SEPTEMBER 2022

Message from the President

"The beautiful thing about learning is that nobody can take it away from you."

Dear Students,

While for an outsider, the journey of becoming a professional maybe limited to the qualifying of a certain set of examinations, but only a true professional would know and corroborate the fact that the journey of becoming a professional is a never ending journey of learning, gaining knowledge and attaining wisdom.

This thought has been shared at a time where on one hand, the results of the CS Exam for June, 2022 session have been declared and on the other, the Institute is celebrating a better part of this month in extending gratitude and honouring those who have guided us on the path of education – our teachers, by way of ICSI Teachers' Week.

The month of September reminds us of one of the former Presidents of this country, a great educationist and connoisseur, Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan and motivates us to tread on the trajectory of wisdom eternally so that our minds are enlightened with new thoughts, constructive ideas and advanced knowledge as we strengthen our resolve to contribute wholeheartedly in the process of nation building.

According my best of wishes and heartiest congratulations to all those who have tasted success in the recently declared results, I do intend to remind you that with each passing day and every new feat attained, you move a step closer to gaining full-fledged responsibility as a Governance Professional – a designation of trust, honour, honesty and immense accountability. For those who could not sail through, my sole message for you is wrapped in the words of the quote above. Whatever you have learnt during the journey of preparation is yours to keep, cherish and use in the times to follow. For as they say, “The end-product of education should be a free creative man, who can battle against historical circumstances and adversities of nature." Consider these results, not as a roadblock but as a stepping stone and you shall attain greater heights.

While we at ICSI put in our best of efforts to enhance the knowledge base of our students and hone their skills, it is you and only you who has to strive to be the best version of yourself as you represent not only your individual self, but the entire professional fraternity and the Institute in the corporate, national and global arena.

It gives me immense pride to share with you that in furtherance of our intent, the ICSI New Syllabus 2022 has been developed after much deliberation with both experts as well as the intended stakeholders. All the apprehensions, contentions, suggestions and recommendations have made their way on the discussion tables and been included or excluded after much thought.

I am delighted to inform you that this New Syllabus has been released at 50th National Convention of Company Secretaries at Kolkata on 1 September, 2022. While the golden jubilee celebration of the Convention was a landmark event for all of us at ICSI, the release of the document aligned with the event has added an additional golden leaf in the glorious history and memories of this Institute.

Apart from being a game changer for the gen-next of Company Secretaries, the New Syllabus 2022 is a reminder for all of us that Change is the only constant and that learning knows no limits - the more we add knowledge to our reservoir of wisdom the more capable we become to surmount constraints and create new ways of attaining success and excellence. All that is required is the appropriate fusion of efforts and enthusiasm to accomplish our desired professional goals.

Happy reading ! Happy learning !

Warm regards,

(CS Devendra V. Deshpande)

An Overview of E-Banking in India*

Introduction

Internet Banking or E-Banking refers to a system that allowing individual customers to perform various banking activities from different sites like their home, office and other locations via internet based secured networks. Through Internet or online banking traditional banks have enabled customers to perform all routine transactions, such as account transfers, balance inquiries, bill payments and stop-payment requests and some even offer online loan and credit card applications.

Banks have traditionally been in the forefront of harnessing technology to improve their products, services and efficiency. They have, over a long time, been using electronic and telecommunication networks for delivering a wide range of value added products and services. The delivery channels include direct dial – up connections, private networks, public networks etc. and the devices include telephone, Personal Computers including the Automated Teller Machines, etc.

With the popularity of PCs, Laptops, Mobile phones etc. easy access to Internet and World Wide Web (WWW), Internet is increasingly used by banks as a channel for receiving instructions and delivering their products and services to their customers. This form of banking is generally referred to as Internet Banking, although the range of products and services offered by different banks vary widely both in their content and sophistication.

Broadly, the levels of banking services offered through INTERNET can be categorized in to three types: (i) The Basic Level Service is the banks' websites which disseminate information on different products and services offered to customers and members of public in general. It may receive and reply to customers' queries through e-mail, (ii) In the next level are Simple Transactional Websites which allow customers to submit their instructions, applications for different services, queries on their account balances, etc., but do not permit any fund-based transactions on their accounts, (iii) The third level of Internet banking services are offered by Fully Transactional Websites which allow the customers to operate on their accounts for transfer of funds, payment of different bills, subscribing to other products of the bank and to transact purchase and sale of securities, etc.

The above forms of Internet banking services are offered by traditional banks, as an additional method of serving the customer or by new banks, who deliver banking services primarily through Internet or other electronic delivery channels as the value added services. Some of these banks are known as 'virtual' banks or 'Internet-only' banks and may not have any physical presence in a country despite offering different banking services.

