed of lease should be drafted as a deed between the landlord and the tenant. They should be called “the lessor” and “the lessee” as these are the terms used in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. While drafting a lease, following points may be noted:

1. Generally recitals are not necessary and material facts are mentioned in the operative part.
2. Consideration Reserved rent is mentioned in the beginning of the Testatum. The entire consideration, including premium, etc., should be mentioned.
3. Operative Part – It shows clearly the lessor divesting himself of possession and the lessee coming into possession, e.g. by the use of such words as “The lessor hereby lets, or demises or grants a lease of, etc., etc. with effect from the day of”
4. Habendum – The nature of the lease, commencement and duration of the term are specified here.
5. Reddendum – This is peculiar to a deed of lease. Here is mentioned the mode and time fixed for payment. It begins with the word rendering or paying with reference to the reserved rent. Rent is payable during the term of the lease. Place where payable and instalments are mentioned. If there is apportionment of rent that is also mentioned.
6. Covenants – Terms and conditions are mentioned in several paragraphs. The usual covenants are to be found in Section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act; other important covenants generally refer to payment of taxes, repairs, insurance, subletting purpose of the lease, e.g. residential purpose, renewal, forfeiture.

Sub-Lease

A sub-lease is a demise by a lessee for lessor term than he himself has. Every lessee, however short his term may be, make a sub-lease unless he is refrained by the contract of the tenancy from subletting. If the demise is for the whole term or for a period beyond the term, it amounts to assignment. If the lessee divests himself he becomes a stranger to the demised property and he has no right to have possession delivered up to him. It is true that a covenant against subletting will restrain the assignment, but a mere covenant against subletting does not prohibit underletting a part of the premises. As long as the lessee remains in possession he may permit another person to use the demised premises without committing a breach of covenant, namely not to assign, underlet or part with the possession of the demised premises.

The Privy Council pointed out in Hunsrai v. Bejoylal Seal, (1930) 57 Cal 1176, that in India a sub-lease is not an absolute assignment and it was further held in Akshoy Kumar v. Akman Molla, (1915) 19 CWN 1197, that there is no privity of estate as between the lessor and the sub-lessee, who does not step into the shoes of the lessee. A sub-lease is not prejudiced by the surrender of the head lease (Section 115 of Transfer of Property Act) but the position is different in the case of forfeiture which annuls all sub-leases except in case of fraud as between the lessor and lessee. A sub-lessee is entitled to relief against forfeiture under Section 114 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, which is applicable only in the case of non-payment of rent. No relief is open to the sub-lease in case of transfer of breach of covenant in restraint of transfer.

Surrender of Leases

Surrender of lease is not a transfer but mere yielding up by the lessee of his interest under the lease to the lessor by mutual agreement. It is in effect merger of the estate of the lessee into the reversion. It is not a transfer or an assignment of any right or estate within the meaning of Section 5 of the Transfer of Property Act (Makhanlal v. Nagendranath, (1933) 60 Cal 379). The person who surrenders is called the surrenderer and the person to whom surrender is made is called the surrenderee. A surrender must be made with clear intention to yield up as mere non-payment of rent for years together or abandonment of the site does not amount to surrender (Misri Lal v. Durga Narain, AIR 1940 All. 317). A Requisition Order by the Government does not amount to any surrender (Torabai v. Padan Chand, 62 CWN 176). It may be expressed or implied. Except in a case of some special kinds of lease as required by special Act, no writing or registration is necessary. A surrender may be oral, if accompanied by delivery of possession.

Registration and Stamp Duty

Section 107 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and Section 17(1)(d) of the Registration Act, 1908 require that all leases from year to year, or for a term exceeding a year, or reserving a yearly rent must be registered. Other leases, if governed by the Transfer of Property Act, must be registered except that Local Government may direct them to be made by unregistered instruments. (Proviso to Section 107)

For the stamp duty of a lease, including an under-lease or sub-lease and agreement to let or sub-let, Article 35 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 is to be followed.

Distinction between License and Lease

A license and a lease is distinguished inter se with following characteristics:

Sl. No.	License	Lease
1.	A personal non-heritable right.	An heritable right in rem .
2.	Creates no interest in the guarantee.	Interest created in the lessee.
3.	Non assignable	Usually assignable.
4.	Always permissive and normally revocable.	Permissive but not normally revocable.
5.	Not exclusive user	Exclusive user.
6.	A positive right.	A positive right.
7.	Denial of grantor's title does not necessarily result in forfeiture.	Denial of lessor's title results in forfeiture.
8.	Remedy for breach is damages.	Specially enforceable.
9.	No notice necessary to terminate relationship.	Notice necessary to terminate relationship.
10.	Instrument granting right does not require registration.	Instrument creating right requires registration.
11.	Does not entitle licensee to sue strangers in his own name.	Can sue in his own name.
12.	A licensee does not qualify for a vote.	May qualify for a vote.
13.	Not liable for rents	Liable.
14.	User not liable for public nuisance.	Liable.

A lease of immovable property is a transfer of a right to enjoy the property for a certain time in consideration for a price paid or promised. The price paid is called "rent". In the case of a license one person grants another a right to do or continue to do in or upon immovable property of the grantor, something which would, in the absence of such a right be unlawful, and such right does not amount to an easement or an interest in the property. The underlying assumption in the case of a license remains that the owner continues to be in possession and control of the property, and it is non-transferable, and not exercisable even by servants or agents. A licensor's transferee of the property is not bound as such by the license, it is revocable except in certain cases.

Such rent shall be payable by the Lessee to the Lessor's [designated Bankers..... (insert the name of bankers) for and on behalf of the Lessor] within seven days of the same becoming due and payable. The lease rent shall be due and payable on the first day of each calendar month, commencing from the calendar month in which the period of lease commences, provided that the lease rent for the calendar month in which the period of lease commences shall become payable on the commencement of the lease period. Lessee will pay on demand as late charges, an amount equal to two per cent (2%) per month of each instalment of lease rent or part thereof that remains unpaid for a period of more than seven (7) days. It is expressly understood by the parties hereto that time shall be the essence of this Agreement, in so far as it relates to the obligations or commitments of the lessee.

4. WARRANTIES: The Lessee has made the selection of the Equipment based upon its own judgement prior to the purchase thereof by the Lessor and expressly declares that it has not relied upon any statements or representations made by Lessor, makes no express or implied warranties including those of merchantability or fitness for particular use of the Equipment and hereby disclaims the same. The Lessor shall not be responsible for any repairs, service or defects in the Equipment or the operation thereof. However, the Lessor agrees that Lessee shall be entitled to the benefits of the manufacturer's warranties in respect of the Equipment.

5. TITLE, IDENTIFICATION, OWNERSHIP OF EQUIPMENT: No right, title or interest in the Equipment shall pass to Lessee by virtue of these presents. Conditioned upon Lessee's compliance with and fulfilment of the term of conditions of this Agreement, the Lessee shall have the right to have and retain possession and use of the Equipment for the full term of lease including the extended term if agreed to. Lessor may require plates or makings to be affixed to or placed on the Equipment, indicating Lessor's interests therein (and the interests of its Bankers). Lessor and Lessee hereby confirm that their intent is that the Equipment shall at all times remain the property of the Lessor. Lessee also agrees and undertakes not to sell, assign, sublet, pledge, hypothecate or otherwise encumber or suffer a lien upon or against any interest in this Agreement or the Equipment, or to remove except for the purposes of repairs with prior intimation to the Lessor the Equipment from the factory or office site where originally put to use or allow any third person to use the equipment without the prior consent of the Lessor in writing.

6. The equipment hereunder leased, will be delivered by the manufacturers/suppliers to the location specified by Lessee. Lessor shall not be responsible for any damage incurred to the Equipment during delivery. Lessor will request the manufacturers/suppliers to effect delivery on or before the date of commencement of the rentable, but if for whatever reasons, delivery is not affected by the manufacturers/suppliers by the date, lessor shall not be liable for any loss suffered by the Lessee thereby. Lease rentals shall be deemed to commence from the date of disbursement for the actual purchase made with the consent of the lessee.

7. INDEMNITY: Lessee agrees to comply with all laws, regulations and orders relating to the possession, operation, and use of the Equipment and assumes all risks and liabilities arising from or pertaining to the possession, operation or use of the Equipment. Lessee does hereby agree to indemnify and keep indemnified and hold safe and harmless the Lessor from and covenants and undertakes to defend Lessor against any and all claims, costs, expenses, damages and liabilities whether civil or criminal, of any nature whatsoever, arising from or pertaining to the use, possession, operation or transportation of the Equipment. Any fees, taxes or other lawful charges paid by Lessor upon failure of Lessee to make such payments, shall become immediately due from Lessee to make such payments, shall become immediately due from Lessee to Lessor. Lessee further covenants and undertakes to indemnify and keep indemnified the Lessor against loss of Equipment by seizure by any person other than the Lessor for any reason whatsoever, or resulting from any form of legal process initiated by any person other than the Lessor, provided that such indemnity shall not cover such loss as arises out of any neglect or default on the part of the Lessor. Lessee further agrees to indemnify and keep indemnified the lessor against all risks and liabilities whether civil or criminal, arising from the possession, use, operation or storage of the Equipment and for injuries or deaths of persons or damage to property arising from the above.

8. USE, INSPECTION: Lessee will cause the Equipment to be operated in accordance with manufacturers' manuals or instructions, if any, and in so far as applicable by competent and duly qualified personnel only and in accordance with applicable Government regulations, if any, and for business purposes only. Lessor shall have the right from time to time during the normal business hours on any working day to enter upon Lessee's premises or elsewhere after prior notice for the purpose of confirming the existence, condition and proper maintenance of the Equipment.

9. REPAIRS, LOSS AND DAMAGE: During the term of the Lease and any renewal thereof, Lessee, at its own cost and expenses will keep all Equipments in good repair, condition and working order and shall furnish all parts, mechanisms, devices and servicing required thereof. All such parts, mechanisms and devices shall immediately be deemed part of the Equipment for all purposes hereof and shall become the property of the Lessor. In the event, any item of Equipment is lost, stolen or destroyed or damaged beyond repair for any reason, Lessee shall promptly pay the Lessor the instalments of lease rentals then remaining unpaid less insurance claims received by Lessor, in respect of insurance effected in pursuance of this Agreement, whereupon Lessor will transfer to Lessee, without recourse of warranty, all of Lessor's right, title and interest, if any, in such items. If, however, the insurance claim received by the Lessor exceeds the amount of unpaid rentals, the Lessor shall forthwith pay the difference to the Lessee.

10. INSURANCE: Lessee shall obtain and maintain for the entire term of this Agreement at its own expense, comprehensive insurance against loss or destruction or damage to the Equipment including without limitations destruction or loss by fire, theft and such other risks or loss as are customarily insured against on the type of Equipment leased hereunder and by businesses in which Lessee is engaged and in such amounts as shall be satisfactory to lessor, provided however that the amount of insurance against loss or destruction or damage to the Equipment shall not be less than the greater of the full replacement value of the Equipment or the instalments of lease rentals then remaining unpaid hereunder plus any renewal options entered into pursuant to this Agreement. Each insurance policy will name Lessee as insured and note Lessor's (and its Bankers') interests as loss payee. Lessee shall furnish to Lessor a certificate of insurance or other satisfactory evidence that such insurance coverage is in effect.

11. FURTHER ASSURANCE:

- (a) During the term of this Agreement, Lessee shall provide if so asked for by Lessor annual audited accounts of the Lessee.

- (b) Lessor hereby covenants that the Equipment is the absolute property of the Lessor and undertakes not to sell or transfer the same to any party except as to hypothecate, mortgage or create a charge in favour of a Bank or Financial Institution. The Lessor shall inform the Lessee of any such mortgage or hypothecation.
- (c) Lessee irrevocably agrees that the lease rentals will be increased by any incremental taxes, if any, whether Sales Tax or Excise Duties or any other related and consequential charges, if any, levied on this transaction now or hereafter as also by any increase in purchase price of the asset in the intervening period between placement of the order and its acceptance and the eventual delivery of the Equipment. The lease rentals have been stipulated in the assumption that the lessor shall be entitled to claim in his income tax assessment investment allowance @25% of the cost of Equipment and depreciation @..... in the first year, and% every year subsequently on reducing balances. The lessee agrees that the lease rentals shall be suitably increased if such investment allowance or depreciation is not allowed at all or at rates given above or due to any changes in the tax laws in respect thereof.
- (d) Lessee further irrevocably stipulates that at no time during the period of this lease agreement will the Lessee attempt to capitalise the leased asset on Lessee's balance sheet and Lessee and Lessor irrevocably agree that ownership of the Equipment during the tenure of the lease as specified herein and inclusive of any renewal options that the parties hereto may concur to indisputably vests with the Lessor.
- (e) The Lessor does hereby agree to indemnify and keep indemnified and hold safe and harmless the Lessee from and against any loss or damage caused to or suffered by the Lessee on account of any action taken by the Bank or Financial Institution for non-satisfaction or breach of the conditions of the loan granted by the Bankers to the Lessor. In case of Lessor's failure to make payment of principal and/or interest of the loan and on being called upon by the Bank or Financial Institution to pay to them all or any instalments of rental and the Lessee making such payment the Lessor agrees that such payment to the Bankers or Financial Institution made by the Lessee of the sums due under this Agreement, shall be considered as having been paid to the Lessor, towards the Lessor's dues hereunder. In that event, the Bank shall have no right of recourse to possession of Equipment so long as the Lessee meets with lease rental payments falling due under this Agreement.
- (f) The Lessor hereby agrees to inform its Bankers about this arrangement and obtain their confirmation to the same.

12. SURRENDER: Upon expiration or earlier termination of the lease, Lessee shall deliver to the Lessor the said Equipment at such a place as Lessor may specify in good repairable condition and working order, normal wear and tear resulting from the proper use of the Equipment and damage by fire not caused by the negligence of the Lessee shall be excepted.

13. EVENTS OF DEFAULT: An event of default shall occur hereunder if Lessee:

- (a) fails to pay any instalment of lease rentals or part thereof or other payment required hereunder when due and such failure continues for a period of 10 days after written notice is sent from Lessor; or
- (b) fails to perform or observe any other covenant condition or agreement to be performed or observed by it hereunder or breaches any representation or provision contained herein or in any other document furnished to the Lessor in connection herewith and such failure or breach continues unremedied for a period of ten days (if such breach is capable of being remedied within ten days) after written notice is sent from the Lessor; or
- (c) without Lessor's consent, attempts to remove (except for repairs), sell, transfer, encumber, part with possession or sublet any item of Equipment; or

- (d) shall commit an act of bankruptcy or become insolvent or bankrupt or make an assignment for the benefit of creditors, or consent to the appointment of a Trustee or Receiver or either shall be appointed for Lessee or for substantial part of its property without its consent, or bankruptcy, reorganisation or insolvency proceedings shall be instituted by or against Lessee; or
- (e) shall suffer an adverse material change in the financial condition from the date hereof, and as a result thereof Lessor deems itself or any of its equipment to be insecure; or
- (f) shall be in default under any other agreement at any time executed with Lessor.

14. REMEDIES: Upon the occurrence of any default and at any time thereafter the Lessor would declare all future rentals due and to become due hereunder for the full term of the lease immediately due and payable and on such declaration being made by Lessor, Lessee shall forthwith provide to the Lessor the present value of the said sums due discounted at the rate of 12% per annum and upon Lessee failing to make the said payment within 30 days thereof Lessor may in its discretion do any one of the following:

- (a) Take action for recovery as liquidated damages for loss of bargain and not as penalty, of any amount equal to all unpaid lease rental payment which in the absence of a default would have been payable by Lessee hereunder for the full term thereof plus interest thereon at the rate of 2% p.m. for the period until receipt of the said amount;
- (b) Upon notice to Lessee terminate this Agreement and all Schedules executed pursuant hereto and forfeit the amounts paid by Lessee by way of rentals and demand the Lessee to return all equipment to Lessor at Lessor's own risk and expenses in the same condition as delivered, ordinary wear and tear and damage by fire not caused by the negligence of Lessor excepted, at such location as the Lessor may designate and upon failure of Lessee to do so within 14 days from the date of demand, enter upon premises where such Equipment is located and take immediate possession of and remove the same, all without liability to Lessor or its Agent for such entry or for damage to property or otherwise. Lessor may detach and dismantle the Equipment from any part of the freehold or process machinery to which it may be affixed without the written permission of Lessee;
- (c) Sell all the Equipments at public or private sale or lease to others with 7 days' Notice on account and at the risk of Lessee and appropriate the net sale proceeds or realisation of rental towards the present value of all the future rentals declared to be immediately due and payable at the rate of 12% per annum as aforesaid and to recover from the Lessee the shortfall or deficit together with interest thereon at the rate of 2% p.m. but the Lessor shall not in any such action or for duty to account to Lessee for such action or for any surplus realised by the Lessor by sale or lease.

The remedy referred to hereinabove is intended to be in addition to any other remedy available to Lessor at law provided however that on the Lessee making payment to the Lessor at any time before action under Clauses (a) or (b) above taken by Lessor of the present value of all future lease rentals as provided herein before, the Lessee shall retain all the equipment leased hereunder for its own use and the Lessor further undertakes to transfer all its title and interest on the said Equipment to the Lessee on receipt of payment as referred to hereinabove.

15. WAIVER: Any expressed or implied waiver by the Lessor of any default shall not constitute a waiver of any other default by Lessee or a waiver of any of Lessor's right. All original rights and powers of the Lessor under this Agreement will remain in full force, notwithstanding any neglect, forbearance or delay in the enforcement thereof, by the Lessee of this Agreement shall not be deemed as waiver of any continuing or recurring breach by the Lessee of this Agreement.

16. NOTICES: Any notices or demands required to be given herein shall be given to the parties hereto in writing and by post or by hand delivery at the address herein set forth or to such other addresses as the parties hereto may hereafter substitute by written notice given in the manner prescribed herein above.

17. This Agreement and other contracts executed between the parties hereto pursuant to this Agreement cannot be cancelled or terminated except as expressly provided herein. Lessee hereby agrees that Lessee's obligations to pay all lease rentals and any other amounts owing hereunder shall be absolute and unconditional. This Agreement cannot be amended except in writing and shall be binding upon and to the benefit of the parties hereto their permitted successors and assigns.

18. The captions in this Agreement are for convenience only and shall not define or limit any of the terms hereof.

19. ARBITRATION: All disputes, differences, claims and questions, whatsoever, which shall arise either during the subsistence of this Agreement or afterwards between the parties and/or their respective representatives touching these presents or any clause or thing herein, contained or otherwise in any way relating to or arising from these presents shall be referred to the arbitration of two Arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party to the dispute and such arbitration shall be in accordance with and subject to the provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 or any statutory modification or re-enactment thereof for the time being in force.

20. By execution hereof, the signor hereby certifies that he has read this Agreement, including the Schedule hereto and that he is duly authorised to execute this Agreement on behalf of the Lessee.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- Sale of immovable property is governed by the provisions of Transfer of Property Act, 1882. A transaction of a sale of immovable property usually involves two documents, e.g., agreement to sell and the conveyance deed i.e. sale deed. But with only a sale deed the transaction of sale can be completed.
- Before drafting the conveyance or sale deed for the immovable property, it is necessary that the title of the property be investigated and it should be ensured that the title to the property is proved as good and marketable.
- A sale deed must be properly drafted adhering to all the principal conditions prescribed under the Transfer of Property Act to acquire a perfect title to the property being purchased by the company.
- The Transfer of Property Act, 1882 deals with the mortgage of immovable property alone. It does not deal with movable at all. Therefore, it cannot be regarded as forbidding the mortgage of movable property.
- The transferor in the case of a mortgage is called a ‘mortgagor’ and the transferee as ‘mortgagee’, the principal money and interest of which payment is secured for the time being are called the ‘mortgage money’ and the instrument, if any, by which a transfer is effected is called a “mortgage deed”.
- A deed of mortgage may be drafted either as a deed poll on behalf of the mortgagor in favour of the mortgagee or as a deed between the mortgagor and mortgagee as parties.
- The Indian Easements Act, 1882 contains the statutory provisions governing licenses. Under the Act, a license may be granted by any one in the circumstances and to the extent in and to which he may transfer his interest in the property affected by the license.
- A license ordinarily carries with it the incident of non-transferability. A license cannot be transferred by the licensee or exercised by his servants or agents. The only exception to this rule is that, unless a different intention is expressed or necessarily implied, a license to attend a place of public entertainment may be transferred by the licensee.
- The revocation of license may be expressed or implied. The general rule is that subject to the agreement between the parties, all licenses are revocable at the will of the licensor. However, there are certain exceptions to this rule.
- A mere deed of license need not be registered unless any right, title or interest in immovable property of the value of Rs. 100 or more is created, declared, assigned, limited or extinguished.
- Lease is a contract between lessor and lessee for the fixed term for the use on hire of a specific asset selected by lessee. Lessor retains ownership of the assets and lessee has possession and use of the asset on payment of specified rental over a period. It is a sort of contractual arrangement between the two parties whereby one acquires the right to use the property called “lessee” and the other who allows the former the right to use his owned property, called the “lessor”.
- Before taking up drafting of the lease documents one is expected to be thorough with all the essential legal aspects involved in a lease transaction. The essential legal elements of lease are (i) the parties i.e. lessor or lessee; (ii) the subject matter of lease i.e. the property to be leased; (iii) demise or partial transfer of such property; (iv) the term and period of lease; and (v) the consideration or rent.
- The main document to complete the leasing transaction between the lessor and the lessee is the lease agreement or lease deed which contains all the conditions and covenants binding the parties to the lease transaction.

SELF TEST QUESTIONS

(These are meant for recapitulation only. Answers to these questions are not to be submitted for evaluation)

1. Discuss in brief legal provisions governing sale of immovable property. What are the essentials of a sale of an immovable property with special reference to a company.
2. What precautions will you take while drafting a deed of sale of immovable property? Discuss in brief various components of a sale deed of immovable property.
3. Discuss in brief legal provisions governing sale by liquidator of company in voluntary liquidation. Also draft a specimen deed governing such a sale.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The deed of assignment stipulates what kind of rights have been assigned. An important aspect of intellectual property laws deals with assignment agreements. An assignment agreement is an intellectual property (IP) transaction that deals with the ownership and disposition of intellectual property rights as well as with the control over the use of or access to intellectual property.

A partnership deed is a document that outlines in detail the rights and responsibilities of all parties to a business. It has the force of law and is designed to guide the partners in conducting the business.

Trusts continue to form an important role in the wealth management strategy of many people in India and abroad. The most important and vital part of a trust is the expression of an intention to create a trust which should be expressed in the deed in unequivocal language and with reasonable certainty.

A gift is a common mode of transfer of property. It is the transfer of certain existing moveable or immovable property by one person to another. The transfer should be made voluntarily and without consideration.

A detailed discussion on assignment, partnership, trust and gift has been given in the study lesson to disseminate information about the essential requirements that need to be considered while drafting assignment deeds, partnership deeds, trust deeds and gift deeds.

DEEDS OF ASSIGNMENT

An assignment is a form of transfer of property and it is commonly used to refer the transfer of an actionable claim or a debt or any beneficial interest in movable property.

A transfer of an actionable claim is usually called an assignment thereof. Section 3 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 defines an actionable claim as:

“Actionable claim means a claim to any debt, other than a debt secured by mortgage of immovable property or by hypothecation or pledge of moveable property or to any beneficial interest in moveable property not in the possession, either actual or constructive, of the claimant, which the Civil Courts recognise as affording grounds for relief, whether such debt or beneficial interest be existent, accruing, conditional or contingent.”

The term assignment is, however, of wider import. It is well settled that a transfer of property clearly contemplates that the transferor has an interest in the property which is sought to be conveyed. Section 130 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 lays down the mode of transfer of actionable claim. It prescribes:

- (1) The transfer of an actionable claim whether with or without consideration shall be effected only by the execution of an instrument in writing signed by the transferor or his duly authorised agent, and shall be complete and effectual upon the execution of such instrument, and thereupon all the rights and remedies of the transferor whether by way of damages or otherwise, shall vest in the transferee, whether such notice of the transfer as is hereinafter provided be given or not;

Provided that every dealing with the debt or other actionable claim by the debtor or other person from or against whom the transferor would, but for such instrument of transfer as aforesaid, have been entitled to recover or enforce such debt or other actionable claim, shall (save where the debtor or other person is a party to the transfer or has received express notice thereof as hereinafter provided) be valid as against such transfer.

- (2) The transferee of an actionable claim may, upon the execution of such instrument of transfer as aforesaid, sue or institute proceedings for the same in his own name without obtaining the transferor’s consent to such suit or proceedings, and without making him a party thereto.”

Every notice of transfer of an actionable claim must be in writing signed by the transferor or his agent duly authorised in this behalf, or in case the transferor refuses to sign, by the transferee or his agent, and must state the name and address of the transferee. (Transfer of Property Act, 1882, Section 131).

ASSIGNMENT OF BUSINESS DEBT

A sum due is the same thing as a debt due. It may be now payable or will become payable in future by reason of a present obligation. There must be an existing obligation to pay a sum of money now or in future. It includes book debts, debts due on a bond, provident fund, arrears of rent, amount due on settlement of account between principal and agent, master and servant, wages which have accrued due, money due under an insurance policy, claim to money deposited for the due performance of a duty, surplus left with the vendee of property, etc. A debt is property. It is an actionable claim and is heritable and assignable and it is treated as property under the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and is known as “actionable claim”.

Consideration for Assignment

A debtor cannot claim or take advantage of non-payment of consideration for assignment. Section 130 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 specifically lays down that an assignment of an actionable claim may be with or without consideration. Passing of the property in the assigned property does not depend on the payment of consideration. The question of payment of consideration is in fact one between the assignor and the assignee.

Liability of Transferee of an actionable claim

Section 132 of Transfer of Property Act provides that the transferee of an actionable claim shall take it subject to all the liabilities and equities to which the transfer was subject in respect thereof at the date of transfer.

Warranty of Solvency of a Debtor

Section 133 of Transfer of Property Act provides that solvency of the debtor at the time of transfer is to be taken into account for purposes of warranty by the transferor. In case the transfer has been made for consideration, the warranty is limited to the amount or value of such consideration.

ASSIGNMENT OF SHARES IN A COMPANY

Section 44 of the Companies Act, 2013 defines the nature of property in the shares of a company. It lays down: “The shares or debentures or other interest of any member in a company shall be movable property, transferable in the manner provided by the articles of the company.”

The definition of “goods” in the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, specifically includes stocks and shares. Hence, it is necessary to provide by the articles the manner in which transfer of shares are to be affected.

A "share" in a company is a right to a specified amount of the share capital of the company, carrying with it certain rights and liabilities, while the company is a going concern and in the winding up. It represents the interest of the holder measured for purposes of liability and dividend by a sum of a money.

A company cannot refuse to transfer shares except as provided by its articles*. It is well settled that unless the articles otherwise provide, a shareholder has a free right to transfer his shares to whom he chooses. It is not necessary to look to the articles for a power to transfer, since that power is given by the Act. It is only necessary to look to the articles of association to ascertain the mode of transfer and the restrictions upon it.

As between buyer (transferee) and seller (transferor) of shares, the buyer is entitled to all dividends declared after the contract of sale, unless otherwise agreed. Whatever may be the agreement, a transfer of shares after declaration of dividend, does not, as against the company, carry the dividend, even though the transfer may be cum-dividend.

A Specimen of Deed of Assignment of Shares in a Company

THIS ASSIGNMENT is made this day of between AB, son of, resident of..... (hereinafter called "the Assignor") of the one part, and CD, son of....., resident of (hereinafter called "the Assignee") of the other part.

THE DEED WITNESSES:

ASSIGNMENT OF POLICIES OF INSURANCE

Policies of insurance are principally of two types (1) insuring risk to life of a person, and (2) covering various risks relating to goods. Under the former, a sum of money is secured to be paid on the death of the person whose life is insured. The latter is a contract whereby an insurer undertakes to indemnify the assured, his nominees, assigns, heirs and legal representatives against the loss of and/or damage to goods. A contract of insurance is complete when the proposal of the assured is accepted by the insurer, whether the policy of insurance is issued or not. For the purpose of showing when the proposal was accepted, a reference has to be made to the insurance cover or other customary memorandum of the contract; although it may be unstamped.

Insurable interest in the subject-matter insured is a pre-requisite of a contract of insurance and for the success of an insurance claim the assured or the claimant, as the case may be, must be interested in the subject-matter insured at the time of the loss.

An insurable interest in the subject-matter insured is a right which is capable of assignment. An insurance policy may be transferred by assignment unless it contains terms expressly prohibiting assignment. It must be assigned before death in the case of a life insurance policy and it may be assigned either before or after loss in the case of a marine or good policy. The assignee can sue on the policy of insurance in his own name and can defend an action on any ground available to the assignor. The policy may be assigned by endorsement thereon or in other customary manner. An assured who has no insurable interest in the subject-matter insured cannot assign. Where an assured who has lost interest in the subject matter by transfer and has not, before or at the time of transferring the subject matter, expressly or impliedly agreed to assign the policy, any subsequent assignment of the policy is inoperative.

A Specimen of Deed of Assignment of Policy of Life Assurance

THIS ASSIGNMENT made this..... day of..... between AB, son of....., resident of..... (hereinafter known as “the assignor”) of the one part and CD, son of..... resident of..... (hereinafter known as “the assignee”) of the other part.

WHEREAS a policy of assurance being No..... for Rs..... (Rupees.....) was issued by the Life Insurance Corporation of India on the life of the assignor on the..... day of..... to be paid to the assignor or to his executors, administrators or assigns after his death, subject to the annual premium of Rs.....;

AND WHEREAS the said AB has agreed to transfer and assign to the said CD the said policy of assurance of a sum of Rs..... (Rupees.....); THIS DEED WITNESSES that in consideration of the sum of Rs..... (Rupees.....) the receipt whereof the said AB hereby acknowledges, the said AB as beneficial owner, hereby transfers and assigns unto and to the use and for the benefit of CD the hereinbefore recited policy of assurance, and the sum of Rs..... (Rupees.....) hereby assured and all the other moneys, benefits and advantages to be had, recovered or obtained under or by virtue of the said policy:

TO HOLD the same unto and to the use of the said CD absolutely, subject to the conditions as to payment of future premiums and otherwise to be henceforth observed in receipt of the said policy:

AND the said AB hereby covenants with the said CD that he, the said AB, shall not do, or knowingly suffer anything to be done, whereby the said policy may be rendered void or voidable or the said CD or his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns may be prevented from receiving the said sum of Rs..... (Rupees.....) or any benefit thereunder.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the assignor and the assignee do hereto affix their respective signatures on the day, month and the year stated above.

ASSIGNMENT OF PATENTS

Patent is a right, granted by the Government under the Patents Act, 1970 to the grantee, of exclusive privileges of making or selling a new invention or process protected under the patent. The Act confers upon the patentee the right to safeguard his property in the patent and sue the person who infringes upon his patent right.

After a complete specification in pursuance of an application for a patent has been accepted and on the request of the applicant, the Controller shall cause the patent to be sealed with the seal of the Patent Office under Section 43 of the Patents Act, 1970. Section 48 of the Act, confers upon the Patentee where the subject matter of the patent is a product, the exclusive right to prevent third parties who do not have his consent from the act of making, using, offering for sale, selling or importing for those purposes that product in India. Where the subject matter of the patent is a process, the patentee is given exclusive right to prevent third parties who do not have his consent from the act of using that process and from the act of using, offering for sale, selling or importing for those purposes the product obtained directly by that process in India provided that the product obtained is not a product in respect of which no patent shall be granted under this Act.

Section 68 of the Act makes provision with regard to the assignment of patents. The Section lays down:

“An assignment of a patent or of a share in a patent, a mortgage, licence or the creation of any other interest in a patent shall not be valid unless the same were in writing and the agreement between the parties concerned is reduced to the form of a document embodying all the terms and conditions governing their rights and obligations and the application for registration of such document is filed in the prescribed manner with the Controller within six months from the execution of the document or within such further period not exceeding six months in the aggregate as the Controller on application made in the prescribed manner allows:

Provided the document shall, when registered, have effect from the date of its execution.”

Section 69 of the Act dealing with registration of assignments prescribes: “Where any person becomes entitled by assignment, transmission or operation of law to a patent or to a share in a patent or becomes entitled as a mortgagee, licensee or otherwise to any other interest in a patent, he shall apply in writing in the prescribed manner to the Controller for the registration of his title, or, as the case may be, of notice of his interest in the register.”

Section 70 of the Act empowers the person or persons registered as grantee or proprietor of a patent to assign, grant licences under, or otherwise deal with, the patent and to give effectual receipts for any consideration for any such assignment, licence or dealing. The Section further lays down that any equities in respect of the patent may be enforced in like manner as in respect of any other moveable property.

ASSIGNMENT OF TRADE MARKS

A trade mark is visual symbol in the form of a word, a device or a label applied to articles of commerce with a view to indicate to the purchasing public that the goods manufactured or otherwise dealt in by a particular person are distinguished from similar goods manufactured or dealt in by other persons. By virtue of such an affixture of the trade mark the person who sells his goods under the particular trade mark acquires an exclusive right subject to certain conditions, to the use of the mark in relation to those goods. Such a right acquired by use is recognised as a form of property in the trade mark, and protected under Common Law. A person can also acquire a similar right over a trade mark, not so far used but only proposed to be used, by registering it under the Trade Marks Act, 1999. It may be pointed out here that prior to Trade Marks Act, 1999, the law governing trade marks was stipulated under the Trade and Merchandise Marks Act, 1958. In view of the developments in trading and commercial practices increasing globalisation of trade and industry, the need to encourage investment flows and transfer of technology, need for simplification and harmonization of trade mark management and to give effect to important judicial decisions, the said Act was amended and the new Trade Marks Act, 1999 was passed to provide for registration of trade marks for goods as well as services including prohibition to the registration of imitation of well known trade marks and expansion of grounds for refusal of registration.

A trade mark is property, but its precise nature differs substantially from other forms of property with which most people are familiar. It is not necessary that the trade mark chosen by a trader should be the result of inventive skill or intellectual labour. The word or device adopted for a trade mark may be some common place or thing. Subject to certain minimum conditions, the owner of the mark, whether registered or unregistered, theoretically at least, gets a perpetual right to the exclusive use of it in relation to the particular goods in respect of which it is registered or used.

The object of trade mark law is to deal with the precise nature of the right which a person can acquire in respect of trade marks; the mode of acquisition of such rights, the method of transfer of those rights to others, the precise nature of infringement of such rights, and the remedies available in respect thereof. This branch of commercial law has undergone changes from time to time, with the changing pattern of business methods and practices. Even the very concept of a trade mark and its functions have changed. One can, therefore, expect more changes to take place in course of time.

Section 37 of the Trade Marks Act, 1999 deals with the power of registered proprietor of a trade mark to assign his rights in the trade mark. The Section lays down: "The person for the time being entered in the register as proprietor of a trade mark shall, subject to the provisions of this Act and to any rights appearing from the register to be vested in any other person, have power to assign the trade mark, and to give effectual receipts for any consideration for such assignment."

Section 38 of the Act further lays down:

"Notwithstanding anything in any other law to the contrary, a registered trade mark shall, subject to the provisions of this Chapter, be assignable and transmissible, whether with or without the goodwill of the business concerned and in respect either of all the goods or services in respect of which the trade mark is registered or of some only of those goods or services."

An unregistered trade mark, according to Section 39 of the Act, shall not be assignable or transmissible except along with the goodwill of the business concerned.

A Specimen of Deed of Assignment of a Registered Trade Mark

THIS DEED OF ASSIGNMENT made between AB, son of....., resident of..... (hereinafter called the "assignor") of the one part and CD, son of..... resident of..... (hereinafter called the "assignee") of the other part.

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHTS

Section 14 of the Copyright Act, 1957 defines “copyright” as an exclusive right subject to the provisions of the Act to do or authorise the doing of any of the acts stated thereunder in respect of a work or any substantial part thereof with regard to original literary dramatic, musical and artistic works; the cinematograph films and sound recording. The rights granted under Section 14 of the Act relate to reproduction, publication, performance, production, translation, making film or sound recording, selling or giving on hire film or sound recording, communicate film or sound recording to public and to make adaptation of the copyright work.

Section 18 of the Act deals with the assignment of copyrights. The Section lays down:

“(1) The owner of the copyright in an existing work or the prospective owner of the copyright in a future work may assign to any person the copyright either wholly or partially and either generally or subject to limitations and either for the whole term of the copyright or any part thereof;

Provided that in the case of the assignment of copyright in any future work, the assignment shall take effect only when the work comes into existence.

(2) Where the assignee of a copyright becomes entitled to any right comprised in the copyright, the assignee as respects the rights so assigned, and the assignor as respects the rights not assigned, shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as the owner of copyright and the provisions of this Act shall have effect accordingly.

With regard to the mode of assignment, Sub-section (1) of Section 19 of the Act prescribes: “No assignment of the copyright in any work shall be valid unless it is in writing signed by the assignor or by his duly authorised agent.”

A Specimen of Deed of Assignment of Copyright of a Book

THIS DEED OF ASSIGNMENT made this..... day of..... between..... (hereinafter called the “author”) of the first part and Messrs..... carrying on the business of publishers at..... (hereinafter called the “publishers”) of the second part.

WHEREAS the author is entitled to the copyright of the book known as.....;

AND WHEREAS the publishers approached the author for assignment thereof, which the author has agreed to do on the terms and conditions hereunder contained.

