Announcement for the Students

Students are invited to contribute articles for Student Company Secretary e-journal for the month of May at academics@icsi.edu on the topic

NEW LABOUR REFORMS AND ROLE OF CS

Selected Articles will be published in the forthcoming issue of Student Company Secretary e-journal
“If you are going to achieve excellence in big things, you develop the habit in little matters. Excellence is not an exception, it is a prevailing attitude.”
- Colin Powell

Dear Students,

The celebrations of the festival of colours in the month gone by, giving us moments of joy and familial togetherness and leaving us thoroughly exhilarated, have filled in each one of us a new sense of zeal and enthusiasm. It is this fervour enthused that has given us a new lease of life to move forward towards the achievement of our goals and missions with a renewed vigour in our heart and a bounce in our step.

Friends, having been a part of this profession for quite a few decades, even with all the uncertainties of result attached, reminiscing the journey undertaken in student life fills my heart with great delight leaving me with a big smile. The smell of new books at the beginning of each Programme, the hunt for Referencers, the countless discussions on the most recent happenings and incidents and not to mention the planning for future, the deliberation to vie the employment route or pursue practice...

What was most intriguing about being a student of a professional course was the fact that any and every interaction with senior members brought with it a common thought; the thought that no matter what the achievements, no matter which side we pursued from amongst employment or practice, and no matter our core field and area of activity; learning and attainment of knowledge must never cease or come to a halt.
To be truthful, while the hunger for knowledge must never be satiated to the fullest, yet at the same time, it must be fed with information, understanding and awareness in every way possible. It is for this very satisfaction and fulfilment of the learning desires of our members and students that the Institute of Company Secretaries of India has undertaken multifarious initiatives. Given the fact that the students, you all, will be the future torchbearers of not just the Institute but of good governance in the India Inc. as well as the entire nation, dedicated initiatives are being launched to not just have concrete interactions and deliberations but have platforms for resolution of both, your academic queries as well as grievances that may arise.

It gives me great pleasure to share that the Institute has launched two initiatives, i.e., the ‘ICSI Samadhan Diwas’ and the ‘Bi-weekly Academic Interactions’ for our students. While the first initiative intends to resolve the grievances pertaining to Training and other aspects, the Bi-weekly interactions shall focus on clarification of doubts by Academic Experts and Subject Officers.

While the Institute is undertaking all steps possible to enrich the knowledge base of its students, I would like to suggest to all the students that whatever you wish to do in your academic and professional life; aim for excellence, for holistic development is possible only when one aims for attaining excellence in academic and professional pursuits.

You should entrench excellence not only for performing a given task; rather excellence should be an integral element of your attitude. As it is said that attitude determines altitude, and you can attain higher altitude in your academic and professional endeavours when you embrace excellence.

So keep treading on the trajectory of wisdom leading towards excellence!

Happy reading !!! Happy Learning !!!

With warm regards,

(CS Nagendra D. Rao)

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS (IPRS) LAWS & POLICY IN INDIA*

Introduction

Intellectual property (IP) refers to the creations of the human mind like inventions, literary and artistic works, and symbols, names, images and designs used in commerce. Intellectual property is divided into two categories: Industrial property, which includes inventions (patents), trademarks, industrial designs, and geographic indications of source; and Copyright, which includes literary and artistic works such as novels, poems and plays, films, musical works, artistic works such as drawings, paintings, photographs and sculptures, and architectural designs. Rights related to copyright include those of performing artists in their performances, producers of phonograms in their recordings, and those of broadcasters in their radio and television programs. Intellectual property rights protect the interests of creators by giving them property rights over their creations.

The most noticeable difference between intellectual property and other forms of property, however, is that intellectual property is intangible, that is, it cannot be defined or identified by its own physical parameters. It must be expressed in some discernible way to be protectable. Generally, it encompasses four separate and distinct types of intangible property namely — patents, trademarks, copyrights, and trade secrets, which collectively are referred to as “intellectual property.”

IPR Laws in India

Various Intellectual property laws enacted by the Government of India are listed below.

- Copyright Act, 1957
- The Patents Act, 1970
- The Trade Marks Act, 1999
- The Geographical Indications of Goods (Registration and Protection) Act, 1999
- The Designs Act, 2000
- The Semiconductor Integrated Circuits Layout-Design Act, 2000
- Protection of Plant Varieties and Farmers’ Rights Act, 2001

The Copyright Act, 1957: The Copyright Act, 1957 protects original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works and cinematograph films and sound recordings from unauthorized uses. Unlike the case with patents, copyright protects the expressions and not the ideas. There is no copyright protection for ideas, procedures, methods of operation or mathematical concepts as such.

The Patents Act, 1970: The patent system in India is governed by the Patents Act, 1970 and the Patents Rules as amended from time to time in consonance with the changing environment.

A Patent is a statutory right for an invention granted for a limited period of time to the patentee by the Government, in exchange of full disclosure of his invention for excluding others, from making, using, selling, importing the patented product or process for producing that product for those purposes without his consent. The term of every patent granted is 20 years from the date of filing of application. However, for application filed under national phase under Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT), the term of patent will be 20 years from the international filing date accorded under PCT.

The Trade Marks Act, 1999: Trade Marks Act, 1999 amend and consolidate the law relating to trade marks, to provide for registration and better protection of trade marks for goods and services and for the prevention of the use of fraudulent marks. A trademark (popularly known as brand name) in layman’s language is a visual symbol which may be a word signature, name, device, label, numerals or combination of colours used by one undertaking on goods or services or other articles of commerce to distinguish it from other similar goods or services originating from a different undertaking. The legal requirements to register a trademark under the Act are:

- The selected mark should be capable of being represented graphically (that is in the paper form).
- It should be capable of distinguishing the goods or services of one undertaking from those of others.
- It should be used or proposed to be used mark in relation to goods or services for the purpose of indicating or so as to indicate a connection in the course of trade between the goods or services and some person have the right to use the mark with or without identity of that person.
The Geographical Indications of Goods (Registration and Protection) Act, 1999: Geographical Indications of Goods (Registration and Protection) Act, 1999 seeks to provide for the registration and better protection of geographical indications relating to goods in India. "geographical indication", in relation to goods, means an indication which identifies such goods as agricultural goods, natural goods or manufactured goods as originating, or manufactured in the territory of a country, or a region or locality in that territory, where a given quality, reputation or other characteristic of such goods is essentially attributable to its geographical origin and in case where such goods are manufactured goods one of the activities of either the production or of processing or preparation of the goods concerned takes place in such territory, region or locality, as the case may be.

The Design Act, 2000: Design Act, 2000 consolidate and amend the law relating to protection of designs. ‘Design’ means only the features of shape, configuration, pattern or ornament or composition of lines or colour or combination thereof applied to any article whether two dimensional or three dimensional or in both forms, by any industrial process or means, whether manual, mechanical or chemical, separate or combined, which in the finished article appeal to and are judged solely by the eye, but does not include any mode or principle or construction or anything which is in substance a mere mechanical device, and does not include any trade mark, as define in clause (v) of sub-section of Section 2 of the Trade and Merchandise Marks Act, 1958, property mark or artistic works as defined under Section 2(c) of the Copyright Act, 1957.

The Semiconductor Integrated Circuits Layout-Design Act, 2000: SICLD Act 2000 provide for the protection of semiconductor integrated circuits layout design. A semiconductor layout design means a layout of transistors and other circuitry elements and includes lead wires connecting such elements and expressed in any manner in semiconductor integrated circuits.

The Protection of Plant Varieties and Farmers’ Rights (PPV&FR) Act, 2001: The Protection of Plant Varieties and Farmers’ Rights (PPV&FR) Act, 2001 has sufficient provisions to protect the interests of public sector breeding institutions and the farmers. The legislation recognizes the contributions of both commercial plant breeders and farmers in plant breeding activity and also provides to implement TRIPs in a way that supports the specific socio-economic interests of all the stakeholders including private, public sectors and research institutions, as well as resource-constrained farmers.

WTO’s TRIPS Agreement

The WTO’s Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPS), negotiated during the 1986-94 Uruguay Round, introduced intellectual property rules into the multilateral trading system for the first time. India became a signatory of the TRIPS Agreement in the year 1994 but this Agreement entered into force on January 1, 1995.