Spreading of Wings

In India innovation in banking sector commenced since 1991 with introduction of liberalization and globalization processes as result of it E- Banking came into progress. This Information Technology revamped the entire banking sector. E-banking drastically and rapidly altered the way of client banking, banks started providing different services related to cash deposits, cash withdrawals that to through electronic means. Due to this I.T revolution, the number of electronic transactions are increasing day by day and world has emerged as a cyber world where each and everyone is connected through internet. E- Banking made the mobility of foreign funds and investment possible which turned world into global market and this market is growing so fast that it has almost abolished the effect of national boundaries. It is not wrong to say that this I.T innovation in baking sector in form of E-banking has introduced new business paradigm in country like in India.

In past three decades the operational efficiency of Indian banks has increased to several folds, now the time taken by the banks in performing different transaction has been reduced, with this advancement competition among banks has also increased. Every bank is trying to use as much latest technological innovations in order to facilitate its customers. One of the key features in this regard is innovation banking or e- banking, which a lot of banks are currently providing in India.

Union Budget 2022 and E-Banking

The Finance minister announced in her Budget 2022 speech that all 1.5 lakh branches of Post Office will be linked to the core banking system by the end of 2022. This will allow all post office saving account holders to access internet banking and conduct online payment and money transfer. While a large number of post office branches were already there on the core banking system however all post offices are not on the core banking system as yet. Therefore, transfer of funds via internet banking from a core-banking enabled post office to one which is not part of the core banking system is not possible. Besides the internal online transfers, post office account holders will also be able to transfer funds to savings account with any other bank via internet banking.

Further, the move to connect 1.5 lakh post offices in India to the core banking system is also a welcome move. This shall enhance the overall banking experience with easy access to post offices through ATMs, mobile, and net banking. This will further support the Government's plans to encourage digital banking in the country where most people, particularly in rural areas, make use of the services of post offices to deposit their money.

Conclusion

Electronic banking offers a lot of benefits to individual customers, businesses, and banks. However, one should not ignore the risks associated with e-banking. The following are the risks associated with e-banking:

1. Operational Risks - Operation risk or transactional risk is the most common type of risk of e-banking. It includes:
    - Incorrect transaction processing
    - Compromises in the integrity of data, data privacy, and confidentiality
    - Unauthorized access to the bank's systems
    - Non-enforceability of contracts, etc.

    Apart from technological errors, human factors like negligence (customers or employees), employee frauds, hackers, etc. are a potential source of operational risk of e-banking.

2. Security Risk - When we talk about banking transactions, security of the transaction is of paramount importance. All customers want their transactions to be confidential. However, since all information is online, there is always a chance that someone might retrieve the information and misuse it. The security risk of e-banking also arises from hacking threats and unauthorized access to the bank's systems.

3. Reputational Risk - For any business, its reputation is of critical importance. When it comes to electronic banking, if a bank fails to perform critical functions or not work according to the expectations of its customers, then it faces a risk of loss of reputation. This eventually leads to a loss of funding or customers.

   Some reasons for this risk are a system or product not functioning as expected, significant deficiencies in the system, security breaches (external or internal), misinforming customers about the processes and policies of using e-banking, certain communication issues that hinder the customer from accessing his / her account, etc.

4. Legal Risk - Whenever there is a violation of laws, regulations, or prescribed practices, or when the legal rights and obligations of any of the parties to a transaction are not established, then there is a legal risk involved. E-Banking is relatively new to the industry and there is a lot of uncertainty and ambiguity about certain laws and rules. This increases the legal risk.

5. Money Laundering Risk - All transactions through the e-banking channel are done remotely. Therefore, it is difficult for banks to use traditional methods to detect and prevent criminal activities. While there are certain money laundering rules in place, for electronic payments, their feasibility is questionable. Therefore, banks carry the risk of money laundering.

6. Cross-border Risks - The core idea of electronic banking is to extend the geographical reach of both banks as well as customers. This means that the expansion can go beyond national borders. This leads to several cross-border risks:

   a) Legal and Regulatory risks – There is a possibility about uncertainties regarding the legal requirements in certain countries and jurisdiction ambiguities of different national authorities.

   b) Operational risk – If the bank uses a service provider located in a different country, then it is difficult to monitor it causing operational risk.

   c) Credit risk – Cross-border transactions can increase credit risk. This is because it is difficult to appraise an application for a loan from a customer in a different country.

7. Strategic Risk - This risk is associated with issues pertaining to:

   - The development of a business plan
   - Having sufficient resources available to support the business plan
   - In the case of outsourced activities, the credibility of the vendor
   - For employees, any change in the work environment
   - Level of technology used in comparison with the available technology, etc.

8. Other Risks - The other risks of e-banking are the same as those of traditional banking like credit risk, liquidity risk, interest rate risk, market risk, etc. However, in e-banking, these risks are magnified due to the use of electronic channels and the absence of geographical boundaries.

Thus, to provide impetus to the growth of e-banking in India, more measures apart from those in existence may be undertaken. If the aforesaid risks are addressed properly then it will inculcate confidence among the customers of the banks.