NOW THIS DEED OF ASSIGNMENT WITNESSES as follows:

1. In consideration of an subject to the covenants on the part of the publishers as hereinafter contained, the author does hereby grant, convey, transfer, sell, assign and assure unto and to the use of the publishers all that copyright as defined in Section 14 of the Copyright Act, 1957, of the book entitled..... on the subject of..... to have and hold the same as absolute owners thereof for the full term of copyright as prescribed by law.

2. The publishers shall so long as the said work or any adaptation, modification or translation thereof is published and sold, submit to the author twice every year once during the month of January and the other during the month of June, a statement of account showing details of copies printed, published, held in stock and sold or disposed of (Except otherwise by sale of damaged or destroyed copies) and of the profits, if any, earned thereunder.

3. The publishers shall pay or cause to be paid to the author or his nominee or nominees a royalty at the rate of..... per cent on the sale proceeds of the copies of the work or adaptations or translations thereof that may be actually published and as disclosed in the statement of account referred to in clause (2). No royalty shall be payable on any copies of the work that may be damaged or destroyed or disposed of otherwise than by regular sale.

4. That the publishers shall also pay to the author half the net profits earned by them, if any, from any transfer, sale or assignment of any of the rights comprising the copyright or from grant of any interest or license therein: provided that the publishers shall not be entitled to and shall not do or cause anything to be done in derogation of the author's rights, particularly the right to royalty reserved hereunder.

5. That the author does hereby agree to revise the work and bring it up to date or otherwise modify, alter, adapt or translate it or get it translated whenever reasonably required by the publishers provided also that the publishers will not normally require the author to do so more than once in two years; provided further that in case the author shall fail and/or neglect, and/or refuse, to revise, modify, alter, translate the work or get it translated as and when reasonably required by the publishers, they shall be at liberty to get the same done on his account by any person or persons of their choice after due notice to the author and deduct all costs, charges and expenses out of moneys payable to the author: provided also that in selecting the person proposed to revise, modify, alter, adapt or translate the work and in fixing the remuneration to be paid therefor, the author's wishes, if any, shall so far as possible, be respected by the publishers.

6. That the author has delivered (or shall deliver within a period of.....) the manuscript of the said work to the publishers.

7. That the author does hereby declare that the work of which the copyright is being hereunder assigned is entirely the original work of the author and that the same does not in any manner whatsoever violate or infringe any existing copyright or any other right of any other person or other persons; and further that it does not contain anything which may be considered as obscene, libellous, scandalous or defamatory.

8. The author hereby agrees to indemnify and keep the publishers indemnified against all claims, demands, suits and other actions and proceedings, if any, that may be instituted or taken and also against all damages, costs, charges, expenses which the publishers shall or may suffer, on account of printing, publication or sale of the said work or any part thereof, or by reason of such printing, publication and/or sale being an infringement of some other person's copyright or other rights in the work or by reason of its containing anything which may in any sense be obscene, libellous, scandalous or defamatory.

9. The publishers shall print and publish the work or cause the same to be printed and published as soon as practicable within a period of twelve months from the date of this contract, and in default thereof, the author may, by a notice in writing, call upon the publishers to print and publish the work within two months of the receipt of the said notice; and if the publishers shall still fail and/or neglect to print and/or publish the work within the said period, save and except in so far as they are prevented from doing so by circumstances beyond their control, the author shall be at liberty to rescind the contract on giving a notice to that effect to the publishers when the copyright shall revert fully to the author and all the rights of publishers shall as from that date stand determined.

10. That in case of a dispute or difference arising between the parties touching the meaning, construction, interpretation, breach or fulfilment or non-fulfilment of the terms of these presents or any clause or condition thereof, the same shall be referred to the decision and arbitration of two arbitrators, one to be nominated by each party and in case of difference of opinion between the two arbitrators to an umpire to be nominated by the arbitrators before the commencement of the reference; and the award of such arbitrators, as the case may be, shall be final and binding on both the parties and this clause shall be deemed as of submission within the meaning of the Arbitration & Conciliation Act, 1996 and its statutory modification and re-enactment.

11. That the words “author” and “publishers” or “parties” used hereinabove shall unless there be something contrary to the context, include their respective heirs, survivors, successors, representatives, executors, administrators and assigns and successors in business.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties hereto have executed these presents on the date, month and the year hereinbefore mentioned in the presence of the witness.

ASSIGNMENT OF BUSINESS AND GOODWILL AND OTHER RIGHTS AND INTERESTS

Goodwill is an intangible asset. It is easy to describe but difficult to define. It represents the value to a business attaching to all the factors, internal and external, which enable it to earn a differential return of profit on the capital employed; that is, a better return than that which arises in other comparable businesses, having regard to the nature, size, location and risk inherent in such a business, and which is capable of being enjoyed by a successor.

Goodwill has been variously defined by different commercial pundits. Some definitions are: “The goodwill of a business is the advantage, whatever it may be, which a person gets by continuing to carry on, and being entitled to represent to the outside world that he is carrying on a business, which has been carried on for some time previously.”

“The attractive force which brings in custom.”

“The benefit of a good name, reputation and connection of a business.”

“The one thing which distinguishes an old-established business from a new business at its first start.”

“The monetary measurement of the benefits attaching to the ownership of a successful business.”

“The capitalized value attaching to the differential profit-capacity of a business.”

“The whole advantage, whatever it may be, of the reputation and connection of the firm which may have been built up by years of honest work orgained by lavish expenditure of money.”

Goodwill is an intangible, but not necessarily a fictitious asset, representing the value - however difficult its appraisalment may be - to its owner, of benefits arising from the business in question, such as the sole right to enjoy the profits of the business, and, where goodwill has been acquired, the sole right of succession to the advantages of the business which have been built up in the past. Goodwill arises mainly:

- (a) by personal reputation of the owners;
- (b) by reputation of the goods dealt in;
- (c) by site monopoly or advantage;
- (d) by access to sources of supply, e.g., large quotas;
- (e) for patent and trade-mark protection;
- (f) effectiveness of publicity;

- (g) reputation of the first's goods and methods;
- (h) relationship between firm and personnel; and
- (i) growth element.

The purchaser of goodwill acquires the trade marks, patents, copyrights etc. of the business as well as the benefits of contacts and all the benefits accruing from the location, reputation, connections, organisation and other exceptional features of the business. The purchaser will seek to express the sum payable in terms of the compound or capitalised value of an annuity of future differential or "super" profits that is those profits in excess of the marginal return normally arising.

No formula can be laid down for the accurate measurement of the value of goodwill, and in practice a purchaser will be prepared to pay a sum representing a number of years' purchase of recent annual average profits, e.g. three years' purchase, according to the estimated worth to the buyer of the future earning capacity of the business, the risk of the discontinuance or diminution in true profits being duly considered.

A Specimen of Deed of Sale of a Business and Assignment of Goodwill

THIS SALE is made this..... day of....., between V (the vendor), of the one part and P (the purchaser) of the other part.

WHEREAS the said vendor is carrying on the business of.....;

AND WHEREAS the said purchaser has agreed with the said vendor for purchase by him of all the interest and goodwill in the said business, and the debts, stock-in-trade, effects and the premises on which the said business is being carried on, at the price of Rs..... and upon the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned:

AND WHEREAS the said vendor has delivered to the said purchaser the books of account and other books relating to the said business, and in the said books are set forth the accounts and particulars of the debts, respectively due and owing to and from the said vendor, and also the particulars of the contracts and engagements to which he is liable in respect of the said business.

NOW THIS DEED WITNESSES:

(1) In pursuance of the said agreement and in consideration of the sum of Rs..... (Rupees.....) paid by the said purchaser to the said vendor (the receipt whereof the said vendor hereby acknowledges), and also in consideration of the agreement hereinafter contained on the part of the said purchaser, the said vendor does hereby convey, assign and make over to the said purchaser, all the beneficial interest and goodwill of the said vendor in the said business..... so carried on by him as aforesaid, and also all the book and other debts now due and owing to him on account of the said business and all securities for the same, and also all contracts and engagements, benefits and advantages which have been entered into with the said vendor and also all the stock-in-trade, goods, fixtures, articles and things which, at the date of this Deed belong to the said vendor on account of the said business and all the rights, title and interest of the said vendor to and in the said premises, to have and to hold the premises hereby conveyed to the said purchaser absolutely;

(2) The said vendor does hereby agree with the said purchaser that he, the said vendor, will not at any time hereafter either by himself or in collaboration with any other person or persons, carry on the said business of..... within..... kilometers of.....;

(3) The amounts and particulars of the debts respectively due and owing to and from the said vendor on account of the said business and the particulars of the contracts and engagements to which he is liable with respect to the said business, are correctly stated and set forth in the books of account and other books delivered by the said vendor to the said purchaser;

(4) The said vendor will pay all the sums (if any) which may now be due and owing from the said business in excess of the amounts which in the said books appear to be so due and owing;

(5) The said vendor has full right to sell and assign the said premises hereby sold and assigned to the said purchaser and will not at any time hereafter revoke, annul and make void the aforesaid power or authority hereby given to the said purchaser, or do or execute or knowingly or willingly suffer any act, deed or thing, whereby the said purchaser may be prevented from having and receiving the said premises or any part thereof, to and for his own use and benefit, or by means whereof the said purchaser shall be injured in the said business; and

(6) The said vendor will, from time to time and at all times hereafter, use his best endeavours to promote the said business and to give to the purchaser full advantage of the connections and customs of the said vendor, in the said business.

AND THIS DEED ALSO WITNESSES, that in pursuance of the said agreement in this behalf and in consideration of the premises, the said purchaser does hereby agree with the said vendor that he, the said purchaser, will, from time to time and at all times hereafter, keep harmless and indemnified the said vendor and his estate and effects from and against the several sums of money which by the said books appear to be due and owing from the said vendor in respect of the said business and also from and against the contracts and engagements to which by the said books the said vendor appears to be now liable, and also interests, costs, expenses, losses, claims and demands on account of the said debts, contracts and engagements respectively.

It is further agreed that the names of the parties hereto shall, unless inconsistent with the context, include as well the heirs, administrators or assigns of the respective parties as the parties themselves.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the said vendor and the said purchaser have hereto respectively signed on the day, month and the year above-written.

PARTNERSHIP DEEDS

INTRODUCTION

A detailed discussion of the Partnership Act, 1932 is not within the scope of this Study. Students are, therefore, advised to study the Indian Partnership Act, 1932 in detail on their own so as to acquaint themselves, inter alia, with the nature, formation, registration and dissolution of partnership. However, introductory observations on some of the relevant aspects of the partnership are made below.

Partnership - Its Nature and Meaning

Partnership is an association of two or more like minded persons formed with a common objective to establish a lawful business house of their choice with the idea of earning profits. However, in any business enterprise the possibility of its incurring loss cannot be ruled out. Therefore, all partners of a firm mutually agree to share all profits and losses of the business amongst them according to their predetermined shares/proportions fixed by them in the partnership agreement.

Partnership is defined in Section 4 of the Partnership Act, 1932 as a relation between persons who have agreed to share profits of business carried on by all or any one of them acting for all. Partnership requires three elements – (a) an agreement entered into by all persons concerned; (b) distribution of the profits of business; and (c) management of the business by all or any one or more of them acting for all, i.e., mutual agency. Out of these three, the third element, i.e., the element of mutual agency, is most essential and it distinguishes partnership from other type of contractual relationship between the parties. If this element is absent the partnership fails. One partner is not only an agent of the firm but also of the other partners and, if so, can bind another which falls within the scope of partnership subject to limitation under Section 20 of the Act.

A partnership is distinguishable from associations e.g., clubs, societies, co-operative bodies and incorporated companies.

The real intention and conduct of the parties appearing from the (a) written agreement, or (b) verbal agreement together with surrounding circumstances are the tests of partnership [Cox v. Hickman (1860) 8 HLC 268].

Persons who have entered into partnership with one another are called individually partners and collectively a firm, and the name under which their business is carried on is called the firm name (Section 4 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932).

A partnership agreement usually makes provisions for the duration of the partnership or for its determination. Where no such provision is made the partnership is “partnership at will”.

Who can be Partners

The word “person” in Section 4 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932 contemplated only natural and legal persons. (Duli Chand v. C.I.T., AIR, 1956 SC 354). Partnership relation is one of contractual nature. Therefore, such persons who are competent to contract can enter into partnership. A firm or a Hindu Undivided Family is not a legal person and cannot enter into partnership with any person. When the Karta of a Joint Hindu Family enters into a partnership with strangers the other members of the family do not ipso facto become partners (Firm Bhagat Ram v. Comm. of Excess Profits Tax, AIR 1956 SC 374).

A minor cannot be a partner in a firm but, with the consent of all the partners, he can be admitted to the benefits of partnership (Section 30). He is entitled to share in the profits and his share is liable for the acts of the firm, but he is not personally liable. He cannot be made liable for the losses of the firm. Within six months of attaining majority or obtaining knowledge of his admission, whichever is later, the minor may elect to become or not to become a partner in the firm.

A person may be an active partner in the firm or he or she may choose to remain a dormant or a sleeping partner only. It all depends on the contract between the parties.

Two partnership firms cannot enter into partnership as such but its partners can certainly form a new partnership. However, a partnership firm may be a member of an association or company licenced under Section 8 of the Companies Act, 2013. The limited company of which a firm may be a member should be one formed for promoting Commerce, Art, Science, Religion, Charity or any other useful object without any profit making motive. On dissolution of the firm, its membership of the association or company shall cease.

While considering applications for registration of firms with bodies corporate as partners under the Indian Partnership Act, 1932, the State Government should examine the applications before them and find out whether the memorandum and articles of association of the applicant incorporated companies contain any special article which authorise the incorporated companies to enter into partnership.

Registration of Partnership Firm

Registration of partnership firm has been made optional under the provisions of Section 58 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932. Consequences of non-registration of a partnership firm are set out in Section 69 of the Partnership Act. An unregistered firm cannot enforce a right or claim arising out of a contract against any third party. However, if the firm obtains registration on the date of institution of the claim against third person, the said claim or right would be perfectly maintainable. Since the blow of the consequences of non-registration is very severe, it is advisable to get the partnership registered under the Partnership Act, 1932 immediately on its incorporation.

Registration of Partnership Firm under the Income-tax Law

Registration of partnership under the Income-tax Law is distinct from registration of firm under the Partnership Act. Rule 22 of Income-tax Rules, 1962 provides that an application for registration of partnership firm should be accompanied with an instrument of partnership specifying the apportionment of shares of profit and losses of the business amongst the partners of the firm. This registration is required to be renewed every year under the orders of the concerned Income-tax Officer.

Partnership Deed/How Made

The partnership is based on contract. This contract may be made either orally or in writing or even may be inferred from the course of dealing between the partners. In order to avoid all disputes relating to terms of partnership, it is suggested that a written document containing terms and conditions of partnership be executed between the partners. The deed is executed by all the partners and is drafted as an agreement to carry on certain business in partnership on certain terms and conditions. Some of the terms are indicated above.

While drafting partnership deed we should incorporate all terms and conditions that govern a particular partnership business. Partners of any partnership business are normally interested in settling certain terms amongst them before they join hands to carry on business in partnership. As a draftsman of the partnership deed one should be extra careful to understand and properly incorporate in partnership deed the terms relating to the following:

- (1) Name and place of business.
- (2) Duration of the partnership.
- (3) Shares of each partnership in the profits and losses of the business.
- (4) The management of the business.
- (5) Nature of principal work agreed to be carried on in partnership.
- (6) Number of partners and initial capital employed by each one of them.
- (7) Provision and the manner for raising future capital, if required.
- (8) Work distribution, if any, of each of the partners.
- (9) Obligation of partners who are members of a partnership firm.
- (10) Operation of Bank Accounts.
- (11) Withdrawal by partners.
- (12) Accounting system of the business.
- (13) Whether place of business belongs to partnership or any individual partner.
- (14) Division/Devolution of goodwill of the business in case of dissolution of partnership.
- (15) Distribution of assets and liabilities amongst partners at the time of dissolution.

- (16) Provisions for bringing in or admitting new partners.
- (17) The effect of the death of a partner, whether his heirs will take his place, or the partnership will be continued by the remaining partners or it will stand dissolved.
- (18) Provision for resolving disputes relating to partnership if arises amongst the partners. If all partners agree to settle their partnership disputes through the intervention of some named person who may act as an arbitrator for them or even otherwise by arbitration, it is always advisable to include an arbitration clause in the partnership stating that all disputes that may arise between the partners will be resolved by reference to arbitrator under the provisions of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996.

Besides the above conditions if there are any other particular conditions which partners want to include in the partnership deed the same may suitably be incorporated therein. Language used in the partnership deed must be such that it may avoid all possible confusion relating to terms of partnership and should be easily understandable.

A draft of model partnership deed executed between two partners is given at Annexure I. A specimen form of deed extending period of partnership is given at Annexure II.

Introduction of a New Partner

Introduction of a new partner is a matter of agreement between the partners (vide Section 31 of the Partnership Act, 1932. Also see Section 42 of the said Act).

Introduction of a new partner in the existing partnership brings in a change in the constitution of the firm. A new partner cannot be admitted to the existing partnership except with the consent of all the existing partners of the firm but subject to any contract to the contrary between such partners. The person so admitted as a new partner in the existing partnership shall not be liable for any act of the firm done before he became a partner. Where the articles of partnership provide in express terms for the retirement and admission of partners, the right of retiring and introducing new partners under the agreement are fixed thereby except so far as they may be modified by the terms of a subsequent agreement. If a person enters an existing firm without specifying the terms upon which he becomes a partner, it is presumed that he accepts the terms of the original partnership articles, except as they are modified by the introduction of a new member.

A draft of model deed of agreement on admission into firm of a new partner is given at Annexure III.

Retirement and Expulsion of Partners

These matters can be regulated by the terms incorporated in a deed of partnership. Sections 32 and 33 of the Partnership Act, 1932 also make provision for these matters.

A partner may retire from a firm with the consent of all other partners. If the terms of the agreement so provide, a partner may retire by notice to the other partners. In a partnership at will also a partner can retire by giving notice in writing to all the other partners of his intention to retire. A partner can be expelled from a firm by a majority of the partners where such a power is conferred by the agreement between the partners and the power is exercised in good faith.

Nomination of Successor

It is not uncommon in partnership agreements to find a clause as to nomination of a successor who has the right to be declared and admitted as partner in the event of death or retirement of a partner. It was, however, held by the Supreme Court in Commissioner of Income Tax v. Govindram Sugar Mills, AIR 1966 SC 24, that the nomination is not effective in case of partnership firm consisting of two partners only as it stands dissolved on the death of a partner; nevertheless, in view of the rights and obligations of a person to be nominated as under Section 31 of the Act, the same principle in case of agreement between two persons is applicable in case of partnership between two partners.

Purchase of Business by a Partner

When a partnership ceases to exist and partnership business is closed its assets and liabilities are valued and thereafter every partner or his representative is entitled as against all the other partners or their representatives to have the property of the firm applied in payment of the debts and liabilities of the firm and to have the surplus distributed among the partners or their representatives according to their rights.

Dissolution of Partnership

When jural relation between all the partners inter se is snapped, this constitutes dissolution of the firm. Dissolution of a firm may take place:

- (1) Without the intervention of the Court.
- (2) With the intervention of the Court.

Dissolution without the intervention of the Court may take place:

- (a) by agreement between the parties,
- (b) by the adjudication as insolvent of all the partners or of all the partners but one.
- (c) by the business of the firm becoming unlawful,
- (d) subject to agreement between the partners:
 - (i) by the expiry of the term fixed,
 - (ii) by the death of a partner,
 - (iii) by the insolvency of a partner,
- (e) by notice in writing in case of partnership at will.

Dissolution with the intervention of the Court may be made on any of the grounds contained in Section 44 of the Partnership Act.

The mere incoming or outgoing of partners does not dissolve the firm.

A draft model each of deed of dissolution of partnership, and deed of dissolution of partnership by which one partner sells his share in partnership property to the other partner are given at Annexure IV & V respectively. Different forms of notices to dissolve partnership are given at Annexure VI.

Execution and Attestation: Registration

A deed of partnership, or of dissolution of partnership, must be executed and attested as a bond on a non-judicial stamp paper of proper value, and its registration is not compulsory; but where a deed of dissolution of a firm involves transfer of immovable property worth Rs. 100 or upwards, the deed is compulsorily registrable.

No law requires that a deed of partnership should be attested, but it is desirable that it should be attested by at least two partners. Stamp duty on an instrument of partnership and on a deed of dissolution is payable under Article 46. Schedule I to the Indian Stamp Act, 1899.

TRUST DEEDS

Introduction

A trust is defined in the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 as an obligation annexed to the ownership of property, and arising out of a confidence reposed in and accepted by the owner, or declared and accepted by him for the benefit of another or of another and the owner. (Section 3)

The person who reposes or declares the confidence is called the 'author of the trust'. The person who accepts the confidence is called the 'beneficiary'.

The subject matter of the trust is called the 'trust property' or the 'trust money'. The person or persons who manages/manage the trust property or trust money is/are called the 'trustee/trustees' of the trust. The author of the trust himself or any other person can be the trustee of the trust.

The beneficial interest or interest of the beneficiaries is/are his/their right(s) against the trustee as owner of the trust property; and the instrument by which the trust is declared is called the 'instrument of trust'.

The breach of any duties imposed on the trustee by any law for the time being in force is called 'breach of trust'.

The person creating the trust must be legally competent to contract and a trust may be created on behalf of a minor with the permission of the Civil Court of the original jurisdiction. (Section 7)

Every person capable of holding property may be a trustee. But if the trust involves exercise of discretion then he cannot execute it unless he is competent to contract. (Section 10)

A trust is, in effect, the gift by the author of property or an interest in property to a person or institution (the beneficiary) by or through the intervention of trustee. The trust property vests in the trustee and he holds it for the benefit of the beneficiary and cannot use it for his own benefit. A 'trust' is a confidence and the confidentee is the trustee.

His position is fiduciary vis-à-vis the cestui que trust (beneficiary). In a trust the author vests the property in the trustee charging him to utilise it or the income or profits arising therefrom for the benefit of the beneficiary.

A corporate body, for example, a bank or a company can both create a trust and be a trustee. In such a case it has to act through its officers/duly constituted nominees. An insolvent can also be a trustee and the trust property is not affected by his insolvency.

Objects of Trust

Section 4 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 provides that the object of the trust must be lawful. The purpose of the trust is lawful unless it is:

- (i) forbidden by law, or
- (ii) is of such a nature that, if permitted, it would defeat the provisions of any law, or
- (iii) is fraudulent, or
- (iv) involves or implies injury to the person or property of another, or
- (v) the Court regards it as immoral or opposed to public policy.

Every trust of which the purpose is unlawful is void. And where a trust is created for two purposes, of which one is lawful and the other unlawful, and the two purposes cannot be separated, the whole trust is void.

Any property which is transferable can be a subject of a trust whether it be immovable or movable. But more beneficial interest not subsisting trust cannot be made a subject of the trust. The beneficiary of the trust may be any person capable of holding property. Such person may be a sentient being or a juristic person or even a deity.

Examples of illegal trust are - trust in restraint of marriage, trust creating a perpetuity by settlement of properties intended for maintenance of persons born or to be born indefinitely. Trust to defraud a creditor.

Every trust of which the purpose is unlawful will be void and if the object is both lawful and unlawful and the two operations cannot be separated the whole trust would be void. Otherwise it will be void as far as the unlawful part of the object which can be separated. Any property which is transferable can be a subject of a trust whether it be immovable or movable. But mere beneficial interest not subsisting trust cannot be made a subject of the trust.

Public and Private Trusts

In a public trust the beneficiary is the general public or a specified section of it. In a private trust the beneficiaries are defined and ascertained individuals. In a public trust the beneficial interest is vested in an uncertain and fluctuating body of persons. The nature of the trust may be proved by the evidence of dedication or by user and conduct of parties. Where a trust is created for the benefit of the members of the settlor's family, it is a private trust and not a public trust. Every charitable trust is only a public trust as benefit to the community at large or to a section of the community is of the essence of a valid charitable trust. But a religious trust need not necessarily be a public trust as there can be a private religious trust also.

Trusts among the Hindus and the Muslims

Though Hindu religious and charitable endowments sometime partake of the nature of trusts, the Indian Trusts Act does not apply to them. Property can be dedicated to the beneficiary either by giving it to the trustee and executing a trust in the usual way or by directly dedicating it to the beneficiary.

Though wakfs are trusts, the Indian Trusts Act does not apply to wakfs under the Muslim Law. However, it is open to a Muslim to create a secular trust of a public and religious character. Such a trust would be governed by the Indian Trusts Act, 1882.

Creation of Trust

A trust in respect of immovable property can be declared only by a non-testamentary instrument in writing signed by the author of the trust or the trustee and registered or by the will of the author of the trust or of the trustee. A trust in respect of movable property can be made either by a declaration as above or by the transfer of the ownership of the property to the trustee (Section 5 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882).

In places where the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 does not apply a trust of immovable property may be created orally if the author of trust is himself the trustee and consequently no transfer of the property is involved, and all that is required is only a declaration of trust (Madanji v. Tribhuwan, 36 B 366).

If a stranger is appointed as trustee, a transfer of property is necessary and the conveyance must be made according to the law of Transfer of Property.

The deed creating a trust should contain in reasonable certainty, among others, the following:

- (a) an intention to create a trust;
- (b) the purpose of the trust;
- (c) the beneficiaries;
- (d) names of the trustee/s;
- (e) trust property;

- (f) unless the author is himself a trustee transfer of the legal ownership of the property to the trustee; and
- (g) duties, rights and liability of the settler, trustee and the beneficiary.

The deed may also provide for re-imbusement of expenses incurred by the trustee(s) in connection with the discharge of his/their duties as a trustee(s) and also all expenses properly incurred in or about the execution of the trust for the realisation, preservation or benefit of the trust property or the protection or the support of the beneficiary.

Instrument of Trust: How it is Drafted

An instrument of trust is drafted either as a deed poll or as a regular deed between the author of trust and the trustee. Where trustees are strangers and a transfer of property is involved, it is better to draft the deed as a deed between the author of trust and the trustees. Where the author is to be the trustee himself and the deed requires a mere declaration of trust, it is drafted as a deed poll. No specific words are necessary, but, whatever the words used, the deed should contain with reasonable certainty the matters mentioned under the heading 'Creation of Trust'.

While drafting a trust deed, it be seen that every clause in the deed is clear in its meaning. If there is any reference to any article, documents, rules, statutory Acts etc., the same are properly applied out. In case reference to these is to be repeated in the deed it is better to first define them and use the abbreviation in the deed subsequently.

The most important and vital part of a trust is the expression of an intention to create a trust which should be expressed in the deed in unequivocal language and with reasonable certainty. No particular or technical words are necessary but the words used must be definite and unequivocal. The intention is expressed clearly in the recitals of the deed and in the operative part also. If the trustee is a stranger the property is transferable to him "upon trust". If the author is himself the trustee, he declares in the operative part that he "dedicates" or "sets apart" the property in trust for such and such purpose and constitutes himself as the trustee.

Different directions are given to the trustees by the author as to the manner in which the trust is to be worked. These are the conditions and provisions of the trust and vary in different kinds of trusts according to the circumstances. These conditions should be clearly incorporated in the trust deed. If the situation so warrants, provision for the appointment of new trustees should also be made in the deed.

Acceptance of Trust

Acceptance of trust by trustee may be either express, e.g. by executing the deed of trust or by verbal assent, or inferred from conduct, e.g., by entering into possession of the property and on the duties as trustee. But it is always safer to have the deed of trust executed by the trustee also.

Registration and Stamp Duty

A trust created by will requires neither registration nor stamp duty. But a trust in relation to movable or immovable property which is declared by a non-testamentary instrument must be registered, irrespective of the value of the property. Deeds of wakf or of religious and charitable endowments must be registered if they relate to immovable property worth Rs. 100 and upwards.

A trust declared otherwise than by a will is chargeable to stamp duty under Article 64, Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. The stamp duty varies from State to State.

Revocation and Extinction of Trusts

A trust cannot be revoked unless (1) all the beneficiaries consent; (2) a power of revocation has been reserved in the deed; and (3) in case of a trust for payment of debts, it has not been communicated to the creditors. If the trust property is to be applied for the author's own benefit the trust can be revoked. A power of revocation may with advantage always be reserved in the deed. The declaration of trust for creating provident fund, pension fund, superannuation fund, gratuity fund etc. should be irrevocable. If they are otherwise the recognition under the Income Tax Act, 1961 will not be available to such trusts and in consequence the payment made to such funds will not be allowed as deduction in the hands of the authors of the trusts in their income tax assessments.

A trust is extinguished:

- (a) when its purpose is completely fulfilled; or
- (b) when its purpose becomes unlawful; or
- (c) when the fulfilment of its purpose becomes impossible by destruction of the trust property or otherwise; or
- (d) when the trust, being revocable, is expressly revoked.

A Specimen Deed of Revocation of a Trust

THIS DEED is made on the..... day of..... by A.B. etc. (hereinafter called “the Settlor”) of the one part AND C.D. etc. (hereinafter called “the Trustee”) of the other part.

Debenture Trust Deeds

Companies in the course of their normal business borrow funds by various modes, one such mode being the issue of debentures. An issue of debentures is usually secured by a trust deed, whereunder movable and immovable properties of the company are mortgaged in favour of the trustees for the benefit of the debenture holders. The trust deed so created, as in the case of a trust, should specify all the details which have been mentioned earlier.

In addition, the usual important conditions of debenture trust deeds may be stated as follows:

1. The trust deed usually gives a legal mortgage on block capital and a floating security on the other assets of the company in favour of the trustee on behalf of the debenture holders.
2. The trust deed gives in detail the conditions under which the loan is advanced.
3. The trust deed should specify in some detail the remuneration payable to the trustee, their duties and responsibilities in relation to the trust property.
4. It also gives in detail rights of debenture holders to be exercised through the trustees in case of default by the company in payment of interest and principal as agreed upon.

For detailed reference, see precedent given in Annexure IV.

The duty chargeable on a debenture is provided for by Article 27, Schedule I of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. The stamp duty varies from State to State. But when a trust-deed accompanying a series of debentures is duly stamped, no stamp is necessary to be affixed on the debentures if they are expressed to be issued in terms of the said trust deed. See exceptions to the Article referred to.

The debenture trust deed is registrable and can be registered with the Registrar of Assurances at the place where the registered office of the company is situated or at the place where a part of the immovable property proposed to be given in the mortgage is situate or at the metropolitan cities, namely, Delhi, Bombay, Calcutta and Madras.

Trust Deeds Constituting Provident Fund, Superannuation Fund, Pension Fund, etc.

The companies create provident fund, superannuation fund, pension fund, gratuity fund etc. through declaration of trust for the benefit of their employees. Such funds, as we have seen earlier, will have to be irrevocable and should be drafted, keeping in view the provisions of Schedule IV appended to the Income Tax Act, 1961 and the provisions of the Income Tax Rules, 1962 made thereunder.

It is essential that there should be a clause in the trust deed giving necessary powers to the trustees to make Rules for the smooth functioning of the trust on residuary matters not provided in the trust deed.

A company cannot create a provident fund trust to cover the employees governed by the Employees Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 and the Employees provident Fund Scheme, 1952 framed thereunder unless exemption has been obtained from the appropriate Government for establishing such a fund. Therefore, the provident fund trust established by the company should ordinarily cover only those employees who are not governed by the Employees Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952. Likewise the gratuity fund established by companies should ordinarily cover only those employees who are not governed by the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972. If any company wants to have a gratuity fund covering even employees who are governed by the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 then they will have to obtain the approval of the appropriate Government for this purpose.

The companies so creating the trusts will have to make an application to the Commissioner of Income-tax for recognition of the respective funds. Only on receipt of the recognition from the Commissioner of Income-tax the contribution made by a company to these will be allowed as a deduction in its assessment(s).

Various forms for trust deeds constituting Provident Fund (Annexure I), Pension Fund (Annexure II), Superannuation Fund (Annexure III) and the Debenture Trust Deed (Annexure IV) are given hereafter.

(e) "The Accumulated Balance due to a member" means the balance to the credit of the Member's Provident Fund Account or such portion thereof as may be claimable by him on the day he ceases to be a member of the Fund.

(f) "Year" means the period of twelve calendar months from the 1st of July to the 30th June or such other period of twelve months as the Company may from time to time adopt for making up its own accounts.

(g) "Salary" includes dearness allowance and commission, if the terms of employment so provide, but excludes all other allowances and perquisites.

4. That this Trust shall not be revocable except with the consent of all the members to the Fund.

5. That the money for the time being constituting the Fund shall be invested by the Trustees in such manner as may be specified from time to time by the Income-tax Rules, 1962.

Provided that in execution of the Trust and in the performance of his duties and powers hereunder conferred no trustee shall be made liable for any loss caused to the trust arising by reason of any improper investment made bona fide and in good faith or for the negligence or fraud of any agent employed by them or by reason of any error of judgement or act, default, mistake or omission done in good faith and under bona fide relief by any trustee or by reason of any other matter or thing except wilful and individual wrong or fraud on the part of the Trustee or for breach of trust who is sought to be made liable.

6. (i) The number of trustees at all times shall be three.
 - (ii) One of the trustees shall be nominated by the Board of directors of the company, who may be either a director or an officer of the company. The other two trustees shall be elected from among the members of the Provident Fund.
 - (iii) The nominees of the Board of directors of the company shall be the Chairman of the Trust.

The Trustees other than the nominee of the Board of directors shall be elected by ballot by members hereof and shall hold office as Trustees for 3 years, unless their seat become vacant earlier under Clause 7 hereafter.
 - (iv) The nominee of the Board of directors of the company shall hold office until a new representative is appointed by the Board of directors to take his place.
7. The place of a trustee shall become vacant if a Trustee (a) dies, or (b) resign his office, or (c) is adjudged an insolvent, or (d) becomes of unsound mind, or (e) is convicted of an offence involving moral turpitude, or (f) in the case of a nominee of the Board of directors of the company ceases to be a director or an officer of the company and in the case of an elected trustee ceases to be a member of the fund, or (g) fails to attend three consecutive meetings of the trustees for any reason which the trustees do not consider to be satisfactory.
8. (i) Any casual vacancy under Clause 7 above shall also be filled by holding a fresh election, in case the vacancy occurs in a seat held by an elected trustee.
 - (ii) If a seat of an elected trustee remains vacant for more than one month, the Board of directors of the company may fill the casual vacancy by appointing a trustee from among the members for such period as the election does not take place.
 - (iii) The person elected or nominated to a casual vacancy shall be a trustee for the residue of the term for which the person whose place he fills would have been a trustee.
9. (i) The trustees may meet together for the despatch of business, adjourn and otherwise regulate their meetings as they think fit. The Chairman and an elected trustee shall form a quorum. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes and in case of equality of votes the Chairman of the Trust shall have a casting vote.
 - (ii) A resolution in writing signed by all the trustees for the time being shall be as valid and effectual as if it had been passed at a meeting of the Board of Trustees duly called and constituted.
10. (i) The Board of Trustees shall be authorised to delegate any of their powers to such one or more of themselves as they may think fit, from time to time, and they may vary, alter, or rescind such powers or any of them as they from time to time think fit.
 - (ii) No act or proceedings of the trustees shall be invalidated merely by reason of the existence of a vacancy among the trustees.
 - (iii) The trustees shall cause proper minutes to be kept and entered in hand, in a book provided for the purpose, of all their resolutions and proceedings and any such minutes of any meeting of the trustees, if purporting to be signed by the Chairman of the trustees shall be receivable as prima facie evidence of the matters stated in such minutes.
11. The Fund shall be exclusively managed and administered by the Trustees in accordance with these rules, and the decision of the trustees upon any question relating to the fund or any rights or benefits in connection therewith or generally upon the interpretation of any provision of these rules shall be absolutely final and binding on all members, their executors, administrators, representatives, widows, or relatives and the employers.

The costs, charges and expenses of administering the fund and of the determination of any question arising under these rules or otherwise, including expenses incurred by the trustees in the discharge of their duties shall be charged to the fund and may be properly paid therefrom, from time to time.

Any decision of the trustees may be given under the hand of any one or more of them.

12. The trustees shall have power to employ any person or persons (including any one or more of their numbers) to do any secretarial, legal, accountancy or other work which they may consider necessary or expedient in connection with the management of the fund and to pay therefor in addition to all other proper disbursements, all ordinary or reasonable charges out of the fund.

13. (i) Every member shall subscribe to the fund at the rate of 10 per cent of his monthly salary and such percentage shall be deducted from his salary, at the time of payment thereof and shall, as soon as practicable, be paid to the trustees who shall credit the same to the account of the member in the books of the Fund.

(ii) The monthly contribution payable by the company in respect of each member shall be equal to the subscription payable by each member.

(iii) It shall be open for members to pay additional subscription to the Fund which shall be a definite proportion of his salary for that year as provided in the "Rules".

14. Subject to the previous approval by the Commissioner of Income tax, the trustees shall, with the approval of the Board of directors, be competent to vary, alter, omit, modify or add to the "Rules" of the Provident Fund.

15. The Trustees shall maintain an account of provident fund for each member of the fund and it shall include the particulars prescribed in sub-rule (2) of Rule 74 of the Income-tax Rules, 1962, and such other particulars as the Trustees hereof may, from time to time, deem necessary and expedient.

The Trustees shall furnish a statement of Provident Fund account to each member at such interval, not exceeding 12 months, in such form as the Trustees may prescribe. It shall be the duty of every member to verify the correctness of the statement as and when it is furnished to him and to bring the discrepancy, if any, to the notice of the Trustees. Such a statement shall be signed by the Trustees or by any other person specially authorised by the Trustees in this behalf.

16. The accounts of the Provident Fund Trust shall be made for each year and shall be duly audited by the auditors appointed by the Trustees with the approval of the Board of directors of the company. There shall be an annual meeting of the trustees after the close of the year and at such annual meeting of the trustees the audited accounts of the previous year of the Fund shall be presented and passed.