The idea of trade, and what makes trade valuable for societies, has evolved beyond simply shipping goods across borders. Innovation, creativity and branding represent a large amount of the value that changes hands in international trade today. How to enhance this value and how to facilitate the flow of knowledge-rich goods and services across borders have become integral considerations in development and trade policy.
The TRIPS Agreement plays a critical role in facilitating trade in knowledge and creativity, in resolving trade disputes over intellectual property, and in assuring WTO members the latitude to achieve their domestic objectives. The Agreement is legal recognition of the significance of links between intellectual property and trade.

"Intellectual property" refers to creations of the mind. These creations can take many different forms, such as artistic expressions, signs, symbols and names used in commerce, designs and inventions. Governments grant creators the right to prevent others from using their inventions, designs or other creations — and to use that right to negotiate payment in return for others using them. These are “intellectual property rights”. They take a number of forms. For example, books, paintings and films come under copyright; eligible inventions can be patented; brand names and product logos can be registered as trademarks; and so on. Governments grant creators these rights as an incentive to produce and spread ideas that will benefit society as a whole.

The extent of protection and enforcement of these rights varied widely around the world; and as intellectual property became more important in trade, these differences became a source of tension in international economic relations. New internationally-agreed trade rules for intellectual property rights were seen as a way to introduce more order and predictability, and to settle disputes more systematically.

The Uruguay Round achieved that. The WTO’s TRIPS Agreement is an attempt to narrow the gaps in the way these rights are protected and enforced around the world, and to bring them under common international rules. It establishes minimum standards of protection and enforcement that each government has to give to the intellectual property held by nationals of fellow WTO members.

Under the TRIPS Agreement, WTO members have considerable scope to tailor their approaches to IP protection and enforcement in order to suit their needs and achieve public policy goals. The Agreement provides ample room for members to strike a balance between the long term benefits of incentivising innovation and the possible short term costs of limiting access to creations of the mind. Members can reduce short term costs through various mechanisms allowed under TRIPS provisions, such as exclusions or exceptions to intellectual property rights. And, when there are trade disputes over the application of the TRIPS Agreement, the WTO’s dispute settlement system is available.

The TRIPS Agreement covers five broad areas:

- how general provisions and basic principles of the multilateral trading system apply to international intellectual property
- what the minimum standards of protection are for intellectual property rights that members should provide
- which procedures members should provide for the enforcement of those rights in their own territories
- how to settle disputes on intellectual property between members of the WTO
- special transitional arrangements for the implementation of TRIPS provisions.
National IPR Policy in India

Creativity and innovation have been a constant in growth and development of any knowledge economy. There is an abundance of creative and innovative energies flowing in India. India has a TRIPS compliant, robust, equitable and dynamic IPR regime. An all-encompassing IPR Policy will promote a holistic and conducive ecosystem to catalyse the full potential of intellectual property for India’s economic growth and socio-cultural development, while protecting public interest.

The National Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Policy 2016 was adopted on 12.5.2016 as a vision document to guide future development of IPRs in the country. The Policy recognises the abundance of creative and innovative energies that flow in India, and the need to tap into and channelize these energies towards a better and brighter future for all.

The National IPR Policy is a vision document that encompasses and brings to a single platform all IPRs. It views IPRs holistically, taking into account all inter-linkages and thus aims to create and exploit synergies between all forms of intellectual property (IP), concerned statutes and agencies. It sets in place an institutional mechanism for implementation, monitoring and review. It aims to incorporate and adapt global best practices to the Indian scenario.

The rationale for the National IPR Policy lies in the need to create awareness about the importance of IPRs as a marketable financial asset and economic tool. The Policy lays down seven objectives which are elaborated with steps to be undertaken by the identified nodal Ministry/Department. The objectives are briefly mentioned below.

Objective 1 - IPR Awareness: Outreach and Promotion

To create public awareness about the economic, social and cultural benefits of IPRs among all sections of society.

The 21st century belongs to the knowledge era and is driven by the knowledge economy. A nation-wide program of promotion should be launched with an aim to improve the awareness about the benefits of IPRs and their value to the rights-holders and the public. Such a program will build an atmosphere where creativity and innovation are encouraged in public and private sectors, R&D centers, industry and academia, leading to generation of protectable IP that can be commercialized. It is also necessary to reach out to the less-visible IP generators and holders, especially in rural and remote areas. The clarion call of the program would be the holistic slogan “Creative India; Innovative India”.

Objective 2 - Generation of IPRs

To stimulate the generation of IPRs

India has a large talent pool of scientific and technological talent spread over R&D institutions, enterprises, universities and technical institutes. There is a need to tap this fertile knowledge resource and stimulate the creation of IP assets. A comprehensive baseline survey or IP audit across sectors will enable assessment and evaluation of the potential in specific sectors, and thus formulate and implement targeted programmes. Focus will be placed on facilitating researchers and innovators regarding areas of national priority. The corporate sector also needs to be encouraged to generate and utilize IPRs. Steps also need to be taken to devise mechanisms so that benefits of the IPR regime reach all inventors, especially MSMEs, start-ups and grassroot innovators.

Objective 3 - Legal and Legislative Framework

To have strong and effective IPR laws, which balance the interests of rights owners with larger public interest

The existing IP laws in India were either enacted or revised after the TRIPS Agreement and are fully compliant with it. These laws along with various judicial decisions provide a stable and effective legal framework for protection and promotion of IPRs. India shall remain committed to the Doha Declaration on TRIPS Agreement and Public Health. At the same time, India is rich in traditional medicinal knowledge which exists in diverse forms in our country, and it is important to protect it from misappropriation.

Objective 4 - Administration and Management

To modernize and strengthen service oriented IPR administration

The Offices that administer the different Intellectual Property Rights (IPOs) are the cornerstone of an efficient and balanced IPR system. IPOs now have the twin challenges of making their operations more efficient, streamlined and cost effective, with expanding work load and technological complexity on one hand, and enhancing their user friendliness by developing and providing value added services to the user community on the other. The administration of the Copyright Act, 1957 and the Semiconductor Integrated Circuits Layout-Design Act, 2000 is being brought under the aegis of DPIIT, besides constituting a Cell for IPR Promotion and Management (CIPAM). This will facilitate more effective and synergetic working between various IP offices, as also promotion, creation and commercialization of IP assets.

Objective 5 - Commercialization of IPR

Get value for IPRs through commercialization.

The value and economic reward for the owners of IP rights comes only from their commercialization. Entrepreneurship should be encouraged so that the financial value of IPRs is captured. It is necessary to connect investors and IP creators. Another constraint faced is valuation of IP and assessment of the potential of the IPRs for the purpose of marketing it. Efforts should be made for creation of a public platform to connect creators and innovators to potential users, buyers and funding institutions.

Objective 6 - Enforcement and Adjudication

To strengthen the enforcement and adjudicatory mechanisms for combating IPR infringements.

There is a need to build respect for IPR among the general public and to sensitize the inventors and creators of IP on measures for protection and enforcement of their rights. At the same time, there is also a need to build the capacity of the enforcement agencies at various levels, including strengthening of IPR cells in State police forces. Measures to check counterfeiting and piracy also need to be identified and undertaken. Regular IPR workshops/ colloquia for judges would facilitate effective adjudication of IPR disputes. It would be desirable to adjudicate on IPR disputes through specialised commercial courts. Alternative Dispute Resolution mechanism may also be explored.
Objective 7 - Human Capital Development

To strengthen and expand human resources, institutions and capacities for teaching, training, research and skill building in IPRs.

In order to harness the full potential of IPRs for economic growth, it is essential to develop an increasing pool of IPR professionals and experts in spheres such as policy and law, strategy development, administration and enforcement. Such a reservoir of experts will facilitate in increasing generation of IP assets in the country and their utilization for development purposes.

Conclusion

The National IPR Policy is a vision document that aims to create and exploit synergies between all forms of intellectual property (IP), concerned statutes and agencies. It sets in place an institutional mechanism for implementation, monitoring and review. It aims to incorporate and adapt global best practices to the Indian scenario. The IP Policy aims to integrate IP as a policy and strategic tool in national development plans. It foresees a coordinated and integrated development of IP system in India and the need for a holistic approach to be taken on IP legal, administrative, institutional and enforcement related matters. IPR Laws and policy bringing improvement in India’s rank in the Global Innovation Index (GII) and strengthening of institutional mechanism regarding IP protection and promotion.

LISTING THROUGH SPECIAL PURPOSE ACQUISITION COMPANY (SPAC)*

Introduction

SPAC (Special Purpose Acquisition Company), is an entity specifically set up with the objective of acquiring a firm in a particular sector. The aim of this SPAC is to raise money in an initial public offering (IPO), and at this point in time, it does not have any operations or revenues. Once the money is raised from the public, it is kept in an escrow account, which can be accessed while making the acquisition. If the acquisition is not made within two years of the IPO, the SPAC is delisted and the money is returned to the investors.

Globally Regulatory Evolution of SPACs

Historically, SPACs were an uncommon and rarely used investment product. In the 1980s and 1990s, blank-check companies became associated with lack of regulatory oversight and, on occasion, even fraudulent activity. The ensuing backlash from market participants led to reforms that transformed the product over the years. The reformed SPAC product of the early 2000s evolved to increase protection for investors. Across the span of the last twenty years, most companies still preferred to pursue the traditional IPO route to go public and as such, SPAC IPOs accounted for just a small percentage of total IPO activity. Despite their decades-long existence, SPACs have only seen a surge in issuance in the last three years, followed by a dramatic increase in 2020 and 2021 specifically.

Views expressed in the Article are the sole expression of the Author and may not express the views of the Institute.
As per SPAC Insider, a portal that maintains a record of SPAC deals, of the 772 such IPOs by blank-cheque companies since 2009, 248 happened in 2020 and 298 in 2021, as on April 04, 2021. The gross proceeds raised by SPACs in 2020 amounted to over $83 billion, while for 2021 the number stands at $97.32 billion as of now. Across the span of the last twenty years, most companies still preferred to pursue the traditional IPO route to go public and as such, SPAC IPOs accounted for just a small percentage of total IPO activity.

The US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) oversees all transactions pertaining to SPAC. To ensure transparency and credibility, SEC has mandated exhaustive SEC filing, reporting and disclosure requirements for giving effect to transactions involving SPACs. Owing to the “well-regulated” feature of SPACs in the US, sponsors and investors have begun regarding SPACs as a better substitute to traditional IPOs.

Further, stock exchanges across the world have their own SPAC related regulations, for instance, the London Stock Exchange requires a listed entity to delist and re-apply in case of reverse merger with a listed entity, the Australian Securities Exchange allows reverse merger on a case-to-case basis. Canada too has regulatory guidelines for SPACs and is enthusiastically encouraging the same.

Regulatory Framework in India

The current regulatory framework of India is not supportive of the SPAC structure. For instance, the Companies Act 2013 authorizes the Registrar of Companies to strike-off the name of companies that do not commence operation within one year of incorporation. SPACs typically take 2 years to identify a target and perform due-diligence. If SPACs are to be made functional in India, enabling provisions will have to be inserted in the Companies Act.

As per eligibility criteria for public listing prescribed by SEBI, a company requires to have net tangible assets of at least ₹3 crore in the preceding three years, minimum average consolidated pre-tax operating profits of ₹15 crore during any three of last five years and net worth of at least ₹1 crore in each of the last three years. The absence of operational profits, net tangible assets would prevent SPACs from making an IPO in India.

As of now, Indian legislature has not prescribed any comprehensive regulatory requirements for SPACs. SEBI recently formed a group of experts to examine the feasibility of introducing Special Purpose Acquisition Companies (SPACs) under its Primary Market Advisory Committee (PMAC) with aim to explore the potential of SPACs while at the same time building adequate checks and balances in regulatory framework to take care of the associated risks.

One of India’s leading renewable energy companies, ReNew Power, recently announced the execution of a definitive business combination agreement with RMG Acquisition Corporation II. The USD 8-billion transaction enables the combined power generation company to get listed on NASDAQ by the second quarter of 2021. This transaction marks the first major overseas listing of an Indian company by means of a Special Purpose Acquisition Company (“SPAC”) vehicle in recent times.

While overseas listing is not a new phenomenon in India, with companies like Videocon d2h and Yatra Online Inc. already listed on the NASDAQ, new investment opportunities in Indian companies have resurfaced and have set the ball rolling for SPAC transactions.
The SPAC Life Cycle

1. Formation of the SPAC and its IPO: The sponsors or investment professionals, or both, choose to form a SPAC. The SPAC completes the regulatory filings necessary to go public, which are relatively simpler than those needed for a traditional IPO process. This simplicity is because the company is a “shell” with no formal operations, and the value of the company will be roughly equivalent to the net value of the cash it raises.

2. Target search: After the SPAC goes public, the sponsors begin to search for a company to acquire. In most cases this is a private company, but there have been rare instances where a SPAC has targeted a segment of a public company. SPACs usually have just 18 to 24 months to identify and acquire a target company (unless the life of the SPAC is extended), otherwise the SPAC liquidates and the capital raised is returned to investors. The structured timeframe creates a sense of urgency for the SPAC sponsors to quickly find and combine with potential targets; in more conventional M&A paths, there is no time limit on a suitor’s potential acquisition of a target.

3. Target selection / de-SPACing process: The de-SPAC process refers to the process of a private company becoming public via combination with a SPAC. Once a target company is identified and announced, the de-SPACing process begins. De-SPACing is arguably the most important and intense phase in the lifecycle of a SPAC. During this time, the SPAC sponsors and target owners negotiate and the target’s valuation and transaction structure are determined. Although the negotiation is between the seller and the SPAC sponsor, valuation and terms must ultimately be validated by the public.
4. Private Investments in Public Equity (PIPEs): PIPEs are additional equity commitments from either institutional investors who participated in the SPAC, or from new institutional investors. After the SPAC and the target agree on transaction terms, structure and valuation, they can go to the market to raise additional capital to complete the acquisition. This additional capital is usually raised by PIPEs.

5. Shareholder vote / Redemption: Any acquisition the SPAC proposes is subject to approval by shareholders, which enables investors to choose whether or not they approve of the target company selected by the SPAC founders. This is typically a non-event as shareholder approval is obtained for most transactions. Notably, the vote and the redemption decision are not mutually exclusive – meaning that investors can vote to approve the transaction, while electing to redeem their shares to recoup their original investment. If a transaction “fails” due to either a lack of shareholder approval (a rare circumstance), or investor redemptions, then the SPAC is able to look for another target. However, the SPAC still has to adhere to the time frame set at its IPO. In the event of SPAC liquidation, the funds are released from escrow and all proceeds are returned to public shareholders on a pro rata basis.

6. Acquisition of the target: If the shareholder vote is successful, and the transaction is approved (including on a regulatory basis), the SPAC and its target merge. In the combination process, SPACs adhere to merger proxy rules, so they can include projections of the company's performance in their conversations with potential investors, including with potential PIPE investors. Once the merger is complete, the SPAC changes its name and exchange ticker to new ones reflective of the acquired target and the de-SPACing process is complete. The shares then freely trade, just like any other public company.

Conclusion

SPACs can offer many unique advantages versus more conventional alternatives (i.e. traditional IPO and M&A), such as price certainty, secure upfront capital, greater execution confidence, structural flexibility and managerial expertise. Various countries like, US, Australia, Canada have the regulatory framework/guidelines on SPACs and witnessed a high rise in SPAC deals but in India, regulatory framework is not supportive of the SPAC structure as on date and requires to incorporate the provisions suitably in Companies Act, 2013 and SEBI Act, 1992 which is being taken care after formulating a expert group by SEBI.

Keeping in view, the pros and cons of the SPAC route, it is the best fit for Indian companies to go with a foreign holding company, i.e. companies that have externalised in a jurisdiction that allows cross-border mergers. This will ease compliance with cross-border merger regulations but would attract heavy tax implications. Several Indian companies like Flipkart, Zomato, Delhivery, and Grofers, are planning to go public this year. The costs and benefits of an indirect overseas listing through SPACs must be compared to a direct listing in India through an IPO, which is supported by a favourable regulatory structure but at the cost of a risky valuation.