17. All matters of procedures and other ancillary matters not herein specifically provided for and requiring the framing of rules shall be regulated by such rules as the trustees may, in consultation with the Board of directors of the company, from time to time, make in that behalf.

Without prejudice to the general powers conferred or implied in the last preceding sub-clause, the Trustees may, in consultation with the Board of directors of the company make rules:

(i) regarding the advance of loans to the members,

(ii) regarding the mode of election of the Trustees, and

(iii) regarding the conduct of the meetings of the Trustees.

18. The Trustees shall respectively be indemnified for and against all liabilities incurred by them in bona fide execution of the Trust hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties hereto have duly executed this Trust on the date, month and year first above written.

DRAFT TRUST DEED

(Superannuation Fund)

The Superannuation Fund Trust Deed should also be drafted on the same lines as Pension Fund Trust Deed except for the following changes.

Clauses relating to the benefit accruing to the members of the fund, namely, Clauses 6 to 10, must be replaced as below:

6. On a member being permitted to retire from the service of the Company, at or after the age of 55 years, of being permitted to retire before the age of 55 years upon his being incapacitated, the Trustees shall, by payment of the amount lying at his credit in the Fund made up to the date of retirement, purchase from the Life Insurance Corporation of India an annuity for him for his life in the event of there being no nominee, or for a duration of not less than ten years certain, on either or survivors basis, jointly with the nominee(s) named in the declaration of nominations.
7. Nothing contained in this Trust Deed shall be deemed to restrict in any way the rights of the Company to terminate the employment of a member at any time nor shall his being a member be used by him as a ground for increasing damages in any action brought by him against the company in respect of termination of his employment and no expression of intention on the part of the Company herein contained shall create for the benefit of the member any legal obligation or impose any legal liability on the company.
8. Should a member die while in employment, the Trustees shall, by payment of the amount lying at his credit in the Fund made-up to the date of death, purchase from the Life Insurance Corporation of India an annuity for the first named nominee in the declaration of nominations for a duration of not less than ten years certain, on either or survivors basis, jointly with other nominees, if any.
9. If a member dies while in service without making a nomination or resigns with or without due notice from the employment of the Company or is discharged for reasons of fraud, dishonesty, criminal charges, or other misconduct inconsistent with due and faithful discharge of duty, the gross annual contribution to be made by the Company to the Fund under the provisions of clause 15(ii) above for the relevant year shall be reduced by the amount lying at the credit of such member in the Fund and the Trustees shall thereupon by cancellation of the individual account of such member utilise the credit alongwith the annual contribution by the Company, so reduced, for making up the individual accounts of the members.
10. No member shall assign, or create a charge upon his beneficial interest in or under the Fund, and if such assignment or charge is made or created, such assignment or charge shall be invalid.

In addition the Superannuation Fund Trust Deed should have the following clause:

“The Trustees shall maintain individual accounts for each member and credit thereto the contributions received, from time to time, from the Company in respect of that member. The yield from investment of funds or capital gains shall be credited to the individual members’ accounts at the end of each year pro-rata to the amount and the duration in the year of the credits in such accounts.”

DRAFT DEBENTURE TRUST DEED

THIS TRUST DEED is made this..... day of..... 2013, between..... incorporated under the Companies Act, 2013 with its registered office at..... (hereinafter called “the Company”) of the One Part, and Mr..... and Mr..... (hereinafter called “the Trustees”) of the Other Part.

WHEREAS by Sub-Clause..... of Clause..... of its Memorandum of Association, the company is authorised to borrow or raise and secure the payment of money by the issue of debentures charged upon any of the company's property.

AND WHEREAS the Directors of the company being duly empowered in that behalf by Article No. of the Articles of Association of the company have decided by a resolution passed in pursuance to Section 179 of the Companies Act, 2013 by the Board of directors in the meeting of the Board held on..... to raise a sum of Rs..... by issue of..... First Mortgage Debentures of Rs..... each, bearing interest at..... per cent per annum framed in accordance with the forms set for in the First Schedule hereto and to secure the same by mortgaging with the trustees the properties described in the Second Schedule hereto.

AND WHEREAS the trustees above mentioned have consented to act as trustees for the debenture holders.

NOW THIS DEED WITNESSETH AND IT IS HEREBY MUTUALLY AGREED TO AND DECLARED BY AND BETWEEN THE PARTIES HERETO AS FOLLOWS:

1. That in these presents unless there be something in the subject or context consistent therewith the expression following shall have the meaning hereafter mentioned, that is to say:

2. The debentures entitled to the benefit of these presents shall consist of a series of number of debentures of Rs..... each, aggregating to Rs..... in all to rank pari passu without any preference or priority by reason of the date of issue or otherwise and secured by the mortgage hereby created on the mortgaged premises.
3. The company hereby covenants with the trustees that the company will on the..... day of..... or such earlier day as the principal moneys shall become payable under clause 7 hereof pay the debenture holders the amounts secured by their debentures respectively, and in the meantime will pay interest to the debenture holders on the day of..... 20... in each year, the first payment of interest to be made on the day of..... 20...
4. All payments due by the company in respect of the Debentures issued hereunder whether of interest, principal or premium shall be made by cheque or warrant drawn by the company on its bankers and the company shall make at its own expenses all arrangements, with its Bankers as shall be necessary to ensure that such cheques or warrants shall be encashable for the amount for which they are expressed without any deduction whatsoever at the office of its bankers in Delhi or such other places in the Union of India as the Trustees may require.

5. In consideration of the debentures hereby authorised aggregating to Rs..... the company, as the beneficial owner, hereby mortgages unto the trustees all the fixed plant and machinery and fixture at present existing at the company's factory and described in part A of the Second Schedule hereto and which may be acquired by the company hereafter or fixed or erected hereafter at its factory for the benefit of the debentureholders and the property described in Part B of the Second Schedule as security for the due payment of principal moneys amounting to Rs..... in aggregate with interest and all other charges, expenses and other dues, the payment of which has been secured by a charge on the mortgaged premises under these presents. The charge hereby created on the property mentioned in Part A of the Second Schedule shall be the specified charge, while that on the property included in Part B of the Second Schedule shall rank as floating charges.

The trustees may, at any time, by notice in writing to the company, convert the said floating charge into a specific charge as regards any assets included in the Second Schedule and specified in the notice in case it is, in the opinion of the trustees in danger of being seized or sold under any sort of distress or execution levied or threatened or in any other case.

6. The company shall hold and enjoy all the mortgaged premises and carry on therein and therewith the business or any of the business mentioned in the Memorandum of Association of the company until the security hereby constituted shall become enforceable under the terms of these presents, in which case the trustees may, in their discretion, without any such request as next hereinafter mentioned and shall upon the request in writing of the holder or holders of..... at least of the debentures, enter upon or take possession of the mortgaged premises, or any of them and may in the like discretion and shall upon the like request sell, call in, collect and convert into money the same or any part thereof with full power to sell any of the same premises either together or in parcels, and either by public auction or private contract, and either for a lumpsum or for a sum payable by instalments or for a sum on account and a mortgage or charge for the balance and with full power upon every such sale to make any special or other stipulations as to title or evidence, or commencement of the title or otherwise which the trustees shall deem proper and with full power to modify or rescind or vary any contract for sale of the said premises or any part thereof and to re-sell the same without being responsible for any loss which may be occasioned thereby and with full power to compromise and effect compositions and for the purposes aforesaid or any of them to execute and do all such assurance and things as they shall think fit.
7. The principal moneys due to the debenture-holders under this Indenture shall become immediately payable and the security hereby constituted shall become enforceable within the meaning of these presents in each and any of the following events:
- (a) If the company makes default in the payment of any interest which ought to be paid in accordance with these presents.
 - (b) If the company without the consent of debenture holders ceases to carry on its business or gives notice of its intention to do so.
 - (c) If an order has been made by the Court of competent jurisdiction or a special resolution has been passed by the members of the company for winding up the company.
 - (d) If the company acts in contravention of clause..... of its Articles of Association.
 - (e) If it is certified by a Chartered Accountant capable of being appointed as auditor under the Act, that the liabilities of the company exceed its assets.
 - (f) If the company creates or attempts to create any charge on the mortgaged premises or any part thereof without the prior approval of the trustees/debenture holders.
 - (g) If in the opinion of the trustees the security of debenture holders is in jeopardy.

Provided that on the happening of the events specified in sub-clause (a), the permission given by clause 6 to hold and enjoy the mortgaged premises shall not be determined unless and until the trustees shall have first served on the..... company a preliminary notice requiring the company to pay the interest in arrears and the company shall have neglected for the period of 30 days to comply with such notice.

8. As soon as the principal money shall become payable and the security enforceable under the last preceding clause 7 (and unless the time for payment and the security to be enforced has been expressly extended by the debenture holders), the trustees shall enter upon and take possession of the mortgaged premises and shall forthwith take steps to consult the debenture holders for the purpose of determining whether the business of the company may be allowed to be carried on or whether the mortgaged premises shall be realised by sale or otherwise.
9. Until the happening of some one of the events mentioned in clause no. 7 of this Indenture, the trustees shall not be in any manner bound to interfere with the management of affairs of the said business except to the extent they may consider necessary for the preservation of the mortgaged premises or any part thereof.
10. If the debenture-holders resolve not to allow the business of the company to be carried on as mentioned in clause 9 above but to realise the security, the trustees shall after giving a notice of 30 days in writing to the company, proceed to realise the mortgaged premises by sale or otherwise and, in doing so, shall conform to discretion, if any, given by debenture-holders.
11. The trustees shall apply the proceeds of such sale or other mode of realisation in the following manner, that is to say, that the trustees shall pay:
 - (a) In the first place all costs, charges and expenses incurred in or about such sale or the performance or execution of trust or otherwise in relation to these presents or otherwise in respect of the security, including the remuneration of the trustees.
 - (b) Secondly, the interest for the time being due and owing on the debentures.
 - (c) Thirdly, the principal money then due and owing to debenture-holders.
 - (d) And lastly, the surplus, if any, to the company or its assignee.

Provided that if the said money shall be insufficient to pay all such interest or principal money in full, then the said moneys shall be paid rateably and without preference or priority among all debenture-holders of this series according to the amount of the face value of the debentures held by them, but all interest shall be paid before any principal money.

12. When all the principal moneys and secured by these presents shall have been paid and satisfied, the trustees shall forthwith, upon the request and at the cost of the company and on being paid all the costs, charges and expenses properly incurred by the trustees in relation to the security, reconvey, reassign, release and surrender the mortgaged premises or so much or the same as shall not have been sold or disposed of, unto the company or its assigns.
13. If the company shall, at any time during the continuance of the security, be desirous of selling, demising or otherwise disposing of or dealing with any part of the mortgaged premises otherwise than in respect of the floating charge the ordinary course of the company's business, the trustees may, if satisfied that the debenture-holders' security shall not be thereby prejudiced, assent to or concur in such sale, demise, disposal or other dealing, and may, if necessary, release the property in question from the trust under this deed on such terms as the trustees may determine.
14. The company hereby covenants with the trustees:

- (i) That the moneys secured by this deed shall be the first mortgage and charge on the mortgaged premises and shall take precedence over all other moneys which may hereinafter be borrowed by the company against the security of the premises.
 - (ii) that the company shall maintain the mortgaged premises and any and every part thereof in a fit and efficient condition of repair and shall keep the said property duly insured against risk of fire, riot, civil and war risks with such insurers and in such manner as the trustees may determine from time to time and, in default, the trustees shall carry out repair and keep insured the mortgaged premises in the interest of the debenture-holders, and shall be entitled to the immediate payment of such expenditure in full.
15. (a) The company shall in each and every year during the continuance of this security pay to the Trustees for the time being of these presents as and by way of remuneration for their services as Trustees the sum of Rs..... (Rupees..... only) per annum in addition to all legal, travelling and other costs, charges and expenses incurred by the Trustees on their officers, employees or agents in connection with the execution of the trust hereof (including all the costs, charges and expenses of and incidental to the approval and execution of these presents) and all other documents effecting the security herein and the first of such payments to be made proportionately for the period and the said remuneration shall continue to be payable until the trust hereof shall be finally discharged. The trustees acknowledge having received from the company a sum of Rs..... (Rupees.....only) as their fee for agreeing and accepting the trusteeship of these presents.
- (b) The company shall pay to the trustees all legal travelling and other costs, charges and expenses incurred by them or their agents in connection with execution of trusts of these presents including costs, charges and expenses of and incidental to the approval and execution of these presents and all other documents affecting the security herein and will indemnify them against all actions, proceedings, costs, charges, expenses, claims and demands whatsoever which may arise or be brought or made against or incurred by them in respect of any matter or thing done or permitted to be done without their wilful default in respect of or in relation to the mortgaged premises.
16. The trustees hereof being a corporate body may, in the execution and exercise of all or any of the trusts powers, authorities and discretions vested in them by these presents act by responsible officers or a responsible officer for the time being of the trustees and the trustees may also whenever they think it expedient in the interests of the debenture-holders delegate by power of attorney or otherwise to any such officer or officers all or any of the trusts power, authorities, and discretions vested in them by these presents and any such delegations may be made upon such terms and conditions and subject to such regulations including power to sub-delegate as the trustees may, in the interest of the debentureholders, think fit and the trustees shall not be bound to supervise the proceedings of or be in any way responsible for any loss incurred by reason of any misconduct or default or any mistake, oversight, error of judgement, forgetfulness or want of prudence on the part of any such delegate.
- Note: This clause is suitable where the trustees is a bank. In case of individual this be modified suitably.
17. The debenture holders may, by an ordinary resolution, remove the trustee or trustees, or the trustee or trustees may, with the consent of the directors of the company and of the majority of the debenture holders in writing resign or retire from trusteeship.
18. In the event of death, bankruptcy, disability or resignation of any trustee or trustees, another trustee or trustees shall be appointed who shall thereafter have and exercise all powers of the trustee or trustees under these presents. The power of appointing a new trustee or trustees shall be vested in the directors, but no such trustee or trustees shall be appointed by the company until his appointment has been approved by an ordinary resolution of the debenture holders.

- 19. The trustees may by agreement with the directors of the company modify the terms of the deed in any manner that may be necessary to meet any requirement or contingency, provided that the trustees are satisfied that such modifications are in the interests of the debenture holders.
- 20. If any debenture is proved to the satisfaction of the company to have been lost, the company shall issue a fresh debenture on payment of a fee of Rs..... for each such debenture and on such indemnity as the directors may think fit.
- 21. The company hereby covenants with trustees that company will at all times during the continuance of the security (except as may be otherwise previously agreed in writing by the trustees).
 - (a) carry on and conduct its business in proper and efficient manner with due diligence and efficiency with sound financial standing and pay all rents, cesses on mortgage premises, and insured these properties against fire and natural calamities;
 - (b) to keep proper books of account as required under the Act and let them be open to inspection of trustees during business hours;
 - (c) to give trustees such information as he or they may require relating to business, mortgage property and the affairs of the company;
 - (d) not to effect any scheme of amalgamation, merger or reconstructions during the period of debenture or any part thereof remain outstanding;
 - (e) not to utilise any portion of the debentures for purposes other than those for which the same are issued;
 - (f) not to make any material changes in the existing management set up. Not to declare any dividend to the equity (or preference shareholders, if any) in any year until the company has paid or made satisfactory provision for payment of the instalments of principal (if it has become due) and interest due on the debentures;
 - (g) allow the debenture holders a right to appoint a nominee director on the Board of the company. The said director so appointed shall not be liable for rotation nor required to hold any qualification. Thus, if need be, the company shall take immediate steps to amend its Articles of Association accordingly.
- 22. The company hereby further covenants with the Trustees that the company shall duly perform and observe the obligations hereby imposed upon it by this deed.

PART A

PART B

GIFT

Some Basic Aspects

Gift has been defined under Section 122 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Section 122 states that 'Gift' is the transfer of certain existing movable or immovable property made voluntarily and without consideration, by one person, called the donor, to another, called the donee, and accepted by or on behalf of the donee. Such acceptance must be made during the life time of the donor and while he is still capable of giving. If the donee dies before acceptance, this gift is void.

For the purpose of making gift of immovable property, the transfer must be affected by a registered instrument signed by or on behalf of the donor and attested by at least two witnesses.

For the purpose of making gift of movable property, the transfer may be affected either by a registered instrument signed as aforesaid or by delivery. Such delivery may be made in the same way as goods sold may be delivered.

Gift should be made only for the existing property as gift of future property is void under Section 124 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. Because gift of future property is mere promise and cannot be enforced. Section 125 provides that the gift of a thing to two or more donees of whom one does not accept it, is void as to the interest which he would have taken had he accepted. The intention conveyed under this Section is that a gift is personal to the donee and therefore if a gift made to two persons jointly and one of them does not accept it, the other cannot accept the whole.

Section 126 of T.P. Act, 1882 prescribes the circumstances when a gift may be suspended or revoked. As per Section 126, the donor and donee may agree that on the happening of any specified event which does not depend on the will of the donor a gift shall be suspended or revoked, but a gift which the parties agree shall be revocable wholly or in part at the mere will of the donor is void, wholly or in part as the case may be. A gift may also be revoked in any of the cases (save want or failure of consideration) in which, if it were a contract it might be rescinded. Save as aforesaid a gift cannot be revoked. Gift in India are regulated by personal law, usages and customs. Under Hindu Law a gift once completed is binding upon the donor and it cannot be revoked by him unless it was obtained by fraud or undue influence [Ganga Baksh v. Jagat Bahadure (1896) 23 Cal - 15]. But the rules of Muslim Law are different. Section 126 of T.P. Act, 1882 for revocation of gift cannot be applied to Muslims. A Muslim can revoke a gift even after delivery of possession except in following cases (1) when the gift is made by a husband to his wife or by a wife to her husband; (2) when the donee is related to the donor within the prohibited degrees; (3) when the gift is Sadaka (made to a charity or for a religious cause); (4) when the donee is dead; (5) when the thing given has passed out of the donees' possession by sale, gift or otherwise; (6) when the thing given is lost or destroyed; (7) when the thing given has increased in value; (8) when the thing given is so changed that it cannot be identified; (9) when the donor has received some thing in exchange for the gift.

Transfer of Property Act describes onerous gift also. Section 127 states that where a gift is in the form of a single transfer to the same person of several things of which one is and the others are not, burdened by an obligation, the donee can take nothing by the gift unless he accepts it fully. Where a gift is in the form of two or more separate and independent transfers to the same person of several things, the donee is at liberty to accept one of them and refuse the others, although the former may be beneficial and the latter onerous. Besides, a donee not competent to contract and accepting the property burdened by any obligation is not bound by his acceptance but if after becoming competent to contract and being aware of the obligation, he retains the property given, he becomes so bound, subject to these provision of Section 127 of the Act. Where a gift consists of the donor's whole property, the donee is personally liable for all the debts due by and liabilities of the donor at the time of the gift to the extent of property comprised therein. A company can make gift of its movable and immovable property provided it had been vested with requisite power of doing so in objects clause in its Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association. It would require sanction of shareholders in general meeting under Section 181 of the Companies Act, 2013.

Deed of Gift - How Made

The gift deed should be drafted as a deed of transfer with recitals if necessary. There is no consideration involved in gift as such no mention is required to be made of the same in the gift deed. However, the words "natural love and affection" is generally expressed in all cases of gift to relations, and "consideration of esteem and regard" is expressed when the gift is in favour of same person for whom the donor has regard e.g. when the donee is his religious preceptor. But for a Company these intra-personal characteristic may be necessary. A Company may make gift to honour a person for his outstanding achievements in social life if so authorised under its memorandum and articles.

Stamp Duty and Registration

The value of the property gifted must be set forth in the deed of gift. Stamp Duty is payable on gift deed as on the conveyance as per amount of value of the property as mentioned in the deed or as per market value of such property whichever is greater as per Article 23 of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899. If the value of the property is intentionally omitted or under-valued with a view to defraud the revenue, prosecution may be invited under Section 64 of Indian Stamp Act (Muhamad Muzaffar Ali ILR 44 Allahabad 339 FB). Further, penalty provisions under Gift-tax Act may also be attracted.

Gift deed of immovable property is compulsorily registrable as per Section 123 of the Transfer of Property Act and Section 17(i)(a) of the Registration Act, 1908, whatever may be the values.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- An assignment is a form of transfer of property and it is commonly used to refer the transfer of an actionable claim or a debt or any beneficial interest in moveable property. A transfer of an actionable claim is usually called an assignment thereof.
- A debt is property. It is an actionable claim and is heritable and assignable and it is treated as property under the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 and is known as “actionable claim”.
- A debtor cannot claim or take advantage of non-payment of consideration for assignment.
- The Companies Act, 2013 while defining the nature of property in the shares of a company provides that “the shares or other interest of any member in a company shall be moveable property, transferable in the manner provided in the articles of the company.”
- Provisions have been envisaged under Patents Act, Copyright Act, and Trade Marks Act pertaining to the assignment of patents trademarks and copyrights.
- Goodwill is an intangible asset. It represents the value to a business attaching to all the factors, internal and external, which enable it to earn a differential return of profit on the capital employed.
- Partnership is an association of two or more like minded persons formed with a common objective to establish a lawful business house of their choice with the idea of earning profits.
- The partnership is based on contract. This contract may be made either orally or in writing or even may be inferred from the course of dealing between the partners. In order to avoid all disputes relating to terms of partnership, it is suggested that a written document containing terms and conditions of partnership be executed between the partners. The deed is executed by all the partners and is drafted as an agreement to carry on certain business in partnership on certain terms and conditions.
- While drafting partnership deed we should incorporate all terms and conditions that govern a particular partnership business.
- An instrument of trust is drafted either as a deed poll or as a regular deed between the author of trust and the trustee. Where trustees are strangers and a transfer of property is involved, it is better to draft the deed as a deed between the author of trust and the trustees. Where the author is to be the trustee himself and the deed requires a mere declaration of trust, it is drafted as a deed poll.
- While drafting a trust deed, it should be seen that every clause in the deed is clear in its meaning. If there is any reference to any article, documents, rules, statutory Acts etc., the same are properly applied out.
- The most important and vital part of a trust is the expression of an intention to create a trust which should be expressed in the deed in unequivocal language and with reasonable certainty. No particular or technical words are necessary but the words used must be definite and unequivocal.
- Gift has been defined under Section 122 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882. For the purpose of making gift of immovable property, the transfer must be affected by a registered instruments signed by or on behalf of the donor and attested at least by two witnesses.
- The Gift deed should be drafted as a deed of transfer with recitals if necessary. The value of the property gifted must be set forth in the deed of gift.
- Gift deed of immovable property is compulsorily registrable as per Section 123 of the T.P. Act & Section 17(1)(a) of the Registration Act, 1908 whatever may be the value.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

A writ is a legal, written document issued by a court ordering someone to take a specific action or prohibiting a specific action. The Constitution broadly provides for five kinds of “prerogative” writs: habeas corpus, certiorari, mandamus, quo warranto and prohibition. Drafting of writs is a very technical area of the law to navigate. It is important to have a proper understanding of these writs.

An opinion must very clearly and unambiguously set out the questions on which it is sought. Before drafting an opinion, it is the duty of a professional to unravel the tangled skein of the Queriest (person who seeks the opinion) thought, identify the issues that are material as well as the grounds on which the relief to be claimed depends, and then frame them as questions.

Both drafting of a writ and legal opinion requires proper understanding of the legal provisions. Drafting of writs in particular habeas corpus is an extremely complex area of the law that few lawyers understand.

The objective of the lesson is to impart knowledge to the students about the drafting of writs and legal opinion.

WRITS

For enforcement of Fundamental Rights as conferred on the citizens of India and others under the Constitution of India, Article 32 of the Constitution confers on the Supreme Court of India power to issue directions or orders or writs including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto and certiorari, whichever may be appropriate, for the enforcement of any of the said rights.

The Constitution also confers power on the High Courts to issue certain writs.

Article 226 of the Constitution lays down: "Notwithstanding anything in Article 32, every High Court shall have power, throughout the territories in relation to which it exercises jurisdiction, to issue to any person or authority, including in appropriate cases, any Government, within those territories, directions, orders or writs, including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto and certiorari, or any of them, for the enforcement of any of the rights conferred by Part III (Fundamental Rights) and for any other purpose".

Types of Writs

As mentioned in Articles 32 and 226 of the Constitution, writs are in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto and certiorari. A brief discussion of each is as follows:

Habeas Corpus: The writ of habeas corpus is a remedy available to a person who is confined without legal justification. The words "Habeas Corpus" literally mean "to have a body". This is an order to let the Court know on what ground he has been confined and to set him free if there is no legal justification for his detention. This writ has to be obeyed by the detaining authority by production of the person before the Court. Under Articles 32 and 226 of the Constitution, any person may move the Supreme Court and the High Court of competent jurisdiction respectively, for the issue of this writ. The applicant may be the prisoner himself moving the Court or any other person may move the Court on his behalf to secure his liberty praying for the issue of the writ of habeas corpus. No person can be punished or deprived of his personal liberty except for violation of any law and in accordance with the due process of law. Dis-obedience to the writ of habeas corpus attracts punishment for contempt of Court under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971.

Mandamus: The expression "mandamus" means a command. The writ of mandamus is, thus, a command issued to direct any person, corporation, inferior Court or Government authority requiring him to do a particular thing therein specified which pertains to his or their office and is further in the nature of a public duty. This writ is used when the inferior tribunal has declined to exercise jurisdiction. Mandamus can be issued against any public authority. The applicant must have a legal right to the performance of a legal duty by the person against whom the writ is prayed. Mandamus is not issued if the public authority has a discretion.

Mandamus can be issued by the Supreme Court and all the High Courts to all authorities. However, it does not lie against the President of India or the Governor of a State for the exercise of their duties and powers (Article 360). It also does not lie against a private individual or body except where the State is in collusion with such private party in the matter of contravention of any provision of the Constitution or of a Statute. It is a discretionary remedy and the Court may refuse if alternative remedy exists except in case of infringement of Fundamental Rights.

Prohibition: The writ of prohibition is issued by the Supreme Court or any High Court to an inferior Court preventing the latter from usurping jurisdiction which is not legally vested in it. It compels courts to act within their jurisdiction when a tribunal acts without or in excess of jurisdiction or in violation of rules or law.

The writ of prohibition is available only against judicial or quasi-judicial authorities and is not available against a public officer who is not vested with judicial functions. If abuse of power is apparent this writ may be prayed for as a matter of right and not a matter of discretion. The Supreme Court may issue this writ only in case of Fundamental Rights being affected by reason of the jurisdictional defect in the proceedings. This writ is available during the pendency of the proceedings and before the order is made.

Certiorari: The writ of certiorari is available to any person whenever any body of persons having legal authority to determine questions affecting the rights of subjects and having the duty to act judicially, acts in excess of its legal authority. The writ removes the proceedings from such body to the High Court in order to quash a decision that goes beyond the jurisdiction of the deciding authority.

Quo warranto: The writ of quo warranto is prayed, for an inquiry into the legality of the claim which a person asserts to an office or franchise and to oust him from such position if he is an usurper. The holder of the office has to show to the Court under what authority he holds the office. This writ is issued when:

- (i) the office is of a public and of a substantive nature;
- (ii) the office is created by a Statute or by the Constitution itself; and
- (iii) the respondent must have asserted his claim to the office. It can issue even though he has not assumed charge of the office.

The fundamental basis of the proceedings of quo warranto is that the public has an interest to see that no unauthorised person usurps a public office. It is a discretionary remedy which the Court may grant or refuse. When an applicant challenges the validity of an appointment to a public office, it is maintainable whether or not any fundamental or other legal right of such person has been infringed. This writ is intended to safeguard against the usurpation of public offices.

Special Leave Petitions

Article 134A of the Constitution of India lays down that every High Court, passing or making a judgement, decree, final order, or sentence, referred to in Clause (1) of Article 132 or Clause (1) of Article 133 or Clause (1) of Article 134,

- (a) may, if it deems fit so to do, on its own motion; and
- (b) shall, if an oral application is made, by or on behalf of the party aggrieved, immediately after the passing or making of such judgement, decree, final order or sentence, determine, as soon as may be after such passing or making, the question whether a certificate of the nature referred to in Clause (1) of Article 132, or Clause (1) of Article 133 or, as the case may be, sub-clause (c) of clause (1) of Article 134, may be given in respect of that case.

Where a High Court refused to issue the required certificate to enable an aggrieved party to appeal to the Supreme Court against the judgment, order or sentence awarded by the High Court, the aggrieved party may petition to the Supreme Court for grant of special leave to appeal under Article 136 of the Constitution.

Article 136 of the Constitution confers upon the Supreme Court power to grant special leave to appeal. The Article lays down:

- “(1) Notwithstanding anything in this Chapter, the Supreme Court may, in its discretion, grant special leave to appeal from any judgement, decree, determination, sentence or order in any cause or matter passed or made by any Court or tribunal in the territory of India.
- (2) Nothing in clause (1) shall apply to any judgement, determination, sentence or order passed or made by any Court or tribunal constituted by or under any law relating to the Armed Forces”.

Section 112 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 keeps the powers of the Supreme Court under Article 136 of the Constitution to grant special leave to appeal from any judgement, decree, determination, sentence or order in any cause or matter passed or made by any Court or tribunal in the territory of India, beyond the scope of the provisions of the Code.

Section 112 lays down:

- (1) “Nothing contained in this Code shall be deemed:
 - (a) to affect the powers of the Supreme Court under Articles 136 or any other provision of the Constitution; or
 - (b) to interfere with any rule, made by the Supreme Court, and for the time being in force, for the presentation of appeals to that Court, or their conduct before that Court;

Special Leave Petition (SLP) to the Supreme Court under Article 136

In suitable cases, where some arguable questions, mostly on legal points are involved, the Constitution confers under Article 136 wide discretionary powers on the Supreme Court to entertain appeals even in cases where an appeal is not otherwise provided for. But so far as questions of fact, as distinct from questions of law, is concerned, it is only in rare or exceptional cases that the Supreme Court interferes and that too when finding of the High Court or the lower Court is such that it shocks the conscience of the court.

DEPONENT

OPINION WRITING

Introduction

An opinion is a professional's written response to client's instructions to advise in writing. It follows that it must contain advice. Professionals do not advise someone simply by telling them what to do, but supplement it with the basic reasoning behind it. Advising is inextricably bound up with and is part of the mental attitude with which professionals approach opinion writing, with the thinking process that precedes the actual writing of the opinion, and with the writing process itself.

Need for a Legal Opinion

- Interpretation of statutes or documents
- Advise a transaction structure
- Opinion for guidance of decision makers in commerce, industry or government
- Opinion to Lenders on enforceability of Finance Documents

- Opinion for Investors for compliance by Target Companies
- Opinion on Foreign Direct Investment
- Determining provision for contingent liabilities or determination of contingent assets
- Merits or demerits of legal proceedings
- Provision for contingent liabilities or Identification of contingent assets
- Initiating civil or criminal proceedings
- Drafting a pleading
- Preparation for trial of arbitral or legal proceeding
- Ascertain compliance level for issue of securities and identification of risk factors for investors
- Valuation of business

Formulation of a Legal Opinion

A request for a legal opinion will usually come in written form. Such a request will usually include any document/ documents in the case. The request for a legal opinion will include at least one and usually a number of questions which the legal advisor is being asked to address.

A legal opinion will often have the over arching question – does the client have a good and viable case. This is clearly the most important question to any client and must be approached with honesty and directness. If the client's case is not viable they must be advised about this during the course of legal opinion. If there is something that can be done to improve the client's prospects of success, a good legal opinion will spell out this very precisely. Numbered action points are one way of achieving clarity in this regard. Above all, it is vital to remember that in being asked to draft a legal opinion, you are being asked to advise. Sitting on the fence is not an option. Lay out the pros and cons of a particular course of action, but always come down on one side or the other. Giving a percentage chance of success at the beginning of a legal opinion is one way of being clear about what you think the client's prospects are.

Drafting a legal opinion can and should always be split into three processes: The mental attitude, the thinking process and the writing process.

I. The mental attitude

The mental attitude required to write a good opinion, or give good advice, is that of a practitioner as opposed to an academic. The approach required is a practical approach not an academic approach. The practical approach is something to be developed and acquired, and defining it does not necessarily help. But, the four fundamental principles to remember to develop the right mental attitude at all times are:-

- (a) You are dealing with a real situation.
- (b) The facts are more fundamental than the law.
- (c) The law is a means to an end.
- (d) Answer the question.

II. The Thinking Process

The next stage in writing an opinion is the thinking process. It involves the following stages:-

- (a) Read and digest your Instructions:- Find out exactly what your instructions are, what is required of you, what the case is about, what are the basic facts and what your client actually wants to know.

- (b) Answer the primary question:- You must have a clear idea of what your client wants to know if you are to address your mind the right issues and give proper advice. Your objective is after all, to tell your client what he or she wants to know.
- (c) Digest & organise the facts:- The first thing to do is to digest and organise the facts. There will be facts in any case which are relevant and pertinent to the case and facts which are not. A legal opinion must focus on the relevant facts, but it may also be necessary to specifically advise that certain things are not relevant. The first stage will be about organising the facts of the case into these categories. It is a matter of personal preference how this is done, but charts and schedules are often useful and a chronology should be a starting point for every fact marshalling exercise.
- (d) Construct a legal framework:- Once the facts are at your finger tips, a legal framework needs to be constructed into which these facts can be logically slotted. Different types of cases will involve different legal frameworks, but whatever the legal issue, the legal opinion must be continuously advising on the strength of the client's position in the case. One question which is implicit in every request for a legal opinion is 'what should be done next?' This should be decided at the planning stage and should inform the legal opinion throughout.
- (e) Look at the case as a whole:- What should also be borne in mind throughout the planning stage is the opponent's case. A legal opinion will be useless if it considers the client's case in isolation. Evidential issues must also be considered. A good legal opinion will always address how a particular factual situation can be proved.
- (f) Consider your advice:- What your client needs is good practical advice, so you should also consider the practical steps that you advise your client to take.

Before you begin writing a legal opinion, you will know exactly what advice you are going to give, why you are giving it and how you are going to present it.

III. The Writing Process

Simply knowing your opinion, knowing the answer, does not mean the writing process is a mere formality. You have to know how to express yourself in an opinion, how to transfer the thinking process on the paper.

The legal opinion should be written following a structure. It should be entitled OPINION or ADVICE and contain the title of the case in the heading. The first paragraphs should serve as an introduction to the legal opinion, laying out the salient facts and what you have been asked to advise about.

At this point, many legal opinions will set out the main conclusions and advice and the overall opinion. This is good practice as it will encourage focus throughout the legal opinion and the reader will be able to read the following paragraphs knowing where they are leading. A percentage chance of success can be included in this section if appropriate.

The subsequent paragraphs should set out your reasons for reaching the legal opinion which you do in the opening paragraphs. This is where the legal structure will come in. Each issue should be taken in its logical order. Each section should include your opinion on that issue and the reasons for it.

There are certain rules of structure which ought to be followed for the sake of consistency in legal opinions. One example of these is that liability should be dealt with before quantum in civil claims. If there are two or more defendants take each of the defendant's liability in turn before turning to quantum.

The concluding paragraph of a legal opinion ought to be a 'Next Step' paragraph advising what needs to be done to strengthen the client's case.

Using the Law in a Legal Opinion

There is no need to set out basic principles of law with which the reader will be familiar. Otherwise, authorities should be cited to support propositions of laws and when doing so a full citation should be given. It is important to prioritise the authorities cited in a legal opinion in order of importance to the point being addressed. If a particular case is central to your reasoning, the basis on which the case was decided should be set out fully in the legal opinion. It may be appropriate to quote directly from the judgment but usually paraphrasing the effect of the decision will suffice. Always cite the authoritative case/cases on the legal issue being dealt with.

With regard to statute, much of the same advice will apply. If there is a statutory provision which deals directly with the subject of the legal opinion then this should be clearly stated and its effects fully explained. Of course care must be taken to ensure that any statutory provision being cited is in force at the time of writing the legal opinion.

In summary, any legal opinion should be written with the reader in mind. It should be clear, well reasoned and as concise as possible without sacrificing completeness. A logical structure based on the legal principles being discussed is vital to clarity. Any piece of legal writing should be read before submission to ensure against grammatical or typographical errors which will detract from the communicative value of the work. Above all, the advisory purpose of a legal opinion should be borne in mind at all times.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- Any application by a party to an appellate Court, asking it to set aside or revise a decision of a subordinate Court, is an “appeal”. A right of appeal is not a natural or inherent right but is a creature of a statute. Parties cannot create a right of appeal by agreement or mutual consent.
- The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 provides for four kinds of appeals—Appeals from original decrees; Second Appeals; Appeals from Orders; and Appeals to the Supreme Court.
- An appeal may be divided into three parts: (1) formal part, known as the memorandum of appeal, (2) material part, grounds of appeal, and (3) relief sought for.
- The important rules must be carefully remembered and observed while drafting grounds of appeal.
- It is nowhere expressly provided in the Code that the relief sought in appeal should be stated in the memorandum of appeal. However, it is an established practice to mention in the memorandum of appeal, the relief sought by the appellant.
- A memorandum of appeal need not be signed by the appellant himself. It may be signed by him or by his counsel but if there are several appellants and they have no counsel, it must be signed by all of them. It is not required to be verified.
- For enforcement of Fundamental Rights as conferred on the citizens of India and others under the Constitution of India, Article 32 of the Constitution confers on the Supreme Court of India power to issue directions or orders or writs including writs in the nature of habeas corpus, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto and certiorari, whichever may be appropriate, for the enforcement of any of the said rights.
- The Constitution also confers power on the High Courts to issue certain writs.
- Article 136 of the Constitution confers upon the Supreme Court power to grant special leave to appeal.
- In suitable cases, where some arguable questions, mostly on legal points are involved, the Constitution confers under Article 136 wide discretionary powers on the Supreme Court to entertain appeals even in cases where an appeal is not otherwise provided for.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The promoters of a company usually enter into contracts to acquire some property or right for the company which is yet to be incorporated, such contracts are called preliminary or pre-incorporation contracts. Memorandum of Association of the company is the fundamental formation document. It is the constitution and charter of the company. Articles are rules and regulations for management of internal affairs of the company.