JUDICIAL SETTLEMENT UNDER INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE*

Historical Perspective

Article 14 of the Covenant of the ‘League of Nations’ gave the Council of the League responsibility for formulating plans for the establishment of a Permanent Court of International Justice (PCIJ). At its second session early in 1920, the Council appointed an Advisory Committee of Jurists to submit a report on the establishment of the PCIJ. The chairman of the committee was Baron Descamps (Belgium). After an exhaustive study by a subcommittee, the Committee submitted a revised draft to the Assembly, which unanimously adopted it. This was the Statute of the PCIJ. The Assembly decided that a vote alone would not be sufficient to establish the PCIJ, and that the Statute would have to be formally ratified by each State represented in the Assembly. The outbreak of war in September 1939 inevitably had serious consequences for the PCIJ, which had for some years been experiencing a decline in its level of activity.

In 1943, China, the USSR, the United Kingdom and the United States issued a joint declaration recognising the necessity of establishing international organization for the maintenance of international peace and security. This declaration came to be the fundamental for set up of International Court of Justice. A committee of jurists representing 44 States, under the chairmanship of G. H. Hackworth (United States), was entrusted with preparing a draft Statute for the future international court of justice. The draft was based on the text of PCIJ. The main reasons that led the Conference to decide to create a new court were the following:

(i) as the court was to be the principal judicial organ of the United Nations, it was felt inappropriate for that role to be filled by the Permanent Court of International Justice, with its connection to the League of Nations, which was itself on the point of dissolution;

(ii) the creation of a new court was more consistent with the provision in the Charter that all Member States of the United Nations would ipso facto be parties to the court’s statute;

(iii) several States that were parties to the Statute of the PCIJ were not represented at the San Francisco Conference and, conversely, several States represented at the Conference were not parties to the Statute;

(iv) there was a feeling in some quarters that the PCIJ formed part of an older order, in which European States had dominated the political and legal affairs of the international community, and that the creation of a new court would make it easier for States outside Europe to play a more influential role.

The objective was achieved and it is evident from the fact, as membership of the United Nations has grown from 51 in 1945 to 193 in 2020.

The PCIJ met for the last time in October 1945 and resolved to transfer its archives and effects to the new International Court of Justice.

Introduction

The International Court of Justice (ICJ) is the principal judicial organ of the United Nations (UN). It was established in June 1945 by the Charter of the United Nations and began work in April 1946. The seat of the Court is at the Peace Palace in The Hague (Netherlands). Out of the six principal organs of the United Nations, it is the only one not located in New York (United States of America).

The role of ICJ is to settle the disputes, in accordance with international law, submitted to it by states and to give advisory opinions on questions referred to it by authorized United Nations organs and specialized agencies.

ICJ has 15 judges, who are elected for terms of office of nine years by the United Nations General Assembly and the Security Council. The official languages of the court are English and French.

Mode of Operation

Article 33 of the United Nations Charter lists the methods for the settlement of disputes between States:

1. negotiation
2. enquiry
3. mediation
4. conciliation
5. arbitration
6. judicial settlement

For instance, mediation places the parties to a dispute in a position in which they can themselves resolve their dispute with the help of intervention of a third party. Arbitration goes further, in the sense that the dispute is submitted to the decision or award of an impartial third party, so that a binding settlement can be achieved. The system of Judicial settlement is similar to arbitration except that a court is subject to stricter rules than an arbitral tribunal, particularly in procedural matters. The method of Judicial Settlement is applied by the International Court of Justice.

Members/Judges of ICJ

The 15 judges of ICJ are elected for nine-year terms by the United Nations General Assembly and the Security Council. These organs vote simultaneously but separately. A candidate must receive an absolute majority of the votes in both these bodies for selection. One third of the Court is elected every three years. Judges are also eligible for re-election. The provisions of special election are also made to fill the unexpired term in case of death or resignation of a Judge. All States parties to the Statute of the Court have the right to propose candidates. Such proposals are made not by the government of the State but by a group consisting of the members of the Permanent Court of Arbitration designated by that State. In the case of countries not participating in the Permanent Court of Arbitration, nominations are made by a group constituted in the same way. Four candidates can be proposed by each group. Two may be from the nationality of nation and the other two may be from any other country(ies). The name of the candidates shall be communicated to the Secretary-General of United Nation.

Once elected, a Member of the Court is not a delegate to the government of his own country. The members of the court are independent. In order to ensure the independence, a member cannot be dismissed unless unanimous opinion of all other members is obtained to the effect that he/she no longer fulfils the required conditions. The members enjoy privileges and immunities similar to those of head of a diplomatic mission. The members receives an annual salary of US$ 1,75,000 and a special supplementary allowance of US$15,000. The judges are also eligible for an annual pension which is equal to half the annual base salary.

Each Member of the Court receives an annual salary consisting of a base salary (which, for 2018, amounts to US$ 176,437) and post adjustment, with a special supplementary allowance of US$15,000 for the President. On leaving the Court, judges receive an annual pension which, after a nine-year term of office, is equal to half the annual base salary. The President and Vice-President of the court are elected by the Members of the Court every three years by secret ballot.

Judge Dalveer Bhandari from India is the member since 27th April, 2021 and re-elected as from 6th February, 2021.

The President and Vice-President may be elected and re-elected. The Court generally discharges its duties as a full Court (a quorum of nine judges, excluding judges ad hoc, being sufficient). But it may also form permanent or temporary chambers and committees.

Process of ICJ

ICJ may entertain two types of cases:

(i) Contentious cases

(ii) advisory proceedings

Contentious cases

The member states on UN, other States which have become parties to the Statute of the Court or which have accepted its jurisdiction may be parties to contentious litigation.

ICJ may entertain a dispute only if the states have agreed on its jurisdiction in one or more of the following ways:

- by entering into a special agreement to submit the dispute to the Court
- by virtue of a jurisdictional clause, i.e., typically, when they are parties to a treaty containing a provision to its effect
- through the reciprocal effect of declarations made by them under the Statute, whereby each has accepted the jurisdiction of the Court as compulsory

The state communicates with the registrar of ICJ through their Minister of Foreign Affairs or ambassador. The parties to a case are represented by an 'Agent', which is similar to solicitor in national courts. However, in view of the International relations are involved, the agent is also as it were the head of a special diplomatic mission with powers to commit a sovereign State. He is the receiver of communications from the Registrar and forwards all correspondence and pleadings, duly signed and certified. There is no special International Court of Justice Bar. Therefore, there are no conditions for being the counsel or advocate except they must be appointed by a government.

Proceedings may be instituted in one of two ways:

- Through the notification of a special agreement: this document, which is bilateral in character, can be lodged with the Court by either or both of the States parties to the proceedings.
- By means of an application: the application, which is unilateral in character, is submitted by an applicant State against a respondent State.

Contentious proceedings includes written phase relating to points of fact and of law and oral hearing at which the agent or counsel addresses the court. The languages of the court is English and French, therefore, each document is translated into the other. The written pleading may be made available to the press only after opening of the oral proceedings and No objection is given by the parties.

After the oral proceedings Court deliberates in camera and delivers its judgement at a public sitting. This judgement is final, binding and non-appelable. a Member State of the United Nations undertakes to comply with the decision of the Court by signing a charter. In case of failure to perform the obligations under the judgement, may bring the matter before the Security Council, which is empowered to recommend or decide upon measures to be taken to give effect to the judgment. The ICJ may allow the joining of the case in case of same arguments and submissions against a common opponent in relation to the same issue. The sources of law for ICJ is international custom; the general principles of law; judicial decisions; and the teachings of the most highly qualified publicists. In case the parties agree, ICJ may vary from the existing rules of international law.

Advisory proceedings

Advisory proceedings before the Court are only open to five organs of the United Nations and 16 specialized agencies of the United Nations family or affiliated organizations.

Any legal question may requested by United Nation General Assembly and Security Council. But the other organs may request for advice only on 'legal questions arising within the scope of their activities'. After the receipt of request for an advisory opinion, the court is may hold written and oral proceedings similar to those in contentious cases. The written proceedings are comparatably shorter in contentious proceedings and rules governing are also flexible. After the written proceedings, the parties are generally invited for oral proceedings. The opinions of ICJ are essentially advisory and non binding. But, the Court's advisory opinions are associated with its authority and prestige, and a decision by the organ or agency concerned to endorse an opinion is as it were sanctioned by international law.

Annual Reports

The court submits an annual report on its activities to United Nation General Assembly every year. The reporting period is from 1st August to 31st July. The annual report includes an introductory summary and information about the Court’s organization, jurisdiction and judicial work, together with reports of visits, events and lectures, the Court’s publications and documents, and administrative and budgetary issues. These reports are available in electronic form at the website of ICJ since 1985.

The Registry

The administrative secretariat of ICJ is called 'the registry'. The registry is accountable for the court only. It is headed by the Registrar and assisted by Deputy-Registrar(s). It has judicial and diplomatic, as well as administrative function. The registry has three departments i.e. Legal Matters, Linguistic Matters and Information. It also has a number of other divisions. All the officials take an oath of loyalty and discretion on commencing their duties and enjoy the same privileges and immunities as members of comparable missions of diplomatic rank in The Hague.

Texts for Regulation of International Court of Justice

ICJ was established by virtue of charter of UN, which made all members of UN ipso facto parties to the court's statute. The statute and the rules of court are text for composition and functioning of the Court. The following are few of the important text for administration of justice by ICJ:

Charter of the United Nations

The Charter of the United Nations was signed in San Francisco on 26 June 1945. It is the foundational treaty of the United Nations. It is also the constitutive text of the ICJ.

Statute of the Court

The statute is an integral part of the United Nations. The purpose of the Statute is to organize the composition and functioning of the Court. The Statute is amendable by a two-thirds majority vote in the General Assembly and ratification by two thirds of the States.

Rules of Court

Article 30 of the Statute of ICJ made provision for framing the rules by it for carrying out its functions. These Rules are supplements the general rules set out in the Statute and to make detailed provision for the steps to be taken to comply with them.

Practice Directions

The first Practice Directions was adopted by ICJ for use by States appearing before it in October 2001. Practice direction supplements the rules of court rather than altering. After adoption, the Practice Directions are posted on the Court’s website and published in the Court’s Yearbook, with a note of any temporal reservations relating to their applicability.

Conclusion

International peace and security is one of the most important aspect of International Relation. An independent organisation was the need in this direction. The organised structure of ICJ makes it more effective. Independent members or Judges are appointed for administration of Justice making this institution an impartial organisation. Members state shall endevour to make ICJ more effective and impartial, which shall repose the trust in this Institution. Effective use of Jurisdiction of ICJ may be a win-win situation for all the nations.

The SEBI has modified the framework of Business Continuity Plan (BCP) and Disaster Recovery (DRS) of Market Infrastructure Institutions (MIIs).
With advancement in technology and improved automation of processes, it was felt that the extant framework needs to be re-examined with a view to reducing the time period specified for moving from Primary Data Centre (PDC) to DRS.

The modified framework for BCP and DR inter-alia covers the following:

- It has been provided that the Stock Exchanges, Clearing Corporations and Depositories shall have in place BCP and DRS so as to maintain data and transaction integrity.

- Apart from DRS, all MIIs including Depositories shall also have a Near Site (NS) to ensure zero data loss.

- MIIs should develop systems that do not require configuration changes at the end of trading members/clearing members/depository participants for the switchover from the PDC to DRS. Further, MIIs should test such switchover functionality by conducting unannounced live trading from its DRS for at least 1 day every six months. Unannounced live trading from DRS of MIIs shall be done at a short notice of 45 minutes after 90 days from the date of this circular.

- In the event of disruption of any one or more of the ‘Critical Systems’ (as defined below), the MII shall, within 30 minutes of the incident, declare that incident as ‘Disaster’ and take measures to restore operations including from DRS within 45 minutes of the declaration of ‘Disaster’. Accordingly, the Recovery Time Objective (RTO) - the maximum time taken to restore operations of ‘Critical Systems’ from DRS after declaration of Disaster- shall be 45 minutes, to be implemented within 90 days from the date of the circular. ‘Critical Systems’ for an Exchange/ Clearing Corporation shall include Trading, Risk Management, Collateral Management, Clearing and Settlement and Index computation. ‘Critical Systems’ for a Depository shall include systems supporting settlement process and inter-depository transfer system.

- MIIs to also ensure that the Recovery Point Objective (RPO) - the maximum tolerable period for which data might be lost due to a major incident- shall be 15 minutes.

- Solution architecture of PDC and DRS / NS should ensure high availability, fault tolerance, no single point of failure, zero data loss, and data and transaction integrity.

- Adequate resources (with appropriate training and experience) should be available at all times to handle operations at PDC, NS or DRS, as the case may be, on a regular basis as well as during disasters.

- Considering the above, Stock Exchanges, Clearing Corporations and Depositories are advised to submit their revised BCP–DR policy to SEBI within 3 months from the date of this circular.

12. Review of delivery default norms

Brief of the Circular

- In agricultural and non-agricultural commodities, the penalty for delivery default by seller will now be 4% and 3% of the settlement price plus replacement cost, respectively.

- The provisions for levy of penalty on delivery default by the buyer will be put in place by the clearing corporations.

- With regard to futures contracts on agri-commodities, penalty on seller in case of delivery default would be 4% of settlement price along with replacement cost (difference between settlement price and average of three highest of the last spot prices of 5 succeeding days after the commodity pay-out date, if the average price so determined is higher than settlement price, else this component will be zero).

- In case of futures contracts on non-agri commodities, the penalty would be 3% of settlement price along with replacement cost.

- In respect of norms for apportionment of penalty, at least 1.75% of settlement price will be deposited in the Settlement Guarantee Fund (SGF) of the clearing corporation, while up to 0.25% of settlement price may be retained by such corporation towards administration expenses. It further said 1% of settlement price in case of non-agri goods or 2% of settlement price in case of agri goods plus replacement cost will go to a buyer who was entitled to receive the delivery.

- In addition, clearing corporation may have an appropriate deterrent mechanism including penal/disciplinary action in place against intentional/wilful delivery default.

- In the case of default by a buyer in both agricultural and non-agricultural commodities, clearing corporation need to review the loss incurred by the non-defaulting party, i.e. seller, at its sole discretion, and accordingly, levy a penalty on the defaulting buyer. 13. Prior Approval for Change in control: Transfer of shareholdings among immediate relatives and transmission of shareholdings and their effect on change in control
(SEBI Circular No. SEBI/HO/MIRSD/DOR/CIR/P/2021/42 dated March 25, 2021)

Background

SEBI in its circular in 2011, addressed to stock exchanges/depositories and intermediaries, had specified the procedure for seeking prior approval for change in control from SEBI. Now, the SEBI has provided some clarifications on change in control criteria for market intermediaries and requirement for seeking its prior approval.

Brief of the Circular

The following is clarified with respect to transfer of shareholding among immediate relatives and transmission of shareholding:

1. Transfer /transmission of shareholding in case of unlisted body corporate intermediary
   - With regard to unlisted body corporate intermediary, transfer of shareholding among immediate relatives would not be construed as change in control.
   - Transfer of shareholding by way of transmission to immediate relative or not, shall not result into change in control.
   - Immediate relatives include any spouse of that person, or any parent, brother, sister or child of the person or of the spouse.

2. Transfer /transmission of shareholding in case of a proprietary firm type intermediary:
   - In case of an intermediary being a proprietary concern, the transfer or bequeathing of the business/capital by way of transmission to another person is a change in the legal formation or ownership and is hence a change in control.
   - The legal heir or transferee in such cases is required to obtain prior approval and thereafter fresh registration needs to be obtained in the name legal heir/ transferee.

3. Transfer /transmission of ownership interest in case of partnership firm type intermediary:
   - For transfer of ownership interest in case of partnership firm with more than two partners, inter-se transfer amongst the partners would not be construed to be change in control.
   - Where the partnership firm consists of two partners only, the same would stand as dissolved upon the death of one of the partners.
   - However, if a new partner is inducted in the firm, it would be considered as a change in control, requiring fresh registration and prior approval of SEBI.
   - Where the partnership deed contains a clause that in case of death of a partner, the legal heir of deceased partner be admitted, then the legal heir may become the partner of the partnership firm. In such a scenario, the partnership firm is reconstituted. Bequeathing of partnership right to legal heir by way of transmission will not be considered as change in control.