Corporate professionals like Company Secretaries have to advise the companies in drafting various documents as well as to undertake legal documentation pertaining to a range of other functions.

The objective of this lesson is to make the students appreciate the skills involved and the important requirements to be borne in mind in the drafting of memorandum of association, articles of association, company's agreements in particular shareholders agreements, agreements for the appointment of managing director & manager etc.

PROMOTER

The word 'Promoter' has not been defined by the Companies Act, 1956 but a definition of the word promoter has been added in the Companies Act, 2013. As per Section 2(69) of the Companies Act, 2013, Promoter" means a person –

- (a) Who has been named as such in a prospectus or is identified by the company in the annual return referred to in section 92; or
- (b) Who has control over the affairs of the company, directly or indirectly whether as a shareholder, director or otherwise; or
- (c) in accordance with whose advice, directions or instructions the Board of Directors of the company is accustomed to act:

Provided that nothing in sub-clause (c) shall apply to a person who is acting merely in a professional capacity;

Generally Promoter of a company is a person who does the necessary preliminary work in connection with the formation and the establishing of the company. It is Promoters only who conceives an idea, develops it, formulates a scheme or project and takes all the necessary steps for the formation of a company to implement the project or the scheme.

Before the company is registered by the Registrar promoters continue to be known as promoters. They gather funds for meeting the expenses in connection with the formation of the company and spend them, which are known and designated as "preliminary expenses" and a provision is made in the articles of association of the company authorising the company and its directors to reimburse promoters the preliminary expenses incurred by them, and also a provision for the formalisation of the contracts which the promoters of the company had entered into with third parties prior to the company coming into existence. Promoters usually enter into contracts with the prospective directors, solicitors, bankers, brokers, underwriters, auditors, secretary, manager and with those who offer to sell land, plant, machinery equipment etc. for implementing the proposed project. Such contracts are known as "promoters' contracts" which are not binding on the company because the company had not come into existence when they were entered into with third parties by the company's promoters. However, as a matter of practice, the company, on its incorporation enters into fresh contracts with the third parties on the lines of the promoters' contracts, which then become binding on the company.

PROMOTERS' CONTRACT – PRE-INCORPORATION CONTRACTS

Companies Act, 2013 does not contain any provisions about Promoter's Contract. The promoters of a company usually enter into contracts to acquire some property or right for the company which is yet to be incorporated, such contracts are called preliminary or pre-incorporation contracts. The promoters generally enter into such contracts as agents for the company about to be formed. The legal position is that since presence of two consenting parties is necessary for a contract, and the company before incorporation is a non-entity, the promoters cannot act as agents for the company, which has yet to come into existence. As such, the company is not liable for the acts of the promoters done before its incorporation.

When the company comes into existence, it is not bound by the pre-incorporation contracts even when it takes the benefit of the work done on its behalf. However, specific performance of a contract between a third party and the promoters may be successfully claimed by the third party against the company, when the company enters into possession of the property on the faith of the promoters' contract.

Similarly, the company, after incorporation, cannot enforce any contract made before its incorporation, which means the company cannot sue the other party to the contract if the other party fails to carry out the contract.

Promoters remain personally liable on the contract.

A company also cannot ratify a contract entered into by the promoters on its behalf before its incorporation. Therefore, it cannot by adoption or ratification obtain the benefit of the contract purporting to have been made on its behalf before it came into existence, as ratification by the company when formed is legally impossible. The doctrine of ratification applies only if an agent contracts for a principal who is in existence and who is competent to contract at the time of the contract by the agent. Where a contract is made on behalf of principal known to both parties to be non-existent, the contract is deemed to have been entered into personally by the actual maker, i.e. the agent. A company may, if it desires, enter into a new contract, after its incorporation, with the other party which is known as novation of promoter's contracts; and if it makes a fresh contract in terms of the preliminary contract, the liability of the promoters comes to an end and if it does not make a fresh contract within a limited period of time, either of the parties may rescind the contract.

The essential feature of novation is that the right under the original contract is relinquished and a new right referable to a new contract is created. The substituted contract must, in order to effect a novation, be enforceable one.

The pre-incorporation agreements entered into by the promoters acting on behalf of the intended company with third party cannot always be avoided for various reasons. These agreements affect the operations of the incorporated company.

MEMORANDUM OF ASSOCIATION

Memorandum of association of the company is the fundamental formation document. It is the constitution and charter of the company. It contains the basic conditions on the strength of which the company is incorporated. Thus, it defines and confines the area of operation of the company. It lays down the area, beyond which the action of the company cannot go. Sections 4 of the Companies Act, 2013 and Table A, B, C, D and E in Schedule I as may be applicable to such company deal with contents, form and printing and signature of memorandum of association. Students are advised to be conversant with the above sections, as they are very relevant to drafting.

Drafting of Memorandum

It is pertinent to note that memorandum is the main edifice upon which the whole structure of the company is erected. It is the basic document fundamental to its existence. Further, it is also to be noted that as it is the charter of the company defining scope of its activity and extent of power it could exercise, so that its shareholders, creditors, bankers and other third parties who deal with the company could know the range of the company's enterprise. Based on the provisions of Section 4 of the Companies Act, 2013, the main drafting requirements of contents of a Memorandum are summarized below:

1. Name of the company

As per Section 4(1) (a) of the Companies Act, 2013, in the case of a public limited company the name of the company should last with the word "Limited", or in the case of a private limited company, the name of the company should last with the words "Private Limited. In case of Companies Registered under Section 8 of the Companies Act, 2013 these provisions does not apply.

As per Section 4(2) of the Companies Act, 2013, the name stated in the memorandum shall not—

- (a) be identical with or resemble too nearly to the name of an existing company registered under this Act or any previous company law; or
- (b) be such that its use by the company –
 - (i) will constitute an offence under any law for the time being in force; or
 - (ii) is undesirable in the opinion of the Central Government.

2. Registered Office of the Company

As per Section 4(1) (b) the memorandum of the company should mention the State in which the registered office of the company is to be situated;

3. Objects of the Company

The memorandum of the company should state the objects for which the company is proposed to be incorporated and any matter considered necessary in furtherance thereof;

The objectives of the company may be categorized as

- (i) the main objects to be pursued by the company on its incorporation;
- (ii) subjects incidental and ancillary to the attainment of the main objects; and (iii)
- (iii) Other objects not included in (i) and (ii) above.

An act beyond the objects mentioned in the memorandum is ultra vires and void and cannot be ratified even by all members of the company. There is no restriction on objects except it should be legal and lawful. While drafting the objects, care should be taken to see that:

- (i) The objects are stated in a precise and clear manner so that there is no ambiguity in their interpretation;
- (ii) Each object is stated independently;
- (iii) There is no inconsistency or contradiction between the objects;
- (iv) The same objects are not repeated in other clauses of objects in different words and phraseology;
- (v) No object is illegal, immoral or against public policy;
- (vi) Objects are properly arranged and divided and set in short sentences.

Prior approval of the competent authority is obtained wherever necessary for carrying out any objective.

Main objects

The objects which are intended to be pursued by the company on its incorporation and in the immediate foreseeable future are its main objects. The objects clause should be widest possible coverage in precise and clear expression. This will save the company from litigation on the ground that the object pursued by the company fall outside the permitted range of its activity. No hard and fast rule could be devised for drafting main objects of the company. But a successful drafting could be done with caution and planning. Further, it may be brought to the notice that alteration of the objects clause will entail, passing of special Resolution and approval of central government which is a time consuming, cumbersome and costly. Normally not more than four objects are permitted by ROC. Hence one has to make himself very clear about the company's main objects and not to mistake ancillary object as main one. In short, the principal objects i.e. main objects, the company has finally decided upon and for which the company plans to undertake immediately or in the near future, are included in the Main Objects.

Objects incidental or ancillary

The objects under this category are not independent objects and cannot be entered upon by the company independent of its main objects. These objects are pursued only to the extent they are necessary for attainment of the main objects. Some of the clauses which are commonly included in the objects incidental and ancillary to the main objects are enumerated below (Palmer's Co. Law 90-91 21st Edn.):

- (i) A clause authorising the company to carry on the particular business which it proposes to carry on, and also to carry on various other business which it may probably or possibly be desirable to carry on;
- (ii) A clause empowering the company to acquire any other business similar to its own;
- (iii) A clause empowering the company to enter into any agreement for sharing profits, joint venture or other arrangement of a like nature with other persons or companies carrying on any similar business;
- (iv) A clause empowering the company to take shares in other companies having similar objects, etc. such a power is commonly wanted, and not easily implied but may be implied, e.g. from a clause allowing amalgamation;
- (v) A clause empowering the company to promote other companies for any purpose calculated to benefit the company;
- (vi) A power generally to acquire property and rights which the company may think necessary or convenient for the purpose of its business. In dealing with outsiders, it is found useful to have an express power like this, and so preclude any question of capacity;
- (vii) A power to lend money and guarantee the performance of contracts by customers and others;
- (viii) A power to borrow or raise money by the issue of debentures, debenture stock, or otherwise;
- (ix) A power to draw, make, accept, endorse, discount and issue promissory notes, bills of exchange, debentures and other negotiable or transferable instruments;
- (x) A power to sell and dispose of the undertaking of the company for shares, debentures or securities of any other company having objects altogether, or in part, similar to those of this company;
- (xi) A power to obtain an Act of Parliament for enabling the company to carry out any purpose which may seem expedient; or to oppose any proceedings or applications which seem to prejudice directly or indirectly the interests of the company;
- (xii) A power to sell, improve, manage, develop, exchange, lease, mortgage, dispose of, turn to account, or otherwise deal with, all or any part of the property and rights of the company;
- (xiii) A declaration that the objects specified in the sub-clauses of the clause shall be regarded as independent objects, and shall be construed independently of the other sub-clauses of it and that none of the objects mentioned in any sub-clauses shall be deemed to be merely subsidiary to the objects in any other sub-clause (except where otherwise expressed in such sub-clauses).

Further, it may include power to make donations to political or charitable trusts, amalgamations with other companies, extension of its operations abroad etc

No borderline could be created between the Main Objects and objects incidental and ancillary to main objects. The attainment of main objects should be facilitated by the objects incidental and ancillary. This makes it imperative that reasonable nexus or resemblance should exist or to be shown to exist in objects incidental and ancillary with main objects while drafting these clauses.

Other Objects

Third part of the objects clause enumerates the objects which are covered neither by main objects nor by objects ancillary or incidental thereto, but which are nevertheless necessary to enable the company to undertake all types of business activities which the company may anticipate to pursue. The types of clauses which are commonly included in this part are mentioned below:

- (i) a clause empowering the company to deal in machinery, appliances, plants, tools, transport vehicles of all kinds and descriptions, etc.;
- (ii) a clause empowering the company to act as insurance agents, financiers, underwriters, commission agents and forwarding and other agents;
- (iii) a clause empowering the company to acquire land, buildings, mines, forests, plantation etc.;
- (iv) a clause empowering the company to carry on the business of manufacture, import, processing and dealing in industrial chemicals, pharmaceuticals and medical products;
- (v) a power to manufacture and deal in fats, fertilisers, fungi-cides, insecticides, etc.;
- (vi) a power to generate or distribute electricity or other motive power;
- (vii) a power to undertake, sponsor and carry out programmes of rural development;
- (viii) a power to carry on any business capable of being conveniently carried on with the other objects;
- (ix) a clause empowering the company to search for, develop or produce minerals and their products and by-products;
- (x) a power to undertake, purchase or otherwise acquire and hold and dispose of and to deal in shares, debentures and other securities.
- (xi) to undertake, promote, sponsor or assist any activity for the promotion or growth of national economy and for discharging social and moral responsibility of the company towards the public or any section thereof.

Nevertheless, the other objects of the company to be included in objects clause are simple as these need not resemble to either the main objects or the objects incidental and ancillary. But other objects should not be ambiguous and irrelevant to the main objects of the company. The use of words “and to do all such other acts, as are incidental or conducive or as the company may think conducive to the attainment of the above objects are used at the end of this clause.

Objects clause to mention the States of operation

In the case of a company other than a trading company, objects clause must also mention the States to whose territories the objects of the company extend, if the objects of the company are not confined to one State.

4. The Liability of Members

This clause of memorandum should state the liability of members of the company, whether limited or unlimited, and also state, –

- (i) In the case of a company limited by shares, that liability of its members is limited to the amount unpaid, if any, on the shares held by them; and
- (ii) In the case of a company limited by guarantee, the amount up to which each member undertakes to contribute –

- (A) to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound-up while he is a member or within one year after he ceases to be a member, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the company or of such debts and liabilities as may have been contracted before he ceases to be a member, as the case may be; and
- (B) To the costs, charges and expenses of winding-up and for adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves;

5. Capital Clause

This clause of memorandum of association of company should include in the case of a company having a share capital, –

- (i) the amount of share capital with which the company is to be registered and the division thereof into shares of a fixed amount and the number of shares which the subscribers to the memorandum agree to subscribe which shall not be less than one share; and
- (ii) The number of shares each subscriber to the memorandum intends to take, indicated opposite his name;

6. Name of one person Company's Subscriber

In the case of One Person Company, the memorandum of association of a company should contain the name of the person who, in the event of death of the subscriber, shall become the member of the company.

The memorandum of a company shall be in respective forms specified in Tables A, B, C, D and E in Schedule I as may be applicable to such company.

Any provision in the memorandum or articles, in the case of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital, purporting to give any person a right to participate in the divisible profits of the company otherwise than as a member, shall be void.

ARTICLE OF ASSOCIATION

The provisions regarding Articles of a company are contained in Section 5 of the Companies Act, 2013 and Table F, G, H, I and J in the Schedule I of the Companies Act, 2013. An article of Association is another equally important document for incorporation of a limited company. Articles are rules and regulations for management of internal affairs of the company. It constitutes a contract between the company and its members and members inter se. It is framed with the object of carrying out aims and objects of the company as contained in Memorandum and if necessary it may clarify anything contained in Memorandum. The article of a company contains the regulations for management of the company and other such matters, as may be prescribed:

The articles may contain provisions for entrenchment to the effect that specified provisions of the articles may be altered only if conditions or procedures as that are more restrictive than those applicable in the case of a special resolution, are met or complied with. However the provisions for entrenchment referred above shall only be made either on formation of a company, or by an amendment in the articles agreed to by all the members of the company in the case of a private company and by a special resolution in the case of a public company. Where the articles contain provisions for entrenchment, whether made on formation or by amendment, the company shall give notice to the Registrar of such provisions in such form and manner as may be prescribed.

The articles of a company should be in respective forms specified in Tables, F, G, H, I and J in Schedule I which contains the model articles applicable to such company.

Contents of Articles

The articles of association usually contain provisions relating to the following matters:

- (a) Share capital, rights of shareholders, variation of these rights, payment of commission, share certificates:
- (b) Lien on shares;
- (c) Calls on shares;
- (d) Transfer of shares;
- (e) Transmission of shares;
- (f) Forfeiture of shares;
- (g) Alteration of capital;
- (h) Capitalisation of Profit
- (i) Buy Back of Shares
- (j) General Meeting
- (k) Voting Rights
- (l) Proxy
- (m) Board of Directors
- (n) Proceeding of the Board
- (o) Key Managerial person of the company
- (p) Seal of the company
- (q) Dividend and Reserve of the company
- (r) Accounts
- (s) Winding up
- (t) Indemnity

Articles of the company can be amended as per Section 14 of the Companies Act, 2013 and any alteration made in the articles should be recorded in all articles of the company.

Drafting of Articles

Utmost care is required to be taken to draft the Articles. It should contain strictly only relevant and necessary matters. In its draft, efforts must be made to incorporate comprehensive provisions so as to cover all statutory requirements and all possible contingencies. Any alteration requires cumbersome procedure to be followed which is expensive and time consuming.

Articles, as a public document of the company, have evidentiary value in matters which involve dealing of the company with its own members or third parties. Any person outsider has constructive notice of the contents of Articles and expected to inspect before entering into any transaction with the company. Articles must be signed by the subscribers of the Memorandum and be registered along with the Memorandum. In case of drafting the articles for a company limited by shares, the draftsman can follow the following alternatives:

- (i) Adopt Table F of Schedule 1 in Companies Act, 2013 in full; or
- (ii) Exclude Table A wholly and register own Articles suiting its requirements; or
- (iii) Register own articles and in addition thereto allows Table A to apply so far as it is not modified or excluded by the articles.

Articles shall be divided into paragraphs numbered consecutively. This will help the company to alter the articles conveniently.

Some important points which a draftsman should bear in mind while drafting the Articles are as follows:

1. Share capital, its kinds rights attached to different kinds of shares or any special privileges attached thereto should be considered and incorporated in Articles.
2. Directors – appointment of directors, their noting rights, resignations, termination etc. should be given due consideration and their rights, powers and privileges should be incorporated in Articles Proportional representations may also be looked into.
3. In Government Companies, Joint Sector Companies, Joint Ventures with foreign companies, joint venture with Government Companies, the main terms of their partnership in Share Capital as well as the management of the affairs of the company with power and authority delegation be relevantly discussed in the Articles with scope and limitations thereto to avoid any misinterpretation.
4. As far as possible, regulation given in Table F may be borrowed, even if it is not made applicable so that Article may conform to the intent and spirit of law.
5. Efforts should be made to make each article self explanatory and self interpretative to avoid misleading conclusions. Coherence and sequence of the contents should be maintained at any costs.
6. Any items which are already mentioned in Memorandum and is to be mentioned in Articles, it is better that it is put in words such as “as mentioned in Memorandum of Association” which will skip the requirement of altering Articles when Memorandum is altered.
7. No provision which a company cannot do either as per Memorandum or Companies Act or any other law, should find a place in articles: e.g. expulsion of members. This is opposed to Company Jurisprudence and is ultra vires of the Act.
8. Where the company would require assistance from financial Institutions, provisions be made for appointment of nominee directors, conversion of loans from financial institutions into equity etc.

After drafting a proper balancing should be done with Memorandum’s contents, as to coverage, inconsistencies with it, contradictions occurred etc. to enable proper modification in time. It is better to have an Article of an existing company in the same field of activity, either to modify it or at least to know the relevant matters which can be included in the Draft. Before printing it is better be shown to ROC and seek his informal approval

UNDERWRITING AND BROKERAGE AGREEMENTS

Underwriting is an insurance against risk. When shares or debentures of a company are issued, they are, by and large, underwritten to ensure that all the shares or debentures issued are taken up and thus the required capital is raised. Before entering into an underwriting arrangement with a member of any recognised stock exchange, it is the duty of the directors of the concerned company to ensure that the underwriter has sufficient financial resources to meet any obligation which may devolve upon him in the event of the issue not being fully subscribed by public.

Power of a Company to Pay Brokerage/Underwriting Commission

Section 40 of the Companies Act, 2013 permits a company to pay certain commissions and prohibits the payment of all other commissions, discounts etc.

The company may exercise the powers of paying commissions conferred by sub-section (6) of section 40, provided that the rate per cent. or the amount of the commission paid or agreed to be paid shall be disclosed in the manner required by that section and rules made thereunder.

(ii) The rate or amount of the commission shall not exceed the rate or amount prescribed in rules made under sub-section (6) of section 40.

(iii) The commission may be satisfied by the payment of cash or the allotment of fully or partly paid shares or partly in the one way and partly in the other.

As per Rule 13 of the Company (Prospectus and Allotment of Securities) Rules, 2014 A company may pay commission to any person in connection with the subscription or procurement of subscription to its securities, whether absolute or conditional, subject to the following conditions, namely:-

- (a) The payment of such commission shall be authorized in the company's articles of association;
- (b) The commission may be paid out of proceeds of the issue or the profit of the company or both;
- (c) The rate of commission paid or agreed to be paid shall not exceed, in case of shares, five percent of the price at which the shares are issued or a rate authorised by the articles, whichever is less, and in case of debentures, shall not exceed two and a half per cent of the price at which the debentures are issued, or as specified in the company's articles, whichever is less;
- (d) the prospectus of the company shall disclose –
 - (i) the name of the underwriters;
 - (ii) the rate and amount of the commission payable to the underwriter; and
 - (iii) the number of securities which is to be underwritten or subscribed by the underwriter absolutely or conditionally.
- (e) there shall not be paid commission to any underwriter on securities which are not offered to the public for subscription;
- (f) a copy of the contract for the payment of commission is delivered to the Registrar at the time of delivery of the prospectus for registration.

Dear Sir(s),

Re: Proposed Public Issue of Equity Shares

We, hereby record the terms on which we (hereinafter referred as “underwriters”) have agreed to underwrite..... Equity Shares of the aggregate nominal value of Rs..... out of the total issue of..... Equity Shares to be offered to the public at Rs...../- each for cash at par.

1. The prospectus as approved by the underwriters will be delivered to the Registrar of Companies on or before..... for registration in accordance with the provisions of Rule 13 of the Company (Prospectors and Allotment of Secreteries) Rules, 2014. Sufficient number of copies of the prospectus and applica-tion forms shall be printed and made available to the underwriters, brokers and members of the public who intend to apply for the Equity Shares as soon as possible thereafter.
2. Underwriters shall be entitled to arrange sub-underwriting with respect to their respective commitments for their own account on terms to be arranged at their discretion with their sub-underwriters.
3. If by the closing date of the subscription list or such earlier date as may be agreed to by the underwriters, the Equity Shares offered to the public are not subscribed in full by the public and the application money payable in respect thereto is not received by you, you will within 14 days or such extended time as may be agreed to by the underwriters, notify the underwriters in writing as to the amount/number of Equity Shares which have not been so subscribed. The underwriters shall within 21 days after the receipt of such intimation apply for and subscribe such unsubscribed amount/number of Equity Shares and pay or procure to be paid the money payable on application in respect of such Equity Shares in proportion that the amount underwritten by each of them bears to the total amount of the issue.
4. In determining the amount/number of Equity Shares to be taken up by the underwriters the following factors shall be taken into consideration:
 - (a) In no circumstances will the underwriters be liable to take up Equity Shares more than the amount underwritten by them.
 - (b) All applications made before the closing of the subscription list by the underwriters, or on forms of application bearing the stamp of the underwriters, and not withdrawn in the meantime shall be taken into account in pro tanto reduction of the liability of the underwriters under this underwriting agreement.
 - (c) After scrutiny of the applications received, the total shortfall shall first be allocated among all persons who have underwritten the issue and who have not fulfilled their quota, in proportion to the amount underwritten by each of them.

- (d) Credit shall be given to each underwriter who has not fulfilled his quota in relation to applications made by members of the public independently proportionately to the amount underwritten by each under- writer, any amount or such credit being in excess of the commitment of any underwriter being similarly shared proportionately by the others.
5. Subject to the terms of the prospectus, you will allot Equity Shares for which applications have been received as soon as possible and despatch Equity Share Certificates within six months of such allotment.
 6. In consideration of the underwriting you will, within 14 days from the date on which we shall have fulfilled our obligation, pay the underwriters a commission at the rate of two and a half per cent on the issue of the amount/ number of Equity Shares underwritten by the underwriters.
 7. Notwithstanding anything stated above the underwriters shall have the option to be exercised by them at any time prior to the date fixed finally for publication of the “Announcement” of terminating underwriting arrangement in the event of a complete breakdown or dislocation of business in the financial markets of the cities of Calcutta, Bombay, Madras and Delhi due to war, insurrection, civil commotion or any other serious or sustained or political or industrial disturbances or if the whole present basis of Stock Exchange prices in any such city should undergo substantial change through the occurrences of such catastrophe or similar event at present not foreseen. In the event of underwriters exercising such option they shall be released from all obligations arising out of the underwriting agreement.
 8. Our offer is valid subject to your subscription list opening on or before.....

Please acknowledge receipt of this letter and intimate to us your acceptance of the terms and conditions mentioned above.

Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,

4. This agreement is to be irrevocable on the part of the underwriters and is to be sufficient in itself to authorise the company in the event of the underwriters not applying for the said..... shares to cause application to be made for such shares or any part thereof in the name and on behalf of the underwriters in accordance with the terms of the said prospectus and authorise the directors of the company to allot the said..... shares of the company or any part thereof to the underwriters (but subject to the provisions of this agreement) and in the event of the company causing an application to be made for such shares in the name of the underwriters, the underwriters shall hold the company and the said applicants harmless and indemnified in respect of such application.

Shareholders' agreements

Shareholders' agreements (SHA) are quite common in business. In India shareholder's agreement have gained popularity and currency only lately with bloom in newer forms of businesses. There are numerous situations where such agreements are entered into – family companies, JV companies, venture capital investments, private equity investments, strategic alliances, and so on. Shareholders' agreement is a contractual arrangement between the shareholders of a company describing how the company should be operated and the defining inter-se shareholders' rights and obligations. Shareholders' agreement. SHAs are the result of mutual understanding among the shareholders of a company to which, the company generally becomes a consenting party. Such agreements are specifically drafted to provide specific rights, impose definite restrictions over and above those provided by the Companies Act. A SHA creates personal obligation between the members signing such agreement however, such agreements do not become a regulation of the company in the way the provisions of Articles are.

Enforceability of the Shareholder's Agreement

Though the international view is split but to a large extent courts are inclined towards favouring SHA as long as they are not found to be detrimental to the minority stakeholder's rights. In the leading case of Russell v. Northern Bank Development Corporation Ltd [1992] BCC 578; [1992] 1 WLR 588, the House of Lords found that though a company cannot deprive itself of its power to alter its constitution, the members of the company could agree in a shareholders' agreement as to how they will exercise their voting rights on a resolution to alter the articles/constitution. The US Courts have largely accepted shareholder agreements. [Blount v. Taft [246 S.E.2d 763 at 769 (1978)]

While shareholders' agreements are enforceable in England regardless of whether they have been incorporated in the articles of association of the company, in India courts have either refused to recognize clauses in shareholders agreements or, even when consistent with company legislation, enforced such clauses only if they have been incorporated in the articles of association of the company. There is a series of rulings where the courts have upheld that in case of any conflict between the Articles and the SHA, the former will always prevail. Some of these are:

- V.B. Rangaraj v. V.B. Gopalakrishnan (AIR 1992 SC 453)
- Shanti Prasad Jain v. Kalinga Tubes Ltd., (35 Com. Cas. 351 SC)
- Mafatlal Industries Ltd., v. Gujarat Gas Co. Ltd (97 Comp Cas 301 Guj),
- Pushpa Katoch v. Manu Maharani Hotels Limited ([2006] 131 Comp Cas 42 (Delhi))

The Supreme Court in V.B. Rangaraj v. V.B. Gopalakrishnan, AIR 1992 SC 453 held that a restriction which is not specified in the articles of association is not binding either on the company or on the shareholders. This decision was reiterated by the Bombay High Court in IL & FS Trust Co. Ltd. v. Birla Perucchini Ltd [2004] 121 Comp Cas 335 (Bom).

However, the Supreme Court in 2003 in its decision in M.S. Madhusoodhanan v. Kerala Kaumudi Pvt. Ltd. (2003 117 CompCas 19 SC) not disagreeing with the decision in V.B Rangaraj case mentioned above, but distinguishing itself from the facts in that judgment, held that a restriction in relation to identified members on identified shares of a private company did not amount to restriction of transferability of shares per se.

In Western Maharashtra Development Corporation Ltd. v. Bajaj Auto Ltd [(2010) 154 Company Cases 593 (Bom)], it was held that such clauses are to hamper the free transferability of shares and in violation of the Companies Act, and hence, are not enforceable. Subsequently in the case of Messer Holdings Limited v. Shyam Madanmohan Ruia and Ors [(2010) 98 CLA 325] the Division Bench of Bombay High Court overruled its judgement in Western Maharashtra Development Corporation Ltd and provided a more liberal interpretation and recognised the rights inter se among shareholders in case of restrictions on transfer of shares.

In Indian context, while the landmark decision of the Supreme Court in V.B. Rangaraj case mentioned above is often cited in the context of shareholders' agreements, most other decisions have been rendered by the High Courts in various states especially the Bombay High Court. The decisions on shareholders' agreements are not uniformly inclined in a direction. The High Court decisions are limited in their applicability as they are susceptible to disagreements by other High Courts, thereby conferring limited precedential value. It is difficult to come to clear and crisp answers as to enforceability of shareholders' agreements

Contract of Appointment with Managing Director

According to Section 2(54) of the Companies Act, 2013, “managing director” means “a director who, by virtue of an agreement with the company or of a resolution passed by the company in general meeting or by its Board of directors is entrusted with substantial powers of management of the affairs of the company, and includes a director occupying the position of a managing director, by whatever name called.”

While drafting a contract of appointment, the following points have to be taken care of:

The person who is being appointed as managing director must be a director of the company; and

He must be entrusted with substantial powers of management.

Usually the articles of association of companies empower the Board of directors to appoint one or more of the directors as managing director(s) and fix their remuneration subject to the provisions of Sections 196, 197, 198, 199, 200 and other applicable provisions of the Act and Rules make thereunder. The Board of directors while appointing a director as managing director, critically examines the draft agreement prepared by the secretary for the appointment of the managing director and after having approved the same with or without any modification, authorises one of its directors to sign and execute for and on behalf of the company, the agreement for the appointment of the managing director. It should, therefore, be made sure that the person executing the agreement on behalf of the company is duly authorised by the Board of directors in this regard.

Being an agreement, such a contract must have all the other essential ingredients of a contract under the Indian Contract Act, 1872, namely,

- (i) free consent of parties;
- (ii) competence to contract;
- (iii) for a lawful consideration;
- (iv) with a lawful object; and
- (v) are not expressly declared to be void in the Act (Section 10).

Section 11 of the Contract Act lays down that “every person is competent to contract who is of the age of majority, according to the law to which he is subject, and who is of sound mind, and is not disqualified from contracting by any law to which he is subject.”

Section 12 of the said Act provides that a person is said to be of sound mind for the purpose of making a contract if, at the time when he makes it, he is capable of understanding it and of forming a rational judgement as to its effect upon his interests. A person who is usually of unsound mind, but occasionally of sound mind, may make a contract when he is of sound mind. A person who is usually of sound mind, but occasionally of unsound mind, may not make a contract when he is of unsound mind.

According to Section 14 of the Contract Act, consent is said to be free when it is not caused by –

- coercion;
- undue influence;
- fraud;
- misrepresentation; or
- mistake.

- (i) The Managing Director shall be entitled to such increments from time to time as the Board may in the discretion determine;
- (j) The Managing Director shall be entitled to privilege annual leave on full salary for a period of one month, such leave to be taken at such time to be previously approved by the Board; Provided that the Board shall be entitled, at its sole and uncontrolled discretion, to permit the Managing Director to accumulate such leave for not more than three months; provided further that any leave not availed of by the Managing Director shall be encashable.

6. The Managing Director shall not during the period of his employment, and without the previous consent in writing of the Board, engage or interest himself either directly or indirectly in the business or affairs of any other person, firm, company, body corporate or concern or in any undertaking or business of a nature similar to or competing with the company's business and further shall not, in any manner, whether directly or indirectly, use, apply or utilise his knowledge or experience for or in the interest of any such person, firm, company, body corporate or concern as aforesaid or any such competing undertaking or business as aforesaid.

7. The Managing Director shall not, during the continuance of his employment or any time thereafter, divulge or disclose to any person, firm, company, body corporate or concern, whatsoever or make any use whatever for his own or for whatever purpose of any confidential information or knowledge obtained by him during his employment of the business or affairs of the company or of any trade secrets or secret processes of the company and the Managing Director shall, during the continuance of his employment hereunder, also use his best endeavours to prevent any other person, firm, company, body corporate or concern from doing so.

8. Any property of the company or relating to the business of the company, including memoranda, notes, records, reports, plates, sketches, plans, or other documents which may be in the possession or under the control of the Managing Director or to which the Managing Director has at any time access, shall at the time of the termination of his employment be delivered by the Managing Director to the company or as it shall direct and the Managing Director shall not be entitled to the copyright in any such document which he hereby acknowledge to be vested in the company or its assigns and binds himself not to retain copies of any of them.

The Managing Director shall, from time to time, during his employment hereunder, fully disclose to the company the progress of his investigation and any discoveries he may make himself or in conjunction with others and if at any time hereafter he shall make himself or in conjunction with others any improvement, invention or discovery arising out of or in connection with the said employment he shall forthwith disclose to the Company or any patent agent appointed by it a full and complete description of the nature of the said improvement, invention or discovery and the mode of performing the same.

9. The whole interest of the Managing Director in the said improvement, invention or discovery and in all future improvements thereon at any time discovered or invented by the Managing Director alone or in conjunction as aforesaid, shall be the sole and absolute property of the Company and the Managing Director, if and whenever required by the Company during the period of employment or after the termination thereof shall at the expense of the Company, join with the Company in applying for letters patent, design registration or other forms of protection in India and in such other countries as the Company may direct for the said improvement, invention or discovery or any such improvement thereon and shall, on the request by, and at the expense of the Company, execute, sign and do all applications, assignments, instruments and things necessary to vest the whole of his interest in the said improvements, invention or discovery or improvement thereon and any letters patent or other protection that may be obtained in respect thereof, in the Company or person or persons appointed by it.

10. If the Managing Director shall at any time be prevented by ill-health or accident from performing his duties hereunder, he shall inform the Company and if he shall be unable by reason of ill-health or accident for a period of sixty days in any period of twelve consecutive calendar months to perform his duties hereunder, the Company may terminate his employment.

11. The Company shall be entitled to terminate this agreement in the event of the Managing Director being guilty of misconduct or such inattention to or negligence in the discharge of his duties or in the conduct of the Company's business or of any other act of omission or commission inconsistent with his duties as the Managing Director or any breach of his agreement.

12. If before the expiration of this agreement the tenure of office of the Managing Director shall be determined by reason of a reconstruction or amalgamation whether by the winding up of the Company or otherwise, the Managing Director shall have no claim against the Company for damages.

13. The Company shall be at liberty from time to time to appoint a person or persons to be Managing Director(s) jointly with the Managing Director.

The Managing Director hereby agrees that he will not, at any time, after the termination of this agreement, represent himself as being in any way connected with or interested in the business of the company.

Managing Director

Contract of Appointment with Manager

Section 2(53) of the Companies Act, 2013 defines "Manager" as an individual who, subject to the superintendence, control and direction of the Board of directors, has the management of the whole, or substantially the whole, of the affairs of the company, and includes a director or any other person occupying the position of a manager, by whatever name called, and whether under a contract of service or not.

The above definition highlights the following points, which must be borne in mind by the secretary while drafting an agreement for the appointment of a manager:

- (1) a manager has to be an individual only;
- (2) a manager has the management of the whole, or substantially the whole, of the affairs of the company;
- (3) a manager functions subject to the superintendence, control and direction of the Board of directors of the company;
- (4) a manager may be under a contract or not.

If, for the appointment of a manager, an agreement is not drawn and executed, then the secretary must draft a detailed Board resolution approving the appointment of a manager, making it very clear that the manager shall have the management of the whole or substantially the whole of the affairs of the company, and shall function under the superintendence, control and direction of the Board of directors, which means that he shall act under the directions of the Board, his actions shall be subject to the scrutiny and supervision of the Board and finally the Board shall direct the manager in his day-to-day management of the affairs of the company. As against a managing director, who is entrusted by the Board of directors with substantial powers of management, a manager by virtue of his appointment, has the power of management. A managing director after the powers of management have been entrusted to him performs his day-to-day functions independently according to the mandate of the Board, whereas a manager acts under the superintendence, control and direction of the Board. Keeping the above subtleties between the two managerial personnel in view, the secretary shall proceed to draft an agreement for the appointment of a manager.

Manager

Contract of Appointment with Secretary

The position of Secretary in a company is a very important one. He is the person who acts as liaison between the Board of Directors and the shareholders on the one hand, with the Departmental Division heads and with the world at large on the other hand. Every information from various departments, divisions, branches, executives, departmental heads, shareholders, creditors, debtors, bankers, financial institutions, Government departments and others concerned with the company converges in his office. He gathers all the information, arranges it in a useful manner, furnishes it with explanations etc. on the company's long-term policies and short-term plans as formulated by the Board of directors to the concerned persons. He collects, arranges and presents the desired/required information to the Board on the progress in the implementation of the various decisions of the Board so that whenever and wherever some corrective or preventive actions are to be taken, the same be taken in time by the Board.

The Company Secretary is expected to be expert in all the aspects of corporate management viz., Company Law and Practice Income-tax Law and Practice, Excise, Sales tax, Import and Export and Industrial Licensing Law and Practice, various types of insurance-covers, Patents, Trade Marks, Design and Copyright Law and procedure, Industrial Law, Shops and Commercial Establishments Law and Essential Commodities Act and the Orders issued thereunder, drafting of various corporate documents, reports etc. and, accounts, audit, banking and finance.

The appointment of a Company Secretary is done by the Board of Directors and he functions at the pleasure of the Board. He acts under the Board's instructions but at the same time he is adviser to the Board in all corporate matters. Therefore, the relationship between the Board and the Company Secretary has to be very cordial and there must be perfect understanding between the two, particularly with the Chairman/Managing director, executive director and other Chief Executive Officers.