- Incoming entities or shareholders becoming part of controlling interest in the intermediary pursuant to transfer of shares from immediate relative or transmission of shares, whether immediate relative or not, need to satisfy the fit and proper person criteria stipulated in Schedule II of SEBI (Intermediaries) Regulations, 2008.

SEBI has been receiving registration applications pursuant to transfer of business (SEBI regulated business activity) from one legal entity which is a SEBI registered intermediary (transferor) to another legal entity (transferee).

In this regard, SEBI clarified that –

- The transferee shall obtain fresh registration from SEBI in the same capacity before the transfer of business if it is not registered with SEBI in the same capacity. SEBI will issue new registration number to transferee different from transferor’s registration number if “Business is transferred through regulatory process (pursuant to merger / amalgamation / corporate restructuring by way of order of primary Regulator/Govt./NCLT, etc.) or non-regulatory process (as per private agreement /MOU pursuant to commercial dealing / private arrangement) irrespective of transferor continues to exist or ceases to exist after the said transfer.”

- In case of change in control pursuant to both regulatory process and non-regulatory process, prior approval and fresh registration will be obtained. While granting fresh registration to the same legal entity pursuant to change in control, the same registration number will be retained.

- If the transferor ceases to exist, its certificate of registration will be surrendered.

- In case of complete transfer of business by the transferor, it will surrender its certificate of registration.

- In case of partial transfer of business by the transferor, it can continue to hold a certificate of registration.

Further, post introduction of UPI mechanism in public issues, intermediaries are responsible to compensate the investors for any delay in unblocking of amounts in the ASBA Accounts exceeding four working days from the bid/issue closing date.

At present, in case of non-receipt of minimum subscription, the issuer is mandated to refund all the application money within 15 days from the closure of the issue. If the issuer fails to obtain listing or trading permission from the stock exchanges where the securities were to be listed, it shall refund the entire money received within 7 days of receipt of intimation from the exchanges rejecting the application. 1. Clarification on Refund related issues (Circular No. 147/03/2021 – GST, dated March 12, 2021)

The Board while issuing clarification in respect of refund claim by recipient of Deemed Export Supply said that previous circular of 2019 has placed a condition that the recipient of deemed export supplies for obtaining the refund of tax paid on such supplies shall submit an undertaking that he has not availed ITC on invoices for which refund has been claimed. Thus, in terms of the above circular, the recipient of deemed export supplies cannot avail ITC on such supplies but when they proceed to file a refund on the portal, the system requires them to debit the amount so claimed from their electronic credit ledger. There is no restriction under 3rd proviso to Rule 89(1) of CGST Rules, 2017 on recipient of deemed export supply, claiming refund of tax paid on such deemed export supply, on availing of ITC on the tax paid on such supply. Therefore, the para 41 of Circular No. 125/44/2019-GST dated November 18, 2019 is modified to remove the restriction of non-availment of ITC by the recipient of deemed export supplies on the invoices, for which refund has been claimed by such recipient.

4. Clarifications on the legislative changes in Section 46 of Customs Act, 1962 (Circular No. 08/2021 – Customs, dated March 29, 2021)

Amendments in Section 46 of the Customs Act, 1962 introduced through the Finance Act, 2021 facilitates pre-arrival processing and assessment of Bills of Entry (BE) by mandating their advance filing thus leading to significant decrease in the Customs clearance time. The amended Section 46 requires an importer to file a BE before the end of the day (including holidays) preceding the day of arrival of the vessel/aircraft/vehicle carrying the imported goods at a Customs port/station at which such goods are to be cleared for home consumption or warehousing. The BE can now be filed anytime from 30 days prior to the expected arrival of the aircraft or vessel or vehicle up to the end of day preceding the day of such arrival.

1. Residential status of certain individuals under Income-tax Act, 1961 (Circular No. 2 Dated March 3, 2021)

Section 6 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (the Act) contains provisions relating to determination of residency of a person. The status of an individual, as to whether he is resident in India or a non-resident or not ordinarily resident, is dependent, inter-alia, on the period for which the person is in India during a previous year or years preceding the previous year.

The Board has received various representations requesting for relaxation in determination of residential status for previous year 2020-21 from individuals who had come on a visit to India during the previous year 2019-20 and intended to leave India but could not do so due to suspension of international flights. The matter has been examined by the Board and following facts have emerged:

1. Short stay will not result into Indian residency
2. Possibilities of dual non-residency in case of general relaxation
3. Tie breaker rule as per Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement (DTAA)
4. Employment income taxable only subject to conditions as per DTAA
5. Credit for the taxes paid in other country
6. International Experience

Thus, it can be seen that OECD as well as most of the countries have clarified that in view of the provisions of the domestic income tax law read with the DTAAs, there does not appear a possibility of the double taxation of the income for PY 2020-21. The possibility of double taxation does not exist as per the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961 read with the DTAAs. However, in order to understand the possible situations in which a particular taxpayer is facing double taxation due to the forced stay in India, it would be in the fitness of things to obtain relevant information from such individuals. After understanding the possible situations of double taxation, the Board shall examine that, i. whether any relaxation is required to be provided in this matter; and

ii. if required, then whether general relaxation can be provided for a class of individuals or specific relaxation is required to be provided in individual cases.

Therefore, if any individual is facing double taxation even after taking into consideration the relief provided by the respective DTAAs, he may furnish the information in Form - NR annexed to this circular by 31st March, 2021. This form shall be submitted electronically to the Principal Chief Commissioner of Income-tax (International Taxation).

BANKING LAWS

   The CTS is in use since 2010 and presently covers around 1,50,000 branches. All the erstwhile 1219 non-CTS clearing houses (ECCS centres) have been migrated to CTS effective September 2020. It is, however, seen that there are branches of banks that are outside any formal clearing arrangement and their customers face hardships due to longer time taken and cost involved in collection of cheques presented by them.

   To leverage the availability of CTS and provide uniform customer experience irrespective of location of her/his bank branch, it has been decided to extend CTS across all bank branches in the country. To facilitate this, banks shall have to ensure that all their branches participate in image-based CTS under respective grids by September 30, 2021. They are free to adopt a model of their choice, like deploying suitable infrastructure in every branch or following a hub & spoke model, etc. and concerned banks shall coordinate with the respective Regional Offices of RBI to operationalise this.

GUIDANCE ON READING OF COMPANIES ACT, 2013

Understanding the structure of Companies Act and the manner of identifying complementary legislations.

The Principal Legislation/Statute

Schedules- It is appended to an Act, to form part of it. They are generally added to avoid encumbering the statutes with matter of excessive details.

Delegated Legislations

Delegated legislation (subordinate legislation) is a legislation made under powers conferred by an Act of Parliament (an enabling statute, often called the parent Act). Here Parent Act is Companies Act and the delegated legislations are Rules notified by Ministry of Corporate Affairs. Example Companies (Corporate Social Responsibility Policy) Rules 2014.

Notifications/Circulars/clarifications by Ministry of Corporate Affairs

Example: Clarification on spending CSR funds for awareness and public outreach on Covid vaccination programme is eligible for CSR activity under Schedule VII of Companies Act, 2013.

How to read and understand a section?

The Companies Act, 2013 is to be read with relevant Rules, schedules under Companies Act, circulars/clarifications issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs.

For example Section 135 (Relating to Corporate Social Responsibility) may be read with Companies (Corporate Social Responsibility Policy) Rules 2014, Schedule VII (Activities relating to Corporate Social Responsibility) and circulars/clarifications issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs on Section 135.

Reading provisions of Companies Act, 2013 with complimentary legislations.

For example when you read sections relating to issue of capital you should read the sections with Companies (Share Capital and Debentures) Rules, Companies (Prospectus and Allotment of Securities) Rules. Besides, other legislative aspects including the provisions of SEBI Act, SECI (ICDR) Regulations, SEBI (LODR) Regulations, provisions of Depositories Act for dematerialisation provisions and even the provisions of FEMA when the shares are issued to non-residents.

Breaking sections into parts and preparing notes for each section:

Company law is so wide that it cannot be easily remembered after only one reading. Students may make notes for each topic about sections, the genesis, amendments notified, reasons for amendments along with delegated legislation. They may also make notes on exemptions provided, exceptions and the reasons behind such exemptions/exceptions. This will help in understanding the background of the provisions, the spirit of law and would help in remembering the provisions also. The exemptions provided for certain class of companies under Section 470 of Companies Act are provided in the e-book at MCA portal under respective sections.

Students may break the sections at relevant places and giving emphasis on critical words and read for getting more clarity.

For examples Section 2(6) deals with the Definition of “Associate Company” which may be read with the following breaks.

"associate company", in relation to another company.........../, means a company in which that other company has a significant influence.........../, but which is not a subsidiary company of the company having such influence and ........../.

includes a joint venture company.

2[Explanation.—For the purpose of this clause,—

(a) the expression "significant influence" means control of at least twenty per cent. of total voting power, or control of or participation in business decisions under an agreement;

(b) the expression "joint venture" means a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the net assets of the arrangement;]

Thus the definition can be read by breaking at the places as indicated above, by understanding the terms ‘joint venture company’, ‘significant influence’ and the definition of subsidiary as mentioned in section 2(87) as the definition associate company excludes subsidiary company.

INTERPRETATION OF SOME STANDARD WORDS AND PHRASES USED IN STATUTES

Meaning of 'proviso'

A clause, as in a document or statute, that begins with the words Provided that is called ‘proviso’. The term ‘proviso’ is defined as a clause making some condition or stipulation; a clause in a statute, deed, or other legal document introducing a qualification or condition to some other provision, frequently the one immediately preceding the proviso itself.

It is well settled that “the effect of an excepting or qualifying proviso, according to the ordinary rules of construction, is to except out of the preceding portion of the enactment, or to qualify something enacted therein, which but for the proviso would be within it.

‘Notwithstanding anything contained’

Notwithstanding means, in spite of; without being opposed or prevented by; nevertheless; although, regardless of. A provision in a statute beginning with the words ‘Notwithstanding anything contained’ is called a ‘non-obstante’ provision and is generally used in a statute to give an overriding effect to a particular section or the statute as a whole. A non-obstante clause is used in a statutory drafting to create an exception to or override the provision which this phrase follows.

Subject to

The ordinary meaning of the phrase ‘subject to’ is being dependent upon; conditional upon; subordinate to; subservient to something else to happen or to be true; that on the condition of the provisions of the specified section being observed or complied with. It is

---

1 Ref: Rules and tools for interpretation of statutues by Dr Chandratre used to express the intention that when while complying with one statutory provision, another provision relating to the subject matter also must be complied with.

Nothing contained in this section shall apply

The phrase “Nothing in this section shall apply” or “Nothing contained in this section shall apply” is frequently used in legislative drafting. Literally, it means anything contained in the preceding part of the section would not apply in the situation stated in the provision that begins with this phrase.

Without prejudice to the provisions contained in this Act/any other Act

The phrase ‘without prejudice’ means without dismissing, damaging, or otherwise affecting; without detriment; harm. So when one provision says ‘without prejudice to any other provision’, it means that no other provision is affected by that provision or that other provisions remain unaffected. This is a qualifying phrase used in statutory drafting in a provision to protect the operation of another provision which it refers to. In other words, both the provisions operate independently.

That is to say

This phrase explains or clarifies the preceding word, phrase or expression.

For the purposes of this section/provision/definition

It has limited applicability; it applies to only the relevant section / provision/ definition but applies to the whole of it.

Reason: We have carefully perused the judgment of the Division Bench. The learned judges of the Division Bench dismissed the appeal filed by the appellant herein and directed that after fresh affidavit as required in the order dt.10.01.1994 has been filed, the Company Petition be listed before the learned Company Judge for passing fresh orders regarding advertisement of the Company Petition.

A careful perusal of the affidavit filed by the respondent and Form No.3 as prescribed under Rule 21 would show that there is substantial compliance of the said Rule. A Three-Judge Bench of this Court in an identical matter in Malhotra Steel Syndicate v. Punjab Chemical Plants Ltd, (1993) Suppl.3 SCC 565 has also opined that even if there is some slight defect or irregularity in the filing of affidavit, the appellant should have been given an opportunity to rectify the same. In the instant case, the same liberty was given to the respondent by the Company Judge as also by the Division Bench of the High Court. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the Division Bench was right in dismissing the appeal filed by the appellant. This Court has in catena of decisions held that substantial compliance is enough. Rules are undoubtedly statutory, and the forms are to be adopted wherever they are applicable. The Rules relating to the affidavit and the verification cannot be ordinarily brushed aside, but then what is required to be seen is whether the petition substantially complies with the requirements and, secondly, even when there is some breach or omission, whether it can be fatal to the petition. In the instant case, both the learned Company Judge and also the Division Bench were of the opinion that there is substantial compliance of Rule 21.

In Khaitan Overseas & Finance Ltd v. Dhandhania Bros. P. Ltd., (2002) 1 Comp LJ 274, a petition was filed by the Chairman-cum-Director of the company. He annexed with the petition a resolution of the Board of Directors permitting him to execute necessary petitions, documents, applications, affidavits and to lodge a suit to recover dues from the debtor company. This was held to include the authority to file a Winding Up Petition also. The affidavit accompanying the petition was signed, sworn, and affirmed on oath in the prescribed manner. The court said that the affidavit conformed with the requirements of law.

We are of the opinion that the Rules of procedure cannot be a tool to circumvent the justice. In fact, the Rules are laid to help for speedy disposal of justice. The learned Judges of the Division Bench has appreciated that the technical plea raised by the respondent regarding defective affidavit was raised after seven years of filing the petition. The learned counsel submitted that the appellant is raising the defence of technical plea to protect himself from the consequence of his default and this plea cannot be considered effective enough to review the order of advertisement. Assuming without admitting that the affidavit was not verified as per the Company Rules, the learned counsel has correctly submitted that if this objection were taken earlier the respondent would have cured the defect. For the aforesaid reasons, we are of the opinion that the appeal has no merit and the order passed by the learned Judges of the Division Bench confirming the order passed by the Learned Company Judge does not call for any interference by this Court. The appeal stands dismissed accordingly.

GENERAL LAWS

BHARAT SANCHAR NIGAM LTD v. NORTEL NETWORKS INDIA PVT. LTD [SC]

Civil Appeal Nos. 843-844 of 2021[@ SLP (C) No. 1531-32/ 2021]

Indu Malhotra Ajay Rastogi, JJ.[Decided on 10/03/2021]

Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 - section 11- appointment of arbitrator by courts- limitation period for filing application - Supreme court explains applicable limitation period.

Brief facts: The present Appeals raise two important issues for our consideration: (i) the period of limitation for filing an application under Section 11 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 (“the 1996 Act”); and (ii) whether the Court may refuse to make the reference under Section 11 where the claims are ex facie time-barred?

Decision: Appeal dismissed.

Reason: Applying the law to the facts of the present case, it is clear that this is a case where the claims are ex facie time barred by over 5 ½ years, since Nortel did not take any action whatsoever after the rejection of its claim by BSNL on 04.08.2014. The notice of arbitration was invoked on 29.04.2020. There is not even an averment either in the notice of arbitration, or the petition filed under Section 11, or before this Court, of any intervening facts which may have occurred, which would extend the period of limitation falling within Sections 5 to 20 of the Limitation Act. Unless there is a pleaded case specifically adverting to the applicable Section, and how it extends the limitation from the date on which the cause of action originally arose, there can be no basis to save the time of limitation.

The present case is a case of deadwood / no subsisting dispute since the cause of action arose on 04.08.2014, when the claims made by Nortel were rejected by BSNL. The Respondent has not stated any event which would extend the period of limitation, which commenced as per Article 55 of the Schedule of the Limitation Act (which provides the limitation for cases pertaining to breach of contract) immediately after the rejection of the Final Bill by making deductions.
The period of limitation for issuing notice of arbitration would not get extended by mere exchange of letters, 20 or mere settlement discussions, where a final bill is rejected by making deductions or otherwise. Sections 5 to 20 of the Limitation Act do not exclude the time taken on account of settlement discussions. Section 9 of the Limitation Act makes it clear that: “where once the time has begun to run, no subsequent disability or inability to institute a suit or make an application stops it.” There must be a clear notice invoking arbitration setting out the “particular dispute” 21 (including claims / amounts) which must be received by the other party within a period of 3 years from the rejection of a final bill, failing which, the time bar would prevail.