Usually the appointment of a Company Secretary is made by an appointment letter signed and issued by the Chief Executive Officer, who may be the managing director, executive director, whole-time director etc. under specific authority of the Board.

This letter is an offer by the company to the prospective Company Secretary and when he accepts the same it become a binding contract between him and the company and their relationship is governed by the terms and conditions thereof. "company secretary", according to Section 2(24) of the Companies Act, 2013 means a company secretary as defined in clause (1) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980 who is appointed to perform the functions of company secretary under this Act.

The Government of India has formulated the Companies (Appointment and Qualifications of Secretary) Rules, 1988.

As per Section 205(1) of the Companies Act, 2013, the functions of the company secretary shall include,—

- (a) to report to the Board about compliance with the provisions of this Act, the rules made thereunder and other laws applicable to the company;
- (b) to ensure that the company complies with the applicable secretarial standards;
- (c) to discharge such other duties as may be prescribed.

Therefore, even if the letter of appointment of a Company Secretary or an agreement between the company and the Company Secretary is silent on those statutory duties and functions, a Company Secretary is bound by law to perform them strictly. Therefore, the letter of appointment or the agreement need not detail all those duties. Usually it contains the fact of offer by the company, the date on or before which he is required to join the service of the company, his salary and 'perks', his answerability to the Board of Directors and/or other senior executives of the company, his relationship with other departmental heads, his leave eligibility and other benefits, commitment on his part not to divulge the secrets of the company, so on and so forth.

DEEDS OF AMALGAMATION OF COMPANIES: TRANSFER OF UNDERTAKINGS

An amalgamation may be defined as an arrangement whereby the assets of two companies become vested in, or under the control of one company, which may or may not be one of the original two companies. Such a company has as its shareholders all, or substantially all, the shareholders of the two companies. An amalgamation is effected by the shareholders of one or both of the amalgamation companies exchanging their shares either voluntarily or as a result of operation of law, for shares in the other or a third company. The arrangement is frequently effected by means of a take-over offer by one of the companies for the shares of the other, or of a take-over offer by a third company for the shares of both.

COMPROMISE, ARRANGEMENTS AND SETTLEMENTS

During its life time a company may find it necessary to reorganise itself. Such a re-organisation may be for many reasons. When a company is financially weak, it wishes to reach a compromise with its members and/or creditors. It may wish to take over the business of another running but endangered company. It may wish to restructure its share capital.

Sections 390 to 396 (Sections 230 to 237 of the Companies Act, 2013*) provide various methods of company re-organisation or reconstruction. The various terms used for reorganisation are arrangement, reconstruction, amalgamation, merger, take-over, etc. They are distinct terms but they have many common features and to a great extent they overlap. The expression "arrangement" is of wider import and include reconstruction and amalgamation. "Arrangement" has been defined in explanation to section 230(1) of Companies Act, 2013 as including a reorganisation of share capital of the company by the consolidation of shares of different classes, or by the division of shares into shares of different classes, or by both these methods.

"Arrangement" has a wider interpretation and includes reconstructions and amalgamations.

"Reconstruction" has not been defined in the Act. A reconstruction normally entails the transfer of an undertaking to another company, consisting substantially of the same shareholders with a view to its being continued by the transferee company, and usually resorted to for achieving one or more of the following objects:

- (a) For the purpose of raising fresh capital by issuing partly paid shares in the new company in exchange for fully shares in the old company, and calling up the balance on new shares as and when required;
- (b) For extending the company's objects;
- (c) For reorganising or rearranging the capital structure and the rights of members as between themselves; and
- (d) For effecting a compromise with creditors, or the allotment to them of shares or debentures in settlement of their claims.

A reconstruction may, however take place, without the promotion and incorporation of new company, by compromise with members involving alterations of various rights between each class, usually also involving the writing down of the amount of share capital (as in a reduction of capital, which is a special form of reconstruction) and by a compromise with creditors (including debenture holders).

Amalgamation usually covers a situation where two or more companies join forces either under the name of one of them or in a new company formed for the purpose. This is a blending of two or more existing undertakings into one, the shareholders of each company becoming substantially the shareholders in the company which is to carry on the blended undertakings.

Amalgamation will usually require the consent of the directors of both the companies and may also be described as "Merger". On the other hand, the word "take-over" is usually used to describe the acquisition by one company of sufficient number of shares in another company so as to give the purchaser company control over that company.

* Yet to be notified

Amalgamations and take-overs are resorted to for any one or more of the following purposes:

- (a) For saving overheads and working expenses and for improving efficiency in the management, production and marketing by reason of unified control;
- (b) For reduction or elimination of competition, and some times for securing the advantages of vertical combination by an amalgamation of companies to secure a linking of different stages or processes of production back to raw materials and forward to the finished product; and
- (c) For obtaining greater facilities possessed by one large company, as compared with a number of smaller companies, for raising additional capital, for buying raw materials, etc. and for securing better credit facilities on the most favourable terms, and, what is, of increasing importance now a days, for carrying out research work on a large and co-ordinated scale and basis.

The memorandum of association of almost every company permits it to amalgamate with another company. In case there is no such provision, it will be necessary to alter the memorandum before any scheme of amalgamation is drawn up.

“Arrangement”

Section 391 of the Companies Act, 1956 provides that when a compromise or arrangement (the word compromise implies the existence of some dispute, but the word arrangement is of wider application) is proposed between a company and

- (a) its creditors or any class of them; or
- (b) its members or any class of them,

then the court may, on the application of the company, or any creditor or member, or, if the company is being wound up, the liquidator, order a meeting to be called of the creditors or class of creditors, or of the members or class, of members, as the case may be.

The compromise or scheme of arrangement will then be binding upon:

- (a) all the creditors or class of creditors;
- (b) the members or class of members;
- (c) the company; and
- (d) in the case of a company being wound up, upon the liquidator and contributories.

Provided that:

- (1) it is approved by a majority in number representing three-fourths in value of the creditors or class of creditors, or members or class of members as the case may be, present and voting in person or by proxy; and
- (2) it is sanctioned by the court.

Procedure

The following procedure shall be followed for carrying through a compromise or arrangement under Section 391 of the Act:

1. To prepare a scheme of compromise or arrangement with the concerned parties.
2. To apply to court by summons in Form No. 33 appended to the Companies (Court) Rules, 1959 for an order to convene a meeting of the creditors and or members or any class of them, supported by an affidavit in Form No. 34 of the Rules. The court may give such directions as it may think fit in respect of holding and conducting the meeting or meetings.

3. To hold the meeting or meetings and let the result be reported to the court. The court appoints a chairman for the meeting and where there are separate meetings, for each such separate meeting. The chairman of the meeting, or of each meeting, must report the result thereof to the court within the time fixed by the court, or where no time has been fixed within seven days after the conclusion of the meeting.
4. When the proposed compromise or arrangement is agreed to, with or without modification, as provided by Section 391(2) to apply to the court for confirmation of the compromise or arrangement. The petition must be made by the company (if the company is in liquidation; by its liquidator) within seven days of the filing of the report by the chairman. The petition shall be made in Form No. 40 of the said Rules.

Where a compromise or arrangement is proposed for the purposes of or in connection with a scheme for the reconstruction of any company or companies, or for the amalgamation of any two or more companies, the petition must pray for appropriate orders and directions under Section 394 for facilitating the reconstruction or amalgamation of the company or companies.

The application under Section 391 is normally made by the company but any creditor or member also may make the application. It would, therefore, seem that a scheme could be started even if the company did not wish it, but the court will, it seems, refuse to convene the meetings if the company, either through its Board or simple majority of its members in a general meeting, has not approved the proposed scheme. This would be an exercise of the court's discretion and not a limit on its powers.

Before an application is made by a company under Section 391, it is usual for the Chairman of the Board of the company which is to be reconstructed or where an amalgamation between two or more companies is proposed, for the Chairman of the Board of each of these companies, to send a circular letter to the members of the company or companies and when the creditors are affected, to them also, explaining the scheme of reconstruction or amalgamation, as the case may be, and the reasons which prompted the preparation of the scheme. The circular letter should specify how the scheme will affect the shareholdings of the members, and when applicable, the claims of the creditors, including debenture holders.

Specimen Scheme of Amalgamation

1. THIS SCHEME OF AMALGAMATION is presented for the amalgamation of A Ltd., with B Ltd., pursuant to the relevant provision of the Companies Act, 1956.
2. Notice under Section 6 of the Competition Act, 2002* will be given to the Competition Commission of India within 30 days of the approval of the proposal relating to amalgamation.*

Subject to the provisions of Clause 13 hereof as regards payment of dividend, income accruing to A Ltd. or losses or expenditure arising or incurred by it after the Appointment Date up to the Effective Date shall, for all purposes, be treated as income or losses or expenditure, as the case may be, of B Ltd.
9. Subject to the other provisions of this Scheme, all contracts, deeds, agreements and other instruments to which A Ltd. is a party, subsisting and operative immediately on or before the Effective Date shall be in full force and effect against or in favour of B Ltd., as the case may be, and may be enforced as fully and effectively by it instead of A Ltd. as if B Ltd. had been party thereto.
10. All actions and proceedings by or against A Ltd. pending on the Effective Date shall be continued and enforced and be enforced by or against B Ltd.
11. The transfer of the said assets and the said liabilities of A Ltd. under clauses 4 and 5 hereof to B Ltd. and the continuance of all contracts and proceedings by or against B Ltd. under clause 9 and 10 shall not affect any contracts or proceedings relating to the said assets already concluded by A Ltd. on or after the Appointed Date to the intent that B Ltd. accepts and adopts all acts, deeds, matters and things done and/or executed by A Ltd. in regard thereto as having been done or executed on behalf of B Ltd.
12. Upon the scheme of amalgamation becoming effective in consideration of the transfer in favour of B Ltd. under the foregoing clauses of the said assets of A Ltd., B Ltd., shall, without further application, issue and allot to every shareholder of A Ltd., 80 fully paid Equity Shares of Rs. 10/- each of B Ltd., for 100 fully paid Equity Shares of Rs. 10/- each of A Ltd.
13. The Equity Shares of B Ltd. to be issued and allotted to the shareholders of A Ltd. shall rank pari passu in all respects with the existing Equity Shares of B Ltd. including entitlement to dividend in respect of all dividend declared after the Effective Date. B Ltd. and A Ltd. shall be entitled to declare and pay dividends prior to the Effective Date in respect of their current earnings up to the Effective Date.
14. Until the Effective Date, neither A Ltd. nor B Ltd. shall issue or allot any Rights Shares or Bonus Shares out of their respective Share Capital for the time being.
15. So much of the Share Capital of B Ltd., as may be necessary, shall be appropriated to the shareholders of A Ltd. in the proportion and in the manner provided by clause 12 above and shall, with all reasonable despatch after this scheme shall finally take effect, be issued, allotted and credited as fully paid-up to such shareholders accordingly.
16. A Ltd. shall, with all reasonable despatch, apply to the High Court of Judicature at....., and B Ltd., shall also with reasonable despatch, apply to the High Court of Judicature at..... for orders sanctioning the scheme of amalgamation under Section 391 of the Companies Act, 1956 for carrying this scheme into effect and for dissolution without winding up of A Ltd.
17. A Ltd. and B Ltd., by their respective Boards of directors, may consent to any modification or amendment of this scheme which may be in the best interest of the companies concerned, or to any condition that either of the High Courts may deem fit to impose, and after dissolution of A Ltd., B Ltd. (by its Board of Directors) shall be authorised to give such directions or take such steps as may be necessary, desirable or proper to resolve any doubts, difficulties or questions, whether by reason of any order of the High Courts or of any directive or order of other authority or otherwise howsoever, arising out of or under or by virtue of this scheme and/or matter concerned or connected therewith.

18. All subsisting agreements of A Ltd. relating to use of trade marks, patents, designs of copy rights and/or technology shall accrue for the benefit of B Ltd., and proper documentation will be entered into for this purpose.

19. On this scheme finally taking effect as aforesaid –

- all employees of A Ltd. will become employees of B Ltd. with effect from the Effective Date without any break or interruption in service, and on their existing terms and conditions of services;
- the undertaking of A Ltd. will continue to function as a “Department A” of B Ltd. and all agreements entered into by A Ltd. with its bankers, distributors, stockists, agents shall continue to be in full force and effect and may be enforced as fully and effectively by B Ltd. instead of A Ltd. as if B Ltd. had been a party thereto. Likewise, the trusts created by A Ltd. for payment of provident fund, superannuation, gratuity etc. will continue to operate in favour of the employees of the “Department A”.

All business activities engaged in by A Ltd. shall be continued in the form of a “Department A” of B Ltd. to be called “Department A” and all agreements entered into by B Ltd. with its bankers, distributors, stockists, agents etc. shall continue to be in full force and effect, and may be enforced by or against such “Department A” of B Ltd. Likewise, the trusts created by A Ltd., for payment of provident fund, superannuation, gratuity etc. will continue to operate in favour of the employees of “Department A” of B Ltd.

20. This scheme is conditional on and subject to –

- (a) the requisite sanction or approval, if any, of the Contro-ller of Capital Issues and of other appropriate authorities being obtained and granted in the matters in respect of which such sanctions or approvals are required;
- (b) the approval of any agreement with respect to the scheme by the requisite majority of the members of A Ltd. and of the members of B Ltd.;
- (c) the necessary special resolution by members of B Ltd.;
- (d) the sanction of the High Court of Judicature at..... and of the High Court of Judicature at..... under Section 391 of the Companies Act, 1956 and to the necessary order under Section 394 of the said Act being obtained; and
- (e) its becoming fully effective and operative in accordance with Sections 391 and 394 of the Companies Act, 1956.

The scheme, although operative from the Appointed Date, shall take effect finally upon and from the date on which any of the aforesaid sanctions and approvals shall be last obtained which shall be “the Effective Date” for the purpose of this scheme.

21. In the event of any of the approvals or sanctions enumerated in clause 20 not being obtained or complied with on or before..... or within such further period or periods as may be agreed upon by and between A Ltd. and B Ltd., through their respective Boards of Directors, the scheme shall become null and void, and in such an event, no rights and liabilities whatsoever shall accrue to or be incurred inter se between A Ltd. and B Ltd.

22. All costs, charges and expenses of A Ltd. and B Ltd. respectively in relation to or in connection with the negotiations leading to the drawing up of this scheme and to the agreement between the parties in respect thereof and of carrying out and complying with the terms and provisions of this scheme and the agreement between the parties relating thereto and of incidental nature to the completion of the amalgamation of A Ltd. in pursuance of this scheme shall be borne and paid by A Ltd. and B Ltd. in equal shares.

Note: While formulating a scheme on the basis of compromise, arrangement or settlement, the secretary has to make sure that the arrangement agreed to by and between the managements of the two companies is precisely and unambiguously incorporated in the scheme leaving no room for any doubt whatsoever.

SLUMP SALE AGREEMENT

Slump sale is one of the widely used ways of business acquisitions. In simple words, 'slump sale' is nothing but transfer of a whole or part of business concern as a going concern; lock, stock and barrel. The concept of 'slump sale' was incorporated in the Income Tax Act, 1961 ("IT Act") by the Finance Act, 1999 with the inclusion of section 2(42C). The term 'slump sale' is defined as transfer of one or more undertakings as a result of the sale for a lump-sum consideration without values being assigned to the individual assets and liabilities in such sales.

For looking at the meaning of word 'undertaking' resort has to be made to Explanation 1 to section 2(19AA). Section 2(19AA) defines "demerger" in relation to companies. Explanation 1 to Section 2(19AA) defines "undertaking" to be any part of an undertaking or a unit or division of an undertaking or a business activity taken as a whole but does not include individual assets or liabilities. As per definition of 'undertaking' even any part/division of an undertaking or business activity as a whole can be considered.

Explanation 2 to S. 2(42C) clarifies that the determination of value of an asset or liability for the payment of stamp duty, registration fees, similar taxes, etc. shall not be regarded as assignment of values to individual assets and liabilities. Thus, if value is assigned to land for stamp duty purposes, the transaction will not cease to be a slump sale.

The basic condition to be satisfied to qualify as a slump sale is that the transaction relating to transfer of business should be a transfer of undertaking and not transfer of individual assets and liabilities consisting of the business activity. This has been expressly provided in the Explanation 1 to Section 2(19AA) stated above. In case of transfer of individual assets and liabilities consisting of the business activity, the same would not imply transfer of undertaking [Duchem Laboratories Ltd. v. ACIT, ITA No. 3332/Mum/2004 June 12, 2009].

Given the high figures involved in such transactions, taxation is one of the key elements of consideration for both the buyer as well as the seller. With increase in slump sale deals, several rulings and judicial precedents have emerged over the years. The following is an illustrative list of cases where sale of an undertaking was held to be a slump sale :

- (a) Land development business — CIT v. Mugneeram Bangur & Co., [57 ITR 299 (SC)]
- (b) Sale of cement unit, which was transferred as a functional productive unit — Coromandel Fertilisers v. DCIT, [90 ITD 344 (Hyd.)]
- (c) Sale of branch — CIT v. Narkeshari Prakashan Ltd., [196 ITR 438 (Bom.)]

Slump sale is carried out through following steps:

1. Find Buyer: The seller has to find the potential buyers.

Before opting for slump sale there are various issues that needs to be analyzed especially the impact of capital gain tax to the seller and stamp duty to the buyer in the light of business strategies.

Short listing of buyer: The buyer or transferee companies needs to be shortlisted by refining the business and tax objectives.

Primary Valuation: This valuation enables the seller to get a better idea about value of the business to be sold.

Analyse and Finalise buyer: Analysis of shortlisted buyer should consider objective of the deal, cost and time required for execution and structure of the deal. This helps to get a better idea about the deal before finalisation.

2. Sign MoU/Term sheet: Once the buyer company is selected, there is need to sign MoU [Memorandum of Understanding] which helps the buyer company to get access to seller entities information for making due diligence, valuation etc.

3. Make Valuation: Valuation is a process of determining the value of assets and liabilities of business. It is one of the most important aspects of slump sale process, as seller wants maximum valuation for its business whereas buyer wants it at lowest end. Valuation of business is mandatory for listed company.

4. Deal Structuring: A deal should be structured considering agreement between buyer and seller. It should be time, cost and compliance effective. While structuring a deal following factors must be taken into consideration:

Objective of the deal: This includes the core objective set for deal of slump sale. While structuring the deal it must be taken into consideration that objective is getting achieved fully. As post deal factors such as ownership and control, financial impact depends on structuring of the deal.

Transaction cost: Transaction cost under slump sale majorly involve capital gain tax to the seller, stamp duty tax to the buyer and withdrawal of exemption deduction, and allowances, and apart from these professional fees to the consultants. Transaction costs involved in slump sale can go upto 5-10% of deal size.

Discharge of consideration: Lump sum consideration may be discharged by payment in cash or by way of issue of debentures and or both. Consideration being imperative aspect of slump sale should be discharged by taking in to consideration future financial, legal and strategic impact on transacting companies.

5. Slump sale agreement: Deal needs to be executed through agreement, capturing all slump sale clauses, effecting objectives predetermined and executed by both parties. The executed agreement needs to be registered as per applicable Stamp Act.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- The promoter of a company is a person who does the necessary preliminary work in connection with and incidental to the formation and the establishing of the company.
- The promoters of a company usually enter into contracts to acquire some property or right for the company which is yet to be incorporated, such contracts are called preliminary or pre-incorporation contracts. The promoters generally enter into such contracts as agents for the company about to be formed.
- When the company comes into existence, it is not bound by the pre-incorporation contracts even when it takes the benefit of the work done on its behalf. However, specific performance of a contract between a third party and the promoters may be successfully claimed by the third party against the company, when the company enters into possession of the property on the faith of the promoters' contract.
- The pre-incorporation agreements entered into by the promoters acting on behalf of the intended company with third party cannot always be avoided for various reasons. These agreements affect the operations of the incorporated company.
- Memorandum of Association of the company is the fundamental formation document. It is the constitution and charter of the company. Draftsmen should know that Memorandum is the main edifice upon which the whole structure of the company is erected. Based on the provisions of Section 4, the main drafting requirements of contents of a Memorandum should be kept in mind.
- Articles are rules and regulations for management of internal affairs of the company. It constitutes a contract between the company and its members and members inter se. It is framed with the object of carrying out aims and objects of the company as contained in Memorandum and if necessary it may clarify anything contained in Memorandum.
- Shareholders' agreement is a contractual arrangement between the shareholders of a company describing how the company should be operated and the defining inter-se shareholders' rights and obligations. Shareholders' agreement. Such agreements are specifically drafted to provide specific rights, impose definite restrictions over and above those provided by the Companies Act.

- While drafting a contract of appointment for the appointment of a managing director of a company, certain important points have to be taken care of, i.e., the person who is being appointed as managing director must be a director of the company and must be entrusted with substantial powers of management.
- The Board of Directors while appointing a director as managing director, critically examines the draft agreement prepared by the Secretary for the appointment of the managing director and after having approved the same with or without any modification, authorises one of its directors to sign and execute for and on behalf of the company, the agreement for the appointment of the managing director.
- Being an agreement, such a contract must have all the other essential ingredients of a contract under the Indian Contract Act, 1872.
- Likewise, the Secretary has to bear in mind important points while drafting an agreement for the appointment of a manager.
- The appointment of a Company Secretary is done by the Board of Directors and he functions at the pleasure of the Board. Usually the appointment of a Company Secretary is made by an appointment letter signed and issued by the Chief Executive Officer, who may be the managing director, executive director, whole-time director etc. under specific authority of the Board.
- This letter is an offer by the company to the prospective Company Secretary and when he accepts the same it become a binding contract between him and the company and their relationship is governed by the terms and conditions thereof.
- During its life time a company may find it necessary to reorganise itself. Such a re-organisation may be for many reasons. When a company is financially weak, it wishes to reach a compromise with its members and/or creditors. It may wish to take over the business of another running but endangered company. It may wish to restructure its share capital.
- The Companies Act, 2013 provide various methods of company re-organisation or reconstruction. The various terms used for reorganization are arrangement, reconstruction, amalgamation, merger, take-over, etc.
- Slump sale is one of the widely used ways of business acquisitions. The term ‘slump sale’ under the Income Tax Act is defined as transfer of one or more undertakings as a result of the sale for a lump-sum consideration without values being assigned to the individual assets and liabilities in such sales.

SELF-TEST QUESTIONS

(These are meant for recapitulation only. Answers to these questions are not to be submitted for evaluation)

1. State in brief the law regarding ‘promoters’ contract’. Draft a specimen promoters’ contract for the purchase of an industrial plot for setting up an industrial unit of the proposed company XYZ Ltd.
2. Write in brief about the underwriting and brokerage agreements. Draft a specimen underwriting agreement.
3. ABC Co. Ltd., wants to engage Mr. M as its managing director. The Chairman of the company wants you to prepare and submit to him a draft specimen agreement of service with Mr. M. as a managing director of the company, draft the same. Also mention what care you will take while drafting the above agreement.
4. Define amalgamation. Draft specimen agreement between two companies to amalgamate by sale of one to the other.
5. Distinguish briefly ‘compromise’, ‘arrangements’ and ‘settlements’. Draft a specimen scheme of amalgamation of XYZ Co. Ltd. with ABC Co. Ltd.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Pleadings generally mean either a plaint or a written statement. The main objective behind formulating the rules of pleadings is to find out and narrow down the controversy between the parties.

Drafting of plaints, applications, reply/written statement require the skills and knowledge of a draftsman. These should be drafted after looking into the provisions of law so that no relevant detail is omitted.

The objective of the study lesson is to disseminate information to the students about the legal provisions relating to drafting of pleadings. Besides, students will be familiarized with the drafting of various petitions/applications under the Civil Procedure Code, appeals and revision applications etc.

INTRODUCTION

The present day system of pleadings in our country is based on the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 supplemented from time to time by rules in that behalf by High Courts of the States. There are rules of the Supreme Court and rules by special enactments as well.

For one, words 'plaints' and 'complaints' are nearly synonymous. In both, the expression of grievance is predominant. Verily, when a suitor files a statement of grievance he is the plaintiff and he files a 'complaint' containing allegations and claims remedy. As days passed, we have taken up the word 'Plaint' for the Civil Court and the word 'Complaint' for the Criminal Court.

Order 6, R. 1 of Civil Procedure Code (C.P.C.) defines 'pleading'. It means either a plaint or a written statement.'

With the passing of time written pleadings supplanted archaic oral pleadings. When reduced to writing the scope of confusion, for obvious reasons, was made narrower.

In this we find the object of a pleading which aims at ascertaining precisely the points for contention of the parties to a suit. The rules of pleading and other ancillary rules contained in the Code of Civil Procedure have one main object in view. It is to find out and narrow down the controversy between the parties. The function of pleadings is to give fair notice of the case which has to be met so that the opposing party may direct his evidence to the issue disclosed by them. Procedural law is intended to facilitate and not to obstruct the course of substantive justice. Provisions relating to pleadings in civil cases are meant to give each side intimation of the case of the other so that it may be met, to enable courts to determine what is really at issue between parties, and to prevent deviations from the course which litigation on particular causes of action must take (Ganesh Trading v. Motiram, AIR 1970 SC 480). Necessarily, a pleading is accurate only when stripped of verbosity it pinpoints succinctly the plaintiff's grievances giving him the right to sue for the desired relief, or when it briefly sets out the defendant's defence. When so done, there would be hardly any scope left to beat about the bush or to take the other party by surprise.

Pleadings should be read not by the piecemeal but as a whole and should be liberally construed. Every venial defect should not be allowed to defeat a pleading, for a plaintiff's case should not be defeated merely on the ground of some technical defect in his pleadings provided he succeeds on the real issues of the case. It has been held: "Rigid construction of the law of pleadings was inappropriate and not calculated to serve the cause of justice for which the law of procedure was largely designed (AIR 1969 Del. 120). This should, of course, not be taken as an excuse for pleadings extremely lax and irrelevant, argumentative and inaccurate."

In construing the plaint, the court has to look at the substance of the plaint rather than its mere form. If, on the whole and in substance, the suitor appears to ask for some relief as stated, the court can look at the substance of the relief. "Pleadings have to be interpreted not with formalistic rigour but with latitude of awareness of low legal literacy of poor people."

Coming to construction of pleadings, Sarkaria, J held: "A pleading has to be read as a whole to ascertain its import. It is not permissible to cull out a sentence or a passage and to read it out of the context in isolation. Although it is the substance and not mere the form that has to be looked into, the pleading has to be construed as it stands without addition or subtraction of words, or change of its apparent grammatical sense. The intention of the party concerned is to be gathered, primarily, from the tenor and term of his pleading taken as a whole. (Udhav Singh v. Madhava Rao Scindia, AIR 1976 SC 744).

Fundamental rules of pleadings

The fundamental rule of pleadings is contained in provisions of O. 6, R. 2 of C.P.C. which enjoins :

- (1) "Every pleading shall contain only, a statement in a concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence, as the case may be, but not the evidence by which they are to be proved.
- (2) Every pleading shall, when necessary, be divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, each allegation being, so far as is conveniently, contained in a separate paragraph.
- (3) Dates, sums and numbers shall be expressed in a pleading in figures as well as in words."

To quote the Earl of Halsbury: "The sole object of it is that each may be fully alive to the questions that are about to be argued in order that they may have an opportunity of bringing forward such evidence as may be appropriate to the issues." The rules of pleading and other ancillary rules contained in the Code of Civil Procedure have one main object in view. It is to find out and narrow down controversy between the parties.

"The pleadings are not to be considered as constituting a game of skill between the advocates. They ought to be so framed as not only to assist the party in the statement of his case but the court in its investigation of the truth between the litigants".

The pleading shall contain

- (i) facts only, then again, material facts;
- (ii) not law;
- (iii) not evidence; and
- (iv) immaterial facts to be discarded.
- (v) deficiency in pleading.

What are material facts? Facts which gave the plaintiff his cause of action or the defendant his defence are, briefly speaking, material facts which he must prove or fail. It, therefore, stands to reason that facts which are not required to support the plaintiffs or the defendant's case are not material. Whether a fact is material or not depends on the facts and circumstances of each case and can be held so or otherwise only in the context of relevant situation.

(i) Material facts: A pleadings shall contain only material facts. Material facts are the entirety of facts which would be necessary to prove to succeed in the suit. Any fact which is not material should be avoided. Slackness in pleadings is unfair both to the court in which they are filed and also to the litigants. Material facts should be pleaded concisely. There is hardly any scope for showing literary genius in a pleading.

Order 6, R. 2, C.P.C. should be read with O. 6, R. 4(c). When commencing a suit, the plaintiff is required to state only material facts, but such facts must constitute his cause of action as well. Absence of material facts will put the party to discomfiture, for no amount of evidence can be taken into consideration or regarded as sufficient in proof of any fact if specific mention of it is not made in the pleadings. Therefore, if a party omits to state a material fact, he will not be allowed to give evidence of the fact at the trial unless the pleading is amended under O. 6, R. 17, C.P.C. The rule is based mainly on principles that no party should be prejudiced by change in the case introduced by this method. No relief can be granted on facts and documents not disclosed in the plaint.

It is often noticed that during the trial of a suit, some fact is sought to be introduced in evidence which does not find mention in the plaint or in the written statement, as the case may be. Then follows a heated parley when the court intervenes and rejects any attempt of introduction of any new fact. To avoid discomfiture, the pleading should be carefully drafted not to miss any material fact which may subsequently be found to be so material as to decide the fate of the case this or that way.

(ii) Not law: In a pleading, there is no scope of pleading a provision of law or conclusion of law. It is the intention of the framers of the Code that a pleading should state facts, and the position as in law shall be inferred if such facts are capable of raising any legal inference. The pleading should present facts in such a way that those would irresistibly and spontaneously draw a legal inference. Herein lies the art of pleading. To find out the law is the duty of the court. Legal effects are not to be stated by the party. In India, as in England, the duty of a pleader is to set out the facts upon which he relies and not the legal inference to be drawn from them. Likewise the conclusion of law or a mixed question of law and fact should not be pleaded.

(iii) Not evidence: In like manner evidence has to be avoided in pleadings. We have noticed the wording of the rule of O. 6, R. 2 to wit, a statement in a concise form of the material facts on which the party pleading relies for his claim or defence as the case may be but not the evidence by which they are to be proved.

A pleading should not contain facts which are merely evidence to prove the material facts.

(iv) Immaterial facts to be discarded: Unnecessary details are the facts which are not material and, therefore, should be discarded.

(v) Deficiency in pleading: Parties are related to each other and know everything. No element of surprise has been caused to the other party. Parties understood the case and led evidence accordingly. Deficiency in pleading would not affect case of the plaintiff [Kailash Chandra v. Vinod, AIR 1994 NOC 267 (MP)].

PLAINT STRUCTURE

A suit is instituted by filing a plaint, which is the first pleading in a civil suit. It is a statement of the plaintiff's claim and its object is simply to state the grounds upon, and the relief in respect of which he seeks the assistance of the court.

Order VII of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908 deals with plaint. As per Order VII, R.1 CPC, every plaint must contain the following things:

- (a) the name of the Court in which the suit is brought;
- (b) the name, description and place of residence of the plaintiff;
- (c) the name, description and place of residence of the defendant, so far as they can be ascertained;
- (d) where the plaintiff or the defendant is a minor or a person of unsound mind, a statement to that effect;
- (e) the facts constituting the cause of action and when it arose;
- (f) the facts showing that the Court has jurisdiction;
- (g) the relief which the plaintiff claims;
- (h) where the plaintiff has allowed a set-off or relinquished a portion of his claim, the amount so allowed or relinquished; and
- (i) a statement of the value of the subject-matter of the suit for the purposes of jurisdiction and of court fees, so far as the case admits.

Where the plaintiff seeks the recovery of money, the plaint must state the precise amount claimed. But where the plaintiff sue for mesne profits, or for an amount which will be found due to him on taking unsettled accounts between him and the defendant, or for movables in the possession of the defendant, or for debts of which the value he cannot, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, estimate, the plaint shall state approximately the amount or value sued for. [R.2]

If the subject-matter of the suit is immovable property, the plaint must contain a description of the property sufficient to identify it, and, in case such property can be identified by boundaries or numbers in a record of settlement or survey, the plaint must specify such boundaries or numbers. [R.3]

When plaintiff sues as representative: As per Rule 4 where the plaintiff sues in a representative character the plaintiff shall show not only that he has an actual existing interest in the subject-matter, but that he has taken the steps (if any) necessary to enable him to institute a suit concerning it.

Defendant's interest and liability to be shown: The plaintiff must show that the defendant is or claims to be interested in subject-matter, and that he is liable to be called upon to answer the plaintiff's demand. [R.5]

Grounds of exemption from limitation law: In case the suit is instituted after the expiration of the period prescribed by the law of limitation, the plaintiff must show the ground upon which exemption from such law is claimed. The Court may permit the plaintiff to claim exemption from the law of limitation on any ground not set out in the plaintiff, if such ground is not inconsistent with the grounds set out in the plaintiff. [R.6]

Relief to be specifically stated: Rule 7 says that every plaintiff shall state specifically the relief which the plaintiff claims either simply or in the alternative, and it shall not be necessary to ask for general or other relief which may always be given as the Court may think just to the same extent as if it had been asked for. And the same rule shall apply to any relief claimed by the defendant in his written statement.

Relief founded on separate ground: If the plaintiff seeks relief in respect of several distinct claims or causes of action founded upon separate and distinct grounds, they shall be stated as far as may be separately and distinctly. [R.8]

DESCRIPTION OF PARTIES

The description of parties in a plaintiff has had the only object of securing correct identification of the party suing and the party sued. There cannot be, for obvious reasons, any dogmatic rules as to what would constitute a proper description. It differs in varying circumstances.

Generally speaking, father's name, occupation and caste are sufficient description of an individual. It may include the age.

When the description is defective, it is a case of misdescription. Misdescription of parties can be corrected at any stage.

In a suit by a joint family firm, the suit was instituted in the firm name. Amendment seeking addition of individual partners can be allowed as the case is one of misdescription. X suing as proprietor of 'Todi Financing Corporation'—amendment sought by describing 'X' as partner of the Corporation and by impleading the retired partner as defendant should be allowed. (AIR 1979 Cal. 10)

To sum up, if, however, imperfectly and incorrectly a party is designated in a plaintiff, the correction of the error is not the addition or substitution of the party but merely clarifies and makes apparent what was previously shrouded in obscurity by reason of the error or mistake. The question in such a case is one of the intention of the party and if the court is able to discover the person or persons intended to sue or to be sued a mere misdescription of such a party can always be corrected provided the mistake was bona fide.

WRITTEN STATEMENT

It is incumbent on the defendant to file his defence in writing. If the defendant fails to file written statement, the court may pronounce judgment against him or may under O. 8, R. 10, make such order in relation to the suit as it deems fit. If the defendant has omitted to avail of his right to file a written statement at or before the first hearing, the court can extend the time for filing it, in exercise of its discretion, if the circumstances so warrant. The rule has to be worked in a manner so as to advance justice (Mehar Chand v. Suraj Bhan, AIR 1971 Punj 435).

Requirement of Written Statement

When the defendant appears and files a written pleading by way of defence, his pleading should conform to all the general rules of pleading laid down in the preceding paras. A subsequent pleading filed by the plaintiff, either in reply to a defendant's claim of set off, or with leave of the court, in answer to defendant's pleas in defence, is also called a "written statement" (also called Replication or Rejoinder). All the rules relating to defendant's written statement apply, mutatis mu-tandis to such written statement of the plaintiff also.

Considerations before Drafting a Written Statement

Before proceeding to draft a written statement, it is always necessary for a pleader to examine the plaint very carefully and to see whether all the particulars are given in it and whether the whole information that he requires for fully understanding the claim and drawing up the defence is available. If any particulars are wanting, he should apply that the plaintiff be required to furnish them before the defendant files his written statement. If he cannot make a proper defence without going through such particulars and/or such documents referred to in the plaint, and that the defendant is not in possession of such copies, or the copies do not serve the required purpose, the defendant should call upon the plaintiff to grant him inspection of them and to permit him to take copies, if necessary, or, if he thinks necessary, he may apply for discovery of documents. If he thinks any allegation/allegations in the plaint is embarrassing or scandalous, he should apply to have it struck out, so that he may not be required to plead those allegations. If there are several defendants, they may file a joint defence, if they have the same defence to the claim. If their defences are different, they should file separate written statements, and if the defences are not only different but also conflicting, it is not proper for the same pleader to file the different written statements. For instance, if two defendants, executants of a bond, are sued on the bond, and their plea is one of satisfaction, they can file a joint written statement. If the plaintiff claims limitation from the date of certain acknowledgement made by one defendant and contends that the acknowledgement saves limitation against the other also, the defendants may file separate written statements. In a suit on a mortgage-deed executed by a Hindu father, to which the sons are also made parties on the ground that the mortgage was for a legal necessity, if the sons want to deny the alleged legal necessity, they should not only file a separate defence from their father's but should also preferably engage a separate pleader.

(1) Formal Portion of Written Statement: A written statement should have the same heading and title as the plaint, except that, if there are several plaintiffs or several defendants, the name of only one may be written with the addition of "and another" or "and others", as the case may be. The number of the suit should also be mentioned after the name of the court. After the name of the parties and before the actual statement, there should be added some words to indicate whose statement it is, e.g., "written statement on behalf of all the defendants" or "written statement on behalf of defendant No. 1", or "written statement on behalf of the plaintiff in reply to defendant's claim for a set off" or "written statement (or replication) on behalf of the plaintiff filed under the order of the court, dated....." or "written statement on behalf of the plaintiff, filed with the leave of the court". The words "The defendant states....." or "The defendant states as follows" may be used before the commencement of the various paragraph of the written statement but this is optional.