In the present case, the notice invoking arbitration was issued 5 ½ years after rejection of the claims on 04.08.2014. Consequently, the notice invoking arbitration is ex facie time barred, and the disputes between the parties cannot be referred to arbitration in the facts of this case.

Conclusion Accordingly, we hold that:

- The period of limitation for filing an application under Section 11 would be governed by Article 137 of the First Schedule of the Limitation Act, 1963. The period of limitation will begin to run from the date when there is failure to appoint the arbitrator.

- It has been suggested that the Parliament may consider amending Section 11 of the 1996 Act to provide a period of limitation for filing an application under this provision, which is in consonance with the object of expeditious disposal of arbitration proceedings.

- In rare and exceptional cases, where the claims are ex facie time-barred, and it is manifest that there is no subsisting dispute, the Court may refuse to make the reference.

In view of the aforesaid, the present Civil Appeals are allowed, and the impugned orders passed by the High Court are set aside.

AMWAY INDIA ENTERPRISES PVT. LTD. v. RAVINDRANATH RAO SINDHIA [SC]

Civil Appeal No. 810 of 2021(@ SLP(C) No.15982 of 2020]

R.F.Nariman & Hrishikesh Roy, JJ. [Decided on 04/03/2021]

Arbitration and Conciliation Act,1996 - sections 2 (1)(f) and 11(6)- international arbitration-appointment or arbitrator - one of the parties to the dispute was residing outside India- High Court appointed the arbitrator on the ground that the management control was in India- whether tenable - Held, No.

Brief facts: In the year 1998, the Respondents were appointed as Distributor for Appellant for undertaking sale, distribution, and marketing of its products in India and were registered as Amway Business Owner (ABO)/ Amway Direct Seller (ADS), in the name of the sole proprietorship ‘Sindhia Enterprises’ with ABO No. 141935. The proprietor was residing in USA. Disputes arose between the parties and on the application of the Respondent, the Delhi High court appointed the sole arbitrator. The reason was that though the Respondent was residing in USA the Indian concern’s management and control was in India. Aggrieved by the appointment, the appellant appealed to the Supreme Court.

Decision: Appeal allowed.

Reason: The question lies in a very narrow compass. As rightly contended by Ms. Arora, the documentary evidence in this case would be decisive of whether the requirements of sub-clause (i) to Section 2(1)(f) have been met, in which case it is unnecessary to go to sub-clause (iii), as under Section 2(1)(f), “at least one of the parties” must fall under sub-clauses (i) to (iv) of Section 2(1)(f).

A reading of the application form as filled in, together with the Code of Ethics, would show that a distributorship may be taken up either in individual capacity, a sole proprietorship concern, partnership firm, or company. When it comes to a husband and wife’s distributorship, they are entitled not to two, but to a single distributorship, it being made clear under clause 3.17 of the Code of Ethics that they are to operate only as a single entity. The form that was filled in made it clear that the respondents applied to become a distributor as a sole proprietorship, it being made clear that the husband, Ravindranath Rao Sindhia, was the sole proprietor / “primary applicant”, the wife, Indumathi Sindhia, being a “co-applicant”.

However, it was argued, that from a reading of the Code of Ethics and correspondence between the parties, that there was no international flavour whatsoever to the transaction as the business that is to be conducted can be conducted only in India, an exception being made only for personal use under clause 4.16.1. Most importantly, the address of the so-called sole proprietorship in all the correspondence between the parties was the address of the Bangalore office of the sole proprietorship.

By way of contrast, we have seen how the respondents have themselves applied to become distributors of Amway products in India as a sole proprietorship concern under the relevant forms issued by the appellant, read with the Code of Ethics referred to hereinabove. In Ashok Transport Agency v. Awadhesh Kumar, (1998) 5 SCC 567, this Court has clearly held that a sole proprietary concern is equated with the proprietor of the business. In this view of the matter, the argument that there is no international flavour to the transaction between the parties has no legs to stand on.

Indeed, an analysis of Section 2(1)(f) would show that whatever be the transaction between the parties, if it happens to be entered into between persons, at least one of whom is either a foreign national, or habitually resident in, any country other than India; or by a body corporate which is incorporated in any country other than India; or by the Government of a foreign country, the arbitration becomes an international commercial arbitration notwithstanding the fact that the individual, body corporate, or government of a foreign country referred to in Section 2(1)(f) carry on business in India through a business office in India.

This being the case, it is clear that the Delhi High Court had no jurisdiction to appoint an arbitrator in the facts of this case. Respondent made an impassioned plea to this Court to use its power under Article 142 of the Constitution to straightaway appoint an arbitrator, now that the matter is before this Court. We are afraid we cannot countenance such a suggestion as the respondents would have to now follow the drill of Section 11(6) read with Section 11(9) of the Arbitration Act. The appeal is allowed, and the judgment under appeal is set aside.
ALKA KHANDU AVHAD v. AMAR SYAMPRASAD MISHRA [SC]
Criminal Appeal No. 258 of 2021
Dr. D. Y. Chandrachud & M.R. Shah, JJ. [Decided on 08/03/2021]

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1882 - section 138 - dishonour of cheque- husband signed and issued the cheque- wife also impleaded in the complaint and summoned by the trial court- whether wife is liable to be prosecuted-Held, No.

Brief facts: It emerges from the record that the dishonoured cheque was issued by original accused No. 1 – husband of the appellant. It was drawn from the bank account of original accused No. 1. The dishonoured cheque was signed by original accused No. 1. Therefore, the dishonoured cheque was signed by original accused No. 1 and it was drawn on the bank account of original accused No. 1. The appellant herein-original accused No. 2 is neither the signatory to the cheque nor the dishonoured cheque was drawn from her bank account. That the account in question was not a joint account. In the light of the aforesaid facts, it is required to be considered whether the appellant herein – original accused No. 2 can be prosecuted for the offence punishable under Section 138 r/w Section 141 of the NI Act?

Decision: Appeal allowed.

Reason: We have heard learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respective parties at length, considered material on record and also considered the averments and allegations in the complaint.

Therefore, a person who is the signatory to the cheque and the cheque is drawn by that person on an account maintained by him and the cheque has been issued for the discharge, in whole or in part, of any debt or other liability and the said cheque has been returned by the bank unpaid, such person can be said to have committed an offence. Section 138 of the NI Act does not speak about the joint liability. Even in case of a joint liability, in case of individual persons, a person other than a person who has drawn the cheque on an account maintained by him, cannot be prosecuted for the offence under Section 138 of the NI Act. A person might have been jointly liable to pay the debt, but if such a person who might have been liable to pay the debt jointly, cannot be prosecuted unless the bank account is jointly maintained and that he was a signatory to the cheque.

Now, so far as the case on behalf of the original complainant that the appellant herein – original accused No. 2 can be convicted with the aid of Section 141 of the NI Act is concerned, the aforesaid has no substance. Section 141 of the NI Act is relating to the offence by companies, and it cannot be made applicable to the individuals. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the original complainant has submitted that “Company” means anybody corporate and includes, a firm or other association of individuals and therefore in case of a joint liability of two or more persons it will fall within “other association of individuals” and therefore with the aid of Section 141 of the NI Act, the appellant who is jointly liable to pay the debt, can be prosecuted. The aforesaid cannot be accepted. Two private individuals cannot be said to be “other association of individuals”. Therefore, there is no question of invoking Section 141 of the NI Act against the appellant, as the liability is the individual liability (may be a joint liability) but cannot be said to be the offence committed by a company or by its corporate or firm or other associations of individuals.
The appellant herein is neither a Director nor a partner in any firm who has issued the cheque. Therefore, even the appellant cannot be convicted with the aid of Section 141 of the NI Act. Therefore, the High Court has committed a grave error in not quashing the complaint against the appellant for the offence punishable under Section 138 r/w Section 141 of the NI Act. The criminal complaint filed against the appellant for the offence punishable under Section 138 r/w Section 141 of the NI Act, therefore, can be said to be abuse of process of law and therefore the same is required to be quashed and set aside. In view of the above and for the reasons stated above, the present appeal succeeds.