No relief should be claimed in the written statement, and even statements such as that the claim is liable to be dismissed should be avoided. But when a set off is pleaded or the defendant prefers a counter-claim for any excess amount due to him, a prayer for judgment for that amount in defendant's favour should be made.

(2) Body of the Written Statement: The rest of the written statement should be confined to the defence.

Forms of Defence: A defence may take the form of (i) a "traverse", as where a defendant totally and categorically denies the plaint allegation, or that of (ii) "a confession and avoidance" or "special defence", where he admits the allegations but seeks to destroy their effect by alleging affirmatively certain facts of his own, as where he admits the bond in suit but pleads that it has been paid up, or that the claim is barred by limitation, or that of (iii) "an objection in point of law" (which was formerly called in England "a demurrer"), e.g., that the plaint allegations do not disclose a cause of action, or that the special damages claimed are too remote. Another plea may sometimes be taken which merely delays the trial of a suit on merits, e.g., a plea that the hearing should be stayed under Section 10, C.P.C., or that the suit has not been properly framed, there being some defect in the joinder of parties or cause of action and the case cannot be decided until those defects are removed. These pleas are called (a) "dilatatory pleas" in contradistinction to the other pleas which go to the root of the case and which are therefore known as (b) "peremptory pleas" or "pleas in bar". Some dilatatory pleas are not permitted in pleadings, but must be taken by separate proceedings. Others may either be taken in the written statement under the heading "Preliminary Objections", or by a separate application filed at the earliest opportunity, as some pleas, such as that of a mis-joinder and non-joinder, cannot be permitted unless taken at the earliest opportunity (O. 1, R. 7 and 13).

A defendant may adopt one or more of the above forms of defence, and in fact he can take any number of different defences to the same action. For example, in a suit on a bond he can deny its execution, he can plead that the claim is barred by limitation, he can plead that, as no consideration of the bond is mentioned in the plaint, the plaint does not disclose any cause of action, he can plead that the bond being stated to be in favour of two persons the plaintiff alone cannot maintain the suit. He can as well plead one form of defence to one part of the claim, and another defence to another part of it.

He can take such different defences either jointly or alternatively, even if such defences are inconsistent. But certain inconsistent pleas such as those which depend for their proof, on entirely contradictory facts, are generally not tenable. A ground of defence, which has arisen to the defendant even after the institution of the suit, but before the filing of his written statement, may also be raised (O.8, R.8).

All defences which are permissible should be taken in the first instance, for, if the defendant does not take any plea, he may not be allowed to advance it at a later stage, particularly when it involves a question of fact.

How to Draft a Written Statement

When the defendant relies on several distinct grounds of defence or set off, founded upon separate and distinct facts, they should be stated in separate paragraphs (O.8, R.7), and when a ground is applicable, not to the whole claim but only to a part of it, its statement should be prefaced by words showing distinctly that it is pleaded only to that part of the claim, thus: "As to the mesne profits claimed by the plaintiff, the defendant contends that, etc." or "As to the price of cloth said to have been purchased by the defendant, the defendant contends that, etc."

When it is intended to take several defences in the same written statement, the different kinds of defences should be separately written. It is convenient to adopt the following order for the several pleas:

- (i) Denials.
- (ii) Dilatory pleas.
- (iii) Objections in point of law.
- (iv) Special defence (pleas in confession and avoidance).
- (v) Set off.

All admissions and denials of facts alleged in the plaint should be recorded in the first part of the written statement and before any other pleas are written. If a defendant wishes to add an affirmative statement of his own version to the denial of a plaint allegation, or to add anything in order to explain his admission or denial, it is better and more convenient to allege the additional facts along with the admissions or denial, than to reserve them until after the admissions or denials have been recorded. If there are some defences which are applicable to the whole case and others which apply only to a part of the claim, the former should preferably be pleaded before the latter.

Drafting of Reply/Written Statement – Important Considerations

At the time of drafting the reply or written statement, one has to keep the following points in mind:-

- (i) One has to deny the averment of the plaint/petition which are incorrect, perverse or false. In case, avertment contained in any para of the plaint are not denied specifically, it is presumed to have been admitted by the other party by virtue of the provisions of Order 8, Rule 5 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

It must be borne in mind that the denial has to be specific and not evasive (Order 8, Rule 3 & 4 CPC) [1986 Rajdhani Law Reporter 213; AIR 1964 Patna 348 (DB), AIR 1962 MP 348 (DB); Dalvir Singh Dhillowal v. Kanwaljit Singh 2002 (1) Civil LJ 245 (P&H); Badat & Co v. East India Trading Co. AIR 1964 SC 538]. However, general allegation in the plaint cannot be said to be admitted because of general denial in written statement. [Union v. A. Pandurang, AIR 1962 SC 630.]

- (ii) If the plaint has raised a point/issue which is otherwise not admitted by the opposite party in the correspondence exchanged, it is generally advisable to deny such point/issue and let the onus to prove that point be upon the complainant. In reply, one has to submit the facts which are in the nature of defence and to be presented in a concise manner. [Syed Dastagir v. T.R. Gopalakrishnan Setty, 1999 (6) SCC 337.]
- (iii) Attach relevant correspondence, invoice, challan, documents, extracts of books of accounts or relevant papers as annexures while reply is drafted to a particular para of the plaint;
- (iv) The reply to each of the paras of the plaint be drafted and given in such a manner that no para of the plaint is left unattended. The pleadings are foundations of a case. [Vinod Kumar v. Surjit Kumar, AIR 1987 SC 2179.]
- (v) After reply, the same is to be signed by the constituted attorney of the opposite party. If the opposite party is an individual, it could be signed by him or his constituted attorney or if the opposite party is a partnership firm, the same should be signed by a partner who is duly authorised under the Partnership Deed, because no partner has an implied authority to sign pleadings on behalf of the partnership firm by virtue of Section 22 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932. In case of a body corporate, the same could be signed by any Director, Company Secretary, Vice-President, General Manger or Manager who is duly authorised by the Board of Directors of the company because any of the aforesaid persons per se are not entitled to sign pleadings on behalf of the body corporate. [Order 29 of Code of Civil Procedure.]

It may be noted that if the plaint or reply is not filed by a duly authorised person, the petition would be liable to be dismissed [Nibro Ltd . v. National Insurance Co. Ltd., AIR 1991 Delhi 25; Raghuvir Paper Mills Ltd. v. India Securities Ltd. 2000 Corporate Law Cases 1436]. However, at the time of filing of petition, if the pleadings are signed by a person not authorised, the same could be ratified subsequently. [United Bank of India v. Naresh Kumar, AIR 1997 SC 2.]

- (vi) The reply/written statement is to be supported by an Affidavit of the opposite party. Likewise, the Affidavit will be sworn by any of the persons aforesaid and duly notarised by an Oath Commissioner. The Affidavit has to be properly drawn and if the affidavit is not properly drawn or attested, the same cannot be read and the petition could be dismissed summarily. [Order 6, Rule 15 CPC]. The court is bound to see in every case that the pleadings are verified in the manner prescribed and that verifications are not mere formalities.
- (vii) The reply alongwith all annexures should be duly page numbered and be filed alongwith authority letter if not previously filed.
- (viii) At the time of filing of reply, attach all the supporting papers, documents, documentary evidence, copies of annual accounts or its relevant extracts, invoices, extracts of registers, documents and other relevant papers.
- (ix) It may be noted that if any of the important points is omitted from being given in the reply, it would be suicidal as there is a limited provision for amendment of pleadings as provided in Order 6, Rule 17 CPC, and also the same cannot be raised in the Affidavit-in-Evidence at the time of leading of evidence.

Because if any point has not been pleaded in the pleadings, no evidence could be led on that point. General rule is that no pleadings, no evidence. [Mrs. Om Prabha Jain v. Abnash Chand Jain, AIR 1968 SC 1083; 1968 (3) SCR 111.]

- (x) If a party is alleging fraud, undue influence or mis-representation, general allegations are insufficient even to amount to an averment of fraud of which any court ought to take notice, however, strong the language in which they are couched may be, and the same applies to undue influence or coercion. [Afsar Shaikh v. Soleman Bibi, AIR 1976, SC 163; 1976 (2) SCC 142]. While pleading against fraud or mis-representation, party must state the requisite particulars in the pleadings. [K Kanakarathnam v. P Perumal, AIR 1994 Madras 247.]
- (xi) It is well settled that neither party need in any pleadings allege any matter of fact which the law presumes in his favour or as to which the burden of proof lies upon the other side unless the same has first been specifically denied. [Order 6, Rule 13 CPC; Sections 79 and 90 of Indian Evidence Act.]
- (xii) In every pleading, one must state specifically the relief which the party is claiming from the court or tribunal or forum. While framing the prayer clause, one should claim all possible relief as would be permissible under the pleadings and the law [Order 7, Rule 7 CPC]. The general principle is that the relief if not prayed for, will not be allowed. [R Tiwary v. B Prasad, AIR 2002 SC 136.]

INTERLOCUTORY APPLICATION

“Interlocutory” means not that decides the cause but which only settles some intervening matter relating to the cause. After the suit is instituted by the plaintiff and before it is finally disposed off, the court may make interlocutory orders as may appear to the court to be just and convenient. The power to grant Interlocutory orders can be traced to Section 94 of C.P.C. Section 94 summarises general powers of a civil court in regard to different types of Interlocutory orders. The detailed procedure has been set out in the Schedule I of the C.P.C which deals with Orders and Rules.

Interlocutory orders may take various shapes depending upon the requirement of the respective parties during the pendency of the suit. Applications for appointment of Commissioner, Temporary Injunctions, Receivers, payment into court, security for cause etc.

Original Petition

Suits are filed to lodge money claims in civil courts working under District Courts while petitions are filed in High Courts which are above District Courts seeking some directions against the opposite party; mostly the Government. There is no legal term like original suit or original petition. The suit which is initially filed in the first court for the first time is referred as original suit. Petitions are Writ Petitions, Arbitration Petitions, Miscellaneous Petitions etc. & not the original petition. After judgement in suit or petition, if any aggrieved party challenges it then it is by filing appeal in the higher court which is ordinarily called as Appeal but often in some court it is termed as Letters Patent Appeal (LPA) & as Special Leave Petition (SLP) in Supreme Court.

Affidavit

An affidavit being a statement or declaration on oath by the deponent, is an important document and the consequences of a false affidavit are serious. Therefore, great care is required in drafting it.

A Court may, at any time, for sufficient reason order that any particular fact or facts may be proved by affidavit or that the affidavit of any particular witness may be read at the hearing, provided that the Court may order the deponent to appear in person in Court for cross-examination.

Affidavits to be produced in a Court must strictly conform to the provisions of order XIX, Rule 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 and in the verification it must be specified as to which portions are being sworn on the basis of personal knowledge and which, on the basis of information received and believed to be true. In the latter case, the source of information must also be disclosed. The following rules should be remembered when drawing up an affidavit:

- (1) Not a single allegation more than is absolutely necessary should be inserted;
- (2) The person making the affidavit should be fully described in the affidavit;
- (3) An affidavit should be drawn up in the first person;
- (4) An affidavit should be divided into paragraphs, numbered consecutively, and as far as possible, each paragraph should be confined to a distinct portion of the subject;
- (5) Every person or place referred to in the affidavit should be correctly and fully described, so that he or it can be easily identified;
- (6) When the declarant speaks of any fact within his knowledge he must do so directly and positively using the words "I affirm" or "I make oath and say";
- (7) Affidavit should generally be confined to matters within the personal knowledge of the declarant, and if any fact is within the personal knowledge any other person and the petitioner can secure his affidavit about it, he should have it filed. But in interlocutory proceedings, he is also permitted to verify facts on information received, using the words "I am informed by so and so" before every allegation which is so verified. If the declarant believes the information to be true, he must add "and I believe it to be true".
- (8) When the application or opposition thereto rests on facts disclosed in documents or copies, the declarant should state what is the source from which they were produced, and his information and belief as to the truth of facts disclosed in such documents;
- (9) The affidavit should have the following oath or affirmation written out at the end:

"I swear that this my declaration is true, that it conceals nothing, and that no part of it is false".

or

"I solemnly affirm that this my declaration is true, that it conceals nothing and that no part of it is false".

Any alterations in the affidavit must be authenticated by the officer before whom it is sworn.

An affidavit has to be drawn on a non-judicial Stamp Paper as applicable in the State where it is drawn and sworn.

An affidavit shall be authenticated by the deponent in the presence of an Oath Commissioner, Notary Public, Magistrate or any other authority appointed by the Government for the purpose.

- (10) Affidavits are chargeable with stamp duty under Article 4, Schedule I, Stamp Act, 1899. But no stamp duty is charged on affidavits filed or used in Courts. Such affidavits are liable to payment of Court fee prescribed for the various Courts.

EXECUTION PETITION

Application for Execution

Execution of decree

Application for execution of a decree shall be made by a holder of a decree who desires to execute it to the appropriate court which passed it or to the officer appointed in this behalf. In case the decree has been sent to another court than the application shall be made to such court or the proper officer thereof. Application for execution of a decree may be either (1) Oral; or (2) written.

(A) Oral Application: Where a decree is for payment of money the court may on the oral application of the decreeholder at the time of the passing of the decree, order immediate execution thereof by the arrest of the judgement debtor, prior to the preparation of a warrant if he is within precincts of the court.

(b) Written Application: Every application for the execution of a decree shall be in writing save as otherwise provided sub-rule (1) (above) signed and verified by the applicant or by some other person proved to the satisfaction of the court to be acquainted with the facts of the case, and shall contain in a tabular form the following particulars, namely :

- (a) the No. of the suit;

- (b) the name of the parties;
- (c) the date of the decree;
- (d) whether any appeal has been preferred from the decree;
- (e) whether any, and (if any) what, payment or other adjustment of the matter in controversy has been made between the parties subsequently to the decree;
- (f) whether any, and (if any) what, previous applications have been made for the execution of the decree, the dates of such applications and their results;
- (g) the amount with interest (if any) due upon the decree, or other relief granted thereby, together with particulars of any cross decree, whether passed before or after the date of the decree sought to be executed;
- (h) the amount of costs (if any) awarded;
- (i) the name of the person against whom execution of the decree sought; and
- (j) the mode in which the assistance of the court is required, whether—
 - (i) by the delivery of any property specifically decreed;
 - (ii) by the attachment or by the attainment and sale, or by the sale without attachment, of any property;
 - (iii) by the arrest and detention in prison of any person;
 - (iv) by the appointment of a receiver;
 - (v) otherwise, as the nature of the relief granted may require.

The court to which an application is made under sub-rule (2) may require the applicant to produce a certified copy of the decree. Some High Courts in different States have framed additional rules in this regard may also be taken care by the draftsman or the executing lawyer.

MEMORANDUM OF APPEAL AND REVISION

Although “Appeal” has not been defined in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 yet any application by a party to an appellate Court, asking it to set aside or revise a decision of a subordinate Court, is an “appeal”. A right of appeal is not a natural or inherent right but is a creature of a statute. It is the statute alone to which the Court must look to determine whether a right of appeal exists in a particular instance or not. Parties cannot create a right of appeal by agreement or mutual consent. The right of appeal is not a matter of procedure, but is a substantive right and can be taken away only by a subsequent enactment, if it says so expressly or by necessary intendment and not otherwise. It is for the appellant to show that the statute gives a right of appeal to him.

The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 provides for four kinds of appeals:

- (1) Appeals from original decrees (Sections 96 to 99 and Order XLI);
- (2) Second Appeals (Sections 100 to 103);
- (3) Appeals from Orders (Sections 104 to 106, Order XLIII, Rules 1 and 2); and
- (4) Appeals to the Supreme Court.

(1) Appeals from original decrees may be preferred from every decree passed by any Court exercising original jurisdiction to the Court authorised to hear appeals from the decisions of such Court on points of law as well as on facts.

(2) Second Appeals lie to the High Court from every decree passed in appeal by any Court subordinate to the High Court, if the High Court is satisfied that the case involves a substantial question of law.

Under Section 100 to the Code, an appeal may lie from an appellate decree passed ex parte. The memorandum of appeal shall precisely state the substantial question of law involved in the appeal. The High Court, if satisfied, that a substantial question of law is involved, shall formulate that question. The appeal shall be heard on question so formulated and the respondent shall, at the hearing of the appeal, be allowed to argue that the case does not involve such question.

In the second appeal, the High Court may, if the evidence on the record is sufficient, determine any issue necessary for the disposal of the appeal:

- (a) which has not been determined by the Lower Appellate Court or both by the Court of first instance and the Lower Appellate Court, or
- (b) which has been wrongly determined by such Court or Courts by reason of a decision on such question of law as is referred in Section 100 of the Code (Section 103).

(3) Appeals from, Orders under Sections 104 to 106 would lie only from the following Orders on grounds of defect or irregularity of law:

- (a) An Order under Section 35A of the Code allowing special costs;
- (b) An Order under Section 91 or Section 92 refusing leave to institute a suit;
- (c) An Order under Section 95 for compensation for obtaining arrest, attachment or injunction on insufficient ground;
- (d) An Order under the Code imposing a fine or directing the detention or arrest of any person except in execution of a decree; and
- (e) Appealable Orders as set out under Order XLIII, Rule 1.

(4) Appeals to the Supreme Court, the highest Court of Appeal, lie in the following cases:

- (1) Section 109 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 provides:

“Subject to the provisions in Chapter IV of Part V of the Constitution and such rules as may, from time to time, be made by the Supreme Court regarding appeals from the Courts of India, and to the provisions hereinafter contained, an appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court from any judgement, decree or final order in a civil proceeding of a High Court, if the High Court certifies:

- (i) that the case involves a substantial question of law of general importance; and
- (ii) that in the opinion of the High Court the said question needs to be decided by the Supreme Court.”

Order 45 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 provides rules of procedure in appeals to the Supreme Court.

- (2) Articles 132 to 135 of the Constitution deal with ordinary appeals to the Supreme Court:

(i) Appeals in Constitutional cases: Clause (1) of the Article 132 of the Constitution provides that an appeal shall lie to the Supreme Court from any judgement, decree or final order of a High Court in the territory of India, whether in a civil, criminal or other proceedings, if the High Court certifies under Article 134A that the case involves a substantial question of law as to interpretation of the Constitution.

(ii) Appeals in civil cases: Article 133 deals with appeals to the Supreme Court from decisions of High Court in civil proceedings. For an appeal to the Supreme Court the conditions laid down in this article must be fulfilled.

These conditions are:

- (a) the decision appealed against must be a “judgement, decree or final order” of a High Court in the territory of India,
- (b) such judgement, decree or final order should be given in a civil proceeding, and
- (c) a certificate of the High Court to the effect that (i) the case involves a substantial question of law, and (ii) in the opinion of the High Court the said question needs to be decided by the Supreme Court.

(iii) Appeals in criminal cases: A limited criminal appellate jurisdiction is conferred upon the Supreme Court by Article 134. It is limited in the sense that the Supreme Court has been constituted a Court of criminal appeal in exceptional cases where the demand of justice requires interference by the highest Court of the land.

There are two modes by which a criminal appeal from any “judgement, final order or sentence” in a criminal proceeding of a High Court can be brought before the Supreme Court:

- (1) Without a certificate of the High Court.
- (2) With a certificate of the High Court.
- (3) Appeal by Special Leave. (Discussed in this study lesson under the heading “Special Leave Petition”.)

In appeals, as a general rule, the parties to an appeal are not entitled to produce additional evidence, whether oral or documentary, but the Appellate Court has discretion to allow additional evidence in the following circumstances:

- (i) When the lower Court has refused to admit evidence which ought to have been admitted;
- (ii) When the party seeking to produce additional evidence establishes that he could not produce it in its trial Court for no fault of his;
- (iii) The Appellate Court requires any document to be produced or any witness to be examined to enable it to pronounce judgement; and
- (iv) For any other substantial cause.

However, in all such cases the Appellate Court shall record its reasons for admission of additional evidence.

The appellate judgement must include the following essential factors:

- (a) the points for determination;
- (b) the decision thereon;
- (c) the reasons for the decision; and
- (d) where the decree appealed from is reversed or varied, the relief to which the appellant is entitled to.

Drafting of Appeals

An appeal may be divided into three parts: (1) formal part, known as the memorandum of appeal, (2) material part, grounds of appeal, and (3) relief sought for.

The memorandum of appeal should begin with the name of the Court in which it is filed. After the name of the Court, number of the appeal and the year in which it is filed are given. As the number is noted by the officials of the Court, a blank space is left for it. Then follow the names and addresses of the parties to the appeal. The name of the appellant is given first and then that of the respondent. It should be indicated against the names of the parties as to what character each party had in the lower Court, i.e. whether he was a plaintiff or a defendant, or an applicant or an opposite party, as:

A.B., son of etc.	(Plaintiff) Appellant
Versus
C.D., son of etc.	(Defendant) Respondent
Or
A.B., son of etc.	(Decree-holder) Appellant
Versus
C.D., son of etc.	(Judgement-debtor) Respondent

After the names of the parties, an introductory statement giving the particulars of the decree or order appealed from (viz., the number and date, the court which passed it, and the name of the presiding officer), should be written in some such form as:

“The above-named appellant appeals to the Court of..... from the decree of..... Civil Judge at..... in Suit No..... passed on the..... and sets forth the following grounds of objections to the decree appealed from, namely”.

This may also be written in the form of a heading as:

“Appeal from the decree of..... Civil Judge of..... at..... in Suit No..... passed on the.....”.

Thereafter, the grounds of appeal be given under the heading “Grounds of Appeal”. The grounds of appeal are the grounds on which the decree or the order appealed from is objected to or attacked. As a general rule, in the grounds of appeal, the following points may be raised:

- (a) any mistake committed by the lower Court in weighing the evidence;
- (b) any mistake in the view of law entertained by the lower Court;
- (c) any misapplication of law to the facts of the case;
- (d) any material irregularity committed in the trial of the case;
- (e) any substantial error or defect of procedure;
- (f) and the defect, error or irregularity of any inter-locutory order passed in the case, whether the same was appealable or not.

A ground taken but not pressed in the first Appellate Court cannot be revived in second appeal. A defendant can question the propriety of ex parte proceedings in an appeal from the decree.

The general rule, besides being subject to Section 100 of the Code, is also subject to two conditions:

- (1) that the mistake of the lower Court should be material i.e., it should be such as affects the decision, and
- (2) that the objection taken must be such as arises from the pleadings and evidence in the lower Court.

Drafting Grounds of Appeals

- (i) Grounds of objection should be written distinctly and specifically;
- (ii) They should be written concisely;
- (iii) They must not be framed in a narrative or argumentative form; and
- (iv) Each distinct objection should be stated in a separate ground and the grounds should be numbered consecutively.

These rules are simple but are most important and must be carefully remembered and observed while drafting Grounds of Appeal.

Relief Sought in Appeal

It is nowhere expressly provided in the Code that the relief sought in appeal should be stated in the memorandum of appeal. The absence of prayer for relief in appeal does not appear to be fatal and the Court is bound to exercise its powers under Section 107 of the Code and to give to the appellant such relief as it thinks proper. However, it is an established practice to mention in the memorandum of appeal, the relief sought by the appellant.

Signature

A memorandum of appeal need not be signed by the appellant himself. It may be signed by him or by his counsel but if there are several appellants and they have no counsel, it must be signed by all of them. It is not required to be verified.

An agreement was reached between the parties which was reducing into writing. The appellant supplied goods worth Rs. 15 lacs over a period of months to the respondents. A statement of account regarding the goods so supplied is annexed hereto and marked as ANNEXURE A-1.
3. That the respondents have made a total payment of Rs. 6 lacs on different dates. The statement of the said payments made by the respondents is appended and is marked as ANNEXURE A-2.
4. That the remaining amount has not been paid by the respondent despite repeated demands and issuance of a legal notice by the appellant through advocate.
5. That the appellant filed a suit for recovery of the aforesaid balance amount of Rs. 9 lacs together with interest at the rate of 12% per annum and the cost of the suit. The suit was filed on..... in the court of the learned District Judge.
6. That upon being summoned by the said court the respondents appeared through counsel and filed their written statement to which appellant-plaintiff also filed replication (rejoinder).

7. That the parties led evidence. After hearing the counsel for the parties the learned District Judge has by his judgement and decree passed on..... dismissed the appellant’s suit on the ground that the evidence led by the parties does not establish the claim of the appellant-plaintiff. Copies of the judgement and decree of the court below are annexed hereto and are marked as ANNEXURE A-3 AND A-4, respectively.

Aggrieved by the aforesaid judgement and decree of the court below dismissing the suit of the plaintiff this appeal is hereby filed on the following, amongst other,

GROUND S

- A. That the judgement and decree under appeal are erroneous both on facts as well as law.
 - B. That the learned trial court has failed to properly appreciate the evidence, and has fallen into error in not finding that the preponderance of probability was in favour of the plaintiff-appellant.
 - C. That there was sufficient evidence led by the plaintiff to prove the issues raised in the suit and the defendant-respondent has failed to effectively rebut the plaintiff’s evidence, more particularly the documentary evidence.
 - D.
 - E.
 - F.
8. That the valuation of this appeal for the purposes of payment of court-fee is fixed at Rs..... and the requisite court fee in the form of stamps is appended to this memorandum of appeal.
9. That this appeal is being filed within the prescribed period of limitation, the judgement and decree under appeal having been passed on.....

In the above facts and circumstances the appellant prays that this appeal be allowed, the judgement and decree under appeal be set aside and the decree prayed for by the appellant in his suit before the court below be passed together with up-to-date interest and costs of both courts.

REVISION

Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 deals with revisionary jurisdiction of the High Courts. The Section lays down:

- “(1) The High Court may call for the record of any case which has been decided by any Court sub-ordinate to such High Court and in which no appeal lies thereto, and if such sub-ordinate Court appears:
 - (a) to have exercised a jurisdiction not vested in it by law; or
 - (b) to have failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested; or

(c) to have acted in the exercise of its jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity, the High Court may make such order in the case as it thinks fit:

Provided that the High Court shall not, under the Section, vary or reverse any order made, or any order deciding an issue, in the course of a suit or other proceeding, except where:

- (a) the order, if it had been made in favour of the party applying for revision, would have finally disposed of the suit or other proceeding; or
- (b) the order, if allowed to stand, would occasion a failure of justice or cause irreparable injury to the party against whom it was made.

(2) The High Court shall not, under this Section vary or reverse any decree or order against which an appeal lies either to the High Court or to any Court subordinate thereto.”

REVISION (CIVIL)

Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides for the remedy of revision. In a case where an appeal does not lie against a final order the aggrieved party can file a revision before the High Court (an no other court). There are certain orders passed by the Civil Courts subordinate to the High Court against which the remedy of appeal is not available, even through such orders finally decide an important question involved in the suit or substantially effect the right or interest of a party to the suit. In such cases the High Court can entertain a revision and quash or modify the order of the court below.

May it please the Hon'ble Chief Justice, High Court of..... and his companion Justices.

The petitioner MOST RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:

- A. That the petitioner named above has filed a suit against the respondents for the recovery of possession of a house situated in....., fully described in the plaint. The suit is pending in the court of Sub-Judge Ist Class..... and the next date of hearing is.....

- B. That on being summoned the respondent appeared before the court below and filed his written statement wherein he denied the petitioner’s title set up in the suit property.
- C. That the trial court framed issues on..... and directed the petitioner (plaintiff) to produce evidence, upon which the petitioner promptly furnished to the court below a list of witnesses and also deposited their diet expenses etc., making a request that the witness be summoned by that Court.
- D. That on a previous date of hearing that is....., 2013, two witness of the petitioner had appeared and their statements were recorded. However, the learned Presiding Officer of the court below passed an order that the remaining witnesses be produced by the petitioner-plaintiff on his own without seeking the assistance of the court. This order was passed despite a request by the petitioner that at least those witness named in the list who are State employees should be summoned by the court, as they are required to produce and prove some official records.
- E. That on the next date of hearing the learned trial court by the order impugned in this revision closed the evidence of the petitioner-plaintiff on the ground that the remaining witnesses were not produced by him.
- F. That the impugned order has caused great prejudice to the petitioner and if the same is allowed to stand the petitioner’s suit is bound to fail.
- G. That the trial court has unjustifiably denied assistance of the court to the petitioner-plaintiff to secure the attendance of his witnesses. The interests of justice demand that he is provided with all legal assistance in this regard.

In the facts and circumstances discussed above the petitioner prays that this Hon’ble Court be pleased to quash and set aside the order under revision and direct the court below to provide assistance of the court for summoning the plaintiff-witnesses.

SUIT UNDER XXXVII OF CPC

IN THE COURT OF SENIOR CIVIL JUDGE: NEW DELHI

CIVIL SUIT NO OF 2013

[UNDER ORDER XXXVII CPC]

IN THE MATTER OF:

AB

VERSUS

1. CD

2. EF

DEFENDANTS

PLAINT UNDER ORDER XXXVII CPC FOR RECOVERY OF AN AMOUNT OF RS.1,15,000/- (RUPEES ONE LAC FIFTEEN THOUSAND) TOGETHER WITH INTEREST PENDENTE LITE AND FUTURE AND COST

RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH:

1. That the plaintiff above-named is an iron merchant dealing in iron angles, pipes, casting sheets etc. and operating his business from the address mentioned in the title of the plaint.
2. That defendant no.1 is a partnership concern of which, defendant no.2 is the partner as had been disclosed to the plaintiff by defendant no.2 in the course of business dealings that took place between the plaintiff on the one hand and defendants on the other hand. The plaintiff is unaware of the other partners of defendant no.1 and seeks indulgence of this Hon'ble Court in issuing necessary directions to defendants to disclose the status of defendant no.1 firm as also the details of the other partners of the said firm so as to facilitate impleadment of such other partners also as party to the present suit.
3. That defendants maintained commercial transaction with the plaintiff above named by purchasing goods i.e. iron/ steel items sold/supplied by the plaintiff to the defendant from time to time against invoices raised/issued by the plaintiff. Defendants made part payments towards the invoice value of the goods so supplied/sold by the plaintiff thereby leaving balance outstanding in the accounts as maintained by the plaintiff in the ordinary course of business.
4. That as on 30th June 2012, a sum of Rs.1,00,000/- was outstanding against defendants in the accounts maintained by the plaintiff and in discharge of the said liability, the defendants had issued cheque bearing No.128038 dated 25th July 2012 for an amount of Rs.1,00,000/- drawn on Canara Bank, Branch Office Connaught Circus, New Delhi. The original cheque leaf as issued by the defendants is annexed and marked as ANNEXURE-A.

5. That after issuing the aforesaid cheque, the defendants, by citing reasons of some accounting problems existing in the defendant no.1 firm, required the plaintiff to defer presentation of the cheque for encashment till November, 2012. Resultantly, the plaintiff presented the cheque for encashment with his bankers in the month of November, 2012. However, the said cheque was returned back unpaid/dishonored by the bankers of the defendants for the reasons "Exceeds Arrangement". The return memo as issued by the bankers of the defendants has been received by the plaintiff on 27th November 2012. The original return memo is annexed herewith as ANNEXURE-B.

6. That repeated requests and reminders were thereafter sent by the plaintiff to the defendants for payment of the aforesaid outstanding dues, however, the defendants failed to pay the same. As such the plaintiff was constrained to issue a legal notice of demand dated 7th December 2012 calling upon the defendants to pay the aforesaid outstanding dues. However, despite receipt of the aforesaid notice of demand, the defendants failed to make payment of the aforesaid outstanding dues. Office copy of legal notice of demand dated 7th December 2012 alongwith Postal Receipts is annexed herewith as ANNEXURE-C.

7. That the amount outstanding against defendants is legally recoverable by plaintiff from defendants who are liable to pay the same jointly and severally. Furthermore, since the claim in suit has arisen out of commercial transactions between the parties, the plaintiff is entitled to claim interest on the aforesaid outstanding amounts at the prevalent market rate of interest as per custom/market usage. The rate of interest at the time when transactions took place between the parties was not less than 18% p.a. and as such plaintiff is entitled to claim and defendants are liable to pay interest on the aforesaid outstanding amount at the rate of 18% per annum from the date the amounts remained due and payable by the defendants. Interest calculated at the said rate of 18% p.a. on the outstanding amount of Rs.1,00,000/- (Rupees one lac) calculates to Rs. 15,000/- (Rupees fifteen thousand) as on the date of filing of the suit and the total adds upto Rs. 1,15,000/- (Rupees one lac fifteen thousand only). Defendants are liable to pay the said amount of Rs.1,15,000/- (Rupees one lac fifteen thousand) to the plaintiff.

8. That the aforesaid claim of the plaintiff is legal, valid and enforceable. Defendants are liable to pay the same to the plaintiff. There is no impediment in plaintiff's entitlement to the relief prayed.

9. That by the present suit, plaintiff seeks to recover claim of money payable by defendants by virtue of the negotiable instrument / cheque which has remained unpaid because of the acts directly attributable to the defendants. Suit claim of the plaintiff even otherwise consists of a debt or a liquidated demand in money payable with interest arising out of written contract.

10. That no relief which does not fall within the ambit of Order XXXVII Rule 2 CPC is claimed in the' suit. The suit claim is liable to be tried under the summary procedure prescribed by Order XXXVII CPC.

11. That cause of action for filing the present suit arose to the plaintiff against the defendants as stated above. It arose with the defendants purchasing goods sold/supplied by the plaintiff. It arose with the defendants making part payment of the invoice value of the goods supplied by the plaintiff, thereby leaving balance outstanding against the defendants in the accounts maintained by the plaintiff. It arose with defendant issuing cheque in discharge of their liability to pay the outstanding amounts to the plaintiff. The cause of action further arose with the cheque on being presented for encashment being returned back unpaid/dishonoured by the bankers of the defendants. It further accrued with the plaintiff issuing legal notice of demand calling upon the defendants to pay the outstanding amount. It also accrued with the defendants failing to abide by the legal notice of demand and failing to pay/clear the outstanding dues. Cause of action is in continuance uptil date.

12. That the defendants are residing/carrying on business within jurisdiction of the Hon'ble Court at the address described in the title of the plaint. Plaintiff is also having his business premises within the jurisdiction of this Hon'ble Court. Cause of action for filing the present suit has also arisen within the jurisdiction of this Hon'ble Court. As such, this Hon'ble Court has got jurisdiction to entertain and try the present suit.

13. That the plaintiff values the suit for the purposes of court fee and jurisdiction at Rs.1,15,000/- on which ad valorem court fee has been paid.

PRAYER

In the aforesaid facts and circumstances, it is, therefore, respectfully prayed that the Hon'ble Court may be pleased to:

- (a) try the plaintiffs suit claim under summary procedure prescribed under Order XXXVII CPC by ordering summons of suit in accordance with provisions of Order XXXVII CPC;
- (b) pass a decree for money in the sum of Rs. 1,15,000/- (Rupees One Lac fifteen Thousand Only) in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendants liable jointly and severally;
- (c) allow interest pendente lite and future @ 18% p.a. on the suit amount in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendants liable jointly and severally together with cost of the suit;
- (d) Hon'ble Court may also pass such further order(s) considered just, fit, proper and expedient in the facts and circumstances of the case.

SUIT FOR PERMANENT INJUNCTION

An injunction is a specific order of the Court forbidding the commission of a wrong threatened or the continuance of a wrongful course of action already begun, or in some cases (when it is called a 'mandatory injunction') commanding active restitution of the former state of things.

Injunctions are two types- (i)temporary and (ii) permanent".

Permanent injunction restrains a party for ever from doing the specified act and the same can be granted only on merits at the conclusion of the trial after hearing both the parties to the suit. It is governed by Sections 38 to 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963.

A temporary or interim injunction on the other hand restrains a party temporarily from doing the specified act and can be granted until the disposal of suit. It is regulated by the provisions of Order 39 of the Code of Civil Procedure and it may be granted at any stage of the suit. Injunctions are preventive, prohibitive or restrictive i.e. when they prevent, prohibit or restraint some one from doing some thing or mandatory, i.e. when they compel, command or order some persons to do some thing.

It is not the plaintiff alone who can apply for interim injunction. A defendant can also make an application for grant of an injunction against the plaintiff. Injunction may be issued only against a party and not against a stranger or third party. The various circumstances under which the temporary injunction can be granted has been provided for under Order 39 Rule 1 C.P.C.

The power to grant temporary injunction is at the discretion of the court. The discretion however should be exercised reasonably, judiciously and on sound legal principles.

CD, s/o aged r/o Defendant

The above-named plaintiff states as follows:

1. The plaintiff let plots Nos. 142 and 678 in village___ to the defendant, by a deed of lease, dated July 6, 2010, for purposes of a nursery for 7 years, and the defendant agreed by the said deed of lease not to use the land for any other purpose.
2. The defendant has, since July 1, 2013 commenced to dig earth from the said plots for the purposes of his adjoining brick-kiln.
3. The removal of earth from the land would make it unfit for cultivation for several years and would even otherwise reduce its quality and value and compensation in money would not afford adequate relief to the plaintiff.
4. The defendant threatens and intends, unless restrained from so doing, to continue to dig earth from the said plots.

The plaintiff claims a perpetual injunction restraining the defendant, his servants, or agents, from digging earth from any portion of the said plots Nos. 142 and 678.

SUIT FOR SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

Specific performance is an order of a court which requires a party to perform a specific act, usually what is stated in a contract. It is an alternative to awarding damages, and is classed as an equitable remedy commonly used in the form of injunctive relief concerning confidential information or real property. While specific performance can be in the form of any type of forced action, it is usually used to complete a previously established transaction, thus being the most effective remedy in protecting the expectation interest of the innocent party to a contract.

Orders of specific performance are granted when damages are not an adequate remedy, and in some specific cases such as sale of land. Such orders are discretionary, as with all equitable remedies, so the availability of this remedy will depend on whether it is appropriate in the circumstances of the case.

The Supreme Court in Babulal v. Hazari Lal Kishori Lal & others, AIR1982 SC 818;1982 SCC (1) 525 has held that no special form of decree in a suit for specific performance is supplied by the Civil Procedure Code. Chapter 11 of the Specific Relief Act, 1963 deals with the various circumstances under which a contract may be enforced specifically and where it cannot be allowed. When a contract is to be specifically enforced, it means simply this that when the parties do not agree to perform the contract mutually, the intervention of the Court is required and the Court will do all such things as the parties would have been bound to do had this been done without the intervention of the Court.

By the decree for specific performance, the court sets out what it finds to be the real contract between the parties and declares that such a contract exists and it is for the executing court to do the rest. It may be noticed further that a decree in a suit for specific performance has been considered to be somewhat in the nature of preliminary decree which cannot set out in the fullest detail the different steps which are required to be taken to implement the main portion of the order directing specific performance of the contract. The executing court is in such a case vested with authority to issue necessary directions.

Suit for specific performance of contract

Valued at Rs. 8,500

The above-named plaintiff states as follows:

1. That the defendant while owning and occupying the property, described in the Schedule below, had entered into a contract in writing on agreeing therein to sell to the plaintiff the land, described in the Schedule below, at a consideration of Rs. 8,500 and received from the plaintiff a sum of Rs. as earnest money.
2. That it was agreed therein that the defendant would sell the said property to the plaintiff by executing a proper sale deed and register the same on receipt of the balance sum of Rs. within six months from the date of the 'Bainanama' referred to above.
3. That the plaintiff has been always willing to pay to the defendant the balance of consideration money and as a matter of fact, the plaintiff offered to the defendant the said balance of consideration by a notice dated.....served by the plaintiff on the defendant by registered post with A/D through his lawyer Shri..... (Advocate).
4. That in the said notice the defendant was requested for compliance with the terms in the notice within 15 days from the date of receipt of the plaintiff's notice. The defendant received the notice on..... but did not comply with the request made therein.

5. That the plaintiff is entitled to specific performance of the said contract dated.....
6. That the cause of action for this suit arose first on..... (the date fixed for performance of the contract) and thereafter on after expiry of 15 days' period after receipt of notice by the defendant at Mouja.....P.S..... within the jurisdiction of this court.
7. That for the purpose of jurisdiction and court-fees, the suit is valued at Rs. 8,500 and ad valorem court-fees of Rs. 660 are paid.

The plaintiff, therefore, prays:

- (1) that the suit be decreed directing the defendant to execute and register the sale deed in question in favour of the plaintiff in respect of the property in the Schedule below, on accepting the contracted purchase money less the amount already paid as an earnest money;
- (2) that the defendant be directed to execute and register the sale deed within a time specified by the court, failing which the said deed be executed and registered according to the provisions of O. 21, R. 34 (5) and 6(a) of C.P.C.;
- (3) all costs of suit.

COMPLAINT

Complaint under section 2(d) of the Criminal Procedure Code means any allegation made orally or in writing to a Magistrate, with a view to his taking action under this Code, that some person, whether known or unknown, has committed an offence, but it does not include a police report.

However, a report made by the police officer in a case which discloses after investigation, the commission of a non-cognizable offence shall be deemed to be a complaint, and the police officer making the report as a complainant. In general a complaint into an offence can be filed by any person except in cases of offences relating to marriage, defamation and offences mentioned under Sections 195 and 197.

A complaint in a criminal case is what a plaint is in a civil case. The requisites of a complaint are:

- (i) an oral or a written allegation;
- (ii) some person known or unknown has committed an offence;
- (iii) it must be made to a magistrate; and
- (iv) it must be made with the object that he should take action.

There is no particular format of a complaint. A petition addressed to the Magistrate containing an allegation that an offence has been committed, and ending with a prayer that the culprit be suitably dealt with is a complaint. (Mohd. Yousuf v. Afaq Jahan, AIR 2006 SC 705). Complaint need not be presented in person. A letter to a magistrate stating facts constituting an offence and requesting to take action is a complaint.

Police report is expressly excluded from the definition of complaint but the explanation to Section 2(d) makes it clear that such report shall be deemed to be a complaint where after investigation it discloses commission of a non-cognizable offence. Police report means a report forwarded by a police officer to a Magistrate under Sub-section (2) of Section 173.

CRIMINAL MISCELLANEOUS PETITION

In any case Civil/Criminal/Writ when any Miscellaneous Petition is moved, the same is registered as Civil Miscellaneous Petition/Criminal Miscellaneous Petition/or as Civil/Criminal Writ Miscellaneous Petition. There is no worrying distinction, all are subject to jurisdiction invoked by the petitioner.

BAIL

Bail means the release of the accused from the custody of the officers of law and entrusting him to the private custody of persons who are sureties to produce the accused to answer the charge at the stipulated time or date. An "anticipatory bail" is granted by the High Court or a Court of Session, to a person who apprehends arrest for having committed a non-bailable offence, but has not yet been arrested (Section 438). An opportunity of hearing must be given to the opposite party before granting anticipatory bail (State of Assam v. R.K. Krishna Kumar AIR 1998 SC 144).

FIRST INFORMATION REPORT (FIR)

Section 154 Cr.P.C 1973 deals with information in cognizable cases. Section 154 reads:

- (1) Every information relating to the commission of a cognizable offence, if given orally to an officer in charge of a police station, shall be reduced to writing by him or under his direction, and be read over to the informant; and every such information, whether given in writing or reduced to writing as aforesaid, shall be signed by the person giving it, and the substance thereof shall be entered in a book to be kept by such officer in such form as the State Government may prescribe in this behalf.
- (2) A copy of the information as recorded under Sub-section (1) shall be given forthwith, free of cost, to the informant.
- (3) Any person, aggrieved by a refusal on the part of an officer in charge of a police station to record the information referred to in Sub-section (1) may send the substance of such information, in writing and by post, to the Superintendent of Police concerned who, if satisfied that such information discloses the commission of a cognizable offence, shall either investigate the case himself or direct an investigation to be made by any police officer subordinate to him, in the manner provided by this Code, and such officer shall have all the powers of an officer in charge of the police station in relation to that offence.

In Lallan Chaudhary and Ors. v. State of Bihar, AIR 2006 SC 3376, the Supreme Court held that section 154 of the Code thus casts a statutory duty upon police officer to register the case, as disclosed in the complaint, and then to proceed with the investigation. The mandate of Section 154 is manifestly clear that if any information disclosing a cognizable offence is laid before an officer in charge of a police station, such police officer has no other option except to register the case on the basis of such information.

The provision of Section 154 is mandatory. Hence, the police officer concerned is duty-bound to register the case on receiving information disclosing cognizable offence. Genuineness or credibility of the information is not a condition precedent for registration of a case. That can only be considered after registration of the case. [Ramesh Kumari v. State (NCT of Delhi) and Ors., 2006 Cri.LJ 1622].

_____ (Name of the Police Station)

Sir

This is to inform you that my cycle has been stolen from the cycle stand in the daily market last evening.

Last evening, before I went to the market, I placed my green model Hero Cycle in the cycle stand No. 1 as usual. I had locked the cycle. The cycle bears the No. ___ I had bought it only a month ago and it was almost new. The cycle had a full gear case, a carrier and a side basket. When such mishap occurred I was buying vegetables in the market. I asked everybody who were present there about the cycle. It was all in vain.

I request you to kindly register a case of theft and initiate the necessary investigation to recover the stolen cycle.

Yours faithfully,

LESSON ROUND-UP

- Pleadings generally mean either a plaint or a written statement. A suit is instituted by filing a plaint, which is the first pleading in a civil suit. It is a statement of the plaintiff's claim and its object is simply to state the grounds upon, and the relief in respect of which he seeks the assistance of the court.
- It is incumbent on the defendant to file his defence in writing. If the defendant fails to file written statement, the court may pronounce judgment against him or may under Order 8, Rule 10, make such order in relation to the suit as it deems fit.
- When the defendant appears and files a written pleading by way of defence, his pleading should conform to all the general rules of pleadings. All the rules relating to defendant's written statement apply, mutatis mutandis to such written statement of the plaintiff also. One has to keep in view various points at the time of drafting the reply or written statement.
- Pleadings filed by a defendant/respondent in answer to the claims set out by the plaintiff/petitioner in the form of an affidavit and/or supported by an affidavit are referred to as a counter affidavit.
- A written statement/reply of the plaintiff/petitioner by way of defense to pleas raised in the counter affidavit/written statement from the defendant/respondent, is termed as a rejoinder or replication.
- The provisions of Sections 101, 102, 103, 106, 109, 110 and 111 of the Indian Evidence Act must be carefully gone through before one proceeds to draft the affidavit-in-evidence. It is well settled that evidence should be tailored strictly to the pleadings. No extraneous evidence can be looked into in absence of specific pleadings.
- It is incumbent upon a party in possession of best evidence on the issue involved, to produce such evidence and if such party fails to produce the same, an adverse inference is liable to be drawn against such party.
- Preliminary submissions should primarily confine to the true and correct facts regarding the issue involved and which have been suppressed or not disclosed by the other side in the pleadings.
- Legal pleadings/submissions should be taken under the heading "preliminary submissions/objections". While taking such plea one should ensure that the legal provisions and/or interpretation thereof, is very clear and directly applicable to the issues involved in the matter
- After the suit is instituted by the plaintiff and before it is finally disposed off, the court may make interlocutory orders as may appear to the court to be just and convenient..
- An affidavit being a statement or declaration on oath by the deponent, is an important document and the consequences of a false affidavit are serious. Therefore, great care is required in drafting it.
- Section 115 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 deals with revisionary jurisdiction of the High Courts.

- An injunction is a specific order of the Court forbidding the commission of a wrong threatened or the continuance of a wrongful course of action already begun, or in some cases commanding active restitution of the former state of things. Injunctions are two types- (i) temporary and (ii) permanent.
- Complaint means any allegation made orally or in writing to a Magistrate, with a view to his taking action under this Code, that some person, whether known or unknown, has committed an offence, but it does not include a police report. A complaint in a criminal case is what a plaint is in a civil case.
- Bail means the release of the accused from the custody of the officers of law and entrusting him to the private custody of persons who are sureties to produce the accused to answer the charge at the stipulated time or date

A Company Secretary has been recognized under various Acts to appear as an authorized representative before various tribunals/quasi judicial bodies such as Company Law Board, National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT), Securities Appellate Tribunal, Competition Commission of India and Competition Appellate Tribunal etc. Apart from being conversant with the provisions of various corporate and other laws, rules and regulations, it is equally important for professionals to possess a professional look and demeanor to project a professional and competent image in the corporate world as well as while appearing before the tribunals and other quasi judicial bodies.

The objective of this study lesson is to acquaint the students with the legal provisions pertaining to appearance before various tribunals/quasi judicial bodies as well as the drafting of written submissions, affidavit of evidence etc. Further the students will also be acquainted with the importance of dress code for professionals, etiquettes and court craft.

INTRODUCTION

The corporate sector has recognized the role of the Company Secretaries as a compliance officer and as a nodal point of contact between the company and its shareholders, debenture holders, depositors, financial institutions and the Government. The Company Secretaries in practice are rendering value added services to corporate sector as independent professionals. That apart, a Company Secretary can appear as an authorized representative before Company Law Board*/NCLT, Competition Commission of India (CCI), Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT) Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) and various other Tribunals.

RIGHT TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION

Under the Companies Act

Section 432 of the Companies Act, 2013 dealing with right to legal representation envisages that the applicant or the appellant may either appear in person or authorise one or more chartered accountants or company secretaries or cost accountants or legal practitioners or any officer to present his or its case before the Tribunal or the Appellate Tribunal, as the case may be.

The expression 'authorised representative' has been defined under Regulation 2(d) as a person authorized in writing by a party under Regulation 19(2) to function before a Bench as the representative of such party.

Therefore, a person to be authorized must be one of the persons specified in Regulation 19(2) viz. Advocate or Secretary in whole-time practice or a Practising Chartered Accountant, or Practising Cost and Works Accountant. However, a company may also appoint and authorize its Director or Company Secretary to appear in its behalf, in any proceeding before the Bench. The Central Government, the Regional Director or the Registrar may authorize an officer to appear on its behalf (Regulation 19).

Company Secretaries who are in job can appear for and on behalf of Employer Company, by virtue of powers given under a power of attorney while appearing before CLB/NCLT or Authority Letter but preferably Power of Attorney.

Under the TRAI Act

Section 17 of the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) Act, 1997 (as amended in 2002) authorizes Company Secretaries to present his or its case before the Appellate Tribunal. As per the Explanation appended to the Section 'Company Secretary' means a Company Secretary as defined in clause (c) of sub-section (1) of Section 2 of the Company Secretaries Act, 1980 and who has obtained a certificate of practice under sub-section (1) of Section 6 of that Act.

Under the SEBI Act

Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) Act, 1992 under Section 15V permits the appellant either to appear in person or authorise one or more of practising Company Secretaries, Chartered Accountants, Cost Accountants or Legal practitioners or any of its officers to present his or its case before the Securities Appellate Tribunal.

Under the Competition Act

Competition Authorities and the companies world over avail services of professionals to guide and advise them on various aspects of competition law. Professionals also assist companies in designing, implementing and maintaining effective competition compliance programmes.

Sections 35 and 53S of the Competition Act, 2002 (as amended in 2007) authorises Company Secretaries in practice to appear before Competition Commission of India and Competition Appellate Tribunal. Besides, there are a number of concepts and terms such as value of assets, turnover, determination of market, relevant market, geographic market which require active professional involvement and advice. Further, Competition Act, 2002 provides a number of factors to be considered by the Competition Commission of India in determining appreciable adverse effect on competition.

It is important to mention here that the Competition Act has not come into force fully. Most of the provisions of the said Act are yet to be enforced.

APPELLATE AUTHORITIES UNDER THE COMPANIES ACT, 2013

Appeal against Refusal to Register Transfer of Shares

Section 58 of the Companies Act, 2013 lays down that if a company refuses, whether in pursuance of any power of the company under its articles or otherwise, to register the transfer of, or the transmission by operation of law of the right to, any shares or interest of a member in, or debentures of, the company, it shall, within two months from the date on which the instrument of transfer, or the intimation of such transmission, as the case may be, was delivered to the company, send notice of the refusal to the transferee and the transferor or to the person giving intimation of such transmission, as the case may be, giving reasons for such refusal.

Section 58 further lays down that the transferor or transferee, or the person who gave intimation of the transmission by operation of law, as the case may be, may appeal to the Board/Tribunal against any refusal of the company to register the transfer or transmission, or against any failure on its part within the period referred to in the preceding paragraph, either to register the transfer or transmission or to send notice of its refusal to register the same.

The appeal under above paragraph shall be made within two months of the receipt of the notice of such refusal or, where no notice has been sent by the company, within four months from the date on which the instrument of transfer, or the intimation of transmission, as the case may be, was delivered to the company.

Appeal to Supreme Court

Any person aggrieved by any decision or order of the appellate Tribunal may file an appeal to the Supreme Court within sixty days from the date of communication of the decision or order of the Appellate Tribunal to him on any question of law arising out of such decision or order. However, the Supreme Court may, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal within the said period, allow it to be filed within a further period not exceeding sixty days [Section 423]

APPELLATE AUTHORITIES UNDER TRAI ACT

Appeal to the Supreme Court

Section 18 of the TRAI Act (as amended in 2000) provides that notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 or in any other law, an appeal shall lie against any order, not being an interlocutory order, of the Appellate Tribunal to the Supreme Court on one or more of the grounds specified in Section 100 of that Code.

It further says that no appeal shall lie against any decision or order made by the Appellate Tribunal with the consent of the parties.

Every appeal under this section shall be preferred within a period of ninety days from the date of the decision or order appealed against.

The proviso appended to the Section 18 says that the Supreme Court may entertain the appeal after the expiry of the said period of ninety days, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal in time.

APPELLATE AUTHORITIES UNDER SEBI ACT

Appeal to the Securities Appellate Tribunal

Section 15T of the SEBI Act lays down that any person aggrieved:

- (1) (a) by an order of SEBI made, under this Act, or the rules or regulations made thereunder; or
(b) by an order made by an adjudicating officer under this Act;
may prefer an appeal to a Securities Appellate Tribunal having jurisdiction in the matter.
- (2) No appeal shall lie to the Securities Appellate Tribunals from an order made
(a) by SEBI;
(b) by an Adjudicating Officer, with the consent of the parties.
- (3) Every appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed within a period of 45 days from the date on which a copy of the order made by SEBI or the Adjudicating Officer, is received by him and it shall be in such form and be accompanied by such fee as may be prescribed. This details have been prescribed in the Rules.

Provided that the Securities Appellate Tribunal may entertain an appeal after the expiry of the said period of 45 days if it is satisfied that there was sufficient cause for not filing it within that period.
- (4) On receipt of an appeal, the Securities Appellate Tribunal may, after giving the parties to the appeal, an opportunity of being heard, pass such orders thereon as it thinks fit, confirming, modifying or setting aside the order appealed against.
- (5) The Securities Appellate Tribunal shall send a copy of every order made by it to SEBI and the parties to the appeal and to the concerned Adjudicating Officer.
- (6) The appeal filed before the Securities Appellate Tribunal shall be dealt with by it as expeditiously as possible and endeavour shall be made by it to dispose of the appeal finally within six months from the date of receipt of the appeal.

Appeal to Supreme Court

Section 15Z lays down that any person aggrieved by any decision or order of the Securities Appellate Tribunal may file an appeal to the Supreme Court within 60 days from the date of communication of the decision or order of the Securities Appellate Tribunal to him on any question of fact or law arising out of such order.

It has been provided that the Supreme Court may, if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal within the said period, allow it to be filed within a further period not exceeding 60 days.

APPELLATE AUTHORITIES UNDER THE COMPETITION ACT

Appeal to Appellate Tribunal

As per Section 53B of the Act,—

- (1) The Central Government or the State Government or a local authority or enterprise or any person, aggrieved by any direction, decision or order referred to in clause (a) of Section 53A may prefer an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal.

(2) Every appeal under sub-section (1) shall be filed within a period of sixty days from the date on which a copy of the direction or decision or order made by the Commission is received by the Central Government or the State Government or a local authority or enterprise or any person referred to in that sub-section and it shall be in such form and be accompanied by such fee as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Appellate Tribunal may entertain an appeal after the expiry of the said period of sixty days if it is satisfied that there was sufficient cause for not filing it within that period.

(3) On receipt of an appeal under sub-section (1), the Appellate Tribunal may, after giving the parties to the appeal, an opportunity of being heard, pass such orders thereon as it thinks fit, confirming, modifying or setting aside the direction, decision or order appealed against.

(4) The Appellate Tribunal shall send a copy of every order made by it to the Commission and the parties to the appeal.

(5) The appeal filed before the Appellate Tribunal under sub-section (1) shall be dealt with by it as expeditiously as possible and endeavour shall be made by it to dispose of the appeal within six months from the date of receipt of the appeal.

Appeal to Supreme Court

Section 53T of the Act provides that the Central Government or any State Government or the Commission or any statutory authority or any local authority or any enterprise or any person aggrieved by any decision or order of the Appellate Tribunal may file an appeal to the Supreme Court within sixty days from the date of communication of the decision or order of the Appellate Tribunal to them:

Provided that the Supreme Court may, if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by sufficient cause from filing the appeal within the said period, allow it to be filed after the expiry of the said period of sixty days.

APPELLATE AUTHORITIES UNDER THE INCOME-TAX ACT, 1961

Appeal against the order of the Income-tax Officer lies with the Appellate Assistant Commissioner or the Commissioner (Appeals) or Commissioner of Income-tax. Appeal against the order of the Appellate Assistant Commissioner or the Commissioner (Appeals) can be preferred by the assessee or the income-tax department and such appeal lies with the Appellate Tribunal. Appeal against the order of the Appellate Tribunal by way of reference by the Tribunal can also be preferred by the assessee or the income-tax department and such appeal lies to the High Court. The Order of the High Court on the reference can be challenged either by the assessee or by the income-tax department by preferring an appeal to the Supreme Court which is the final appellate authority.

Appeal to Commissioner (Appeals)

Section 246 A (1) of the Income-tax Act provides that any assessee aggrieved by any order of an Income-tax Officer, as prescribed in the section may appeal to the Commissioner (Appeals) against such order.

Every appeal against an order specified in sub-section (2) which is pending immediately before the appointed day before a Deputy Commissioner (Appeals) and any matter arising out of or commenced with such appeal and which is so pending shall stand transferred on that day to the Commissioner (Appeals) and the Commissioner (Appeals) may proceed with such appeal or matter from the stage at which it was on that day:

Provided that the appellant may demand that before proceeding further with the appeal or matter, the previous proceeding or any part thereof be re-opened or that he be re-heard.

Such an appeal shall be in the prescribed Form No. 35.

Appeal by Person Denying Liability to Deduct Tax

Section 248 of the Act states that where under an agreement or other arrangement, the tax deductible on any income, other than interest, under section 195 is to be borne by the person by whom the income is payable, and such person having paid such tax to the credit of the Central Government, claims that no tax was required to be deducted on such income, he may appeal to the Commissioner (Appeals) for a declaration that no tax was deductible on such income.

Appeals to Appellate Tribunals

According to Section 253 of the Act:

(1) Any assessee aggrieved by any of the following orders may appeal to the Appellate Tribunal against such order -

- (a) an order passed by a Deputy Commissioner (Appeals) before the 1st day of October, 1998 or, as the case may be, a Commissioner (Appeals) under section 154, section 250, section 271, section 271A or section 272A; or
- (b) an order passed by an Assessing Officer under clause (c) of section 158BC, in respect of search initiated under section 132 or books of account, other documents or any assets requisitioned under section 132A, after the 30th day of June, 1995, but before the 1st day of January, 1997; or
- (ba) an order passed by an Assessing Officer under sub-section (1) of section 115VZC; or
- (c) an order passed by a Commissioner under section 12AA or under clause (vi) of sub-section (5) of section 80G or under section 263 or under section 271 or under section 272A or an order passed by him under section 154 amending his order under section 263 or an order passed by a Chief Commissioner or a Director General or a Director under section 272A;
- (d) an order passed by an Assessing Officer under sub-section (3) of section 143 or section 147 or section 153A or section 153C in pursuance of the directions of the Dispute Resolution Panel or an order passed under section 154 in respect of such order.
- (e) an order passed by an Assessing Officer under sub-section (3) of section 143 or section 147 or section 153A or section 153C with the approval of the Commissioner as referred to in sub-section (12) of section 144BA or an order passed under section 154 or section 155 in respect of such order.

Sub-section (2) of the section allows an Income-tax officer, on the direction of the Commissioner, if he objects to any order passed by a Deputy Commissioner (Appeals) before the 1st day of October, 1998 or, as the case may be, a Commissioner (Appeals) under section 154 or section 250, to appeal to the Appellate Tribunal against the order.

Sub-section 2A lays down that the Commissioner may, if he objects to any direction issued by the Dispute Resolution Panel under sub-section (5) of section 144C in respect of any objection filed on or after the 1st day of July, 2012, by the assessee under sub-section (2) of section 144C in pursuance of which the Assessing Officer has passed an order completing the assessment or reassessment, direct the Assessing Officer to appeal to the Appellate Tribunal against the order.

Sub-section (3) lays down that every such appeal shall be filed within sixty days of the date on which the order sought to be/ appealed against is communicated to the assessee or to the Commissioner, as the case may be.

In accordance with the Sub-section (6) of the Section, an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal shall be in the prescribed form (Form No. 36 and Form 36 A) and shall be verified in the prescribed manner and shall except in the case of an appeal referred to in Sub-section (2) or a memorandum of cross-objections referred to in Sub-section (4) be accompanied by a fee of:-

- (a) where the total income of the assessee as computed by the Assessing Officer, in the case to which the appeal relates, is one hundred thousand rupees or less, five hundred rupees,
- (b) where the total income of the assessee, computed as aforesaid, in the case to which the appeal relates is more than one hundred thousand rupees but not more than two hundred thousand rupees, one thousand five hundred rupees,
- (c) where the total income of the assessee, computed as aforesaid, in the case to which the appeal relates is more than two hundred thousand rupees, one per cent of the assessed income, subject to a maximum of ten thousand rupees,
- (d) where the subject matter of an appeal relates to any matter, other than those specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c), five hundred rupees.

Statement of the Case to the High Court

Section 256(1) of the Act lays down : "The assessee or the Commissioner may within sixty days of the date upon which he is served with notice of an order under Section 254, by an application in the prescribed form (Form No. 37) accompanied where the application is made by the assessee by a fee of two hundred rupees require the Appellate Tribunal to refer to the High Court any question of law arising out of such order and, subject to the other provisions contained in this Section, the Appellate Tribunal shall, within one hundred and twenty days of the receipt of such application, draw up a statement of the case and refer it to the High Court.

Provided that the Appellate Tribunal may, if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by sufficient cause from presenting the application within the period hereinbefore specified, allow it to be presented within a further period not exceeding thirty days.

Sub-section (2) of the section lays down that if, on an application made under Sub-section (1) the Appellate Tribunal refuses to state the case on the ground that no question of law arises, the assessee or the Commissioner, as the case may be, may, within six months from the date on which he is served with notice of such refusal apply to the High Court, and the High Court may, if it is not satisfied with the correctness of the decision of the Appellate Tribunal, require the Appellate Tribunal to state the case and to refer it, and on receipt of any such requisition, the Appellate Tribunal shall state the case and refer it accordingly.

Statement of Case to the Supreme Court

Section 257 of the Act makes provisions for reference of a case by the Appellate Tribunal to the Supreme Court. It lays down: "If, on an application made under Section 256 of the Act, the Appellate Tribunal is of the opinion that, on account of a conflict in the decisions of High Courts in respect of any particular question of law, it is expedient that a reference should be made direct to the Supreme Court, the Appellate Tribunal may draw up a statement of the case and refer it through its President direct to the Supreme Court."

Appeal to the Supreme Court

According to Section 261 of the Act, an appeal shall lie in Supreme Court from any judgment of the High Court delivered on a reference made under Section 256 or an appeal made to High Court in respect of an order passed under Section 254 in any case which the High Court certifies to be a fit one for appeal to the Supreme Court.

DRAFTING OF AFFIDAVIT IN EVIDENCE – IMPORTANT CONSIDERATIONS

The provisions of Sections 101, 102, 103, 106, 109, 110 and 111 of the Indian Evidence Act must be carefully gone through before one proceeds to draft the affidavit-in-evidence. It is well settled that evidence should be tailored strictly according to the pleadings. No extraneous evidence can be looked into in absence of specific pleadings (Habib Khan v. Valasula Devi, AIR 1997 A.P 52). The following must be kept in mind while preparing the affidavit-in-evidence by the parties –

- (i) The best evidence is that of a person who was personally involved in the whole transaction. In case, that person is not available for any reason, then any other person who has joined in his place to make deposition by way of his affidavit.
- (ii) In case, the petitioner himself was involved in the execution of a contract, he should file affidavit-in-evidence.
- (iii) The allegations or charges or grounds relating to facts should be re-produced duly supported by documentary evidence.

It may be noted that in the affidavit in evidence, the position of law or legal provisions or principle of law are not reproduced because the position of law or settled principles of law are not required to be proved by any party and they are deemed to exist and any party can argue and take help of those settled position of law while arguing their case before the Court or Tribunal or Forum and need to be proved by filing an evidence. [Section 5, Indian Evidence Act.]

- (iv) In case, the point or issue pertains to engineering, medical, technology, science or other complex or difficult issues, then the evidence of expert is to be filed in the form of his Affidavit. If necessary, the said witness has to appear before the Forum for the purpose of cross-examination by the counsel for the other party. For example, hand-writing or finger print experts etc.
- (v) Besides the leading evidence on the points raised by the petitioner or by the opposite party in his written statement/reply, if possible, the party who is filing the affidavit-in-evidence should also file documents, papers or books or registers to demolish the defence or case set up by the opposite party.
- (vi) It is also permissible for any party to bring any outside witness (other than the expert witness) in support of his case if the facts and circumstances of the case so warrant and permitted by the Court/Tribunal.
- (vii) At the time of tendering affidavit-in-evidence, the party must bring alongwith it either the original of papers, documents, books, registers relied upon by it or bring with it the carbon copy of the same.

It may be noted that only photocopy of any paper or document (in the absence of its reply, original or carbon copy) can not be relied upon and tendered as an evidence.

Evidence, as defined in Section 3 of the Evidence Act, 1872 means and includes—

- (1) all statements which the Court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses in relation to matters of fact under inquiry; such statements are called oral evidence;
- (2) all documents including electronic records produced for the inspection of the Court; such documents are called documentary evidence.

No evidence is required of matters which are, either formally admitted for the purposes of the trial, in civil cases, by the pleadings, by answer to interrogatories, by agreement or otherwise and in criminal cases, as regards proof of those documents admitted under Section 294, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

Rule of Adverse Inference

It is incumbent upon a party in possession of best evidence on the issue involved, to produce such evidence and if such party fails to produce the same, an adverse inference is liable to be drawn against such party. The Court will be justified in drawing an adverse inference against that party. [Ms. Shefali Bhargava v. Indraprastha Appollo Hospital & Anr., 2003 NCJ 787 (NC)].

It is equally incumbent upon a party to produce evidence of some expert where the issue involved is a complex or difficult one as for instance, issues pertaining to engineering, medical, technology or science etc. Since the court cannot constitute itself into an expert body and contradict the claim/proposition on record unless there is something contrary on the record by way of expert opinion or there is any significantly acclaimed publication or treatise on which reliance could be based. [Dr. Harkanwaljit Singh Saini v. Gurbax Singh & Anr., 2003 NCJ 800 (NC)].

ARGUMENTS ON PRELIMINARY SUBMISSIONS

Preliminary submissions should primarily confine to the true and correct facts regarding the issue involved and which have been suppressed or not disclosed by the other side in the pleadings. Additionally the provisions of law or legal objections relevant and applicable to the issues involved in the matter should also be mentioned so as to demonstrate that the relief being claimed by the opponent is not eligible to be granted and/or that the relief being claimed by the party being represented by a lawyer/authorized representative should ordinarily be allowed as per those provisions of law. Before incorporating such facts and/or provisions of law in the write-up, a lawyer/authorized representative should be thorough with the provisions of law and interpretation, thereof, based upon relevant judgments so as to ensure that the submissions being made on behalf of the client are accepted and upheld by the Presiding Officer/Court/Tribunal as the case may be. Thus, for eg., if a claim being opposed by a lawyer/authorized representative is evidently barred by limitation, such an objection should be taken in the preliminary submissions/objections. Such type of submissions/objections should be duly supported by law on the point or by relevant case law/judgments.

ARGUMENTS ON MERITS

Such arguments as relate to the facts pleaded by the parties are termed as arguments on merits. While addressing arguments on merits, a lawyer/authorized representative should carefully point out the pleadings of the parties and the relevant evidence in support thereof, lead by the parties, both oral as well as documentary. A lawyer/authorized representative should ensure that all or any contradiction in the pleadings of the opponent and the evidence in support of such pleadings are duly pointed out while submitting his/her arguments. Thus, where an agreement/contract of service is pleaded and there is no evidence either oral or documentary on record in support of such an agreement/contract, it should be specifically pointed out that the opponent has failed to prove/establish that such an agreement/contract actually exists or that the same had actually been executed at all. Similarly, where notice is alleged to have been served prior to filing of the case and there is no documentary evidence like postal receipt/courier receipt placed on record by the opponent, it should be pointed out that the opponent has failed to establish that the notice had actually been served. Furthermore, the relevant facts and/or contradictions extracted from the opponent or his/her witness during the course of cross-examination and relating to the factual issues involved in the matter, should be highlighted so as to draw attention of the Court/Tribunal towards such facts/contradictions.

LEGAL PLEADINGS/WRITTEN SUBMISSIONS

As already pointed out above, legal pleadings/submissions should be taken under the heading “preliminary submissions/objections”. While taking such plea one should ensure that the legal provisions and/or interpretation, thereof, is very clear and directly applicable to the issues involved in the matter. Thus, where an unregistered agreement/contract forms the basis of a claim set up by a party and such an agreement/contract compulsorily requires registration under Section 17 of the Registration Act, a legal plea should be taken that since the agreement/contract is not a registered document, the same could not be looked into or relied upon by the Court for the reasons that the same cannot be read in evidence. Similarly, all other legal submissions which go to the root of the controversy and which are sufficient as well as material for adjudication of the issues involved, should be taken in opposition to the claims put forth by the opponent. Some illustrations are as under:

- (i) Suit is not maintainable for want of statutory notice etc.
- (ii) Complaint does not disclose cause of action.

- (iii) Plaintiff has no right to sue.
- (iv) Suit barred by principles of res-judicata.
- (v) Suit barred by principles of waiver, estoppel, acquiescence.
- (vi) Suit is barred by special enactment.
- (vii) Court has no jurisdiction.
- (viii) Suit is barred by limitation.
- (ix) Suit is premature, and so on.

Some of these are known technically as 'special defences'. In a suit based on contract, defendant may admit that he made the contract, but may avoid the effect of admission by pleading performance, fraud, release, limitation etc.

DRESS CODE

In professional life it is important to look presentable because personal appearance counts. How you look can be a major factor in how you are perceived by others. How you look, talk, act and work determines whether you are a professional or an amateur. The way you dress, speaks volumes about who you are as a person and as a professional. Whenever you enter a room for the first time, it takes only a few seconds for people you have never met to form perceptions about you and your abilities. Your clothes and body language always speak first. So it is important that your image gives people the right impression.

Some of the perceptions people can form solely from your appearance are: your professionalism; your level of sophistication; your intelligence and your credibility. Whether these perceptions are real or imagined, they underscore how your appearance instantly influences the opinions of strangers, peers, and superiors. Being well dressed in a corporate setting can influence not just perceptions, but also promotions.

A dress code is a set of rules governing a certain combination of clothing. Apart from the legal profession, professional dress code standards are established in major business organizations and these have become more relaxed in recent decades. Dress codes vary greatly from company to company, as different working environments demand different styles of attire. Even within companies, dress codes can vary among positions.

Getting dressed for work is to project a professional and competent image. It has been observed that the professionals who do not take the time to maintain a professional appearance or those who have never learned how to dress properly for their chosen field of work, are not being taken seriously by co workers and present the image of not being able to perform satisfactorily on the job.

If you are concerned about your career, you will be more concerned with looking professional than looking cute or trendy. If you look and behave like a highly-trained and well-groomed professional, you will win the respect and honour of your valued clients.

Guidelines for Professional Dress of Company Secretaries

To enhance the visibility and brand building of the profession and ensuring uniformity, the Council of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India has prescribed the following guidelines for professional dress for members while appearing before judicial/quasi-judicial bodies and tribunals:

- (a) The professional dress for male members will be Navy Blue suit and white shirt with a tie (preferably of the ICSI) or navy blue buttoned-up coat over a pant or a navy blue safari suit.
- (b) The professional dress for female members will be saree or any other dress of a sober colour with a navy blue jacket.

- (c) Members in employment may wear the dress/uniform as specified by the employer for all employees or if allowed the aforesaid professional dress.
- (d) Practising Company Secretaries appearing before any tribunal or quasi-judicial body should adhere to dress code if any prescribed for appearing before such tribunal or quasi-judicial body or if allowed the aforesaid professional dress.

It may be pointed out that any person whether a lawyer, pleader or authorized representative representing a litigant before any Court of law or a Tribunal or any other authority discharging the functions of a Court/a quasi judicial authority, should comport himself in a manner befitting his status as an officer of the Court, a privileged member of the community and a gentleman.

PROFESSIONAL ETIQUETTES

Etiquette is the fine art of behaving in front of others. It is a set of practices and forms which are followed in a wide variety of situations. Many people consider it to be a branch of decorum, or general social behavior. Each society has its own distinct etiquette, and various cultures within a society also have their own rules and social norms.

In today's world of business, professionals need to know how to conduct themselves within the business world. One of the best ways to do so is to practice good professional etiquette. Practicing good professional etiquette is necessary for professional success in the emerging business scenario which is constantly changing and making the market place more competitive and contestable. Corporates look for those candidates who possess manners, a professional look and demeanor, and the ability to converse appropriately with business colleagues and clients. Though your academic knowledge and skills may be spectacular, but not knowing proper etiquette required to be successful in the professional career could be a roadblock preventing you to achieve success in the professional life and business relationships. Good professional etiquette indicates to potential employers that you are a mature, responsible adult who can aptly represent their company.

Dealing a client with confidence, acting appropriately at business interactions and knowing the proper table manners at a business dinner are just some of the necessary skills today's professionals must have in an increasingly competitive environment, and that will leave a lasting impression – good or bad. Some manners and behaviour remain constant. Nonetheless, other etiquette moments require you to conduct yourself differently than you do when you are with professional colleagues or clients at any business meeting/get-together. It is in these moments that you need to understand the particulars of etiquette. Being corporate professionals, you must practice some basic etiquette tips that would help you to go up the ladder of success in the workplace. These include Dressing Etiquette; Introduction and Greeting Etiquettes; Conversation Etiquette; Communication Etiquettes; Invitation Etiquette and Dining Etiquettes etc.

Dressing Etiquette

With every organization program comes the inevitable question: What do I wear? Knowing what to wear, or how to wear something, is key to looking great in any event.

- Always wear neat and nicely pressed formal clothes. Choose corporate shades while you are picking up clothes for your office wear.
- Ties for men should compliment.
- Women should avoid wearing exposing dresses and opt for little but natural make-ups. Heels should be of appropriate or modest height.
- Men need to keep their hair (including facial hair) neatly trimmed and set.
- Always polish your shoes.

- Keep your nails clean.
- Wear clothes which you are comfortable in and can carry well. This is very important while you are in a business meeting or client presentation.

Handshake Etiquette

Etiquette begins with meeting and greeting. A handshake is a big part of making a positive first impression. A firm shake is an indication of being confident and assertive. The following basic rules will help you get ahead in the workplace:

- Always rise when introducing or being introduced to someone.
- Shake hands with your right hand.
- Shake hands firmly (but not with a bone crushing or fish-limp grip), and with only one squeeze.
- Hold it for a few seconds (only as long as it takes to greet the person), and pump up and down only once or twice.
- Make eye contact while shaking hands.

Communication Etiquettes

- Always speak politely. Listen to others attentively. A good listener is always dear to every client.
- While speaking over telephones, always greet the other person while starting and ending the call.
- Speak only when the other person has finished talking instead of interrupting in between.
- Show interest in what other people are doing and make others feel good.
- Stand about an arm's length away while talking to others.
- Question another person in a friendly, not prying, manner.
- Make eye contact when talking to others.
- Be polite. Avoid foul language, unkind statements, and gossip.
- Keep your conversations short and to the point.
- Maintain your sobriety and politeness even if the client speaks something offensive or rude and avoid replying back in harsh tone/words.

Invitation Etiquette

How you respond to an invitation says volumes about your social skills. It reflects negatively on your manners if your response (or lack of response) to an invitation costs time or money for your host.

- Reply by the date given in the invitation, so that the host or hostess knows what kind of arrangements to make for the event, food is not wasted, and unnecessary expense is eliminated.
- If an RSVP card is not included, respond by calling or sending a brief note.
- If you cancel after initially accepting an invitation, phone your regrets as soon as possible. Send a note of regret following the phone conversation.
- Don't ask for permission to bring a guest unless the invitation states.
- Arrive at the event promptly, but not too early.
- Mingle and converse with the other guests.

- Don't overstay your welcome.
- Extend your thanks as you leave.

Dining Etiquettes

- Always be courteous while official dinners. Offer the seat to your guest first. If you are the guest, be punctual and thank the host for the dinner.
- Wait until you receive your host's signal.
- Initiate conversations while waiting for the food.
- Never begin eating any course until everyone has been served or the host/hostess has encouraged you to do so.
- Chew quietly; don't speak with your mouth full.
- Avoid pointing the knife or fork towards the other person while eating and speaking.
- Allow your guest to select the menu and wine.
- If something unwanted has gone to your mouth, place the napkin in front of your mouth tactfully and bring it out instead of putting your hand inside the mouth to get rid of it.
- Learn the basic table manners before you go out to dine with a potential client or an important business meet.

That apart, you must pay special attention to the following general etiquettes: Always be punctual at your workplace; During a meeting, turn off your mobile phone or put it on silent mode. It is considered extremely impolite to allow a mobile phone to ring during a meeting and take a call while sitting in a meeting. In case it is a must to receive a phone call, it is best to discreetly excuse yourself from the meeting and take it out into the hall or private area; When in a meeting room, always stand up to greet the seniors if they arrive after you; Try to ignore and overlook funny or embarrassing sounds when in a meeting or official conversation; If you have forgotten somebody's name ask him/her politely saying that you are sorry that you cannot remember the name; Always keep a comfortable distance while conversing with others; Avoid standing or sitting too close to the other person. An arm's length would be ideal to maintain the comfort zone.

Practicing these etiquettes in your professional life, will make a great impact on everyone you are associated with. You must always be conscious that your mannerisms reflect on your professionalism and your company.

COURT CRAFT

Company Secretaries act as an authorized representative before various Tribunals/quasi judicial bodies. It is necessary for them to learn art of advocacy or court craft for effective delivery of results to their clients when they act as an authorized representative before any tribunal or quasi judicial body.

For winning a case, art of advocacy is important which in essence means to convince the judge and others that my position in the case is the proper interpretation. Advocacy/court craft is learned when we enter the practising side of the profession. The aim of advocacy is to make judge prefer your version of the truth.

Apart from the legal side of the profession, advocacy is often useful and sometimes vital, in client interviewing, in negotiation and in meetings, client seminars and public lectures. It is a valuable and lifelong skill worth mastering.

Technical and legal knowledge about the area in which Company Secretaries are acting is essential. Better their knowledge, the better their advocacy skills and the greater their impact. Good advocacy or negotiating skills will not compensate for lack of appropriate knowledge.

Preparatory Points

There are certain basic preparatory points which a Company Secretary should bear in mind when contacted by a client.

- Take minute facts from the client;
- Lend your complete ears to all that client has to say;
- Put questions to the client while taking facts so that correct/relevant facts can be known;
- Convey to the client about exact legal position in context of relief sought by the client;
- Give correct picture of judicial view to the problem posed by the client.

Drafting of Pleadings

Pleadings could be both written and oral. Mastering both the kinds of pleadings is must for effective delivery of results to the clients. Some of the important factors which may be borne in mind while making written pleadings are as under:

- Quote relevant provisions in the petition and excerpts of observations made by the Courts relevant to the point;
- Draft prayers for interim relief in such a manner which though appears to be innocuous but satisfy your requirements;
- Do not suppress facts;
- Highlight material facts, legal provisions and Court decisions, if any;
- State important points at the outset together with reference to relevant provisions/judgements.

If you are opponent

- File your reply to the petition at the earliest opportunity;
- Take all possible preliminary contentions together with reference to relevant law point and judgements;
- Submit your reply to each paragraph of the petition.

If you are for the petitioner

- File your rejoinder upon receiving the reply at the earliest opportunity;
- Meet clearly with the specific points raised by the opponent in the reply affidavit.

Oral Pleadings

Effective oral pleadings are relevant both at the stage of preparation of the case before actual presentation and also at the stage of actual presenting a case before CLB/NCLT or other tribunals. Following aspects could be relevant at both these stages:

- Preparation before presentation of the case;
- Carefully read your petition, provisions of law and judgements;
- Jot down relevant points on a separate sheet of paper together with relevant pages of the compilation;
- Keep copies of judgements to be relied ready for the Court and for your opponent(s).

While Presenting Your Case

- Submit a list of citations to the Court Master before opening of case; Start your address with humble note;

- Refer to the order sought to be challenged or reliefs sought to be prayed;
- State brief facts;
- Formulate issues/points, categorise them and address them one by one;
- Take each point, state relevant facts, provisions of law and relevant binding decisions;
- Hand over xerox copies of binding decisions to the Court Master while placing reliance;
- Refer to relevant pages of the compilation, provisions of law and judgements;
- Complete all points slowly but firmly;
- Conclude your arguments by reiterating your points in brief;
- Permit the opponent counsel uninterruptedly. However, if facts are being completely twisted, interrupt depending upon the relevant circumstances;
- Take instructions from client in advance with respect to alternative reliefs.

As Regards Advocacy

Company Secretaries should be able to formulate and present a coherent submission based upon facts, general principles and legal authority in a structured, concise and persuasive manner. They should understand the crucial importance of preparation and the best way to undertake it and be able to demonstrate an understanding of the basic skills in the presentation of cases before the tribunals. They should be able to:

1. Identify the client's goals;
2. Identify and analyse factual material;
3. Identify the legal context in which the factual issue arises;
4. Relate the central legal and factual issues to each other;
5. State in summary from the strengths and weaknesses of the case from each party's perspective;
6. Develop a presentation strategy;
7. Outline the facts in simple narrative form;
8. Structure and present in simple form the legal framework of the case;
9. Structure the submission as a series of propositions based on the evidence;
10. Identify, analyse and assess the specific communication skills and techniques;
11. Demonstrate an understanding of the purpose, techniques and tactics of examination, cross-examination and re-examination to adduce, rebut and clarify evidence;
12. Demonstrate an understanding of the ethics, etiquette and conventions of advocacy.

CONDUCT AND ETIQUETTE

Duty to the Court

- (i) A Company Secretary shall, during the presentation of his case and while otherwise acting before a Court/Tribunal, conduct himself with dignity and self-respect. He shall not be servile and whenever there is proper ground for serious complaint against a judicial officer, it shall be his right and duty to submit his grievance to proper authorities.

- (ii) A Company Secretary shall maintain towards the Courts a respectful attitude, bearing in mind that the dignity of the judicial office is essential for the survival of a free community.
- (iii) A Company Secretary shall not influence the decision of a Court by any illegal or improper means. Private communications with the judge relating to a pending case are forbidden.
- (iv) A Company Secretary shall use his best efforts to restrain and prevent his client from resorting to sharp and unfair practices or from doing anything in relation to the Court, opposing counsel or parties which the Company Secretary himself ought not to do. A Company Secretary shall refuse to represent the client who persists in such improper conduct. He shall not consider himself a mere mouthpiece of the client, and shall exercise his own judgment in the use of restrained language in correspondence, avoiding scurrilous attacks in pleadings, and using intemperate language during arguments in Court.
- (v) A Company Secretary shall not enter appearance, act, plead or practice in any way before a Court/ Tribunal or any other Authority, if the sole or any member thereof is related to the Company Secretary.
- (vi) A Company Secretary shall not appear in or before any Court or Tribunal or any other Authority for or against an organization or an institution, society or corporation, if he is a member of the Executive Committee of such organization or institution or society or corporation.
- (vii) A Company Secretary should not act or plead in any matter in which he is himself pecuniarily interested.

Duty to Client

- (i) A Company Secretary shall not ordinarily withdraw from engagements once accepted, without sufficient cause and unless reasonable and sufficient notice is given to the client.
- (ii) A Company Secretary shall not accept a brief or appear in a case in which he has reason to believe that he will be a witness and if being engaged in a case, it becomes apparent that he is a witness on a material question of fact, he should not continue to appear if he can retire without jeopardizing his client's interest.
- (iii) A Company Secretary shall at the commencement of his engagement and during the continuance thereof, make all such full and frank disclosures to his client relating to his connection with the parties and any interest in or about the controversy as are likely to affect his client's judgment in either him or continuing the engagement.
- (iv) It shall be the duty of a Company Secretary to fearlessly uphold the interest of his client by all fair and honourable means without regard to any unpleasant consequences to himself or any other. He shall defend a person accused of a crime regardless of his personal opinion as to the guilt of the accused, bearing in mind that his loyalty is to the law which requires that no man should be convicted without adequate evidence.
- (v) A Company Secretary shall not at any time, be a party to fomenting of litigation. A Company Secretary shall not act on the instructions of any person other than his client or his authorized agent.
- (vi) A Company Secretary shall not do anything whereby he abuses or takes advantage of the confidence reposed in him by his client.

Duty to Opponent

- (i) A Company Secretary shall not in any way communicate or negotiate upon the subject-matter of controversy with any party represented by an Advocate except through that Advocate.
- (ii) A Company Secretary shall do his best to carry out the legitimate promise/ promises, made to the opposite-party.

Important Principles

Some of the important principles of advocacy a Company Secretary should observe include:

1. Act in the best interest of the client;
2. Act in accordance with the client's wishes and instructions;
3. Keep the client properly informed;
4. Carry out instructions with diligence and competence;
5. Act impartially and offer frank, independent advice;
6. Maintain client confidentiality.

Advocacy Tips

Some of the tips given by legal experts which professionals like Company Secretaries should bear in mind while appearing before Tribunals or other quasi-judicial bodies are given herein below. They say while pleading, a judge in your pleadings looks for:

- (i) Clarity: The judge's time is limited, so make the most of it.
- (ii) Credibility: The judge needs to believe that what you are saying is true and that you are on the right side.
- (iii) Demeanour: We don't have a phrase "hearing is believing". The human animal which includes the human judge, is far more video than audio. The way we collect most of our information is through our eyesight.
- (iv) Eye contact: While pleading, maintain eye contact with your judge.
- (v) Voice modulation: Voice modulation is equally important. Modulating your voice allows you to emphasize the points you want to emphasize. Be very careful about raising your voice. Use your anger strategically. But use is rarely. Always be in control of it.
- (vi) Psychology: Understand judge's psychology as your job is to make the judge prefer your version of the truth.
- (vii) Be likeable. At least be more likeable than your opponent. If you can convert an unfamiliar Bench into a group of people who are sympathetic to you personally, you perform a wonderful service to your client.
- (viii) Learn to listen.
- (ix) Entertain your judge. Humour will often bail you out of a tough spot.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- A Company Secretary can act as an authorized representative before Company Law Board/NCLT, Competition Commission of India (CCI), Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT), Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) and various other Tribunals/quasi judicial bodies.
- The provisions of Sections 101, 102, 103, 106, 109, 110 and 111 of the Indian Evidence Act must be carefully gone through before one proceeds to draft the affidavit-in-evidence. It is well settled that evidence should be tailored strictly to the pleadings. No extraneous evidence can be looked into in absence of specific pleadings.
- It is incumbent upon a party in possession of best evidence on the issue involved, to produce such evidence and if such party fails to produce the same, an adverse inference is liable to be drawn against such party.

- Preliminary submissions should primarily confine to the true and correct facts regarding the issue involved and which have been suppressed or not disclosed by the other side in the pleadings.
- Legal pleadings/submissions should be taken under the heading “preliminary submissions/objections”. While taking such plea one should ensure that the legal provisions and/or interpretation thereof, is very clear and directly applicable to the issues involved in the matter.
- How you look can be a major factor in how you are perceived by others. How you look, talk, act and work determines whether you are a professional or an amateur.
- Some of the perceptions people can form solely from your appearance are: your professionalism; your level of sophistication; your intelligence and your credibility.
- Besides legal profession, professional dress code standards are established in major business organizations and these have become more relaxed in recent decades.
- To enhance the visibility and brand building of the profession and ensuring uniformity, the Council of the Institute of Company Secretaries of India has prescribed guidelines for professional dress for members while appearing before judicial/quasi-judicial bodies and tribunals.

SELF-TEST QUESTIONS

(These are meant for recapitulation only. Answers to these questions are not to be submitted for evaluation)

1. Explain the Appellate Authorities under the Companies Act and SEBI Act.
2. Explain the general rules of drafting in respect of applications and petitions.
3. What are the important considerations to be kept in mind while drafting a reply/written statement?
4. Explain the important considerations while drafting Affidavit in Evidence.
5. What is a dress code and what is its significance for professionals in the changing global scenario?
6. Explain the guidelines that ICSI has prescribed for professional dress for members while appearing before judicial/quasi-judicial bodies and tribunals.

Lesson 10

Compounding of Offences

LESSON OUTLINE

- Introduction
- Compounding of offences under Companies Act, 2013
- Compounding of contravention under Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999
- Compounding of offences under SEBI Act, 1992
- Consent Orders
- LESSON ROUND UP
- SELF TEST QUESTIONS

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Compounding means that the accused and the complainant have come to terms and the dispute between the parties has been settled amicably or adjusted by agreement and the complainant agrees not to prosecute the accused.

The provisions relating to compounding of offences have been contemplated under various statutes like Companies Act, 2013; Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999; SEBI Act, 1992 and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 etc.

Consent Order means an order settling administrative or civil proceedings between the regulator and the party who may prima facie be found to have violated securities laws.

SEBI has brought the concept of consent order into force for resolving the disputes in a smoother manner through negotiations and discussions instead of lengthy litigation.

The objective of this study lesson is to acquaint the students with consent orders and also to provide an understanding about the compounding of offences under the Companies Act, 2013; Foreign Exchange Management Act, (FEMA) 1999 and SEBI Act, 1992.

INTRODUCTION

'Compounding' means that the accused and the complainant have come to terms and the dispute between the parties has been settled amicably or adjusted by agreement and the complainant agrees not to prosecute the accused. The accused and the complainant then make a joint application to the court that the parties have come to terms and the case may not be proceeded with.

Thus, in compounding, there is a compromise or agreement, while in case of imposition of fine under the provisions of an Act, there is no agreement as such. Generally, offences which are of a private nature and relatively not serious are made compoundable.

There are various advantages of compounding under any legislation, if it is done before the trial by the court, wherein either of the parties to the dispute which is at fault willingly agrees to its fault and a compromise is done between both the parties without the matter being adjudicated by the court. Compounding saves the parties from the hassle of spending a lot of money, time and energy in lengthy legal proceedings. In a country like India where there are thousands of cases pending in the courts, 'compounding' is a good way of settling disputes or matters.

COMPOUNDING OF OFFENCES UNDER COMPANIES ACT, 2013*

Section 621A of the Companies Act, 1956 has given power to the Central Government to compound offences that do not invite imprisonment as penalty. The compounding will be done only after payment or credit, by the offending company or the officer concerned, as the case may be, to the Central Government of such sum as may be prescribed by the Central Government. The sum shall not exceed the maximum amount of the fine that may be imposed for the offence. Also, any additional fee paid under Section 611(2) shall have to be taken into account in specifying the sum.

Section 611 deals with fees payable to the R.O.C. (Schedule X of the Companies Act) and additional fee payment in certain cases enable the filing of document after the expiry of the normal period of filing. The additional fee is subject to a ceiling of ten times the normal fee. However, the facility of compounding is not available to a company or a concerned officer, if such company or the officer was allowed this facility within three years preceding the present offence.

The application for compounding is to be made to the R.O.C who, in turn, will forward the same to the Central Government together with his comments. The company, when allowed to compound, must, within seven days thereof send an intimation to the R.O.C. informing him of the compounding irrespective of whether any prosecution has been launched or not. On compounding, if no prosecution has already been started, no prosecution shall commence. On the other hand, if prosecution has been launched, it is the duty of the R.O.C. to inform the appropriate Court in writing, upon which the company or the concerned officer will stand discharged. The Central Government while considering an application for compounding of an offence requiring filing or delivery of any document/return/ account may at its/his discretion direct any officer/employee of the company to file or register the same on payment of applicable fee. Any non-compliance of this direction by the officer/employee is punishable with imprisonment up to six months or with fine up to fifty thousand rupees or with both.

Any offence punishable with imprisonment or fine or with both as alternatives is compoundable with the permission of the Court. However, an offence punishable with imprisonment or imprisonment and fine, is not compoundable under any situation.

Section 441* of the Companies Act, 2013 deals with the compounding of certain offences. As per Section 441 (1) of the Companies Act, 2013) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, any offence punishable under this Act (whether committed by a company or any officer thereof) with fine only, may, either before or after the institution of any prosecution, be compounded by –

* Yet to be notified.

(a) the Tribunal; or

(b) where the maximum amount of fine which may be imposed for such offence does not exceed five lakh rupees, by the Regional Director or any officer authorised by the Central Government, on payment or credit, by the company or, as the case may be, the officer, to the Central Government of such sum as that Tribunal or the Regional Director or any officer authorised by the Central Government, as the case may be, may specify:

The provisions relating to compounding of offences shall not apply to an offence committed by a company or its officer within a period of three years from the date on which a similar offence committed by it or him was compounded under this section.

Explanation. – For the purposes of this section, –

(a) any second or subsequent offence committed after the expiry of a period of three years from the date on which the offence was previously compounded, shall be deemed to be a first offence;

(b) “Regional Director” means a person appointed by the Central Government as a Regional Director for the purposes of this Act.

Every application for the compounding of an offence shall be made to the Registrar who shall forward the same, together with his comments thereon, to the Tribunal or the Regional Director or any officer authorised by the Central Government, as the case may be. Where any offence is compounded under this section, whether before or after the institution of any prosecution, intimation thereof shall be given by the company to the Registrar within seven days from the date on which the offence is so compounded. Where any offence is compounded before the institution of any prosecution, no prosecution shall be instituted in relation to such offence, either by the Registrar or by any shareholder of the company or by any person authorised by the Central Government against the offender in relation to whom the offence is so compounded. Where the compounding of any offence is made after the institution of any prosecution, such compounding shall be brought by the Registrar in writing, to the notice of the court in which the prosecution is pending and on such notice of the compounding of the offence being given, the company or its officer in relation to whom the offence is so compounded shall be discharged. The Tribunal or the Regional Director or any officer authorised by the Central Government, as the case may be, while dealing with a proposal for the compounding of an offence for a default in compliance with any provision of this Act which requires a company or its officer to file or register with, or deliver or send to, the Registrar any return, account or other document, may direct, by an order, if it or he thinks fit to do so, any officer or other employee of the company to file or register with, or on payment of the fee, and the additional fee, required to be paid under section 403, such return, account or other document within such time as may be specified in the order. Any officer or other employee of the company who fails to comply with any order made by the Tribunal or the Regional Director or any officer authorised by the Central Government under sub-section (4) shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine not exceeding one lakh rupees, or with both.

COMPOUNDING OF OFFENCES UNDER SEBI ACT, 1992

Section 24A of SEBI Act, 1992 permits compounding of offences by the court where prosecution proceedings are pending. Section 24A of SEBI Act reads as under:

“Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 any offence punishable with imprisonment only, or with imprisonment and also with fine, may either before or after the institution of any proceeding, be compounded by a Securities Appellate Tribunal or a court before which such proceedings are pending.”

Compounding of offence can cover appropriate prosecution cases filed by SEBI before the criminal courts.

Prosecution here means filing of criminal complaints before various criminal courts by SEBI for violation of provisions of securities laws which may lead to imprisonment and/ or fine. Compounding of offence can take place at any stage after filing criminal complaint by SEBI. Where a criminal complaint has not yet been filed but is envisaged, the process for consent orders will be followed rather than the one for compounding.

Settlement of proceedings through compounding can be sought by any person who is notified that a proceeding may or will be instituted against him/her, or any party to a proceeding already instituted, may, at any time, propose in writing for settlement.

Following factors, which are only indicative, may be taken into consideration for the purpose of compounding of offences under the respective statute:

- Whether violation is intentional.
- Party's conduct in the investigation and disclosure of full facts.
- Gravity of charge i.e. charge like fraud, market manipulation or insider trading
- History of non-compliance. Good track record of the violator i.e. it had not been found guilty of similar or serious violations in the past.
- Whether there were circumstances beyond the control of the party
- Violation is technical and/or minor in nature and whether violation warrants penalty.
- Consideration of the amount of investors' harm or party's gain.
- Processes which have been introduced since the violation to minimize future violations/lapses.
- Compliance schedule proposed by the party
- Economic benefits accruing to a party from delayed or avoided compliance.
- Conditions where necessary to deter future non-compliance by the same or another party.
- Satisfaction of claim of investors regarding payment of money due to them or delivery of securities to them.
- Compliance of the civil enforcement action by the accused.
- Party has undergone any other regulatory enforcement action for the same violation.
- Any other factors necessary in the facts and circumstances of the case.

Where compounding is proposed by a party, such application may be made to the court and a copy can be addressed to the "Division of Prosecution, Enforcement Department" at SEBI's Mumbai address.

So far as process of compounding of offences is concerned, any party who wishes to compound an offence shall file an appropriate application before the court where complaint is pending with a copy addressed to the Prosecution Division, Enforcement Department of SEBI's Mumbai office which will forward the application/ request to be placed before the high powered Committee. The terms of compounding as recommended by the Committee and approved by the Competent Authority would be placed before the court by the Prosecution Division by way of written submissions or application, as appropriate, for passing orders as the court deems fit.

The final acceptance of any offer of compounding will come in to effect only upon the court passing the compounding order.

Compounding of Contravention under Foreign Exchange Management Act, (FEMA) 1999

Persons who have flouted the Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) will be allowed to settle the offence by paying monetary penalty and will not have to go for litigation if such a person acknowledges having committed the contravention. Section 15 of the FEMA Act dealing with power to compound contravention stipulates that:

- (1) Any contravention under Section 13 may, on an application made by the person committing such contravention, be compounded within one hundred and eighty days from the date of receipt of application by the Director of Enforcement or such other officers of the Directorate of Enforcement and Officers of the Reserve Bank as may be authorised in this behalf by the Central Government in such manner as may be prescribed.
- (2) Where a contravention has been compounded under sub-section (1), no proceeding or further proceeding, as the case may be, shall be initiated or continued, as the case may be, against the person committing such contravention under that section, in respect of the contravention so compounded.

The Government has, in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India, reviewed the procedures for compounding of contravention under FEMA. The procedures have been reviewed to provide comfort to the citizens and corporate community by minimising transaction costs, while taking severe view of wilful, malafide and fraudulent transactions. Accordingly, the responsibility of administering compounding of contravention cases under FEMA has been vested with the Reserve Bank with exception of hawala transactions. The Directorate of Enforcement would continue to deal with these cases.

As per the new norms announced on 1st February 2005, the RBI will be required to conclude case proceedings within 180 days from the receipt of application for compounding, and the sum worked out after compounding has to be paid within 15 days from the order of compounding.

The order passed by RBI will be applicable for a period of three years. If a second offence is committed after the expiry of three years, it will be deemed as a fresh contravention and not a repetition of the earlier one.

CONSENT ORDERS

SEBI has brought the concept of Consent Order into force for resolving the disputes in more smooth manner through negotiations and discussions instead of lengthy litigation. SEBI has issued Guidelines for (i) Consent Orders and (ii) For considering requests for composition of offences, under SEBI Act, SC(R) Act and Depositories Act (vide Circular No. EFD/ED/Cir-1/2007 dated 20th April 2007).

Consent Order means “an order settling administrative or civil proceedings between the regulator and a person (Party) who may prima facie be found to have violated securities laws.” Here, Administrative/Civil enforcement actions include issuing directions, suspension or cancellation of certificate of registration, imposition of monetary penalty, pursuing suits and appeals in courts and Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT). It may settle all issues or reserve an issue or claim, but it must precisely state what issues or claims are being reserved. A Consent Order may or may not include a determination that a violation has occurred.

Consent Order provides flexibility of wider array of enforcement and remedial actions which will achieve the twin goals of an appropriate sanction, remedy and deterrence without resorting to litigation, lengthy proceedings and consequent delays.

The Parliament of India has recognised SEBI’s powers to pass an order with the consent of the parties. This will of the Parliament is clear from the words of Section 15T of the SEBI Act, 1992. Section 15T(2) of the SEBI Act reads as under:

“No appeal shall lie to the Securities Appellate Tribunal from an order made –

- (a) by the Board on and after the commencement of the Securities Laws (Second Amendment) Act, 1999;
- (b) by an adjudicating officer, with the consent of the parties.”

Thus, the Parliament in its wisdom has recognized that SEBI and its authorized delegate have power to pass Consent Orders. Similarly, courts have well recognized inherent powers to settle a case before them on an application made by the parties.

Consent Orders can be passed in respect of all types of enforcement or remedial actions including administrative proceedings and civil actions e.g. proceedings under Sections 11, 11A(1)(b), 11B and 11D of SEBI Act or under Enquiry Proceedings Regulations or Adjudication Rules or equivalent proceedings under the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, Depositories Act, 1996 and other civil matters pending before SAT/courts.

Any person who is notified that a proceeding may or will be initiated against him/her, or any party to a proceeding already initiated may, at any time, propose in writing for settlement. The factors that may be taken into consideration for the purpose of passing consent orders are similar as stated in the compounding of offences above.

Consent Order can be passed at any stage where probable cause of violation has been found. In the event of a serious and intentional violation, the process cannot be completed till the fact finding process is completed whether by way of investigation or otherwise.

When the proposal of settlement is submitted by the party, it will be examined by a high powered Committee headed by a retired High Court judge. Where the Committee finds the terms for passing a consent order inadequate, it may ask the party to revise the consent terms. Thereafter, the Committee will submit its views/ recommendations to the Adjudicating Officer/Competent Authority where proceedings are pending for passing Consent Order. The above procedure and factors and waivers shall be applied for considering the proposals of composition of offences under the SEBI Act, 1992, SCRA, 1956 and the Depositories Act, 1996, wherever applicable.

Where a matter is pending before SAT/Court, the same consent process will be undertaken and the draft consent terms recommended by the Committee and approved by the Competent Authority will be filed before the SAT/ Court. The SAT/ Court may, if found fit, pass an order in terms of the consent terms and subject to such further terms as the SAT/Court may find appropriate in the facts and circumstances of the case. The final acceptance of any offer of settlement will come in to effect only upon the Competent Authority/SAT/Court passing the Consent Order/ Compounding order.

After passing Consent Orders, the Consent Order will be published through press release and would be put on SEBI website. In cases where a Party undertakes compliances, it has to comply with the same as per agreed schedule.

Violation of Consent Order by a Party (i.e. failure to obey) would invite appropriate action, including for violating SEBI orders, besides revival of the pending action. In this context any proceeding which had been kept in abeyance pending the consent process will begin from such stage at which it was suspended.

If SEBI rejects the offer of settlement, the person making the offer shall be notified of the same and the offer of settlement shall be deemed to be withdrawn. The rejected offer shall not constitute a part of the record in any proceeding against the person making the offer, provided, however, that rejection of an offer of settlement does not affect the continued validity of waivers. SEBI and the Party will be free to resort to legal recourse as may be available to them under law and neither SEBI nor the Party would be entitled to use any information relating to the settlement process in such proceedings. In cases where SEBI is not inclined to accept settlement, SEBI would file its objections before SAT for consideration.

LESSON ROUND-UP

- Compounding means that the accused and the complainant have come to terms and the dispute between the parties has been settled amicably or adjusted by agreement and the complainant agrees not to prosecute the accused.
- Compounding of offence allows the accused to avoid the lengthy process of criminal prosecution, which would save cost, time, mental agony, etc. in return for payment of compounding charges.
- Companies Act, 1956 & 2013 have given power to the Central Government to compound offences that do not invite imprisonment as penalty.
- Persons who have flouted the Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) will be allowed to settle the

Versus

PETITIONERS

1. XYZ GARMENTS LIMITED
2. MR.D
3. MRS. D

RESPONDENTS

1. XYZ Garments Limited (Petitioner hereinafter referred to as the Company) was incorporated on 1st February 2003 and its registered office is situated at 222, Mount Road. Chennai - 600 022.
2. The authorised share capital of the company is Rs. 10,00,000 [Rupees Ten Lakh] divided into 1,00,000 (One Lakh) equity shares of Rs. 10 each. The present paid-up share capital of the company is Rs. 5,00,000 [Rupees Five Lakh] divided into 50,000 (Fifty Thousand) equity shares of Rs. 10 each.
3. The company is engaged in manufacture of garments, as mentioned in Clause IIIA of the Memorandum of Association of the Company A copy of the Memorandum of Association is annexed hereto and marked as A-1.
4. Particulars of Petitioner : Mr. R, is the petitioner and a shareholder of the company. The petitioner is holding 15,000 (Fifteen Thousand) equity shares of Rs. 10 (Rupees Ten only) in the Company. Mr. R, S/o Mr. F, is residing at 451, Green Park, Chennai-600075. The other two petitioners are : Mr. P., S/o Mr. I, residing at 45, Excel Colony, Chennai - 600 023 and Mr. Q. S/o Mr. K, residing at 578, Gandhi, Chennai-600056. Both are also co-promoters of the company and holding 5,000 equity shares of Rs. 10 each in the company. The aggregate shareholding of the petitioner is 25,000 equity shares representing 25%.
5. Particulars of Respondents: The Company XYZ Garments Limited is one of the respondents whose particulars are given in Paras 1 to 3. The other two respon-dents. Mr. D, the Second Respondent is the S/o Mr. S, residing at 987, N.C. Street, Chennai-600089. The third respondent is Mrs. D, w/o Mr. D, residing at 987, N.C Street, Chennai - 600089.
6. Jurisdiction of the Bench : The subject matter of the petition is within the Jurisdiction of the Southern Region Bench of the Company Law Board.
7. Limitation : Not applicable.
8. The petitioner states as follows:
 - 8.1 Brief Facts: The Company is in the Garment business undertaking both manufacturing and trading activities. The Company is getting Export Orders through one agent Mr. O and his services are utilised since incorporation. Mr. O is paid commission on the business generated by him.

- 8.2 Mr. D and Mrs. D who are holding 5,000 equity shares of Rs. 10 each are also Directors of the Company and in charge of Sales Department. In the course of discharge of their duties, they have established contact with Mr. O. The petitioner understands that they have also started another company and diverting orders to the new unit which would otherwise have come to our company. Apart from diverting business, they are also misusing their official position in the company by using the staff of the company, divulging trade secrets and spoils the morale of the employees. As a result, the company's reputation has suffered serious damage and the order position is dwindling. The petitioner may not be able to continue the business, if this situation continues. Accordingly, the petitioners at the Annual General Meeting held on 31st August 2006 passed resolutions for removal of Mr. D and Mrs. D as directors of the Company. At the meeting, the Respondents also created problems and did not allow the meeting to progress smoothly by proposing resolutions not connected to the AGM. However, the meeting was completed in accordance with the provisions of the Act and a copy of the minutes of the Annual General Meeting together with special resolution passed for removal of the second and third respondents and containing references to the behaviour of the Respondents is annexed hereto and marked as Annex A-2. Certified copy of the returns filed with the Registrar for removal of Mr. D and Mrs. D as directors of the company are also annexed hereto and marked as Annex A-3.
- 8.3 The petitioner feels that the oppressive methods of the Respondents should be stopped forthwith in order to manage the affairs of the company smoothly. The petitioners have already suffered irreparable loss and cannot afford to suffer any more.
- 8.4 In view of the above, the petitioners are now filing this petition under sections 397 and 398 of the Companies Act, 1956, seeking appropriate Orders restraining the Second and Third Respondents from functioning as Directors of the Company and to prevent them from continuing with their oppressive methods.
- 8.5 The petition has been made bona fide and in the interests of justice and no one will be prejudiced by the proposed direction. It is, therefore, just and equitable that a direction to prevent oppression forthwith is issued to the company, failing which the petitioner will stand to lose.
- 8.6 The affidavit verifying petition is annexed hereto and marked as Annex A-3. (Annex 86.5)
- 8.7 A demand draft for Rs. 5000 towards filing fee is annexed hereto and marked as Annex A-4.
- 8.8 The petitioner further declares that it had not previously filed any application, writ petition or suit regarding the matter in respect of which this petition is made, before any other Court of Law or authority or any other Bench of the Board.
- 8.9 The applicant has annexed hereto the documents or copies thereof as specified below:
- A-1: Certified Copy of the Memorandum and Articles of Association
 - A-2: Copy of the minutes of the annual general meeting held on 31st August 2006
 - A-3: Copy of eform filed with the Registrar for removal of Mr. D and Mrs. D as directors of the company.
 - A-4: Affidavit verifying petition (Annex 86.5)
 - A-5: Demand Draft bearing No.: 123466 dated 5th October 2006 for Rs. 5000 towards fees
 - A-6: Memorandum of Appearance in Form No. 5 (Annex 86.6)
- 8.10 The applicant seeks specified Order of the Company Law Board, Southern Region, Chennai. It is hereby prayed that –
- An Order be issued under section 397 of the Companies Act, 1956 for preventing the Second and Third Respondents from continuing with their oppressive methods

- Any other or further order or orders be made or directions be given affording necessary relief to the applicants as may be deemed fit and. proper.

Application for appointment of a Receiver (in a partition suit)

(Under Or. 40, r. 1 of the Code of Civil Procedure).

In the Court of the Asst. District Judge.....

Title Suit No.....of 20...

A.B. Plaintiff.

Versus

C.D. and 10 others Defendants.

Petition under Or. 40, r. 1 of C.P. Code

The above-named plaintiff states as follows:

1. That the plaintiff is the owner of .66 acres of land (vide Schedule "C" of the plaint) by purchase by a registered Kobala from Defendant No. 2, a co-sharer of the holding.
2. That the said land in Schedule C is separated from the rest of the holding by clear and defined boundaries and is so mentioned in the plaintiff-petitioner's title deed.
3. That the plaintiff has been in possession thereof. All the defendants excepting Defendants No. 5 to 8 have submitted a joint written statement confirming plaintiffs possession over the "C" Schedule land.
4. That Defendants No. 5 to 7 are denying the plaintiff's possession. The plaintiff has sought for relief of partition in the above suit.
5. That for undue interference by Defendants No. 5 to 7, the plaintiff apprehends breach of peace and molestation if cultivation by the plaintiff is resorted to. On the contrary, the plaintiff would lose crops if the land is not cultivated and tilled immediately.
6. That in the circumstances of the case, a Receiver should be appointed for bringing the land in Schedule C under cultivation and to reap and harvest the future crop under the court's orders, even if the said Defendants No. 5 to 7 claim falsely possession over the land in Schedule C.

6. That no application has at any time been made to this court, or to any other court, with respect to the guardianship of the persons and property of the said minors.

7. That no guardian of the person or property of the said minors has been appointed by any person entitled or claimed to be entitled by the law to which the minors are subject to make such appointment.

8. That this application is for the appointment of a guardian to the person and property of the said minors.

9. That your petitioner is the mother of minors. The minors were so long living in the same mess along with their mother with grandfather P. The said P was neglecting the welfare of the minors and appropriated to himself all the returns from minors' properties. Of late he stopped payment of tuition fees of private tutor of minors A and B. In last..... .B.S. the said P managed to transfer minors'..... bighas of land in the name of his daughter.....by a fraudulent and forged kobala after the death of minors' parents. Besides, he is selling the produce of the lands of the minors and appropriating proceeds to himself. He has kept the revenue in arrear for.....years for which minors' properties are liable to be sold for threatened Certificate Proceedings. To recover possession of the land, to manage properties, for the welfare of minors the situation requires that the mother petitioner be appointed guardian for minors without further delay.

(Or, that the appointment is necessary for sale of a portion of minors' property for meeting debts left by the deceased father of minors).

That your petitioner, therefore, prays that an order appointing the petitioner a guardian for the person and property of minors be issued under s. 7 of the Guardians and Wards Act 1890.

And your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall ever pray.

I, Achhimon Bewa, petitioner named in the above petition do solemnly affirm that what is stated therein is true to the best of my information and belief.
